LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Editor,

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent for Tamworth made a statement in last week's Beaver, which was utterly false. There was never at any time a moving picture show held in the Presbyterian Church.

The Pastor of the Union congregation gave a series of picture slides on Japan, as it was missionary night in the Young People's meeting.

It is just possible and more than probable that the correspondent does not know the difference between picture slides and movies, so for the sake of those who are far away, yet linked up with The Beaver for news of home, I shall be glad if you will print this correction of a false statement.

H. E. REID.

Tamworth, March 25th, 1924.

B. B. English White Lead, the standard lead of the British Empire, for sale at Wallace's.

Address and Presentation

On Tuesday evening, February 26th, about one hundred and thirty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest English and presented them with a purse of money before they took their departure for their new home in Napanee. The evening was spent in music and dancing until the wee sma' hours. The following address was read to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest English:

Dear Friends,—We, your friends and neighbors, knowing that you are about to move from our midst, have invaded your home this evening to spend a social hour with you, and to wish you every success in your new home.

Through the years you have resided among us, we have found you a loyal friend, always so ready to help in any way and every occasion when assistance was required. We desire to convey to you that we are pleased to know that while this change will debar us from agreeable associations, we have found that you are not going so far away but that we will be able to meet you frequently. We now ask you to accept this purse as a small token of our friendship, and we also hope and believe our loss will be your gain, and that success and happiness will be meted out to you abundantly in your future life.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

JAY DOYLE.
WILLIE GREY.

Mr. and Mrs. English responded, thanking them very kindly, asking them one and all to visit them in their new home.

Every style of Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pens manufactured always in stock at Wallace's.

ODE TO CENTREVILLE

Centreville is a very pretty spot, 'tis said,
By all means it isn't dead.
The people work from morn till set of sun,
And then just think their work is begun.

Many believe their motto to be,
If they wish to clutch health's golden key,
"Early to bed and early to rise
Makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

The streets are many, you may go astray,
'Cause we have no policemen to guide your way.
The street walkers are many and the lights are bright,
So take my advice and don't walk at night.

Centreville is all right, no doubt,
You'll believe me when you hear the milkman's shout,
The store is gone, and the cars are many,
But, you can't run them without the odd penny.

The train connections here are all O.K.,
You can catch any one that comes this way,
We have a church, a school and a hall,
If you get a chance just give them a call.

From these few lines you can plainly see,
That Centreville is and will always be
The busiest place in the world to-day,
So give us a cheer! Hip! Hip! Hurrah!

BATH

Irvine Chapman, who was removed to the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last week, is very seriously ill.—The many friends of Mrs Elizabeth Forward were shocked to hear of her death in the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, on Friday night. The funeral was held in Kingston on Monday afternoon, she and her sister having resided there for the winter, and the remains were then placed in the vault at Millhaven. — The Anderson Dramatic Club put on their play, "Farm Folks," in the Masonic Hall on Thursday evening last and attracted a large crowd. — Reeve Mellow attended the sessions of the County Council at Napanee last week.—Mrs. Geo. Davy is spending a few days in Napanee with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Mellow.—Robt. Stevenson, who has been seriously ill, is improving.

Our Formal Exposition of Spring Fashions and Materials Will be Held in the Napanee Armouries This Friday and Saturday

EVERYONE IS CORDIALLY INVITED

All the world welcomes Spring. Nature awakens. Everywhere is the song of life. Warm winds blow from the South. The sun increases daily in intensity. In a few weeks the trees will begin to garb themselves in the tender green of new leaves. Fields will be emerald. Streams will run gaily, and sunshine will bathe the open in a flood of warmth and gladness.

And so we mortals stir. We cast off the heavy apparel of winter. We welcome bright new colors and dainty things. For Spring, too, has touched our lives.

MANNEQUINS, BEAUTIFULLY GARBED IN SPRING RAIMENT, WILL PARADE

Friday Afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock
Saturday Afternoon, from 2.30 to 4 o'clock
Saturday Evening, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock

The Armouries will be opened one hour before each parade, so that you may have time to examine our attractive merchandise displays throughout the building.

To Be In Mode You Must Be Corseted

La Mode "Tailleur," calls for slenderness—flatness—the uncorseted look and by a paradox—the desired effect can only be obtained by the most careful corsetry.

Lines that flow from neck to ankle are not possessed by all, in fact the majority fret in private over an angle here, a bulge there, and seek eagerly for means to overcome the defect.

During Openings a special Corsetiere from The Canadian H. W. Gossard Company will be in attendance at our store and in The Armouries. You are urged to ask her advice on any corset or brassiere problem that confronts you.

Fashion's Silhouettes for 1924

IN SUITS, the mode is classified three ways, The Tailored, The Box, The Boyish Form.

IN COATS, Fashion prefers Slender Wrap-arounds, Flare Backs and Tailored Effects.

IN DRESSES, Flat-back styles vie with basque bodices and full skirts. Tiered skirts, tunics, panels and capes add diversions.

IN MILLINERY, small shapes, in Helmet, Cloche and Turban styles prevail.

IN SKIRTS, Pleated effects lead, while wrap models follow closely.

IN SWEATERS, the low front, four button Cardigan has no apparent rival.

IN WAISTS, Overblouses and Jacquettes divide honors with Tailored Shirts.

IN MATERIALS, Twills are fegtured for Suits and Tailored Coats, while Novelty Tweeds are supreme in Sports apparel.

IN SILKS, "Crepes" in many diversified weaves of plain and novelty character are supreme when day-time frocks are considered.

IN COLORS, Navy, Black and Sand are strong in suits, while tones of Grey, Beige, Tan, Cocoa, Capri, Crabapple, Orchid, Amber, Rust and Rose are strong in coats and dresses.

VIOLET

Violet has been the centre of much activity during the past week, several interesting and pleasing events having been held throughout this vicinity.—Last Friday evening a most enjoyable house party was held at the home of Mrs. Eber Sager, with over fifty guests in attendance. The affair proved to be a most delightful one, and was voted by all present to be one of the best parties held around Violet for a considerable time. The rooms were attractively decorated and presented a pleasing appearance. Euchre, five hundred, pedro, and many other card games were enjoyed until the wee sma' hours. Community singing was also indulged in during the course of the evening. At the tolling of the midnight bells the guests sat down to a bounteous repast, which was served by some of the ladies. While the affair took place in the form of a house party, it proved to be more or less of a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Sager. Expecting about fifteen guests, Mrs. Sager went to much work arranging things for the evening, and was overwhelmed when her guests kept coming from miles about up until ten o'clock. Instead of fifteen guests, over fifty were present. The ladies all brought refreshments. Miss O. Sharpe, Miss C. Sigsworth and Mrs. W. Drew presided at the piano. — Mrs. R. Jarvis, with her little daughter, Audrey Jean, Toronto, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sager, during the past week.—Mr. R. B. Young, of Hamilton, has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. W. H. McClure.—Mr. and Mrs. Alva Sager spent a day in Morven last week. — After having resided with her daughter, Mrs. R. Jarvis, Toronto, for the past three months, where she has been receiving the attention of some of the leading physicians of the Queen City, Mrs. Allan Sager returned home last Sunday. While not having fully recovered from her recent illness, Mrs. Sager is reported to be progressing favorably.—After having reigned supreme for nearly three months, winter is slowly and peacefully dying. The strong rays of the sun has played a prominent part during the past week, and with a few exceptions all side roads are open to vehicles. — An enthusiastic meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Violet Methodist Church was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ebber Sager, with one of the largest number of members having been witnessed for several meetings in attendance. Miss Ollie Sharpe, Mrs. Wm. Drew and Mrs. Wm. McClure read interesting and instructive papers. The President, Mrs. Wm. Drew, presided. Following the conclusion of the meeting a dainty lunch was served n an attractive manner by the hostess. — The regular twice monthly Sunday afternoon service of Violet Methodist Church was held last Sunday. The pastor, Rev. W. R. Merrick, delivered a powerful and inspiring sermon.—Farmers in this community have been taking advantage of the good sleighing which existed last week and have been busy drawing logs and wood. —Tapping is now well under way, and from all reports 1924 will be one of the best years in the history of the maple syrup men.

Mr. Pearce, the choir leader, sang a solo in excellent voice, "Abide with Me", accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Epps, who, with the choir, deserve great credit for the rendering of the musical portions of the service, a most impressive one. FUNERAL OF THE LATE DR. BRISCO

The remains of the late Dr. Clarence Alfred Brisco, who passed away at London, England, February 23rd, were laid to rest in the Maple Leaf cemetery yesterday afternoon, with full masonic honors, following the burial services at the Anglican Church conducted by Rev. Canon R. J. M. Perkins, Rector of Christ Church, and the impressive ceremony conducted by Wor. Bro. J. C. Stewart.

At two o'clock a private service was held at the home of the physician's brother, Ernest C. Brisco, 123 William street south, after which the remains were conveyed to Christ Church, where many friends and members of the Masonic fraternity gathered to pay their final tribute to one who was beloved by all his acquaintances. The impressive Anglican service was read by the Rector, at the conclusion of which the Choir sang Nunc Dimittis. During the service R. W. Angus sang "No Need of Shadows" and as the cortege entered and left the church, F. Whitney Sherer, presiding at the organ, played the "Dead March in Saul".

The Masonic services were held under the auspices of Victory lodge at the request of Golden Beaver Lodge, Timmins, Ontario, of which the late Dr. Brisco was a member. Wor. Bro. J. C. Stewart, of Parthenon, had charge of the ceremonies at the graveside during which Bro. E. Sharpe, of Wellington lodge, sang "Nearer My God To Thee".

The pall bearers were the five brothers of the late physician, Dr. N. A., of New York; Fred H. and Ira, of this city; Roy M., of London; Ernest C., of this city; Isaac Brisco, of Napanee, a cousin; Beverly and Gerald Brisco, city, nephews.

Among those who attended the funeral were Mrs. Roy Brisco, London; Miss Nellie Brisco, Garden City, Long Island, a sister; Mrs. W. Joyce, Napanee, an aunt; Mrs. Harry Johnson, of Adolphustown, and Ed. Switzer, of London, cousins; Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Moore, of Timmins; D. GRAIN SMUTS.

LOOSE SMUT OF OATS

The financial loss from loose smut of Oats for one year in Ontario is estimated at from our to five million dollars.

Description.

The smut destroys the kernel, the hull and the chaff changing them to a dark brown powder resembling soot, so that the whole head becomes a mass of smut. These smut masses are composed of millions of spores. The spore is a smut seed. These spores are blown away by the wind.

Life History.

The spores are scattered by the wind about the time the oats are in flower. They are blown to healthy heads of oats and lodge on the grain getting inside the hull and onto the kernel when the oats are in flower. Here they remain dormant until the grain is sown. The smut is thus carried over the winter as spores on the grain. In the Spring when the seed is sown and germinates, the spores germinate, delicate fusion threads are produced which penetrates the very young seedling plants. This is the only time that infection can take place. The fungus threads live inside the tissue of the host plant following the growing point up the stem. When the heads form, the spores enter the young developing grains and floral structures and change the oats into masses of smut.

Treatment.

So called Dry Formaldehyde treatment, recommended for Oat Smut only. Material required 1 quart sprayer, shovel, clean floor, bags or blankets, 1 pint Formalin, 1 pint water.

This is sufficient material to treat 50 bushels of Oats. First have a clean floor. The grain is piled on the floor. At the man turns the grain over, another man sprays the grain with one stroke of the sprayer. When the oats have been treated, they are covered with bags or blankets and left for five hours. They are then ready to bag and the grain is ready to sow at once. It is important to leave covered full time because it is the fumes from the formalin that kill the spores.

Precautions Necessary in Preventing Grains Treated Becoming Re-infected.

1. Follow the instructions in detail.

2. Take the necessary precautions to prevent the grain from becoming re-infected by thoroughly spraying the floor and using bags that have not previously smutted grain, by cleaning out the drill before sowing.

3. Sow the grain as soon as possible (24 hours after treatment).

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA.

A good description of a canoe trip on the Lake Temiskaming district, Quebec, with a map showing the route, and full details concerning the trip, is written by J. J. Jackson in the April issue of Rod and Gun in Canada. This number also contains a good deal of fishing story. T. C. Fyshe who describes his bear hunt on the Trout River, British Columbia, and a big game hunt in Alberta by E. Hang, both of which are unusually good stories. Specimen will be illustrated in the fishing story by Mark McElhinney, of Ottawa, and in the centre by F. V. Williams, Bonnycastle Dale and Martin Hunter. H. W. Wry contributes his story on shooting from the six point rest, while J. R. Mattern has another article, "What Is a Good .30-30". Joseph Martin completes an interesting article on rifles with his account of the .22 Long Rifle at all Ranges. The other regular departments contain much interesting matter which no doubt will be enjoyed by all those interested in Canadian sport.

Lew had saved up a little money, and when Al came over a few years later the two brothers went into the hardware business.

One day Lew bought a roll-top desk and when it arrived he said to Al: "The one desk will do for the two of us. And here are two keys, one for you, Al, and one for me."

Al took the key, but seemed to study the desk.

"That's all right, Lew," he said, "but where is my keyhole?"

Always reliable, that's the point about Daly's Good Tea. One pound then won't measure up to the proper standard of strength and quality. This famous brand for sale at Wallace's.

The teacher was trying to give her pupils an illustration of the word, "perseverance".

"What is it," she asked, "that carries a man along rough roads and smooth roads, up hills and down, through jungles and swamps and raging torrents?"

There was a silence, and then Tommy, whose father was a motor dealer, spoke up—"Please, ma'am," he said, "there ain't no such car."

Your heroes will be in good condition for the Spring's work if you use Parke's Essence of Smoke. Gives a delicious flavor and preserves the meat as well. For sale at Wallace's.

IS there anything harder to get clean than a dirty soft collar?

Yet the grimiest of soft collars are now washed white and clear of edge dirt without hard rubbing.

With this new soap, soaking takes the place of rubbing

Just by soaking in the rich Rinso suds, the most ground in dirt is gently loosened and dissolved, and not a thread is weakened. Even the dirt that gets absolutely ground in at cuff edges is so loosened that it comes out with only a light rubbing with dry Rinso.

Whatever your way of washing, Rinso does the whole job—with it you need no other soap.

How to Wash and Preserve Woolens

Woolen garments or articles cleansed with SURPRISE soap feel soft, fluffy, and well washed. Dry woolen articles in a moderate temperature—not in the sun—and do not allow them to freeze. Sun is injurious to wool; freezing causes shrinkage.

CHEVROLET
gives Quality Transportation
at the Lowest Cost per Mile

THE automobile as a productive factor in Canadian business has proved of greater value than any other single invention. By shortening distances and time, the automobile brings buyer and seller together more quickly, conveniently and economically than any other means of transportation.

The automobile has increased man's earning power many times over. And Chevrolet, the lowest-priced quality car in the world provides this efficient transportation at a lower price per mile than does any other car built.

Continuous daily service under difficult conditions only proves the complete dependability and stamina of this practical car.

In appearance Chevrolet does credit to any business house or professional or private person. In appointments and equipment it is as complete as the most discriminating owner could wish.

Chevrolet is an investment that will pay good dividends. Investigate.

Address and Presentation.

On Friday, February 29th, the pupils of Centreville Public School expressed their regret at the departure of little Miss Eileen Cavanaugh from them. She was presented with a fancy box, containing gifts and treats from the pupils.

Dear Eileen,—We are here together in this school for the last day. We expect you to leave us this week to go to another school. We hope you will soon get acquainted with the pupils, and that they will enjoy your company as much as we have during your early school days. To show you that we really appreciated you being amongst us we are giving you this little box. Hoping you like your new school, home and companions, we are,

Pupils of Centreville Public School.

Eileen, though taken by surprise, expressed her thanks to her schoolmates and teacher, bidding all farewell.

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.

"Push", said the electric bell.

"Take pains," said the window.

"Always keep cool," said the ice.

"Be up to date," said the calendar.

"Never lose your head," said the barrel.

"Make light of everything," said the fire.

"Do a driving business", said the hammer.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.

"The Least Noise or Excitement Made Me Tremble," says Mrs. Beaulieu

Never before in the world's history have there been so many cases of nervous collapse, with "jumpy" nerves, accompanied by fits of depression, as since the Great War. This condition applies not only to men and women but to children. These run-down conditions affect every part of the human system, bringing indigestion, headaches, weakness, insomnia, anemia and finally, if not checked, that most insidious and dreaded disease, consumption. To protect the system, there is only one thing to do, tone and build up the body with Carnol and Carnol helped Mrs. Beaulieu so. She says:

"I don't know how to express my gratitude to you for all that Carnol has done for me. I was terribly depressed. I had no appetite. The least exertion tired me. I couldn't sleep. The slightest noise or excitement made me tremble. My nerves were "jumpy". I was losing weight. Finally I consulted my doctor and he told me that I was completely run down and I needed a tonic. The best tonic for your case," said he, "is Carnol but I took Carnol for a month and no! I feel so well today that it is hard to realize that six weeks ago I was in such poor health."—Mrs. Frs. Beaulieu, Rivière du Loup.

Carnol is sold by all good druggists everywhere.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B.C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we sent a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for myself and daughter, as I find it builds me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have."—Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2247 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B. C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions.

COLLEGIATE NEWS

The Literary Society of the Collegiate held a meeting in the Assembly Hall from 3 to 4 o'clock on Tuesday, March 25th, 1924. The President, Mr. Albert Hall, occupied the chair. After a few opening remarks, the minutes of the previous meeting were called for read by the Secretary and approved. Ralph Cowie then favoured us with a piano solo, which was splendidly executed, and two of the younger students, Ralph Black and Fred Ballard, both members of our School Orchestra, rendered a violin duet. They were accompanied by Beulah Hodgins. The central feature of this meeting was a debate given by four boys from the lower forms. The subject of the debate was "Resolved, that Government control of all public interests is more to the interest of the people than private control", and it was well debated by W. Carr and D. Caton on the affirmative, and R. Amey and M. Corkill on the negative. Corkill's manner and delivery were, by far, the best of the group; Carr ranking next, but all could stand much improvement. The points were well stated and carried out, and a great deal of refuting was done by both sides. The debate as a whole, showed good preparation and judgment. Miss Grange, Miss McLaughlin and Mr. Niece, who had been named as judges, were given a few minutes in which to collect the points and arrive at a decision. Mr. Niece was spokesman and after a few remarks gave the result, which appeared to have a few points more to the credit of the negative. During the few minutes given to the judges, a fine piano solo was rendered by Norman Wood, and then the critic, Mr. McGregor, was called to the platform. He gave some helpful hints to the debators and also to the Orchestra members, and reminded them of the regular weekly practise. The meeting was then closed with the National Anthem.

A COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET

On Friday evening last the individual members of the Executive of the Chamber of Commerce and the Town Council tendered a banquet to the County Council, at the Campbell House. The object was to get better acquainted with each other, and by spending the evening together and discussing topics of mutual interest, to get the other fellow's point of view. The dinner was all that could be desired and many expressed their appreciation of the menu and the tasteful arrangements.

The following were the topics discussed and the speakers, Mr. J. W. Robinson occupying the chair, as County Finances—M. P. Graham.
Banking—R. E. White, and G. P. Carr.
Co-operations—Mayor MacGregor and J. S. Johnson.
Co-operative Marketing—Warden Milling and W. A. Grange.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY LECTURE

The Historical Society will hold its next regular meeting in Historical Hall on Friday evening, March 28th, at eight o'clock. It has always been the aim of the executive to secure the best lecturers available, and to get as great a diversity of lecture subjects as possible. Their efforts have met with success all along the line, and this meeting will be no exception.

The lecture for Friday we are sure will commend itself to a large audience. Prof. Joliffe is an interesting lecturer and his subject one of personal fascination, "The Last Days of Pompeii", illustrated with lantern slides, should prove an attractive and instructive evening.

Admission free.

WEDDING BELLS.

Foster—Magee.
The home of Mr. Andrew Magee, "Sunnyside Farm", Adolphustown, was the scene of a pretty, though quiet wedding, on Wednesday, March 12th, at 11 o'clock, when their daughter, Mary Gertrude, became the bride of Francis Ercell Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Foster, Adolphustown, Rev. H. R. Neal officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of navy blue canton crepe. After a dainty luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Foster left for Ottawa and other points, the bride travelling in a navy trioctine suit with small hat to match.

A MUCH FAVORED STOCK

Of the 78,804 shares of its capital stock sold by the Bell Telephone Company in 1923, to the Company's Annual Report says, 61,553 shares were bought by the shareholders, 4,761 by Bell employees, and 12,500 shares were purchased in one block for a British investor.

The wide distribution of Bell Company stock amongst some 12,000 shareholders, who are largely customers of the Company, and amongst employees, can hardly fail to create better relationships and strengthen the Company's position in the eyes of the public. 13a

OBITUARY

Mrs. W. W. Chown.

A lady esteemed and renowned for church work throughout Canada, passed away Tuesday morning, in the person of Mrs. W. W. Chown, 154 Division street. Mrs. Chown was formerly Miss Alice J. E. Wheeler, Tamworth. In 1882 she went with her husband to Belleville and in 1906 they again changed their place of residence, going to Edmonton, Alta. Some years ago they returned to the East and took up residence in London, Ont., and about Christmas time returned to Kingston. Wherever they had gone, Mrs. Chown had been a leader in church work. She was President of the Alberta branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church; was President of the Y. M. C. A., Ladies' Auxiliary at Belleville, of the Ladies' Aid at London, Ont. Everywhere found this fine lady active in good work.

She was a woman of splendid talents, beautiful character and charming manner. Her life was a benediction to all who came within the range of her influence. Eminently unselfish, she served with a joy and delight that created enthusiasm. In Belleville she was a power in activity, in the home, a swept, tender and devoted mother, and in the places of sadness she was an angel of mercy and tenderness. Her rare qualities made her everywhere a favorite and her passing will awaken the keenest regret among her friends in the city, in the district and in the several places where she had lived.

Surviving are her husband, W. W. Chown; two brothers, James Wheeler, Tamworth, and John, Watertown, N.Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Whittle, Idaho, and Mrs. J. A. Amey, Moscow; three sons, William Allen, Toronto; Harold C., Toronto, and Leroy, Calgary, Alta.

While in Kingston, Mrs. Chown was a valued member of Sydenham Street Methodist Church, where the funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, Rev. Dr. R. H. Bell officiating.

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. W. Chown left this place from the family residence, Division street, on Thursday afternoon to Sydenham Street Methodist Church, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. Dr. R. H. Bell, Pastor of the Church, to a large number of citizens, who had the pleasure of the acquaintance of the deceased lady. Rev. Dr. Bell, before commencing his sermon, said that the life of the deceased would always be a treasured memory. He had received a number of testimonials of the esteem in which Bridge Street Church of Belleville, where the deceased had been a worker for years, Rev. Dr. Lennox, Queen Street Church, assisted in the service. D. Chown, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, telegraphed to the effect that he was unable to attend the service on account of pressure of business. Mrs. Amey Pollard was present. "I Shall See Him Face to Face", while Miss M. Shaw played the Dead March. Many floral offerings were received. The pall-bearers were P. B. Chown, Allen Chown, Russell Chown, Douglas Chown, S. C. Chown and Herbert Chown.—British Whig, Kingston, Ont.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY CLUB

The final concert of the Napanee Musical and Literary Society for this season was given at the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. B. Black, Mrs. Creighton and Miss Mills being in charge. A splendid audience was in attendance in spite of the stormy night, and were well repaid. The programme was an excellent one, Prof. Anglin, of Belleville, being the star out of town artist. Prof. Anglin possesses a very pleasing baritone and sang several selections which were enthusiastically received. His pupil, Mr. Reginald Wiseman, was heard to great advantage in "Friend of Mine" by Sanderson, and was encored persistantly. Miss Margaret Kouber played "Dancing Waves", showing splendid talent and a fine technique.

A male quartette, Mr. Byrne Black, Mr. Wiseman, Mr. Seymour and Mr. Paul, sang "Dixie to Me Only With Thine Eyes", their voices blending nicely, the charming old ballad showing them off to perfection.

Two pupils of Mrs. Powell added to the interest of the evening with their recitations which were exceedingly well done. Miss Jean Paul read "Old Ace" by Brooks with splendid expression, and Miss Mildred Milling showed real dramatic ability in "A Leap Year Leap".

A very interesting paper on "Canadian Poets" was given by the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, in which the audience manifested a keen interest. Mr. Coleman mentioned a number of poets, who were born near Napanee, and who have since become well known among writers of verse. He also read many lovely sections from their books of poetry.

Not the least of attractions was the the High School Orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Cameron Wilson. This is a truly musical organization and deserving of the highest praise. Such numbers as "Poet and Peasant" and a "Gavotte" of Serady were handled with ease and skill by these accomplished musicians. The accompanists for the evening were Prof. Anglin and Mrs. B. M. Black.

This being the final programme, it will be of interest to all members to know that the year has been a successful one even though so much was attempted by the Executive Committee. Every concert has been a source of expense to the Club, and although eight generous programmes have been given, the membership fee has been so small that no one was denied the pleasure of attending. Although the treasury has been drained, the Club will be able to meet expenses. The annual meeting will take place in October.

Full strength Formalin for treating seed grain, at Wallace's.

STRATHCONA

Our spring weather seems to have caught a cold and Jack Frost has reminded us that he is not to easily defeated as we might think. However, it is an ideal sugar year, and, although very few have tapped in this locality, we have been well supplied with syrup by vendors from the outside world. — Special evangelistic services have been in progress in the Methodist Church last week and part of this week. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Nickle, was present each evening with an inspiring message, and although the attendance on the whole was small, we hope that the seed sown has not all fallen on stony places. — Mr. W. J. Finlay has installed a fine new radio. This is the first one for Strathcona, but perhaps all were waiting for the other people to get on the ice. If this is the case, probably there will be more following Mr. Finlay's example. — Miss E. McDermid, of Queen's, Kingston, is a week-end with Miss R. Wilson recently.—Mr. and Mrs. B. Finlay, also Mrs. G. R. Finlay, were in Kingston on Sunday last attending the funeral of the late Mr. S. Patterson. — Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilson, and Miss R. Wilson, were at L. B. Hudgins', Selby, on Sunday. — The regular monthly meeting of the Mission Circle will be held at the home of Mr. James Wilson this Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock. It would be a real treat to see all the members present. We all like a treat, so make a special effort to come to this meeting. Visitors are always welcome. Service in the Methodist Church on Sunday at 10.30 a.m., Sunday School at 11.45 p.m.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

THE HISTORICAL LECTURE

The efforts which The Historical Society make to secure interesting and instructive lecturers from time to time, are amply repaid by the increased interest shown in the work by the attendance at the open meetings.

On Friday last the Historical Room was filled to capacity to hear Dr. Joliffe, of Queen's University, give an illustrated lecture on the last days of Pompeii. The subject itself always a popular one, was enhanced by the splendid lantern slides and by the gracious and literary finish of the lecture.

Dr. Joliffe, who in addition to a training in the classics which is so essential to a thorough understanding of matters of Roman antiquity, has personally visited Pompeii, and the slides he used to illustrate the lecture, for the most part were from his own photographs.

These facts combined to give the audience a real treat and a vivid portrait of the memorable city. Describing first the life of a Roman town during the first years of the Christian era, the lecturer went on to reconstruct from evidence and specimens which have been recovered and which were reproduced on the screen, the life of the average citizen in Pompeii at the time of its destruction. So sudden and catastrophic was the event which blotted out its life, that even the posture of people and animals had been retained for all time out of the past and the present to view and study.

Though the lecturer spoke well over the conventional time for a lecture of this sort, yet there was not a dull moment, and the attention of the audience was held to the last.

There is one other lecture of this season. It is on "A Medieval University", and will be given by Professor P. G. C. Campbell, also of Queen's. Due notice of this will be given through the press.

THE VICTORIAN ORDER CANVASS

In the near future the citizens of the Town of Napanee will be called on to subscribe to the first public canvass for funds in which the work of the Victorian Order nurse. The following information should be remembered and carefully studied.

1. The nurse is under the direction of a large executive or representative men and women of all religious denominations.

2. Her work is to visit all cases needing the attention of a trained nurse which are called to her attention on the following conditions:—(A) only one call can be made without the advice of a doctor; (B) no case is ever refused from inability to pay; (C) A maximum charge of twenty cents per visit is made. Other charges are graded according to the judgement of the nurse.

3. The nurse as well undertakes school examination and follows up the cases in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Department of Education.

4. A child welfare clinic is in process of establishment for the training of mothers, and advising with respect to infant feeding and general health.

5. Social service of various kinds in connection with the work of the nurse is undertaken by the executive.

6. The nurse is paid entirely from money from public sources are not available. At least fifteen hundred dollars a year must be raised by public subscription.

It is the hope of the executive that this the first public appeal will be generously met.

NEWBURGH

Now is the time to select your fly swatter. The introduction of fly swatters marked an epoch in our civilization. It is not so many years ago when the industrious fly had pretty much its own way. There were no screen doors or windows to bar its ingress, and swatters would have been inadequate to exterminate the swarm. Now it is different. It is only by chance, when hubby leaves the screen door open, that a fly goes in, and swatting is really a pastime. But swatting itself is not anything new. It is only transferred to the fly. In days gone by people swatted one another, at school, at fairs, or wherever two or three were gathered together. It was a dull day if someone did not go home with a bump on his head or a split lip. Now this is all changed, we have segregated our swatters, so to speak, we are leaving it to experts such as Jack Dempsey; but that is no reason to think that we have lost interest, for thousands of people will gather and spend thousands of dollars to see two men swat each other round a ring till one or other is exhausted. We know men, church members, indeed, who read accounts of and discuss with interest upper and under cuts, left handers and pounds, who would scarcely give a glance at the report of some great missionary enterprise, and who view with indifference the policy or fortunes of the Labour Government of England. This leads us to wonder sometimes if our civilization had advanced much since the days of the Roman Gladiators. Why save it has, see how we have overcome the fly.

Newburgh is at present a hive of fat men. Look in any way you may, it is only to hunker and skinny that come to view. Even the correspondent to The Beaver is no exception in this regard. Rather a sore excuse for him, as he has to do the thinking for the whole town. Anyway we have of artful no warrant away from this hollow.

The Calendar concert on Wednesday night of last week was an enjoyable affair. The talent was all local. There was no strain after effect, while every number on the programme was well rendered. The movement, of which the concert was the culmination, united the Ladies' Aid societies.

Mr. Hazelton Water was taken to the General Hospital, Kingston, on Tuesday to undergo an operation, arising from old age and general break down.

Mr. Robert Dougan, who has been ill for some weeks, is showing signs of improvement, and is able to be around to see his fare on the street again.

Walking on stilts is the popular performance amongst the younger boys, who are to be seen adopted exclusive as their motto. A boy starts out at an elevation of one foot, which by dint of exhibition becomes two feet, with ambition to go higher; even as we hope they will rise on the ladder of fame.

MR. LOYNES GOES WEST

His Ability Wins Early Promotion With Sun Life; Appointed Manager North Saskatchewan Division.

His many Goderich friends are pleased to learn of the appointment of Mr. G. J. S. Loynes, formerly District manager of the Sterling Bank here, and more recently with the Sun Life Assurance Co. at London, to the position of the North Saskatchewan Division, with headquarters at Saskatoon. Mr. Tom Girvin, formerly of Dungannon, a nephew of Mr. Charles Girvin, of Goderich, is one of the representatives of the Company on Mr. Loynes' staff.

The following letter was sent out by Mr. Jmes W. Simpson, Superintendent of agencies for the Sun Life, announcing the transfer of Mr. Loynes to Saskatoon:

"Mr. H. S. Potter, for personal reasons, having resigned his position as manager of our North Saskatchewan Division, as from the 25th day of February, 1924, we have appointed as his successor, Mr. G. J. S. Loynes, of London.

"Mr. Loynes has had considerable success since joining our Company as a salesman and before coming with us he occupied an important position with one of Canada's leading banks.

"The experience and knowledge which he has gained qualify him in every way for the post which he is to assume. We are sure that the interests of your staff and our other policyholders in the northern section of Saskatchewan are in exceedingly capable hands.

"Mr. W. A. Simister, our division secretary, will continue in his present position and thus maintain the Sun Life standard of service."

Mr. Loynes is already at Saskatoon but Mrs. Loynes and family intend remaining in London until the spring.—The Goderich Star, Goderich, Thursday, March 13th, 1924.

Mr. Loynes is a son of Mr. Shore Loynes, Napanee.

90th BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

On Friday, March 21st, at the home of her grand-daughter, was the scene of a very happy event, when about fifty guests gathered to give a birthday party to Mrs. Hulda Chambers, it being the occasion of her 90th birthday. After each guest congratulated the old lady on her birthday, the entire company seated themselves at a table laden with delicacies of all kinds, and in the centre of which was a large birthday cake with ninety lighted candles on it. Opposite the guest of honor were seated a number of her brothers and sisters, ranging in age from sixty-seven to eighty-four, while another living in the State of Michigan has reached the age of eighty-eight. Mrs. Chambers comes of a long-lived race, her grandmother living to the great age of 103. After partaking of the good things which the house afforded, and after toasts and speeches in honor of the aged lady, the entire company retired to the parlor, where a pleasant afternoon was spent in songs and instrumental music, all of which the guest of honor thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. Chambers is a woman of outstanding moral character, as well as a woman of physique, being in possession of all her faculties except her hearing, and is endowed with strong religious principals from which she has never wavered. Mrs. Chambers is still hale and hearty and bids fair to reach the great age of her deceased grandmother.

SMUTS OF GRAIN

Barley Smut.

There are two kinds of barley smut. 1. Naked or Loose Smut of Barley. 2. Covered Smut of Barley.

Naked or Loose Smut.

Naked or loose smut is the more common and more injurious barley smut in Ontario. It is important that farmers should learn to distinguish these two smuts, as covered smut can be prevented by treating with formalin while such treatment is of no use whatever in preventing the loose or naked smut.

Symptoms of Loose or Naked Smut.

It destroys both the grain and chaff and reduces it to a dark brown powder.

Life History.

Spores are scattered by the wind at flowering time. Some of them reach healthy heads of barley; they germinate and infection takes place immediately. This fungus is carried over as the dormant mycelium in the seed.

Prevention.

This smut cannot be prevented by treating with formalin. Secure clean seed that you know is free from this smut.

Symptoms of Covered Smut of Barley

It destroys both grain and chaff but the smut mass remains covered by a thin white skin which usually remains until harvest time. Smut balls are often found in the threshed grain.

Life History.

Spores are scattered during the threshing and handling of the grain. Spores are carried over by adhering on the seed.

Prevention.

Can be prevented by treating seed with formalin solution.

Treatment for Covered Smut of Barley.

Sprinkling Method.

Material required :—One pint of formalin (40 per cent. formaldehyde), 30 gallons of water, a clean floor or canvas to spread out the treated seed.

Mix one pint of formalin with 30 gallons of water. Place the grain to be treated in a heap on a clean floor or canvas. Sprinkle the formalin solution over the grain, then shovel the grain over into this pile so as to mix thoroughly, then sprinkle again. Repeat this until every grain is moistened by the solution; then cover the pile with sacking or blankets and leave three or four hours. At the end of this time spread the grain out to dry; shovelling it over 3 or 4 times will hasten the drying.

20 gallons of this solution is sufficient to treat 30 or 40 bushels.

Precautions Necessary in Preventing Treated Grains Becoming Re-infected.

1. Follow instructions in detail.
2. Great care must be taken to see that treated seed is not re-infected with smut spores. Sacks, bins, and implements, used in handling smutted grain must also be disinfected. The sacks and seed drill should be thoroughly disinfected.
3. Sow the seed as soon as possible 3 or 4 hours after treatment.
4. On no account allow treated grain to sprout or mold or to be frozen when swollen after treatment.

Your horses will be in good condition for the Spring's work if you use Millinga's Compound Iron Powders, "Improved". Always fresh at Hooper's Drug Store.

Certain morbid conditions must exist in the stomach and intestines to encourage worms, and they will exist as long as these morbid conditions permit them to. To be rid of them and spare the child suffering, use Miller's Worm Powders. They will correct the digestive irregularities by destroying the worms, conditions favorable to worms will disappear, and the child will have no more suffering from that cause.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont. —"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARVEY MILLS, R.R. No. 3, Sydenham, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

MILKERS.

Testimonial for Macartney Hand Milkers, sold by Spencer & Son, Napanee :—

Napanee, Ontario,
June 15th, 1923.

Gentlemen.—It did not take me long after Mr. Spencer delivered my Macartney Junior to look upon it as the best investment I have ever made.

The cows took to it right from the start and have held up wonderfully in production without any teat or udder trouble.

No more milking drudgery with your head under a cow two hours twice daily during the hot weather. My thirteen year old daughter is milking our sixteen cows in fifty minutes, and the best part is that she considers it play.

Its low cost and marvelous efficiency leads me to prophesy that within two years the Macartney Junior will be in every cow-stable. 11-8t

LIVE STOCK AND PICA

When Farm Animals Develop a Depraved Appetite.

Will Chew Wood, Leather, Plaster, Soil, etc.—Cause and Cure of the Condition — Distension of the Rumen—Treatment Suggested.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

During the winter period when live stock of necessity are being maintained on the various feeds that were stored for winter maintenance, it is frequently noticed that some animals, either cattle, horses or pigs, are chewing at or eating substances that are quite unnatural from the animal food standpoint. The fence posts, rails, mangers, bits of leather, plaster, soil, and such like, for which healthy stock show no inclination, are attractive to those with depraved appetite, or Pica disease. Animals affected to a serious extent are restless, unthrifty, lose condition and become emaciated. Should spring and green grass come quickly enough, a recovery is made without any other treatment than access to good pasture.

Symptoms of the Disease.

The presence of the symptoms of depraved appetite indicates that there is something wrong with the feeding of the animals, that there is something lacking in the ration, and that that something can generally be expressed as being lime salts. Well nourished animals getting a reasonable amount of good, clean, well kept food rarely show any tendency to eat unnatural objects. In those farm yards where a salt trough is at the service of the animals, and where clovers and other legumes are fed liberally, depraved appetite is unknown.

Treatment Suggested.

Should animals become affected with a desire to eat unnatural foods, steps should be taken at once to remedy the trouble and get the animals back to a condition of thrift. Blocks of charcoal and rock salt should be placed where the animals can get them at will. When animals are confined to stalls or pens, powdered charcoal may be given—one-half handful three times per day along with the feed. Advanced cases will generally respond to the following:

Bone dour, one pound; powdered gentian, four ounces; common salt, eight ounces; carbonate of iron, four ounces; mixed well and given at the rate of one tablespoonful three times each day on feed.

Good Feeds Also Recommended.

Good feeds, such as roots, silage and clovers, well preserved and free from fungus and bacterial growths, should be supplied, and don't forget that such common things as rock salt, charcoal and bone meal do much to supply the usual winter deficiency in animal feds as compared with the green pasture of summer on which all animals thrive.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

DISTENTION OF RUMEN.

How to Treat an Animal That Has Gorged Itself—If Serious, Get a Veterinarian.

Every winter many good farm animals are lost and many more nearly lost through carelessness in the line up, or the leaving of feed bins open. If a cow gets loose in the stable, she generally manages to find the bin where the feed grains are stored and just naturally gorges herself on the concentrated food. Don't blame the cow for eating. She knows not what trouble she is wading into by overloading her paunch with mill chop or grain meal.

If it is known that an animal has gorged itself, and it can generally be determined by pressing the flank with the closed fist and noting if the indent of the hand remains for a short time, a drench should be given at once. One and a half pounds of Epsom salts dissolved in two gallons of water given at a single dose and followed by kneading the left side below the midian line vigorously to separate the compacted mass of fermenting grain and allow the drench to penetrate it. Stimulants, such as aromatic spirits of ammonia, should be given in two ounce doses.

Should the drench fail and the impacted condition continue, it can be relieved by a trained veterinarian performing the operation known as rumenotomery. This operation is performed by making an incision through the left flank and into the rumen, large enough to permit the entrance of the hand. The compacted grain or meal is removed in part (about two-thirds) and the wound in the rumen sutured up with catgut, after proper antiseptic precautions have been taken. The wound through the muscle and skin can be brought together with silk stitches, placed one inch apart and through the entire thickness of the muscle. The wound should be dressed daily and kept covered to protect it from insects and dust.

A useful dressing lotion can be made by using Zinc Sulphate, one dram; Carbolic acid, two drams; Glycerine, two ounces; water, fourteen ounces, mixed together. Should this operation be attempted by anyone other than a trained veterinary surgeon, warning is given that only an antiseptic, absolutely clean operation will permit the animal to live.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O.A. College, Guelph.

In most localities the poultry house should face the south, as this insures the greatest amount of sunlight during the winter. Proper ventilation and sunlight mean a dry house and healthy birds.

Cold Completely Removed With Two Bottles

Most colds are the result of a weakened condition of the system. Nothing will undermine your health so quickly as a cold. More consumption results from neglected colds than any other source. When you notice a cold developing build up your system. The most effective way to do this is to take a tonic—Carnol. Mr. Harry Heller, of Regina, got rid of a cold of two months' standing by taking Carnol. Read what he says:

"After having used two bottles of your Carnol, I find that it has completely removed my cold from which I have suffered since the first week of December last. All other remedies have been failures and I strongly recommend to others who have been suffering from a similar ailment to try a bottle of your Carnol and I am sure they will not regret such a purchase."—Harry Heller, 2126 Broad St., Regina, Sask.

Mr. Heller suggests trying a bottle, but to get the full benefit of this wonderful preparation, you should take a Course of Carnol. 4-9

This charm you can keep

Youthful radiance of complexion! Millions of women have learned this simple way

The fresh softness, the radiance of youthful skin need not be lost as the years accumulate. Clever women guard this charm—keep it!—today.

This simple method does that for millions of women. Now you may use it—and keep that schoolgirl complexion.

You need only do this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse—and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive.

Be sure you get Palmolive—which is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. For just one week try this simple method and watch results. You will be astonished, delighted!

Use Palmolive for the bath, too. Thousands do—it is so economical.

Fashion Stresses Suits For Spring

Suits are staging a "come-back". At every turn the evidence is convincing. Never were Suits more alluring or more practical. In our Suit Department you will find "Suits" that suit your figure, that suit your style, that suit your purse. These garments have been gathered from our best Canadian manufacturers; they are authentic from collar to hem.

The "Woman" who prefers tailored lines will be amazed with the grace, variety and the originality that has been achieved within the straight lines of the Spring Silhouette.

The "Miss" who steers clear of tailored thoughts will find a charming range of "Flare-Back" models that will wonderfully express her individuality and charm.

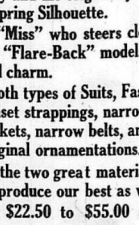
On both types of Suits, Fashion has lavished a wealth of detail. Pin-tucks, inset strappings, narrow braids, cut-out embroideries, inconspicuous pockets, narrow belts, and novel buttons are used in many unique ways for original ornamentations.

Tricotine and Poiret-twill are the two great materials used in Spring Suits. These fabrics are used in their various qualities to produce our best as well as our lowest priced Suits.

Priced from $22.50 to $55.00 at Robinson's.

GLOVES THAT SAY STYLE

Gloves are short for Spring, with both long and short sleeved dresses. There are Slip-ons and Gauntlets, with this new feature, that they are much more simple than usual a touch of embroidery on cuff or self embroidered points by way of trimmings. But whatever they lack in decoration they make up for in smart colors, Biege tones, Greys and Browns to match the new Spring costume.



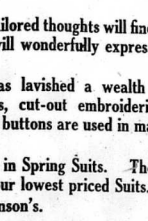
Pleated Skirts

Even more pleated than ever. The New Spring Styles show tinier pleats used in groups.

To meet the vogue for matching and related garments we have the new fabrics in all the bright Spring colors.

We recommend Livingston & Scott pleated skirts because the pleating is guaranteed to stay in pleat. The skirts have full hip size and continuous spare facings that will not rip.

SPRING MILLINERY IS BRIGHT IN COLOR
A HAT FOR EVERY FACE AT ROBINSON'S



For weeks our milliners have been preparing, masses of beautiful flowers, rolls of gay ribbons, pieces of colorful silks, have yielded to the touch of nimble and experienced fingers.

The school girl, the business woman, the society miss, the particular matron will find her own adorable hat in our Easter assortments.

Fashion has not let-up in her fondness for small shapes, thus the helmet, the cloche, the turban, the tricorne and the sailor are seen in all the beautiful Spring colorings.

This season we are concentrating on price as well as style. See how splendidly we have accomplished this. See our large range of exclusive styles that are priced under $10.00.

NEW SPRING AND EASTER NECKWEAR

Clever Neckwear, this is where there seems to be no end of varieties. A gauntlet sett in organdie, Eton Collar and Cuff setts in Beach cloth, Pique or Linen; Vestees in Net, Organdie; Collar Tabbings in Crepe-de-chene, Organdie and Lace.

There is an attractive finish here for every Spring frock in the process of making.

HOSIERY OF NEW COMPLEXIONS

Sheer Hose are fashion's first word for Spring when they are attractively colored as these in such shades as Log Cabin, Lark, Nude, Silver, Suede and Grey. There is no dispute as to their fitness for the smartest wardrobes.

Hose that match the shoes or contrast are equally smart.

One of the many Weary Willies that abound in this country called at an office the other day and asked for a job (says The Morning Post).

"Can't give you one," said the merchant; "two other men here are on the same errand."

Just then another citizen came in and said to the merchant: "I am fired and I'm one of them men." Then, pointing to the last comer, he said: "You come along with me and I'll find you something to do."

In pained and surprised tones Weary Willy inquired: "Why me?"

Newburgh, Thou Art Last; But Not Least !

Oh, Newburgh, here's an ode to thee,
Tis better late than never;
If people, once your praises sang,
They'd sing them on forever.

But Newburgh, why don't thou,
An incorporated place,
Idly sit with folded hands,
While others taunt thy face?

Others have hauled, loud their towns,
As best, since God's creation,
Is there no talent in our town,
To lighten its duration?

Yes! Newburgh you have some
That only wait their time;
It takes a man to write out prose,
A fool can make a rhyme.

But now the time has come at last,
For now, we must reply
To other places, as they taunt,
For now 'tis "Do or Die".

Ah, Newburgh, thou art Nature's own
We see it every day;
And when the sun has gone to rest,
Street lights show us the way.

The streets are straight in Newburgh,
There's plenty of them, too;
It's nice to walk along them,
If that is all you do.

We have six stores in Newburgh,
That sell the whole day long;
We also have three churches,
With all their praise and song.

We've a barber shop, a pool room,
Tinshop on either hand;
The hotel across the river,
Is the best in all the land.

Then Walker runs a big garage,
As busy as can be;
The other one's dead long ago,
He got the trade, you see.

And Newburgh is a centre,
Two mail routes we have still,
The one keeps farmers going,
The other,—Centreville".

The bus is run by Charlie,
It is a "Lizzy" too,
But it is always busy,
So he's enough to do.

The trains go West at morning,
And then go East at night;
And if our mail "is" drawn in,
We get it here alright.

The Methodist Church in Newburgh
Is as grand as it can be;
The minister's house is handy,
As couples often see.

Upon the street one rainy night,
I'm sure that I did hear,
A policeman yelling, "To the right",
And his whistle loud and clear.

But I forgot the High School;
High? Yes, on a hill;
And then there's where the logs are sawn,
The "Conway Sawing Mill".

Say! That school's got a baseball team,
And you should see them go;
They never lose a game they play,
From Spring till fall of snow.

My paper's nearly ended!
My ink is running low!
It's half the praise of Newburgh
Is never sung, you know.

The pen grows heavy in my grasp,
The clock has struck eleven,
Oh, Newburgh! I shall I call thee "town",
Or a little spot of Heaven?

—Archie McNeely.

OBITUARY

John E. Griffith.

At Sillsville, South Fredericksburgh, on Sunday, March 16th, 1924, there passed away a highly respected resident in the person of John E. Griffith, youngest son of Gilbert and Flora Griffith. In early life he matriculated from Napanee High School, then attended Belleville College, and then Toronto from which institution the same year as the late Dr. Dorland. He then entered a law firm in London. From close confinement and hard study he passed through a trying illness, came back to recuperate on the old farm. Being frail from birth, he never regained his former health, but died as he wished, on the farm where he was born. He was of U. E. L. descent on both sides, his great grandfather being a nephew of Philip Embury, of precious memory. A few years ago he suffered the loss of his eyesight and being an inverate reader, he felt the blow very keenly, although he never complained. He was also an expert in shorthand, having written the Book of Psalms in book form by an ordinary lamp at night, which his friends concluded was the cause for losing his sight. Then the loss of his home by fire was another blow from which he never recovered. Thus one by one our friends are passing.

WHAT TO DO FOR BLOAT

Remedies for Hoven and Chronic Tympanitis in Cattle.

Causes of Bloat Described—Use of Trocar to Puncture the Rumen Recommended for Hoven—Internal Remedies Also Suggested—Tuberculosis In Dairying.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Nearly every cattle stable is the scene of a few experiences with bloating cattle during the winter and spring seasons. Bloating is characterized by swelling at the left flank. In severe cases the distention may be such as to cause great discomfort, and when tapped with the fingers will emit a sound. The animal has a distressed expression and moves uncomfortably, breathing becomes more difficult as the gas distention of the paunch progresses. If the gas is not liberated, or its formation checked in time, rupture of the paunch or death by suffocation may happen.

Hoven or Bloat.

The causes of bloat, or hoven, can be attributed to any kind of feed that will produce indigestion if given in unreasonable quantity. Hasty feeding by greedy animals frequently results in discomfort for the animal and trouble for the stableman. Frozen roots, mouldy feeds, overfeeding with middlings, barley or corn meal, cold, wet feeds, potatoes, cabbage, large quantities of green or frosted green feeds are common causes of this trouble. The digestion process being interfered with, fermentation quickly sets up in the paunch with serious gas distention.

Puncture Rumen With the Trocar.

In urgent cases speedy relief is very essential to the continued life of the animal. The quickest relief may be given by puncturing the rumen, using a trocar if such is at hand, or a clean, sharp knife blade will do. Select a point equally distant from hip bone to last rib, which is usually the point of greatest visible distention. In making the incision direct the knife or trocar point downward, inward and a little forward. The sheath of the trocar should remain in the opening to provide exit for the gas. When no trocar is at hand and a knife is used to puncture the paunch, the opening may be kept open by a large wing feather from turkey or goose. The feather is prepared by making an opening at each end of the quill and then dipping in boiling water, apply carbolic ointment at end inserted. While the tube or cannula is in position it should be held by an attendant until sufficient gas has passed out to permit the flank to return to normal condition. It can then be removed.

Internal Remedies May Relieve.

When the bloating is not severe, as indicated by only moderate swelling at the flank, the trouble can best be relieved by the administration of internal medicines. A tronsic spirits of ammonia given every half hour, two ounces to one quart of water for an animal two years or over. After bloating is over give one pound of glauber salts in not less than one and a half quarts of water. Repeat the physic if necessary.

Chronic Tympanitis.

This form of bloat if present in many cattle stables during the long winter period when cattle are standing. Some animals may be affected by this form of digestive trouble, while others living under identical conditions are not. The affected animal bloats up after feeding, but gentle pressure to an extent to require puncture and relief by trocar and cannula. A purgative will generally give relief, provided the chronic bloating has been caused by indigestion, and not by tuberculosis of the mesenteray lymphatic glands.)

Best Doses for Chronic Bloat.

The following dosage has been found very effective in relieving this form of bloat: one pound of Epsom salts; one half ounce of powdered Barbadoes aloes; one ounce of powdered ginger; and one pint of molasses. Prepare by stirring the Epsom salts and aloes into two quarts of warm water, then add the ginger and molasses. Stir well for five minutes and give as a drench. After the operation of the purgative, see that the animal is decently protected to favor easy digestion. Roots, silage and clover are most useful to keep up the activity of the gut in good condition. The use of linseed meal and glauber salts mixed with the feed morning and night — a handful of each—is good practice should there be any indication that the general feeding is not laxative enough. Potassium bi-carbonate, powdered ginger and powdered gentian are very useful as a tonic to tone up the digestive system and thereby aid in the prevention of chronic bloat or tympanitis. Use equal parts of each, mix well and give one ounce at the beginning of the feed three times a day. Should chronic bloating continue after treatment the tuberculin test should be applied to the animal.—R. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Tuberculosis and Dairying.

The economic importance of tuberculosis in the dairy industry is shown by figures on the length of time cows remain in the milking herd. The figures, prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture, show that the average cow remains in the milking herd 4.2 years. Assuming that cows removed on account of tuberculosis are not considered, it is found that when a cow is not used any so great, the useful life of the average cow being 5.7 years. The credit realized at Napanee on March 20th. At the ceremony the happy couple left on the evening train to spend a week with the bride's brother, Mr. Carman Galbraith, of Otterson, Ont. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Huff will reside on the groom's farm near Wilton. Congratulations.

The cost of the bedtime romp

SOMETIMES it means hard, back-breaking rubbing over a wash-tub, trying to keep the little night-clothes clean and fresh. For the children can make a thorough job of getting them black in a very short time.

But Mother can keep those active little bodies in sweet, clean clothes without the old hard grind at the wash-tub. She can keep their school clothes dainty and fresh with very little effort.

With Rinso—a new kind of soap—soaking takes the place of rubbing. Its soapy suds go through every fold and thread, gently loosening all the dirt. Only spots where dirt is actually ground in—knees, neck-bands, seats of rompers, and such places—will need any rubbing, and then only lightly, with dry Rinso.

Make your next wash easy with Rinso. It takes the place of bar soap at every step of the family wash, banishing the old hard work of wash day for good.

All grocers and department stores sell Rinso.

Long Standing Asthma. Many have suffered so long from asthma and have tried so many so-called remedies they think that there is no real help for them. Ghosts Were Common.

Cats, it said to be awakening. If this be so, may be just a premonitory yawn and scratch. A recently released traveler says: Almost all the people on Tsushima, a sailing city of 30,000 inhabitants at the land end of the Shantung railway, in China, move 1 in wheelbarrows. Some of the loads are thus conveyed distances of 15 to 20 miles a day. Wheelbarrows also handle passenger traffic. "My lady" frequently returns from her shopping tours with her parcels sitting on one side and herself on the other. Half a dozen people may ride in front of a pulling and propelling coolie. The wheel is in the center of the barrow, which aids in balancing the load. If it is unusually heavy, another man or boy helps to pull, by means of a rope or strap thrown across his shoulders. In a very few instances a mule is the motive power, but it requires a man to lead the mule.

The Corso.

The name Corso is given the principal thoroughfare of Rome, about a mile in length, extending from the Porta del Popolo to the foot of the Capitoline hill. It is lined with shops, palaces and private houses, and is the scene of the festivities of the carnival, which is annually celebrated at Rome, just before the beginning of Lent. Races of riderless horses along the crowded Corso form one of the principal events of the celebration; while the throwing of flowers and confections from the windows and balconies upon the occupants of carriages in the street below adds much to the merriment of the occasion.

Nice Now.

One of the last places visited by President Warden G. Harding, and his last act of public worship was his visit to the Presbyterian Mission School at Sitka, Alaska, and his worship in the little church with the Indian students and others on Sunday, July 22nd. The following paragraph is from a letter written by the superintendent, Dr. James H. Condit, the following day to the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions in New York:

"We are very grateful for the president's positive stand for righteousness while here in the distinctively religious trend of his address to the town people."

COURAGE

Where is your record of yesterday?
Is it near the top or low?
Well, what does it matter anyway,
If you've watched the score and know?

The biggest men in the world to-day
Began—and some jobs were mean—
But they won because they were willing to play
The game out fair and clean.

They cared not a whit that the odds were long
For their faith in themselves was fine;
They faced the mark with a courage strong
And headed straight for the line.

It's playing the big game right that pays,
It's not what you win, but how.
So forget to regret the wasted days,
Start right on a new one NOW.

—Jane Bates, in "Forbes".

Shrieks and yells of the most appalling type were issuing from the little cottage, and quite a crowd had collected. Presently, clothed in the full majesty and dignity of the law, a policeman came striding onto the scene.

"Now, then," he cried gruffly, "what is all this about?"

"Please, sir," spoke up a small boy, "that's only my brother. He's crying because mama's eyesight ain't very good, and she's deaf, too."

A ghastly series of shrieks interrupted the explanation.

"He must be a very feeling little fellow," remarked the officer, wiping away a furtive tear.

"Yes, sir, he is. You see, ma's mending his trousers, and he's got them on."

WHEN HORSES EAT HAY

Do Not Feed Them Too Much or Too Long.

Mastication a Slow Process — Digestion Described—Oats and Hay Do Not Mix in the Stomach — Feed Grain Early to Skimmilk Calves.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

A horse should not be given more feed than he will consume in one hour and a half or two hours. It is a wasteful and harmful practice to keep hay before horses all the time. The horse should have sufficient to satisfy hunger, and, if his teeth are in good condition, two hours of undisturbed feeding morning and night, ten minutes with a pound of oats, will put as much food into his stomach and intestine as these organs can properly take care of.

Mastication a Slow Process With Horses.

Mastication in the horse is a slow process. It takes fifteen to twenty minutes to properly chew and swallow a pound of hay, and from five to ten minutes with a pound of oats. The salivary secretion during feeding with an average horse ranges from 8½ to 10½ pints per hour. This secretion makes it possible for the horse to properly masticate and swallow the food, each pound of hay mixing with four times its bulk of saliva, and each pound of oats with an equal weight. After mastication, the bolus of food passes to the stomach and lies in the lesser curvature until there is sufficient accumulation to distend the organ and press the material to the greater curvature, where gastric juice begins to act on it.

Work of Digestion Described.

As the stomach distends through food being pressed in, the ingesta (food on which the gastric juices are acting) is forced out through the pylorus into the intestines, where the gastric juices have full opportunity of acting. If the quantity fed is not more than what the horse can eat in two hours, the stomach and intestines can accommodate it for full and proper digestion. If the quantity of hay and oats is such as to keep the horse eating continuously (most horses are gluttons), feed will be forced through the stomach and intestines too quickly to permit of proper and full saturation with gastric juice, hence the wasteful practice of having hay before the horse all the time when he is standing in the stable. There is no absorption from the stomach of the horse, this function being performed by the intestines. Under normal conditions and rational feeding the food remains in the horse's stomach long enough for the gastric juices to convert 40 to 50% of the carbohydrates into sugar, and from 40 to 70% of the proteins into peptones. Overeating, which causes overloading of stomach and duodenum, is just about as sensible as choking the threshing machine and causing general waste, sending the grain out with the straw.

Oats and Hay Do Not Mix in the Stomach.

If a horse is fed on oats and hay in succession, the stomach will, on examination, be found to contain these substances unmixed and arranged in strata, the first food taken being in the pylorus and the last in the lesser curvature. The contents of a horse's stomach are squeezed and pressed, but not churned, as is the case with cattle.

The regular arrangement of food in layers is disturbed when a horse is watered after feeding. A portion of the food may be washed out of the stomach. The water which a horse drinks does not stop in the stomach but passes directly through it on its way to the caecum. For this reason it is advisable to water first and feed afterwards.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Feed Grain Early to Skimmilk Calves.

At the time calves are changed from whole to skimmilk they are ready to begin eating small amounts of grain, which should be placed before them in small feeding boxes. Or if they are tied in stanchions for milk feeding, the grain can be put in the manger before they are released. Just a very small handful is all the calf will take at first, and only as much should be fed as the animal will clean up.

Ground corn is very palatable, and it can be fed alone or in combination with other grains, such as ground oats, bran, and some oil meal. It sometimes helps to get the calf started on grain by putting a small amount on its tongue and muzzle when the empty milk pail is taken away. This also puts a stop to sucking the ears of the calf in the next stage. After the young animal's appetite for grain has increased, the corn and oats can be fed whole, but many feeders continue to let them have ground grain.

A good grain mixture to feed to growing calves is made up of 500 pounds of ground corn, 300 pounds ground or whole oats, and 100 pounds linseed oil meal.

Hay can also be placed before the calves at this time in a small rack. Clover hay, mixed clover and timothy, or alfalfa hay not too leafy, are as satisfactory.

An early start in grain and hay ensures the proper development of the digestive organs of the young animal, and assists in promoting vigorous growth.

Pack up your dishes in the old dish pan,

One of the many Weary Willies that abound in this country called at an office the other day and asked for a job (says The Morning Post).

"Can't give you one," said the merchant; "two other men here are on the same errand."

Just then another citizen came in and said to the merchant: "I can find work for one of these men." Then, pointing to the last comer, he said: "You come along with me and I'll find you something to do."

In pained and surprised tones, Weary Willy inquired: "Why me?"

GIBBARD A. A. A. STAGE BIG NIGHT

The newly formed G. A. A. A. staged their first show Friday evening, at Sunderland Theatre, and were greeted with a packed house.

The doors were opened at 7 p.m. and long before the scheduled time the S.R.O. sign was hung. The large gathering received many thrills furnished by Billie Hughes' pupils of Kingston and local talent.

The first bout was between two juveniles, Huffman and Wilson, the latter a pocket edition of Pancho Villa. The bout ended a draw.

The Bailey (Kingston) vs. Smith (Napanee) bout was a good exhibition. Smith winning on points, taking the cup donated by the Association, the loser the medal.

There were four local boys entered the 115-lb. class for the John St. Daly medal. Fox vs. Fraser were the first to appear in the class. Fraser opened strongly but tired badly and Fox won in the third.

The Deshane vs. Smith was a real fast three round bout, Deshane winning.

Fox then met Deshane in the final and after three torrid rounds won on points, taking the medal. This boy, Fox, is a real battler, and with a touch of Billie Hughes' calibre should be heard from.

The McBroom (Kingston) vs. Smith, Jr., (Napanee) bout was a humdinger for three rounds, the referee awarding McBroom the bout. The crowd called for an extra round, but referee Hughes stated afterward that McBroom's short punishing punches had won for him on points.

The Bentley vs. Sugar bout for the Mel. Taylor medal was won by Bentley, who finished too strongly for Sugar.

The crowd event of the evening was supplied by Grass and Gartskell boxing in barrels. This event was a scream. (The force of gravity) or Gartskell won the bout for him.

The Purcell (Kingston) vs. Waitt (Napanee) bout ended in the second round, Purcell claiming an injury and being unable to continue.

The Kane vs. Rounhower bout ended, as did the same boys, Kelly making it a trio, unable to continue after the second round.

The last bout of the evening, between Hudson and Anderson, two Napanee boys, was a mixture of two boys and real boxing. A real Irish mix-up, "and take" three rounds. Hudson winning by a swell margin.

Refreshments supplied by Watson's Bakery, will be rendered by numbers by Colen Barrett, several comic songs by real Al. Jolson style, Allan Walkers, were also thoroughly enjoyed. In fact, chase was one unfortunate enough to have been bored a real night's entertainment.

Much credit cannot be given to Mr. G. W. Gilliard and directors of the firm for the unselfish interest in the athletics in the new association, which indeed is filling a long felt want. Also to Billie Hughes, who gave an instructive five minute talk on the manly art of self defence. "Billie" is a man master of the game," added greatly to the pleasure of the evening, by his efficient handling of the bouts, also to the Kingston boys who so gentlemanly conduct both in and out of the ring made them prime favorites and it is to be hoped in the near future, we will have the pleasure of seeing them again.

The Association entertained those taking part in the program at the Empire Cafe after the show.

The G. A. A. A. wishes to thank Mr. George Tustin, Mr. John G. Daly and Mr. Mel Taylor, for their co-operation in making the evening a success.

ST. ANDREW'S YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

On Monday night the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church spent an enjoyable and interesting evening in the School Room. One section of the Society was responsible for the privilege of entertaining the others. Supper was served at 6.30, when about seventy young people sat down to tables decorated in blue and arranged in the usual banquet style, presented an attractive appearance. After the supper, a number of brief and breezy addresses were given by various members of the Society.

When the tables were removed, and the programme presented, Games of various kinds kept the crowd busy for another hour, and then community singing, led by the orchestra, completed a pleasant and profitable evening.

VICTORIAN ORDER OF NURSES.

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee, met in the Public Library, on Tuesday evening. Miss Gardner's report showed 167 visits made during March, and $62.75 collected.

School inspection received 22½ hours of the nurse's time in the two weeks. 411 children were examined, 14 school talks given, and 10 school visits made.

In addition to bedside nursing, and school inspection, Miss Gardner is organizing a Child Welfare Clinic. The Order is greatly indebted to Mayor MacGregor for the kind offer of the Council Chamber for the Clinic; to the Red Cross Society for the equipment for same, and to the Salvation Army for the assistance rendered Miss Gardner in her work.

SCIENCE DEMANDS UNIFORMITY

Careful research made in recent years in the study of dietetics has shown the great importance to the human system of purity and uniformity in foods. It is a great blessing that today so many delicious foods as well as tea and coffee can be procured in tins and sealed metal packages. "SALADA" Tea was one of the first food products to become widely popular in Canada. The flavour-preserving aluminum package keeps the tea fresh and delicious. Skilful blending maintains the quality absolutely uniform.

VIOLET

On the evening of March 28th a number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. W. H. McClure, prior to their departure for Hamilton, and an evening of games and music was enjoyed by all, although a feeling of sadness reigned, as Mrs. McClure and family had endeared themselves to the people here during their stay of 3 year and a half. They will be very greatly missed, in the church especially, and Mrs. McClure was a member and an enthusiastic worker in the Woman's Missionary Society. After a dainty luncheon was served by the ladies, a farewell address was read by W. H. Drew, on behalf of the people of Violet, and Chas. McClure responded, thanking the people for coming to their home and also for the kindness shown them during their stay in Violet. Mrs. McClure, with her daughter, Doris, and son, Stewart, left for Hamilton on Saturday, March 29th. Chas. McClure left the following week for Oshawa.—Rev. and Mrs. Merrick made some pastoral calls last week. — Mr. Boyer Young returned to Hamilton, after spending a couple of weeks with his cousin, Chas. We are real proud of our Auxiliary. — Mrs. George Emmanuel is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. John Clancy, Centreville. — Mrs. E. A. Wright has returned home from Detroit, where she spent six weeks with her sister, Mrs. D. Douglas. — Mrs. C. R. Drew spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Macdonald, Camden East, and attended the Lenten services.

Mr. F. S. Boyce, a well-known Australian barrister, tells the story of a lion being charged in a country town with stealing. His solicitor did not get to put him in the box to give evidence on his own behalf. The Magistrate, being doubtful if he understood the nature of an oath, undertook to examine him on the point:

"Jacky," he said, "you know what will happen to you if you tell a lie?"

"My oath, boss," replied Jacky, "me no tell him lie, me tell him true."

"Quite right," replied the Magistrate. "And now, you know what will happen if you tell the truth?"

"Yes, boss, too right! We lose him case."

The result of the trial is not chronicled.

THE VICTORIAN ORDER

The week beginning April 21st has been set by the executive as the week of the canvass for funds in connection with the local branch of the Victorian Order. The local branch is administered by an executive composed of representative men and women of all denominations, whose aim is to safeguard the public health.

To accomplish this a Victorian Order nurse has been engaged to give her whole time to this important task. She is fully qualified in every way and seeks to work through the following methods:

1. Bedside nursing; 2, school health inspection and follow-up; 3, social service; 4, child welfare.

The services of the nurse are available for all. A maximum fee of seventy-five cents a visit is charged, though the needy are aided in left to the judgment of the nurse.

The fees constitute only a small amount of the total necessary to finance the undertaking, and for this reason an appeal is made to the citizens to contribute liberally. The canvassers will call some time during the week of April 20th.

Make Your Youngster the Happiest in Town

EVERY real boy or girl who hasn't a bicycle wants one.

If your boy hasn't one he must feel pretty blue to be left behind when his chums ride gayly off to a picnic, or to play ball on the commons a mile or so away, or for a jaunt in the country with the Boy Scouts.

Far better for him to be out riding than loitering on a street corner.

Cycling is one of the cleanest of sports and healthiest of exercises. The pleasure and benefits your boy will receive from riding with the Scouts, or with any of the other organizations active in promoting a standard of clean, manly boyhood in Canada, will repay, many times over, the small cost of a C.C.M. Bicycle.

Just think of the whoop of joy your boy would let out tonight if you told him you were going to get him a bicycle. When you take him down to the C.C.M. dealer's to pick it out he will be the happiest boy in town.

Every C.C.M. Bicycle is a bear for punishment. It will stand up under the hardest usage a healthy boy will give it. The frames of reinforced English Seamless Tubing are marvels of strength. The bearings are of flint-hard steel of extreme accuracy. The rims of second growth hard maple are exceptionally durable. The lustrous enamel ing and bright nickeling are weather-proof.

The boys' and girls' models, as well as adults, are equipped with the famous Triplex Crank Hanger, that makes pedalling so easy, and with the C.C.M. Hercules Brake that coasts so freely and stops so quickly

There's a model for your boy whatever his age—including the Curved Bar model, the bicycle the boy won't outgrow, and a dashing Sport Model for the older boys and adults. Also neat, trim models for girls. C.C.M.s are $15 to $20 less than the "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's Value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

Take your boy or your girl with you to the C.C.M. dealer's. Get the bicycle now and let him enjoy a whole long season's pleasure. You can pay in instalments if desired.

Raymond Bank Man Joins Great West Rubber Co. Staff.

J. D. Spafford Becomes Secretary-Treasurer of Growing Wholesale Concern.

After fifteen years in the service of the Standard Bank of Canada, the last five of which have been spent in Raymond, Alberta, J. D. Spafford has tendered his resignation, and will take over the position of secretary-treasurer, and credit manager of the Great West Shoe and Rubber Co., Lethbridge. The growth of the Great West during the past year has made necessary the addition of a credit manager, and for several months past Mr. Spafford has been considering the offer made by the Wholesale Company Manager, Mr. Blecher, with the result that he finally decided to accept the position with the young and flourishing company in which he already possesses considerable stock. There is no doubt that the Great West has acquired in Mr. Spafford a man who is able to handle efficiently the inside affairs of the company. Business men, numbering about forty, met last night at a banquet in honor of Mr. Spafford. The Raymond hotel management did justice to the occasion with an excellent menu tastefully served. Nearly every one present were called upon to speak, by Jas. Walker, Board of Trade President, who presided. The guest of honor was presented with a gold ring as a token of esteem.—The Raymond Recorder.

Members from Hamilton, Peterboro', Georgetown, Streetsville and other points were in attendance last night. The election of officers for the coming year was held during the evening, and resulted as follows:—President, T. C. Wood; Vice-President, S. Harpham; Secretary, R. F. Oke, and Treasurer, K. C. SMUTS OF GRAIN

WHEAT SMUT.

There are two kinds of Wheat Smut.

(1) Stinking Smut or Bunt.
(2) Loose Smut of Wheat.

Stinking Smut or Bunt.

The stinking smut is more common and more objectionable owing to its disagreeable odor which injures its milling qualities.

Symptoms.

The affected heads stand up stiff and straight. The chaff is more or less bleached and sticks out (flaring). The grains upon examination are short, plump, light in weight and somewhat discolored, and upon being broken open have a dark brown substance which has a greasy feeling when rubbed between the fingers.

Life History.

Each bunted grain or smut ball contains, it has been estimated, two million spores. These spores are scattered by the threshing and handling of the grain. The fungus is carried over from season to season by these spores adhering to the outside of the seed. Infection takes place in the young seedling stage and this is the only time that plants can be infected. This period lasts from 8 to 10 days.

Prevention.

This smut can be prevented by treating seed with a formalin solution.

Treatment for Stinking Smut or Bunt.

Sprinkling Method—Material Required—1 pint formalin (40 per cent. formaldehyde), 30 gallons water. A clean floor or canvas to spread out treated seed.

Directions—Mix one pint formalin with 30 gallons of water. Pile the grain to be treated in a heap on a clean floor or canvas. Sprinkle the formalin solution over the grain. Then shovel the grain over into another pile, so as to mix thoroughly. Then sprinkle again. Repeat this until every grain is moistened by this solution. Then cover the pile with sacks or blankets and leave three or four hours. At the end of this time, spread the grain out to dry; shovelling it over 3 or 4 times will hasten drying. Spray gallons of this solution is sufficient to treat 20 or 30 bushels of grain.

Precautions Necessary to Prevent Treated Grain Becoming Re-Infected.

1. Follow the instructions in detail.

2. Great care must be taken to see that treated seed is not re-infected with smut spores. Sacks, bins, and implements used in handling grain must also be dis-infected. The sacks and seed drill should be thoroughly dis-infected.

3. If seed wheat to be treated contains smutted grain (smut balls) these may be removed. If not, they will re-infect the grain. They can be removed with the fanning mill by using a special air blast.

4. Sow the seed as soon as possible 3 or 4 hours after treatment.

5. On to account allow treated grain to sprout, mold or to be frozen when swollen after treatment.

Loose Smut of Wheat.

This smut is more common and causes more loss than is generally realized.

Symptoms.

This smut attacks both the grain and the chaff and reduces them to dark brown powder resembling soot. Frequently, this powder is blown away and nothing is left but the axil of the head. It appears when the grain begins to ear out. There is no disagreeable odor.

Life History.

The spores are scattered by the wind at flowering time. Some of them reach healthy heads of wheat. They germinate and infection takes place. Immediately this infection is carried over as dormant mycelium in the seed.

Prevention.

This smut cannot be prevented by treating the seed with formalin. It can be prevented, however, by securing seed from fields where there was no loose smut.

Women you envy
have only this secret

You, too, may employ it to keep the radiance and bloom of youthful skin

Radiant, with the charm of youth still theirs, millions of clever women are admired—and envied—today.

Yet they have no difficult, hidden secret—no great gift.

Only this simple method—which is for you, too. To give you, as well, the charm you envy in them.

For one week do this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive, so that thousands now use Palmolive for the bath.

Make sure that you get Palmolive—which is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. Get it, and try for one week this simplest of all treatments. See how delightfully and how quickly it benefits your skin.

Conway Women's Institute.
The regular meeting of the Conway Women's Institute took place at the home of Mrs. John C. Pitchett, Millville, on April 5th. Owing to illness in her family the President was unable to attend this meeting. Mrs. W. Haight took charge of the meeting in her absence, with about twenty members and visitors present. Mrs. John Spearing gave an address on "Good Rural School Lunches". This is a subject of great importance to mothers in the country, and Mrs. Spearing gave some splendid ideas in her address, one of these is the serving of hot school lunches. This plan has already been put in execution, of course, in many schools, and has worked out fine. A few more new members joined the Institute for the coming year. No more business was taken up and the meeting closed as usual. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. P. Young, and the election of officers will take place. The President has requested all members who can do so to attend.

An elderly man of ultra-convivial habits, but withal learned and bookish, was haled before the bar of justice in a country town.

"You're charged with bein' drunk and disorderly," snapped the Magistrate. "Have ye anything to say before sentence should not be pronounced?"

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," began the prisoner in a flight of oratory. "I am not so debased as Poe, so prodigal as Byron, so ungrateful as Keats, so intemperate as Burns, so timid as Tennyson, so vulgar as Shakespeare, so—"

"That'll do, that'll do," interrupted the Magistrate. "Ninety days. And, officer, take down that list of names he mentioned and round 'em up. I think they're as bad as he is."

Purchased Tickets to Own Show.
Ignace Jan Paderewski, the famous Polish pianist and composer, received one of the heartiest welcomes of the year when he appeared before a Paris audience recently.

The French press retold at great length the story of how the noted artist was expelled from Russia years ago by Emperor Alexander III., after Paderewski had played before the court.

"You are a great artist, and an honor to Russia," the emperor is reported to have said.

"Pardon, your majesty," replied Paderewski. "I'm a Polish!"

The next day the pianist received an order to leave Russia, and he has never returned since.

The Parisian newspapers here also mentioned the fact that on the day of his first concert, Paderewski drove to the theatre box office and purchased nearly 100 seats at regular price, which he distributed among his friends.

Germans and Potatoes.

"Yes, we have no potatoes to-day," is the universal complaint in Germany, which played a large part in the downfall of the ruling Government. The lack of grain has forced Germany to forego large quantities of the bread which plays so great a part in the diet of the French and other sensitive wheat growing peoples, with the result that the potato is of more importance in Germany than it is in Ireland. Frederick the Great fought a food war which was called the "potato war" in 1778-79 against the Austrians.

On this back-ground, John Brown weaves a magnificent variety of beautiful and artistic designs, especially created for all types of windows.

To secure these fully guaranteed Madras Muslins, you must come to our drapery department. We are their agents in Napanee. We purchase this material direct from the Old Country. Thus our prices are the very lowest obtainable.

TIME TO CHOOSE MATERIALS FOR SPRING SEWING SEE OUR LIST OF SHIRTING

In buying Shirting materials, whether it be for work or dress shirts, the average woman finds it greater economy to choose only the better grades. For men and boys' wear, the standard Canadian Shirting, 29 inches wide, at 45c. per yard, is a line we strongly recommend. It comes in plain blue and black colors; also with white stripes and blue and black grounds. The colors are Fast Black and Indigo.

Rock Fast Drill has a splendid reputation as a good-washing and long wearing shirting. Comes in White dots and stripes on a Black ground. Is 27 inches wide, and 40c. per yard.

OBITUARY

John Wesley Ansley.

The death of John W. Ansley occurred on Thursday last, March 20th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. Langdon, 21 Abbott Ave., Toronto. Mr. Ansley enjoyed the best of health till a few days previous to his death when he contracted a slight cold followed by erysipelas, lasting but a few hours.

The deceased was born in Newburgh, 63 years ago, moving to Elmvale in 1904. For the past fifteen years he had been a resident of Barrie. He was a Methodist, and in politics a staunch Conservative. The funeral service, which was largely attended, was held at the home of his daughter, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, Rev. R. J. Falls officiating. The remains were taken by morning train to Elmvale, where a short service was conducted by Rev. E. E. Pugsley, at the home of a niece, Mrs. J. Kerr. Six nephews acted as pall-bearers. The sympathy of a large number of friends was expressed by the many floral tributes received at the funeral.

He leaves to mourn besides his widow, who was formerly Martha Tate, three daughters, Mrs. R. Langdon of Toronto; Mrs. E. McFadden and Mrs. Grant Heels, both of Allandale; two sisters, Miss Ansley and Mrs. R. Dunlop, of Warminster, and two brothers, William of Elmvale, and Amos, of Seattle.—Barrie Examiner, March 27th, 1924.

Thomas Tyner.

Thomas Tyner passed away Saturday morning, March 22nd, 1924, at 5.45, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nettie Betz, Beaver Falls, N.Y. Mr. Tyner had been in failing health for the past year, and death was due to a complication of diseases.

He was born April 14th, 1843, at Tamworth, Ont., Canada. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tyner. He came to Lewis County, N.Y., in 1868, where he followed farming. He married Miss Amelia Dekin, of Beaver Falls, who survives him. He was a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of Beaver Falls; also a member of the Beaver Falls Grange. Six years ago he sold his farm, near Naumburg, and with his invalid wife, who has been confined to her chair for seven years, came to live with their daughter, retired. Surviving, besides his widow, are three sons, Truman J., of Beaver Falls; Harold G., of Lowville; Earl W., of Denmark; Mrs. Cora Zecker, of Carthage, and Mrs. Nettie Betz, of Beaver Falls; and fifteen grandchildren and one great-grandson, and other relatives and many friends, who will miss him. He was a kind and loving father and husband.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the home, Rev. W. G. Atwell officiating. Interment at the Riverside cemetery of Beaver Falls.

COCOA FOR FOUR CENTURIES.

Manufacturers to Commemorate Introduction of Popular Beverage.

Following the fashion of anniversaries for everything, European chocolate manufacturers are, despite the political alarms of the moment, preparing to celebrate the 400th anniversary of cocoa and its products into world trade. Long before Columbus and His followers standing on the deck of the Pinta descried the island of St. Domingo, cocoa had been a valued beverage with the natives of America. Prescott, the historian, records that the Emperor Montezuma of Mexico, "was exceedingly fond of it, no less than 50 jars or pitchers being prepared for his own consumption. 2,000 more were allowed for the use of his household." Bags of cocoa containing a specified number of beans were also a recognized form of currency in the country. The unfortunate Montezuma entertained Cortez and his followers with flagons of cocoa and the Spaniards took samples back to Spain with them, where it was dubbed by Lumaeus "the food of the gods."

After the conquest the Spanish galleons carried considerable quantities of cocoa to the Motherland, and a certain Anne of Austria, spouse of Louis XIII of France, made chocolate drinking the fashion in Europe. Tea and coffee were then just making their appearance in the western world, where beer for breakfast was still quite the mode. But for a long time cocoa, like its sister beverages brought from far countries, was a luxury which only the well-to-do could afford. The public advertiser of London, on 16th June, 1657, announced: "In Bishopsgate street, in Queen's Head alley, at a Frenchman's house, is an excellent West India drink called chocolate, to be sold, where you may have it ready at any time."

Cocoa cultivation has spread from Mexico to many other parts of the tropics. It is now grown in Ceylon, Dutch East Indies, Venezuela, Brazil, the West Indies, and Central America. Nigeria and the African Gold Coast have lately come into large production. Strictly a tropical product, cocoa cannot be commercially cultivated north or south of the 25th degree of latitude. Even within that belt, 2,000 miles in width, it requires special care, including shelter from high winds and hot sun. The latter requirement is frequently met by planting other and taller trees in cocoa plantations.

World consumption of crude cocoa in 1922 was the largest on record, slightly exceeding 900,000,000 pounds. In that year the United States imported more than 300,000,000 pounds. Present cocoa prices are lower than they have been for many years. Production and consumption in 1923 are larger than ever before in the history of the trade. This year's production may exceed 1,000,000,000 pounds, of which the United States will take close to 400,000,000 pounds. One reason for the increase in crude cocoa imports is that the United States is now manufacturing cocoa butter instead of importing it. The American chocolate and cocoa industry, exclusive of the confectionery industry, where chocolate is used in large quantities, paid in 1921 the sum of $110,000,000 in wages, bought $500,000,000 worth of material and produced $32,000,000 worth of goods. So "the food of the gods," has become a food of the masses, thanks to the commercial organization of a trade that has developed an article of beverage into an international food resource.

Cocoa comes from the tree in the form of beans from a pod. After roasting at a high temperature the beans are crushed and the fat strained off. This fat when fresh is yellowish, but turns white as it dries and forms a useful base for pomades. The ration of cocoa issued by the British Navy has not been denuded of this fat, but the general public finds the cocoa brewed from the powdered beans too rich for their palates. The last available general statistics show the United States heading the cocoa consuming countries of the world with an annual consumption of nearly 250,000 tons. Follow in order Germany, France, the United Kingdom, Holland, Spain, Switzerland, Belgium, Austria-Hungary, Russia, Denmark, Italy, Sweden, Cuba with 700 tons, Australia, Norway, Portugal and Finland.—Toronto Telegram.

Among the treasures of the king of Italy is a historical relic of almost unparalleled interest. This is the famous iron crown of Lombardy, one of the most precious heirlooms of the Italian royal house. The crown is made partially of iron. Tradition declares that it was made from one of the nails used at the Crucifixion. It was beaten out into a thin ring of iron, which was set in gold and adorned with jewels. Pope Gregory bestowed it upon Queen Theodolinda, under whom the Lombards first changed their Arian faith for the Catholic. Charlemagne was crowned with it, and so were Henry of Luxenburg and succeeding emperors. It was also used at the coronation of Napoleon I. The emperor of Austria reasserted it to the King of Italy in 1866.

Where Age Is Honored.

In Korea or Chosen as it is now commonly called, youth does not hold the reins. Youth is kept back from public position and age and maturity are treated with profound reverence and respect. Men and women are complimented upon their venerable and aged appearance rather than upon their youth and beauty. In nearly all eastern countries the laws of the land are made by the oldest people, and a young ambitious man cannot be endured. It is only within a very few years that a man under sixty was considered of sufficient age to be capable of making laws or judging them. A change, however, seems to be coming gradually and youth will presently assume the reins according to indications.

HAWLEY

Once again we welcome spring, with its beautiful sunny days, also the hum of the milk trucks and wagons, which relieve the farmers of their burden. — We are glad to hear that Mrs. A. D. Fretts, who has been suffering from an attack of rheumatism, is improving, and we hope to see her out again soon. — Mr. and Mrs. Allen Parks and little daughter, Dorothy, returned to their home near Deseronto on Wednesday, after spending some time with Mrs. Parks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cronkright. — About sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Anderson on Friday evening last and presented them with a beautiful electric table lamp before leaving for their new home in Napanee. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and daughter, Jean, will be greatly missed, both in the church and social circles. —Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cuthill have purchased the farm lately owned by D. A. Anderson, and are moving in this week.

Earl Hale of Bomersville, sneaking at the Veterinary Banquet in Edinburgh, said that a sanitary inspector not very long ago had occasion to comment on the fact that a cottager has established a pig-sty against one of the walls of his cottage.

"Don't you realize," said the sanitary inspector, "that it is not healthy to keep pigs so close to the cottage?"

"Lor', bless you, sir," was the reply, "I have kept pigs there for twenty years and never seen pigs look better."

Cheap Paint? Here is the Answer!

No. 1
(From an actual photograph)
A measure of an called "cheap" paint at $2.00 per gal., brushed out on wood. It covered 432 sq. feet.

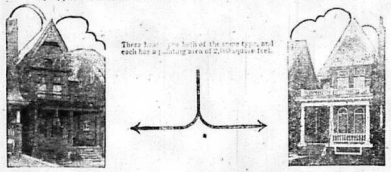
No. 2
(From an actual photograph)
An equal measure of Lowe Brothers' "High Standard" paint at $2.35 per gals. brushed out on a similar surface, covered 1,000 sq. feet.

USING an equal measure of each paint, and brushing them out on the same surface, we obtained the results pictured above.

Observe that Lowe Brothers' "High-Standard" Paint covered approximately 50% more surface, and covered it better than the so called "cheap" paint.

From this actual test it will be seen that it would take approximately 3 gallons of "Cheap" paint to do a job that would require only 2 gallons of Lowe Brothers' "High Standard" Paint.

Practically applied to a house it would work out this way:—



To paint this house (2,000 sq. ft.) with "cheap" paint Mr. A. required 6 gals. at $4.00 per gal. - $26.00	To paint this house (2,000 sq. ft.) with Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint, Mr. B. required 4 gals. at $5.75 - - $23.00
It takes a painter 1 day to apply 1 gal. of paint, therefore to apply 6½ gals. of "cheap" paint it took 6½ days at $5.00 per day - - - $32.50	A painter can easily apply in a day more Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint than any other, but figuring on an equal basis of 1 gal. per day, it took 4 days at $5.00 per day - - $20.00
Total cost - - - $58.50	Total cost - - - $43.00

By using Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint Mr. B. saved $3.00 on the cost of paint and $13.50 on the cost of labor—a total saving of $15.50 on the complete job.

Never Figure the Cost of Paint by what it costs "per gallon." So-called "cheap" paint is the dearest you can buy measured by "job" cost, which is the only true measure of paint performance.

Before you paint consult us. We will be glad to show you how to paint most economically, and to give you color cards and other information for your guidance.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

Mrs. Subbubs (after the cook left)—It is plain that nobody will ever get grey in our service.

Subbub—You can't tell, my dear. People have been known to grow grey in a single night.

When Holloway's Corn Remover is applied to a corn it kills the roots and the callosity comes out without injury to the flesh.

"I was only acting the part of peacemaker," explained a prisoner.

"But you knocked the man senseless!" said the Magistrate.

"I did," was the answer. "There was no other way to get peace."

The Oil For the Athlete.—In rubbing down, the athlete will find Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil an excellent article. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years, have been using it can testify to its value as a lubricant.

"What's the use of your putting your hat in the ring? You haven't a chance of being elected."

"I know that," answered Senator Sorghum, "but a little publicity that involves mention of high office isn't going to hurt anybody."

Always Ready and Reliable.—Practically all pains arising from indigestion can be removed with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Simply rub it on the pain and it is quickly absorbed by the skin. Its healing power is conveyed to the inflamed tissue which is quickly soothed. This fine old remedy is also a specific for all kinds of cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. Keep a bottle handy always.

Doctor—Do you ever allow a man to kiss you when you're out motoring with him?

Flapper—Never. If a man can't drive safely while kissing me, he's not the kind I do if they ask me to stop.

Candid Friend—Do? Why, sinz, of course—they don't.

Miller's Worm Powders will not only expel worms from the system but will induce healthful conditions of the system under which worms can no longer thrive. Worms keep a child in a continual state of restlessness and pain, and there can be no comfort for the little one until the cause of suffering be removed, which can be easily done by the use of these powders, which are very effective.

System Seemed Poisoned

Two Bottles of Dreco Effect Wonderful Change in Mr. Marr's Condition and Mrs. Marr Also Finds It Beneficial.

Mr. William Marr, of 21 Boston Ave., Toronto, Ont., had suffered so much from indigestion, biliousness, gastritis, catarrh and similar troubles that he was on the verge of a general breakdown when he heard of Dreco.

"My stomach troubled me for a long time", says Mr. Marr. "After eating, my food would sour and form gas in my stomach. I was chronically constipated. It was this persistent constipation that seemed to be poisoning my whole system. I had dizzy spells too and spots floated before my eyes.

"My blood become impure and I often had pimples which were very annoying. Catarrh of the throat and nose was also had and kept me continually trying to clear it up. My system became very weak and run down.

"I had tried several preparations without result before I heard of Dreco. I have only used two bottles of the latter but the results are really wonderful. It has made a wonderful change for the better for me and the pains and discomforts are gradually disappearing.

"My wife was so impressed at the improvement in my condition that she is taking Dreco herself as a general system builder and we have taken keen delight in recommending it."

Dreco is made from herbs, roots, bark and leaves, and contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Napanee by Wallace & Co., and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

MILKERS.

Testimonial for Macartney Hand Milkers, sold by Spencer & Son, Napanee :—

Napanee, Ontario,
June 15th, 1923.

Gentlemen,—It did not take me long after Mr. Spencer delivered my Macartney Junior to look upon it as the best investment I have ever made.

The cows took to it right from the start and have held up wonderfully in production without any teat or udder trouble.

No more milking drudgery with your head under a cow two hours twice daily during the hot weather. My thirteen year old daughter is milking our sixteen cows in fifty minutes, and the best part is that she considers it play.

Its low cost and marvelous efficiency leads me to prophesy that within two years the Macartney Junior will be in every cow stable.

CELEBRATES 90th BIRTHDAY

One of the most historic events of the season was celebrated at the home of Mrs. George Chambers, on Friday, March 28th, when the 90th birthday of Mrs. Huldah Chambers was celebrated by the gathering together of all the relatives on that date.

Perhaps there is no other individual in this whole community who can boast of so many surviving brothers and sisters, all of whom with one exception are beyond the seventies and some on in the eighties.

The surviving members of the family are as follows: Mrs. Mary Ann Campbell, Mrs. Thomas Anderson, Mr. Tom Parks, Mrs. Meda Fralick, Mr. George Parks, Mr. Archie Parks, Mr. Obel Parks, and added to these the name of Mrs. Huldah Chambers, we have a combined age of no less than 620 years.

Mrs. Huldah Chambers was born on the old Parks farm in North Frederieksburgh, and still has many precious memories to every member of the family.

Mrs. Chambers despite her advanced age, is dearly beloved by all the family, and when it is known that no less than 48 sat down to the table, this will in some way speak for itself. Before rising from the table the following toast was proposed :—

Mr. Toast Master, Ladies and Gentlemen.

I hope you will excuse my abruptness in trying to propose a toast to the subject of this gathering, being in the family of a comparatively short duration; but it certainly is a pleasure to stand in the midst of so many relatives and friends to do honor to one who has lived a life worthy of the respect and high regard in which she is held, and sir, it certainly speaks well for her revered parents who have passed on many years ago, who planted her character. That is the 90th year of her age, she commands the respect and best wishes of her family, her relatives, and friends, what better tribute can be paid to her than to see her come to the sunset of life, like a queen, and her example she leaves us worthy of being follow.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I ask you to fill your cups and drink with me to her every health and happiness.—Chas. Loria.

Frankie Seventh.

The fowls Pauline was unable to be present for dinner, but Mr. Truscott joined the happy company for tea.

The sincere wishes of a vast circle of friends go out to Mrs. Chambers. Her beautiful character is not only held in profound admiration by all who know her, but her devoted Christian zeal is a sacred challenge to all who come in contact with her.

She possesses a faith in divine things which is not met with every day, and while she is willing enough to live on, she is also ready to depart.

We all pray that the Divine Father may very closely accompany with our revered and honored friend, and be her days many or few, they may be filled with that fragrance which would so fittingly hide her life.

OBITUARY

William Dey.

There passed away on Thursday evening, at his home, 1231 Fairfield Road, Mr. William Dey, aged 79 years. He was born in Tiverton, England, and had been a resident of this city for the past fourteen years. The deceased is survived by his widow and two sons, Oscar W. Dey, with the E. & N. in Port Alberni, and George E. Dey, with the Dominion Express in Victoria. Mr. Dey came to Ontario in early youth and was in business at Oshawa and Napanee before coming to Vancouver in 1903. The remains are resting at the B. C. Funeral Chapel until Monday morning, when they will be conveyed to his late residence, whence the funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2.30; interment in the family plot at Ross Bay cemetery.—The Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C., March 29th, 1924.

The Whole Family Takes Them

Mrs. J. Lister Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ontario Lady is Enthusiastic and Gives Her Views About Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Ravensworth, Ont., April 7th, (Special)—"I strongly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills and would not be without them in the house at any price. Both my husband and myself, also the children take them.

I have also taken your Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets with great success. I was unable to do my work or eat. After taking two boxes I feel myself again and have not been bothered since." This statement comes from Mrs. J. Lister, well-known and highly respected resident here.

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys, putting them in condition to strain all the impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act on the stomach, giving it the strength to fully digest the food.

With good digestion and pure blood the body is in condition to combat the ills that daily make their attacks on good health.

Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets can be obtained from all druggists.

Successful Selling Methods

If you are in the grocery business in a small town:-

Pick out a dozen prosperous farming families within a radius of twenty-five miles. Write each a letter, saying you want their business and are prepared to give exceptional goods and service; that you will call them once a week (or twice) regularly by Long Distance for their order. Ask them to appoint a day and hour that will be convenient—perhaps in the evening, when rates are lower.

Agree to ship on a specified train by express or parcel post.

If your prices are right you can prove they will overcome the express cost. Your stock should offer them advantages they do not possess. Keep a list of your day and hour appointments. Each time you telephone offer some additional seasonable novelty.

Rheumatism Gone, Claims Mr. Merlinger

Rheumatism is said to be due to acid in the blood. Whatever its cause, only those who have it know the suffering it produces. Carnol is claimed as a specific for rheumatism, it did wonders for Mr. Merlinger. Sufferers from rheumatism may profit from his experience which follows:

"For the past two years I have been a martyr to rheumatism. It affected my muscles and joints which at times became quite swollen. I suffered excruciating pain. I tried several "sure cure" remedies for rheumatism. Some of them gave relief for a time. Others were of no use. At times the pain was more than I could stand. Some nights I only got a few hours sleep. I was completely run down. I felt that if the rheumatism continued I would have to quit work. I was becoming worried. In reading the Hanover Post one day I noticed an advertisement for Carnol. I started taking it and shortly afterwards got ease and relief from pain. It helped me wonderfully. I was able to sleep soundly, something it hadn't been able to do for months. I can recommend Carnol to everyone who suffers from rheumatism."—G. Merlinger, Hanover, Ont. 5-9

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Smith Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Trenton, Ont.—"I am writing to you in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not be without it. I have taken it before each of my children was born and afterwards, and find it a great help. Before my first baby was born I had shortness of breath and ringing in my ears. I felt as if I would never pull through. One day a friend of my husband told him what the Vegetable Compound had done for his wife and advised him to take a bottle home for me. After the fourth bottle I was a different woman. I have four children now, and I always find the Vegetable Compound a great help as it seems to make confinement easier. I recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. Fred H. Sarth, John St., Trenton, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intended. Thousands of women testify to this fact.

Neither pounding heels nor piping hot water will affect Chi-Namel on floors, furniture or other woodwork. Remarkably brilliant because of the waterproof self-reviving Chinese Oil incorporated by our secret process. Trinity C.G.I.T. Girls Hold Successful Bazaar.
The C. G. I. T. Girls of Trinity Methodist Church held a very successful Bazaar and Concert on Friday last. The Bazaar opened at three o'clock, and the following tables were arranged in the schoolroom, Plain Sewing, Fancy Work, Candy table, and Home Made Cooking. Afternoon Tea was served in the Ladies' Parlour and an impromptu music was rendered by a number of the girls. In the evening a splendid concert was given by the young people, assisted by Mrs. Powell. The total receipts for afternoon and evening amounted to $200.

Maple Leaf Institute.
The regular monthly meeting of the Maple Leaf Institute was held on Thursday, March 27th, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. B. Brisco, our worthy and much esteemed President. The meeting was opened by singing the new Institute Ode, immediately followed by community singing, after which the Lord's prayer was reverently repeated by all. The usual business was then taken up. Mrs. John Chambers then gave a reading entitled "Transfer", which I wish every Institute worker could have heard. It compared life's worries, trials and sadness to a street car, and when we get in any of these moods just transfer. The work of renovating our room in K. G. H. was discussed and the sewing for same was handed in. Mrs. Wilfred Haight, the District President of Conway Institute, and Mrs. B. M. Charters, of Sillsville, were very kindly welcomed by all. Mrs. Haight gave us a short talk on some very important matters concerning our boys and girls of to-day, which certainly was very interesting and helpful and was much in keeping of our motto for home and country. Mrs. Charters then kindly consented to give us a solo, she being one of our girls we are always glad to welcome her, and to know that her voice has lost none of its sweetness. A very hearty vote of thanks was given these ladies for their attendance at the meeting. Mrs. Wil Fretts then gave us a beautiful solo, in her usual pleasing manner. Collection was then taken, after which our hostess served a beautiful and refreshing lunch. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. All voted our hostess an ideal hostess.

ALL FOODS SHOULD BE SEALED
The medical profession very generally advocate that all food products should be sealed in sealed packages. All cities rigorously inspect butcher shops to prevent meat from being infected, many prohibit milk from being sold in bulk and gradually this will come with everything. "SALADA" was the first to introduce the package idea as regards tea, over thirty-two years ago, and "SALADA" is still a little purer and a little better than other teas. It has by far the largest sale.

NAPANEE BOARD OF COMMERCE

A general meeting of the Napanee Board of Commerce was held in the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening last, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. Forty members were present, and all took a keen interest in the proceedings.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—J. W. Robinson.
Vice-President—P. Gleeson.
Secretary-Treasurer—G. E. Carr.
Executive—W. G. Cowle, W. J. Wiggins, J. F. Roblin, R. R. White, J. L. Boyes, J. H. Moffat, W. J. Dollard and Dr. G. W. Morden.

Numerous matters of importance were brought up and discussed, chief of which seemed to be the necessity of bringing our rural and urban population closer together and eliminate the misunderstandings that unfortunately now exist. Several suggestions were made and received careful consideration.

The following resolutions were presented and passed unanimously:

Moved by M. P. Graham, seconded by D. B. Wilson, that the members of the County Council and the Town Council, and the County's representatives in the Federal and Provincial House be elected Honorary Members of the Napanee Board of Commerce.

Moved by W. S. Wilson, seconded by W. G. Cowle, that the Secretary of the Board be instructed to write to the District Superintendent of the C. N. Railways at Belleville, and draw his attention to the poor condition of the freight yard at the local station, asking that same be given immediate attention.

Moved by M. P. Graham, seconded by W. G. Cowle, that the Executive of the Board arrange for a banquet to be held during the June Session of the County Council, to which some prominent speaker be invited.

Another important matter that was brought up was the proposed "Old Boys' Reunion", to be held during Fair Week in September. It was decided to give this matter every possible support and to co-operate with the Agricultural Society in every possible way after the matter had been fully considered and proved to be feasible in the comparatively short time existing.

Provision was made whereby the Executive of the Board is to appoint Standing Committees, each Committee to have a special department to look after, and the members specially chosen for their fitness and enthusiasm in their respective duties.

Due to unfortunate circumstances a number of our citizens were not canvassed for membership prior to the meeting, but the Board are anxious that these citizens to think that they had been overlooked. The canvass will be completed shortly, and the Board trust that every citizen who has the interests of our home town at heart will join and lend his efforts to improving our wonderful community by the "get-together" spirit.

Address and Presentation

On Wednesday evening, April 2nd, the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Milligan assembled at their home to spend a pleasant evening and hold them adieu, on their departure from this community. After a few hours were spent in games and music, the gathering was called to order, and the following address was read:

To Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Milligan.

Dear Friends:—Having learned of your departure from our midst, we your friends and neighbors, have gathered here once more, to spend a pleasant evening with you and bid you farewell. We deeply regret your removal, and although you will not be located a great distance from us, yet your home will not be as convenient for the most of us.

You have been kind, sympathetic and obliging neighbors, always ready to lend a helping hand, and we are truly sorry to lose you; however, we sincerely wish you both success, happiness, and a long life in your new home.

As a token of deepest regard in which you are held, by those who knew you best, we ask you to accept this oak library table as a slight remembrance of the friendly feelings which existed between you and us.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours,

C. L. WAGAR.
C. A. MILLIGAN.

Mr. Milligan, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Milligan, replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the friends for the beautiful gift which they had honored them with, and the very touching address which had just been read, assuring them that they would always be welcome to come to their new home.

After this a bountiful lunch was served by the ladies, afterwards playing games and tripping the light fantastic till the wee small hours of the morning.

BRITISH TREASURY TRIFLES.

Receipts From Bottles and Pickled Herrings.

Some little-known sources of revenue are disclosed in the Finance Accounts of the United Kingdom, 1922-23, a Pa. Blue-book just issued, amplifying the summarized Exchequer accounts issued at the end of the financial year. The receipts include:

Profit on currency note issues	£12,340,000
Profit on silver	6,216,932
Home Office — sale of motorcycle	50
Conscience money	6,224
Air Ministry—repayment by contractor in respect of excess charges	45,000
Proceeds of salved gold (ex. Lancrania)	1,238,371

Among the mysterious items is a Civil Service Commission sale of bottles, £39, and repayments from Iscarabian co-operative societies.

"Stenis and royalties fr Guano etc. Islands" produced £319, and £37 was realized from the sale of Australian war debtor bonds. £591 was saved from the grant for the Prince of Wales' tour in India.

The fourth annual instalment of £2,096 to the Sultan of Sokoto and Mohabi is among the expenditures which include pensions for naval and military services, the annual £5,000 to Earl Nelson for his ancestor's victory at Trafalgar, and the two grants of £1,000 each to Lord Tenterp and Corisande Baroness Rodney.

A sum of £7,217,537 is received as interest on war loans and on loans for relief, of which France paid £1,693,875.

A Leper Saint.

In a far-off Leper Home in Asia, just outside the famous city of Marudalay, there lived for several years, and has just died, a poor Burmese leper, named Maung Yaung. His was a sadly stricken lot for the scourge had deprived him of most of the faculties of the living. Locomotion was denied him, for his feet were withered to a shred of bone; his face was marred and scarred with disease; his nose was gone; his eyes were dim; his hearing difficult; his voice reduced to a guttural whisper. Few humans can have suffered as he did, and few can have rejoiced as he. He was an humble, unselfish as we may hope to see on earth. And the reason? He had found the secret of a very precious thing. He was a simple disciple of Jesus Christ. At a Bible Society service held in the church of the asylum he had professed faith in the salvation which is procurable at a third of his small monthly food allowance. "Can you really afford it?" he was asked by the doctor. "Yes," he replied, "I can eat rice and the curry as before. It gave me a Bible for twopence and it cost five times as much. It deserves help."

During his recent illness his minister told him we missed him in the little church and was anxious for his recovery. "Ah," he said, "I shall not be able to sing again until (pointing upwards) I get among the harpers, harping with their harps." It struck him the relationship as he looked at his lightening, brightening face as a copy of great beauty.

There is an interesting sequel to the story of Maung Yaung's contribution to the British and Foreign Bible Society. A lady, living in the Society's India, read somewhere an account of the case of the Burmese leper, and was so stirred thereby that she organized a Sale of Work in aid of the funds of the Bible Society. When sending in the proceeds—a sum of $130, she wrote to the secretary—"I want you to regard my cheque as God's increase on that poor leper's rupee."

"A man is never older than he feels," declared the ancient bens, bravely. "Now I feel as fresh as a two-year-old."

"Horse or egg?" asked the sweet young thing brightly.

Copalline your floors, linoleums and furniture! This varnish won't turn white with water, and dries hard with a rich glossy finish. For sale at Wallace's.

JOHN STREET PAVING

A large attendance of the ratepayers on John Street were present at a meeting held in the Council Chamber, on Tuesday evening, to discuss the paving of the street. Two engineers were present, and furnished the following figures for the work :—

Complete job from Dundas Street to the station, $32,000.00. Cost to property owners, from Bridge Street to Station, 48c. per running foot. Cost to property owners from Dundas to Bridge Street, 51c. per running foot.

The cost for lot of 66 feet if paid after the work is completed, $325.00, or it can be spread over 20 years by paying $30.00 per year.

Some discussion took place for and against, but the majority at the meeting seemed greatly in favor of having the pavement constructed. Before anything further is done a petition will be circulated, when the property owners will be asked to sign either for or against. If a majority are in favor the work will be done this summer.

LACROSSE

It was very gratifying to those interested in the promotion of lacrosse in Napanee to see such a large attendance at the organization meeting held in the Town Hall, on Friday evening last, and the enthusiasm shown gives promise of a successful season.

The first order of business was the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting. After the adoption of the minutes the election of officers was held which resulted as follows :

Hon. Presidents—John S. Ham and R. R. White.
President—Albert B. Root.
Vice-President—E. J. Roy.
Secretary-Asst. McGillivray.
Treasurer—R. M. Black.
Field Committee—A. L. McDonald, Harry Ballard, E. W. Metcalf.
Manager—H. L. Babcock.
Assistant Manager—Jack Adams.
Coach—Fred Huffman.

A general discussion then took place as to the advisability of placing a team in the O.A.L.A. As teams from Deseronto, Belleville and Trenton will be entered it was decided unanimously to enter two teams "Midgets" and "Juveniles".

It was also decided to form a town league, in order to give the boys plenty of practice in preparation for the regular league games. Judging by the enthusiasm of the boys last night we become a factor in Napanee and there should be many good games this summer.

THE NAPANEE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular meeting of the Napanee Women's Institute was held in the Agricultural rooms at 2.30 p.m., on Tuesday, April 8th, with the President in charge. The meeting opened with the singing of the Institute Ode. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the committee appointed to arrange for social. All this while four beautiful layer cakes were on display for our April meeting, which was to be a "Cake Contest". Miss Hopkins had given the recipe to be used and the details of the score cards, together with the relative value of each, which made the contest a real fair one. Each cake was given a number, while the contestants themselves agreed to make the same sort of cake from the recipe which was used. The contest was very close and the judging a most difficult matter, but the score resulted in cake No. 4 winning the highest number of points, and the baker, Mrs. W. F. Reid, was presented with a set of hyper cake tins, for which she expressed her thanks in a few well chosen words.

Then came a most excellent demonstration on Candy Making, by the use of different flavorings, nut meats, colorings and fillings. It was clearly that a great variety of candy can be made from the same fondant.

The meeting for the afternoon made tea and served the cakes and candy, which had played the important part of the afternoon's programme.

The paper on Current Events, was missed, but the editress, who is serving on the Collegiate staff, has promised to give the report at our next meeting with her successor, at our May meeting.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

In the evening the Provincial Board of Health, under the auspices of the Napanee Women's Institute, gave an interesting address by Mrs. Hagerman, M.A. The lecture was well attended and much appreciated. At the close of the meeting, supplemented the story with talks throughout its progress.

NEWBURGH

Some weeks ago we spoke of what Canada owes to its change of seasons. Perhaps there is no change that brings with it more expectation and hope than the spring time. The winter, of course, has its advantages and opportunities, its relaxation, its sports and social events. The spring, the Easter time, brings the opening of new life.

"All nature dies and lives again;
The flowers that paint the field.
The trees that crown the mountains brow.
Their buds and blossoms yield."

The Springtime introduces the time of growth and the opportunity to get close to nature and learn though it the wisdom, the power and love of the Great Creator. How few there are to keep the Creator and his gifts apart. Our thoughts, in action, at least, seem to indicate that while God may rule in heaven, man rules on earth. Within certain limits that is true, but without the gifts and cooperation of God what could man do? Man may sow the seed but it is God alone that gives the increase. This is true in all the activities of life, and it should be the prevailing thought at this Easter season.

The local music of the W. C. T. U. held a medal contest on Wednesday night of last week, at which seven young girls of the Public School recited in competition for the medal, which went to Miss Ruby Switzer. The girls were trained by Mrs. Mc-Nichol, and all did splendidly. It is certainly a fine thing to have young children taught to express the thought in a piece of poetry or prose as well as these seven girls did. There were many numbers between the recitations, which made up a nice programme.

We understand that it is planned to place a silent policeman at the crossing at the foot of the south hill. This we believe will be a mistake and will cause accidents rather than prevent them. The danger at this crossing is obstructing to right caused by buildings. A silent policeman will throw traffic from the east from going south right in the way of traffic coming across the bridge. There is not sufficient space to use a policeman effectually. Better to regulate the speed.

Miss Marjory Hill went to Niagara Falls, N.Y., on Thursday last, where she has been accepted in a hospital as a nurse in training.

LACROSSE.

Public School 2, High School 1.

The first lacrosse game of the season was played on the Public School grounds, Thursday afternoon, at 5.30. The boys have been practising since before the snow went off, and the teams were evenly matched. A great number of new boys have started this season, and are showing their ability to handle a lacrosse stick. For the winners, Ward Huffman played best and scored the first goal. Young Tierney, a new recruit, played well and scored second goal; while Reid, on defence, and Wagar in goal, both did good playing. For the High School, Fraser and McDonald played a fine game. Will and J. Carr, Fred Ballard and Douglas, all new players, showed great promise, Douglas showing great speed. Horace Lucas plays a good defence game.

These two teams will meet again in the near future. Following is the line-up:

Public School—Huffman, Huyck, Tierney, Edgar, Conway, Reid, Hearns, Kinkley, Wilson and Wagar.

High School—Lucas, Fraser, Will and J. Carr, McDonald, Ballard, Empey, Douglas, Normile, Coates, and Stevens.

Referee—Arnold Rodgers.

Only Those in Declining Years Realize What It Means

As people pass middle age, their strength and vitality usually begin to wane. They are easily tired. They notice that they are not as active as they were. They need something to tone up their system — something which will put new strength, life and vitality into them—a tonic. But such a tonic must contain no harsh ingredients. Old age was Mr. Saider's trouble. Read what he says:

"It is only those who are in the declining years of their life who can understand the many troubles which old people have to endure. The slightest over-exertion brings on weakness, which affects the whole system, resulting in indigestion, sleeplessness, depression, loss of strength and vitality. This was my trouble. I was suffering from old age. I needed something to renew my strength and vitality. I told my druggist about my trouble and he recommended Carnol. A short time after I started taking it I felt better. I noticed my strength and vitality returning. I had more energy. I felt better than I had felt for twenty-five years. My appetite has returned. My friends all say how well I look. I have no hesitation in recommending Carnol to old people. I consciously believe that it will help them as it has helped me." — Mendel Saider, Hanover, Ont.

Carnol is sold by all good druggists everywhere.

Canada Gold Syndicate Ltd. Shares

ESTIMATED PROFIT

POSSIBILITIES OF SYNDICATE SHARES OF THE CANADA GOLD SYNDICATE LIMITED

Assuming that the expenditure of approximately $3,500,000 will develop and place in operation a minimum of three well-equipped Gold or Silver mines, capable of producing and milling daily an aggregate total of 1,500 tons of ore of an average value of $10.00 per ton, from which an average profit in round numbers of $4.00 per ton would be obtained for a minimum of 300 days each year, the net receipts in approximate round numbers would then be $1,800,000, or $1.40 annually per Syndicate Share.

This indicates earnings of $56.00 per year in dividends for every $100.00 invested to-day at $2.50 per Syndicate share. Or, to put it in another way, every $100.00 invested now would then have a potential selling value of over $560.00.

This is more than a 5 for 1 return. However, with a production of several times that above estimated, with much richer values, which is entirely possible, the returns could be on a much higher basis of 10 for 1, or even 25 for 1.

In the latter event, an Investor would receive $25,000 for every $1,000 invested at the present time, or $2,500 for every $100 invested in shares of the Canada Gold Syndicate, Limited, at the present quotation.

Let us see if these figures, as assumptions, are very far off, or the hallucination of an over enthusiastic optimist, when compared to such records as follow:

The Great Boulder Proprietary Gold Mines, Limited, paid 2,225 per cent. during the period between 1903 and 1920. It was organized in 1894, and from information believed to be reliable, the Company has, in thirty years, earned over 4,000 per cent.

The Gold Field of Mysore and General Explorations, Limited, managed by John Taylor & Sons, is a holding company, and operates the Mysore Gold Mining Company, Limited. The latter concern paid 1,255 per cent. in fifteen years. From information furnished by reliable sources, the 1,255 per cent. dividends paid does not by any means show the immense profits made. It is required to pay a royalty of 5 per cent. on the value of all gold produced, and since 1910 has been required to pay 2½ per cent. on all dividends paid. It is about 44 years old and is headed by some of England's most influential men. The capitalization has been increased a hundred per cent. since 1919. It is a regular dividend payer, as is the Great Boulder Proprietary.

The East Rand Proprietary, Limited, paid 148 per cent. in five years.

The Ashanti Gold Coast Asquisitions Company, Limited, paid 195 per cent. in its first five years' operations.

The Ashanti Gold Corporation paid a total of 780 per cent. in ten years.

The Central Provinces Prospecting Syndicate paid 243 per cent. in eleven years.

The Consolidated Gold Field of New Zealand was formed in 1896. In 1903 it absorbed two subsidiaries. In 1914 a Founder's Share, which sold originally for £1 (about $5.00) was sold for £57,187 (about $250,000). Dividends of five per cent. were paid annually on the Ordinary shares from 1902-1906. In 1911, the dividend on the Founder's Share was £2,019 (about $10,000.00).

The Crown Mines Limited paid 875 per cent. in twelve years.

The Brakpan Mines Limited paid 272½ per cent. in eight years.

These records obtained from the London Stock Exchange Year Book, are authentic. Many more records could be shown, perhaps not quite so remarkable, but nevertheless indicative of the high profits made by Companies of this nature.

Some have preference share issues. Some have bonded issues, with preference and ordinary shares, while others have all ordinary shares, divided into Founders and Syndicate shares. Original par values range from a few shillings up to £2 (about $10.00) or more.

The Hollinger Mine, the McIntyre Mine, the Dome Mines, and numerous other Canadian Mines have enviable producing and dividend records, where investment in shares of such mines in their infant days has brought enormous returns to the holders thereof.

ADVANCE IN PRICE FORECASTED

Recent announcement of a limited offering of Syndicate Shares at $2.50 per share (Par Value $10.00 per share) of the Canada Gold Syndicate Limited, is bringing purchase orders for thousands of shares from places throughout Canada and the United States.

This demand, coupled with important developments of the Syndicate, makes a price advance to $3.00 or more per share, very certain. This advance in price of Syndicate shares may take place within a few days, and without further notice. Applications will be considered in order received.

Advance in price will be made probably about April 24th, 1924, and very likely only a limited block of shares at $3.00 per share will be then offered. Applications received prior to that date will have preference in order received for the remaining shares available at $2.50 per share. Commitments may be wired and followed in mail with confirmation and remittance.

Payments may be made in full, or one fifth with application, and the balance in four equal monthly amounts thereafter. All purchasers allowed 30 days from date of their applications to cancel order and have money back in full if not entirely satisfied. This condition allows purchasers ample time to receive and read the official Prospectus; to consider the excellent personnel of the Management and Founders, and to understand the unusual plan of the Syndicate as compared to the usual methods of mining finance.

85 per cent. of Authorized Capitalization consists of Treasury Shares.

The Syndicate controls 11 groups of Mining Properties in Northern Ontario, Canada, approximating 2,425 acres, and is arranging to acquire other large and valuable holdings.

Syndicate operates under the Law of Average and as a Holding Corporation along lines proven successful by Guggenheim Exploration Syndicate, John Taylor & Sons, Ltd., London, and other big dividend-paying Mining Syndicates.

Canada Gold Syndicate Ltd., has been organized along eminently fair lines for the express purpose of appealing to intelligent investors who are capable of analyzing a security.

When you buy Syndicate Shares of Canada Gold you are buying intelligently because:

Authorized Capitalization is 1,000,000 shares, of which 100,000 shares are Founders Shares, and 900,000 Shares are Syndicate Shares.

70 per cent. of all profits earned and voted for dividends, will go to the holders of outstanding Syndicate Shares and only 30 per cent. to outstanding Founders Shares.

In Canada Gold there are no large blocks comprising millions of shares issued to promoters.

Canada is rightfully famed for the excellence and integrity of its mine management.

Syndicate developments are directed by a competent engineering staff with years of successful experience in Canada.

Syndicate mining properties are in such famous gold districts as Porcupine, Lightning River, Kirkland Lake, Larder Lake, and Painkiller Lake.

Security for money invested in Syndicate Shares is provided by the extensive assets and the low outstanding issue of only 50,000 shares, the joint holders of which own 70 per cent. in the Syndicate holdings.

With only 50,000 Syndicate Shares outstanding, the assets would have to be worth only $500,000 for each Syndicate Share to be worth $7.00.

Development on two or three properties could easily develop intrinsic values several times this amount.

Channel assays across 5 feet on the Bernhardt property are respectively $9.84 and $25.42.

Channel assays across 37 feet in the No. 3 trench on the Garrison property in Lightning River run from $1.00 to $12.00 per ton in gold, and average for assays $6.50 per ton in gold.

Channel assays across 10 feet in this trench average $11.00 per ton in gold.

The formal prospectus, containing full statutory information, has been signed by the Directors of the Syndicate and filed with the Provincial Secretary for the Government of Ontario, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ont., in accordance with the strict company laws of Ontario. This prospectus is now ready for distribution and copy will be mailed free upon your request, without any obligation.

Maurice W. Summerhayes, Esq., Consulting Mining Engineer for the Syndicate, has recommended development on the Syndicate's Ogden property, which is about five miles South and West from the Hollinger Consolidated. He has recommended further work on the Lightning River property, and developments on these properties and on the Bernhardt property, are scheduled to begin this Spring.

The spectacular profits in mining result from the development into mines of groups of prospective properties, which can be optioned or acquired at nominal figures before proven up. For instance, a mining group having excellent surface indications, worth say $20,000 before development, might, when proven by diamond drilling, sinking of shafts, and the driving of cross-cuts and drifts, develop a value running into the millions, whereas the preliminary development cost might not exceed $100,000.

Operating as an Exploration Syndicate in the leading mining areas of Canada's Golden Northland, the Canada Gold Syndicate, Ltd., should undoubtedly, out of a large number of prospective properties, develop three or four big outstanding producing mines.

Canada Gold is one of those unusual instances in which the public is invited to participate in mining development on a syndicate basis, which is usually reserved for "Insiders". An analysis of the Canada Gold Syndicate Ltd. plan will convince any thinking man that this is practically a partnership deal, and that only a moderate success in development should insure extremely large profits for Syndicate members, and exceptionally high prices for Syndicate shares.

For large profits the time to join any deal in during its inception, not after permanent and high market values have been established as a result of development.

Remember the par value is $10.00 per share, so that the present low price of $2.50 is equivalent to 25 cents a share for $1.00 par value shares. Also remember that 70 per cent. of all the profits voted for dividends will go to the holders of outstanding Syndicate Shares, and that at this writing only about 50,000 such shares are issued and outstanding.

To insure obtaining the full amount of Syndicate Shares that you wish to purchase at the present low offering price of $2.50 per share, we advise that you fill in and mail the Application Coupon below.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Martin W. Bradshaw, who passed away April 20th, 1923.

In Riverview sweetly sleeping,
Where the trees their branches wave,
Lies a true and loving husband,
In his cold and silent grave.

He bade no one his last farewell,
And waved his hand to none;
His spirit fled before we knew
That he from us had gone.

Sadly missed by Wife and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Martin W. Bradshaw, who departed this life April 20th, 1923.

Quickly and quietly came the call,
His sudden death surprised us all;
Dearer to memory than words can tell
Are the thoughts of our grandfather,
We all loved so well.

Sadly missed by his grandchildren, Kathleen McFarland and Willie, Iris and Marjorie Bradshaw. 16a

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mary Thompson, who died April 18th, 1922.

I think of thee in silence.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of John Franklin York, who departed this life April 21st, 1923.

Your weary hours and days of strife
Your sleepless nights are past,
Your ever patient worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.

Rest on, dear Frank, thy task is o'r
Your willing hands will toil no more,
A faithful father, kind and true,
None on this earth they find like you.

Sadly missed by Wife and Three Children. 16ap

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of dear mother, Mrs. Ermina Brooks, who died April 21st, 1923.

We watched her suffer day by day
It caused us bitter grief,
To see her slowly pine away,
And could not give relief.

This day brings back sad memories
Of one who has gone to rest;
And those who think of her to-day
Are those who love her best.

CHEVROLET

—is easily within the reach of all

NEVER before in the history of the automobile industry has such car value been possible. And it is possible now, only because the Chevrolet Car and Chevrolet business principles have been so universally and so favorably received. Chevrolet production has, as a result, rapidly grown in volume until now Chevrolet is the world's largest manufacturer of quality automobiles.

Chevrolet quality is more than apparent. For, the more closely Chevrolet is examined and the more severe the tests demanded, the more convincingly is Chevrolet quality demonstrated and proved.

Moreover, day by day continuous service brings out another economy equal, if not greater in importance, than Chevrolet's remarkably low first cost. Chevrolet is more economical to operate than any other car built, and its maintenance cost is the lowest in the world.

Investigate Chevrolet yourself. Have us demonstrate the model that suits your needs. We can arrange terms that will surely fit your circumstances.

Romance of Flowers.

A great many of the flowers as well beloved bear names taken from human beings and are recorded in classic legends. Take for instance the hyacinth and narcissus. "Hyacinthus" was beloved by Zephyrus, but returned the affection so coldly that the latter, in anger, threw the quoit (flung by Apollo) so that it hit Hyacinthus on the head, causing his death. In his grief Apollo changed the youth's blood into the flower. Narcissus, according to one legend, fell in love with his own fair image as he saw it reflected in water, mistaking it for the nymph of the fountain. He pined away and died of unrequited love. The flower bloomed from the place where he languished. Crocus is the Greek "Krokos," saffron, to which family it belongs. Saffron is made from the dried stigmata of the purple crocus. The jonquil gets its name from the Latin word for a "rush," which has similar leaves and flowers.

A Famous Diadem.

The famous diadem, property of the Roman Prince Baldini, which was stolen by a chauffeur a couple of months back and recently found hidden in an accomplice's mattress in Grado, has again become the centre of sensational developments. Archduke Salvator of Hapsburg, a near relative of the late Emperor Franz Joseph, suddenly electrified the Baldini family by claiming the diadem as his. He states it was stolen at the end of the war by an Austrian officer and sold abroad at a small price. Prince Baldini declares the diadem has been in his possession since 1885. The diadem is one of the most famous in the history of royal jewels. Now in the safe custody of the Royal Procurator, it once graced the heads of the queens of Naples, then that of Queen Hortensia of Holland through whom it passed to the Bonaparte family.

Moth Ruin Bechive.

There are few more mischievous enemies to bees than the death's-head moth. It is the female's disreputable habit to sneak into a hive, and, not content with feeding on the honey, to lay her eggs there. When the larvae arrive there is a good store of food for them, but the hive speedily becomes foul and unhealthful, and there is strenuous work for the angry apiarist. Happily, entrance is not as easily effected into the modern improved hive as into the old-fashioned one.

The Average English Family.

The size of the average English family decreased 5 per cent. between 1911 and 1921. The average size of the present family is 3.79 persons, compared with 4.14 ten years previous. The population of Greater London is the largest yet recorded—7,480,201.

A New York friend of mine returned from his golfing the other day. "Have a good game?" he was asked. "Rotten!" he replied. "What was the trouble?" "Oh, it was all my caddy's fault. He had the hiccups. Every time he hiccupped I'd miss my stroke, and every time he didn't hiccup I'd miss it just because I was waiting for the hiccup to come."

You need not hide skin defects—now

Millions know this simple way to avoid them—to keep skin lovely, youthful

Do not make the mistake of attempting to cover or hide skin defects. It can never succeed. And there is a better way—which millions know:

This simple method to avoid them—to keep the youthful radiance and clearness of schoolgirl complexion.

For a week do this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive. Enjoy it for the bath also.

But be sure you get Palmolive —which is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. Get some and follow this simple method for one week. Results will delight you, even in that short time.

WEDDING BELLS

Huff—Galbraith.

A pretty wedding of much interest was solemnized at Trinity Methodist Parsonage, Napanee, on Wednesday, March 26th, when Rev. W. R. Tanton united in marriage, Beatrice May, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Galbraith, of Colebrook, and Clinton Huff, of Wilton. The pretty little bride wore a smart suit of navy tricotine with gold crepe overblouse, and hat of navy taffeta with grey trimming and ribbon quill. Grey gloves, shoes and stockings completed a very pretty costume. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Redden, smartly gowned in navy, while Mr. Clifford Huff supported the groom. After a dainty luncheon at the Campbell House, the happy couple left on the 5 p.m. train, amid showers of rice and confetti, for Toronto and Muskoka. On their return they will reside at Wilton.

Address and Presentation

On Friday evening, April 4th, about one hundred and fifty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Neltie Hart, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Hart and family with the following presents, shortly before their departure for their new home, near Napanee. The evening was spent in games and dancing until the wee small hours. Afterwards the following address and presentations were made :—

Dear Mr. Nelson Hart, Sr.,—Upon learning that you are about to leave our neighborhood shortly, we, your friends and neighbors, have invaded your home this evening to spend a social hour on the eve of your departure for your new home. We have always found you an obliging neighbor, ready to help in any way and on every occasion where assistance was required, and as we have watched your life from day to day, have found you striving to live with a heart void of offence toward God and man. We are indeed sorry to lose you from our neighborhood, yet, pleased to think you are not going so far away, but that we will be able to meet you frequently. We now ask you to accept this watch chain as a slight token of our friendship.

To you, Mr. and Mrs. Neltie Hart and Wilbert, it is also with deep regret we have learned of your departure from our midst. As friends and neighbors, we have always found you ever ready to help on every occasion. We feel that your place will be hard to fill, yet we have satisfaction when we think our loss will be others' gain.

We wish you peace, happiness and comfort, in your new home, and trust that you may long be spared to enjoy the fruits of honest toil. As for you, Wilbert, by your friends and playmates you will be greatly missed, as you have been a favorite in school and out, and we feel sure you will make many friends where you are going. Now, dear friends, we ask you to accept this set of dishes, and you, Wilbert, these cuff links, as a token of remembrance of friends of Lens and Croydon.

Signed in behalf of friends and neighbors,

E. A. HANNAH,
W. S. HAWLEY,
J. E. HUGHES,
D. HANNAH,

Mr. and Mrs. Hart responded, thanking them very kindly, asking them one and all to visit them in their new home.

Sores Heal Quickly.—Have you a persistent sore that refuses to heal? Then, try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the dressing. It will stop sloughing, carry away the proud flesh, draw out the pus and prepare a clean way for the new skin. It is a recognized healer among oils and numbers of people can certify that it healed where properly applied.

Mr. Lay-Towers came home the other night even later than usual. He got into the hall all right, but stumbled on the first stair, and his wife came to the top of the stairs with her torch, which she flashed upon him.

"Is that you, Henry?" she asked curtly.

He drew himself together with all the dignity he could summon.

"And who else might you be expecting at two o'clock in the morning?

For Sprains and Bruises.—There is nothing better for sprains and contusions than Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain, will cool the inflamed flesh and draw the pain. It will take the ache out of a bruise by counteracting the inflammation. A trial will convince any who doubt its power.

For Every Kind of Washing

If you use a washing machine, soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual. In the morning add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Then rinse and dry—you will have a clean sweet snow-white wash.

WHETHER you spend Monday over the wash-tub, or in the laundry, or simply turn on your washing machine, Rinso will simplify the work of washing to an astonishing degree.

For Rinso has revolutionized wash day. This wonderful new soap soaks the clothes clean, doing away with all necessity for back-breaking rubbing. Rinso gently loosens dirt without damaging a single thread. Only where the dirt is ground in, at neck-bands, or cuffs and the like, will you need to rub lightly. A little dry Rinso rubbed on these spots will quickly make the dirt disappear.

Try Rinso next Monday. You will be delighted at the way the dirt rinses out.

A Lot More Value For Little More Cost

YOU couldn't ask for a trimmer, neater, smarter bicycle—more sparkling nickel—more glistening enamel. Any man would be proud to show his C. C. M. to his friends.

4 Coats of Enamel

There are no less than four coats of brilliant, lustrous enamel over a coat of anti-rust. This means a tough, durable enamel that will stand everyday wear and all kinds of weather.

2-Hour Nickle Bath

The bright parts of the C.C.M. are nickeled over copper so they cannot rust, then left in the nickel baths in a double strength solution for two hours instead of the twenty minutes or so allowed for cheap nickeling.

Strong, Light Frame

You couldn't ask for a stronger, more rigid, more powerful frame. It is made of English seamless tubing, with reinforced joints. The front forks, with the drop forged crown, are practically unbreakable. Bumping over ruts, stones, rough ground, railway crossings and culverts is all in the day's work for the C. C. M.

Weatherproof Rims

The rims are of clear maple and weather-proof. The spokes are of wire specially drawn and heat-treated.

The bearings are of flint-hard steel; so hard a file won't cut them, yet with an interior core so tough that the bearings are practically unbreakable.

An exclusive C. C. M. feature is the Triplex Hanger. A special 3-piece design that gives the C. C. M. Bicycle its exceptional speed—and pep —and power. Never any stiffness, nor "tight and loose" spots, when you are pedalling a C.C.M. Every bit of pressure you put on the pedals counts for speed.

Hercules Brake

"The little Fellow with the Giant's Grip." Always sure and quick, yet soft and velvety in action. Lets the C. C. M. coast as smoothly and noiselessly as a gliding aeroplane.

Gibson Pedal

The new pedal cyclists are talking about! Strong, yet wonderfully light. Fits the foot perfectly. Its rubber grips save wear on shoes. Its aluminum frame looks like silver and cannot rust.

Accurately Made

Every one of the 1,761 parts of a C. C. M. Bicycle is accurately made, many of them to even closer limits of accuracy than the extremely delicate time fuses on shells.

"Trued Up"

Each C. C. M. is all "trued up" before it leaves the factory. The wheels must track perfectly. Everything must be right. This "truing up" assures you a better steering and easier pedalling bicycle. It is one of the expense items "saved" in turning out cheap bicycles.

Worth More

You couldn't ask for better value than is given you in a C. C. M. It is certainly worth something extra to buy a bicycle that is built to stay out of the repair shop and that will be running more smoothly after years of service than many bicycles do when new. Prices to-day are $13 to $20 less than the "peak" prices. You get a Big Dollar's Value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

Drop into the C. C. M. dealer's. See the new models for men, women, boys and girls. Profusely illustrated catalogue free on request from nearest C. C. M. dealer or from any C.C.M. branch.

Testimonial for Macartney Hand Milkers, sold by Spencer & Son, Napanee :—

Napanee, Ontario,
June 16th, 1923.

Gentlemen,—It did not take me long after Mr. Spencer delivered my Macartney Junior to look upon it as the best investment I have ever made.

The cows took to it right from the start and have held up wonderfully in production without any teat or udder trouble.

No more milking drudgery with your head under a cow two hours twice daily during the hot weather. My thirteen year old daughter is milking our sixteen cows in fifty minutes, and the best part is that she considers it play.

Its low cost and marvelous efficiency leads me to prophesy that within two years the Macartney Junior will be in every cow-stable. 11-2t

An excellent protection against worms can be got in Miller's Worm Powders. They render the stomach and intestines untenable to them. They heal the surfaces that have become inflammed by the attacks of the parasites and serve to restore the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and that their operation is altogether healthgiving.

Address and Presentation

On Friday evening, April 4th, the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Anderson assembled at their home in Hawley to spend a few short hours and to say good-bye on their departure to their new home on Bridge St., Napanee. A very pleasant evening was spent in games, music and singing. When all was called to order, the ladies brought out their baskets, which were well filled, and with tea and coffee, sixty persons did ample justice to the good things provided. When all had become quiet again, their attention was called, and the following address was read:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Anderson,—We, your friends and neighbors, knowing that you were about to move from our midst, have gathered here this evening to spend a social hour with you. We regret that you are no longer to reside among us. We have found you to be true and tried friends. Your readiness to join in church and social work has shown your cheerful disposition and your bright outlook on life. Let us assure you that you will be keenly missed by your friends and neighbors in the future. Before you depart we take this opportunity of expressing in a slight way our appreciation of your kindness in the past, and we ask you to accept this electric lamp as a token of friendship and love, and when you are settled in your new home, we trust you will gather together a large number of true friends who will at least in part take the place of those you leave behind. We wish you many years of health and happiness and hope to have you visit us often in the days to come.

Signed on behalf of your Hawley friends.

MRS. C. H. ASSELSTINE.
MRS. W. HILL.

Mr. Anderson, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Anderson, replied, thanking their many friends for the beautiful lamp which was their honor to receive and also for the touching address just read, and assured them what little it seemed they had done, was done by them cheerfully and considered it their duty which is ever due to the church and community. Mr. Anderson, on behalf of himself, also thanked his many neighbors for the kindness shown him since last harvest when his health began to fail him, and he can never forget those willing hands who so often had helped him out on many occasions, and while he deeply regretted their removal from their midst, assured them they would be always welcome any time in their new home in their own home town.

After circling around and singing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow", the friends took their departure to their many homes.

The Last Asthma Attack may really be the last one if prompt measures are taken. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy will safeguard you. It will penetrate to the smallest bronchial passage and bring about a healthy condition. It always relieves and its continued use often has a permanent effect. Why not get this long-famous remedy to-day and commence its use? Inhaled as smoke or vapor it is equally effective.

Just telephone or write Hooper's Drug Store, and get what you want by return mail.

Many ladies have expressed a preference for Eilay's Straw Hat Coloring. We have put in a complete stock in the seventeen beautiful shades. Wallace's, Sole Agents for Napanee.

of the series dealing with the establishment of the BANK OF MONTREAL at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere

IN TORONTO

AYEAR after being founded, the Bank of Montreal spread its Branches westward,' in July of 1818 establishing Agencies at Kingston and York.

York, which afterwards became the city of Toronto, had then just had its first stage-coach communication established with Kingston and Montreal. It was merely a settlement in a clearing amid unbroken forests from which the Indians came to trade with farmers and other members of the little community. Today Toronto ranks among the largest cities on the continent.

Of the Bank's 567 Branches, 26 are in Toronto and 207 in the Province of Ontario, including Toronto.

COURIER TO CARRY INVITATION TO PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES

Miss Gwendolen (Gwen.) Lazier, of the City of Belleville, Ontario, has been selected as the courier to carry on horse-back an invitation from His Worship Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., of the City of Belleville, to the President of the United States at Washington to attend the celebration of the 140th anniversary of the settlement of Upper Canada, which commences June 16th next at the City of Belleville.

The courier started from Belleville, Ontario, on the 24th of April for a ride of over 600 miles, and the course to be taken by the courier after leaving Belleville will be through Napanee and Kingston, Ontario, crossing at Cape Vincent, N.Y., passing through Watertown, Utica, Schenectady, Albany, Rensselaer, Rhinebeck, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill, Yonkers, New York City, Newark, Perth Amboy, Trenton, Bustleton, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Elkton, Baltimore, Laurel, Washington, and intervening towns. The Mayors of these places have offered to extend the courtesy and hospitality of the courier in common in old pioneer days.

The Laziers are: U. E. Loyalists from New York State and came over to Canada in 1784, when it was a wilderness after the war. The family were originally Huguenots who left France and took up residence in New York when it was a British Colony. The courier's Grand uncle, Lt. Col. S. S. Lazier, has been Master of the Supreme Court at Belleville for over 50 years, and another Grand uncle was the late Judge Thomas A. Lazier, another ancestor the late Jas. Weller, who the first stage route from the "Carrying Place" between the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario, to the Village of York (now Toronto). Her Grandfather on her Mother's side, the late Wm. Bleecker, was of English descent and took part in the Jameson Raid in South Africa and was condemned by the late President Kruger of the Transvaal to be put to death, but by the influence of friends and on payment of a fine of $10,000 was released.

The courier is 19 years of age, was educated in Bishop Strachan School, Toronto, is a good rider, and all round athlete.

The ride on horse-back from Belleville to Washington, after the manner of travel by the old pioneers, embraces the great advancement that has been made in the last 140 years. The week commencing June 16th is the time fixed for the journey, because it was on June 16th, 1784, that the principal body of Loyalists landed at the native forests of the Bay of Quinte District.

NEWBURGH

This is a proper time of year to discuss the matter of taking down and putting up stovepipes. There are those, no doubt, who feel at times as if they could wish that stovepipes had never been invented or introduced to add, as they sometimes do, to domestic tadegy and warfare. This is really part of the price we pay for advanced civilization. Advancement means change and change means readjustment. In putting up stovepipes it is the proper matter rather than the thing operated upon that requires readjustment. It is in attempting to bring about this readjustment in the case of an impatient or short tempered man that creates the problem, and no set of cast iron rules is going to bring about the change. It would be superfluous to advise a prayerful spirit to a man such as we have described, when entering into the job of putting up stovepipes, for when he enters into the work this spirit will grow gradually as he proceeds, and if his prayers are not effectual they are usually fervent. A few general rules may, however, not be amiss. First then we would advise choosing a rainy day for the job, so that there be few outside allurements. Then have Maria hide everything that would serve as a pounder, so that if your feelings demanded it you will have the exercise of jumping on the pipes. Don't put away all the kitchen knives, as Maria may need one to stick in somewhere when you think you have everything ready to make a joint. This, of course, will furnish a diversion and diverting your mind in this way is sure to add picturesqueness to the occasion and usually to the language. But what is the use of multiplying rules, just use common sense and remember that fighting with stove pipes will not bring you glory, nor even honorable mention.

The Easter holidays have brought the usual movement. The teachers and scholars in the schools are out for, what we hope in every case, is a well earned rest. The services in the churches were all appropriate. There was the usual display of Easter hats. On the last subject we will go no further as we have learned to approach the subject of Easter hats with caution.

The home coming teachers are Miss Essie Johnston from Ottawa, Miss Mabel McNeely from the neighborhood of Orilla, Miss Mabel Tomkins from Stayner.

The following Newburgh teachers have gone to their several homes, Mr. Andrews, Miss Crouch, Miss McGowin, while Miss McSherry is not joining her Easter eggs in Newburgh.

Miss Mitchell has taken her annual trip to Toronto to attend the Ontario Education Association's convention, where she will receive fresh inspiration to help her through the hard summer term.

Mr. Vanderveort had Easter visitors which included his brother and family and Mr. Wright, all from Colborne.

Mr. Rollands, of Cooper, Hastings County, was a visitor over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Lucas.

Mr. Geo. W. Paul and family, of Toronto, were visitors at Mrs. Shorey's, over Sunday.

Mr. Stewart Gandier spent a couple of days in Kingston, visiting his friend, Kenneth McLean.

The Easter egg hunt seems to be disappearing, at least we have not heard of any gormandizing in this line so far. This is another sign that we are advancing in civilization.

We are having plenty of rain and cold winds, and the weather prophets say that spring will be late this year. Time will tell.—Mr. Jas. Wilson has a weather prophet which is right on all the conditions of the inhabitants of this village. Once in a great while it misses the mark, but as a general rule when the woman makes her appearance, we can depend upon it there is a storm coming. This also holds good in everyday life; but we need a storm once in a while to appreciate the calm as we should, so the men should be thankful and not kick.—Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Young have a little baby girl to brighten up the home.—Mr. Ed. Tompkins had the misfortune of spraining his leg while working in the mill some time ago, and has been on the Doctor's care.—Mrs. Manley Hawley has returned from Kingston, where she had an operation, and is recovering nicely.—Mr. Geo. S., Mission Circle and Mission Band was held in the church on Tuesday evening. Although the night was rough, a good number was present to enjoy the fine programme which was provided. Miss L. Gandier, of Newburgh, gave an inspiring address, which was much enjoyed by all. A liberal Easter offering was received.—Sunday School next Sunday at 2 p.m. Everybody welcome.—Mrs. Mc-Lean is visiting her daughter in Syracuse, N.Y.

Rev. C. W. DeMille Accepts Invitation to Oshawa

Resigns From Position of General Superintendent of Ontario Religious Educational Council.

It will be of interest to a large number of our readers to know that Rev. C. W. DeMille has accepted the invitation to become the Pastor of King St. Methodist Church, and at a recent meeting of the O. R. E. C. tendered resigned his position as General Superintendent of the Council.

Mr. C. W. DeMille's work is well known in the Napanee District. His first charge was at Denbigh, and he gained a lasting place in the affections of the people in the northern part of the county.

At both Roblin and Newburgh he gave evidence of his power and church builder and won his place as one of the coming young men of the Quinte Conference.

After a very successful pastorate in Hamilton, Mr. DeMille returned to the Napanee District, where he labored for three years, bringing all the departments of the church into a state of high efficiency, and especially stimulating the organization of the Young People's work in the church. No pastorate in the history of Trinity Church has been of greater value to the church and community than that of Rev. and Mrs. DeMille.

While Pastor of Trinity Church Mr. DeMille was invited to the important position of Secretary of Religious Education in Saskatchewan, and during his three years in that Conference he not only won the respect of all denominations, and made a great contribution to the Young People's work of the Province.

Two years ago, on the resignation of Principal Halpenny, Mr. DeMille was invited to succeed him as General Superintendent of the O. R. E. C. During the two years wonderful progress has been made in the Council, and to-day it stands as one of the most effective agencies in the Province for Religious Education.

His record has been watched with interest and admiration by his many friends in the Napanee District and all prophecy for him a pastorate of great success at his new charge in King St., Oshawa.

TAMWORTH

A very impressive Easter service was held in the Anglican Church on Easter morning, Rev. A. The surplice choir rendered very sweet music. — The Easter service of the Union Church was equally inspiring. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with lilies, —Miss Anna B. OBITUARY

The Late John T. Grange.

On Sunday, April 20th, 1924, one of Napanee's oldest citizens in the person of John T. Grange, passed away. For many years, and until physical disability prevented, Mr. Grange was actively interested in all public concerns. The following, taken from "Herrington's History of Lennox and Addington", written in 1913, gives a good account of the active years of Mr. Grange's life:—

"John T. Grange is a grandson of the Scotch mill-wright, John Grange, who came to Napanee one hundred and twenty years ago, to overhaul the mill of Edward Cartwright, and a son of William Grange, alleged to have been the first white child born in Napanee. William Grange was born, lived, and died on the old Grange farm directly north of the town. In his day there was a sawmill on the creek on this farm; but it was torn down fifty years ago and it now is one of the last places in the county to be selected as a site for a mill. John T. was born in 1837, went first to a country school, then to the old East Ward school, and finished his education in the old frame grammar school on West street, where his cousin, William Grange was the master.

"James, William and Thomas Grange were engaged in the drug business, although the names of the latter two did not appear as members of the firm. When he had reached fourteen years of age, John T. entered the drug store as a clerk. There were several changes in the personnel of the firm; James sold out his interest to his brother John, who, after the fire of 1857, sold out to William and Thomas; and the firm name then of John Grange & Co. was retained until 1864, when William Grange died, and it became Grange & Bros., the partners being the three brothers, John T., Alex. W., George S., and their cousin, William Grange. This combination lasted until 1879, when the partnership was wound up, and Alex. and George started afresh under the name of A. W. Grange & Bro. and John T. formed a new partnership known as Daly, Grange & Co.

"John T. has continued to live in Napanee ever since he first entered business, and is to-day one of the oldest residents. Not only has he resided in Napanee continuously for past sixty years, but has, in one way and another, participated in the building up and improvement of the town. For ten years he was a member of the Town Council, and for one year at the School Board; but his greatest achievement was his election to the Local Legislature over the Honourable John Stevenson, who was considered a very formidable candidate. He was returned a second time in a three-cornered fight, in which he defeated Mr. Jerry Casey and Mr. Casey and Philip Booth. Mr. Grange has for many years been one of the trustees of the County Treasurer's books, but the position which is unanimously conceded to him is that of chairman at the nomination meetings in Napanee. Just when, how, or why he came to be chairman for this position for so many years neither he nor any one else appears to know, but the fact remains that he was elected year after year until the custom became a fixed rule, and no one presumed to bring forward any other candidate than the presented as an unrolled-for innovation."

The funeral was held on Wednesday morning from the home of Mr. W. A. Grange, the son of the deceased. Mr. Terrill, of Grace Church, conducted the service, which was followed by the ritual of the Masonic Order, of which Mr. Grange was a member of long standing.

There survive the deceased his wife, his sons, William A., and Mr. W. K. Prupp, Napanee; Mrs. Bert. Robertson, Kingston; Mrs. Shaw, of Toronto, and Mrs. William Wilson, of Brandon, Manitoba, his daughters.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT POST'S HILL.

YOUNG MAN INSTANTLY KILLED.

George Allan, aged 23 years, of the Production Department of the Willys-Overland Motor Co., Toronto, was killed almost instantly about 8 o'clock on Monday evening, at the foot of Post's Hill, a mile east of Pickering, on the Kingston Road, when the car in which he was riding skidded in the mud and struck the railing beside the road, a part of the broken rail piercing the side curtain of the car and striking him directly in the face. Allan was badly mangled about the head, and died as he was being carried to another car to be taken to a doctor.

Car Sank in Soft Mud.

The motor car, a big Hudson, contained eight persons, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Augustus, of Whitby, and their two small boys; Mr. and Mrs. Avery L. Brown, of Albany, N.Y.; Mrs. Frank Clark, of Napanee, and Mr. Allan. Mr. and Mrs. Brown had been visiting with their friends, at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Augustus, and it had been decided to drive Mr. Allan to the city, in the Brown's car. While proceeding westward, near the foot of Post's Hill, a car approached from the west, and Mr. Brown, who was driving, drew out to pass it. Apparently not being well acquainted with the road, he pulled over off the pavement, and the heavy car sank into the soft earth alongside. The steering wheel was wrenched from the driver's hands and the car struck the wooden railing and posts at the north side, ending the trip with the front part of the car resting on a broken post. The top railing, a 2x4 scantling was broken, and pierced the side-curtain, striking Allan. None of the others in the car were injured, except Mrs. Brown, who sustained slight bruises on her arm.

In the darkness it was impossible to ascertain the extent of the damage, but the ladies and children of the party were helped from the car, uninjured. Only then was it discovered that Allan had been hurt, for even those sitnie beside him in the rear seat heard him utter no sound. He was found leaning forward over the front seat, and immediately his serious injuries became apparent. Three or four passing motorists refused to stop in answer to calls for assistance, but finally Mr. Richardson, of Oshawa, pulled up, and lent valuable aid, in removing the young man to a car. Dr. Field, of Pickering, where it was found that he was quite dead, death having been almost instantaneous, the rail having pierced the brain.

The car was only slightly damaged, as it was travelling slowly at the time. The driver attributes the accident to the soft yielding character of the earth beside the pavement, although a heavy rainstorm was in progress at the time, it did not materially interfere with visibility, as it was almost dusk at the time, and was therefore behind the car.

A Native of Napanee.

The unfortunate young man was a native of Napanee, where his relatives reside. He was an orphan, his parents having died some time ago. He had been in the employ of the Willys-Overland Company for a year or two, and had resided in Napanee over the week-end, intending to return to Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. Brown, who returned to Napanee on Monday. He received with Mr. McDougall, at 102 Bayety St., Toronto.

Allan was a young man of exemplary character. He was a war veteran and a gold medalist of Albert College, Belleville.

The body was removed to Burling's undertaking rooms at Pickering, where Dr. Cartwright, the Coroner, after viewing the body, decided that an inquest would be unnecessary.

On Tuesday evening friends of the deceased young man arrived in Pickering to claim the body, and on Wednesday the body was taken to Napanee and was met at the station by relatives and former companions who served with him overseas.

The funeral was held from the home of Mr. Clark. It was a military funeral, the town band and members of the local G. W. V. A. attending in a body. Rev. W. E. Kidd, of Kingston, a former overseas Chaplain, conducted the service in the house. From thence the cortege proceeded to Grace Church, and after service, then to Riverside cemetery, where the final interment was made and the last post sounded.

RAIL PIERCES HEAD OF AUTO PASSENGER

George Allan, Formerly of Napanee, Meets Tragic End Near Pickering.—Eight in Motor Car.

George Allan, aged 23 years, accountant at the Willys-Overland Works, Toronto, who roomed at 59 Mavety Street, was killed almost instantly about eight o'clock Monday evening, ¼ mile east of Pickering, when struck by a wooden fence rail, which pierced the wind shield of the motor car in which he was riding, and caught him directly on the face. Allan died while being taken from the car.

The motor car, containing eight persons, Mr. and Mrs. Westley Augustus, of Whitby; Mr. and Mrs. Avery L. Brown, of Albany, N.Y.; two children, another lady, and George Allan, was proceeding towards Toronto from Whitby, and when about one mile east of Pickering Village, Avery L. Brown, who was driving the car, noticed another automobile approaching with glaring headlights. Brown swerved the car to one side, and the auto struck the iron post guarding the embankment. The wooden rail on top of the post smashed the wind shield and struck Mr. Allan, who was on the back seat of the automobile. The other members of the party all escaped uninjured.

The driver blames the glare from the headlights of the other car for the accident, Mr. Brown being unable to see the guard rails at the side of the road. He says that the snow-covered ground was also a factor in dazzling him.

The victim of the accident was a native of Napanee, where his relatives reside. His parents died some time ago. Mr. Allan had been visiting in Napanee over the week-end, and had intended to return to Toronto with the Brown's party. He had been rooming at the home of Mrs. McDougall, 152 Mavety Street, for the past eight months.

Allan's body was removed to Dunlop's undertaking rooms, Pickering. Dr. Cartwright, County Coroner, said that an inquest would not be necessary.

SELBY WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Easter meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Selby Methodist Church was held in the school room. Owing to illness in many homes, the attendance was below the average. The programme for the day was in charge of Mrs. H. Windover.

Following the reading of the devotional leaflet, "A Psalm of Penitence" by Mrs. B. F. Denison, prayer was offered by Mrs. L. Price and Mrs. G. Jackson.

Mrs. Melville Windover gave the last chapter of the year's Study Book presenting the lonely foreigner, his cares, worries and complex problems as a living trust to the Christian Church.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Correspondence received during the month was also read.

In response to an appeal from the Branch Executive, for the support of the O. T. A., it was moved and seconded that the following resolution be sent by the society to the Government:

To the Honourable Howard Ferguson.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Selby Methodist Church, numbering eighty members, in their regular meeting having considered the O. T. A., and having noted its very gratifying success so far as this section is concerned, and noticed its reports elsewhere throughout Ontario, is of the unreasoned conviction that it would be in the best interest of the Province not to make any change in the O. T. A. at the present time, but rather exercise a stricter enforcement and further that we would suggest not to hold a plebiscite until a Committee of the House shall have made careful inquiry into the working of the Act.

Mrs. M. Windover,
Cor. Secty.

Mrs. J. Grange read a leaflet on the responsibility of the Auxiliary for nurturing the various departments of the work, especially the Bands and Circles. A session of prayer followed for the Mission cause at home and abroad; also the Temperance work and its forces.

The thankoffering was received by the Treasurer, Mrs. A. C. Hudgins, after which the meeting closed with prayer by the President, Mrs. J. Tate.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA

The first part of an actual timber surveying trip in Northern Ontario is given in the May issue of Rod and Gun in Canada by T. A. Higgins, dealing with every phase of the work, while G. P. Sladen has a good story on a novel canoe trip in May with the snow still on the ground. "Rushed by a Grizzly" is an exciting account of a perilous adventure by John Cook, and Mark G. McElhinney gives an interesting description of his trip to beautiful Banff Park. The straining wildcats along the Clyde River, Nova Scotia, give Bonnycastle Dale subject matter for a well written article, while "A Wild Goose Chase in Newfoundland" by E. Gallop is an unusual and well told story. H. W. Fry continues his series on shooting from the six point rest, and F. C. Nesbitt has a practical article on making small game and targets on the "go" easy, for shooters. The daring adventures of Captain Doudera the man who trains timber wolves in the north in Winter makes fascinating reading, and all the regular departments are well stocked with interesting information for the summer season. The May number of Rod and Gun in Canada contains some phase of practically every sportsman's interests.

SERVANT TO COUNTESS

MYSTERY MARRIAGE OF A CARDIFF GIRL.

Young Naval Lieutenant Weds Musical Comedy Artist Who Was the Wife of a London Photographer Who Was Still Alive—Story Told by Welsh Uncle of the Girl.

Romance is piled on romance in the story of the mystery marriage of the eighth Earl of Breadalbane, who died in a Boscombe nursing home.

The widowed "countess" is now proved to be no countess at all, but the wife of a photographer, named Edwards. At one time she lived at Cardiff. Her "marriage" to Lieutenant Campbell, who became the eighth earl, was, it is alleged, bigamous.

Few people knew that the young earl—he was 37—was "married."

In September, 1916, James Edward Herbert Campbell, a naval lieutenant, took a pretty, young musical comedy artiste, Marie Laura Reeves-Hunt, to the St. Giles Register Office, Bloomsbury, and married her. Lieutenant Campbell became the eighth Earl of Breadalbane last year, and Marie Laura Campbell became a countess.

They lived together as Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, and when Mr. Campbell, nephew of the seventh earl, succeeded to the title, they went to live at Bournemouth. They were known to Bournemouth simply as Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

Now comes the startling denouement and the story of the alleged bigamous marriage.

The "countess" as a girl, lived in Cardiff. When her mother died, the orphan was cared for and brought up by a Mrs. Reeve, whose name Marie subsequently adopted.

After leaving school Marie became a domestic servant in the house of a Mrs. Edwards. She was a prepossessing girl, and Mrs. Edwards' son, Benjamin James, fell in love with her. They were married at a Bristol register office on September 3, 1906.

They went to London, but apparently their married life was not happy. Ultimately she left her husband and went to live in the neighborhood of Russell square.

She joined a theatrical touring company and presently appeared on the boards at the Gaiety. It was at that time she met Lieutenant Campbell, and "married" him, possibly having had reason to believe that her first husband was dead.

Mr Campbell was anything but wealthy.

They appeared to be a devoted couple. As "Mr. and Mrs. Campbell" life was all roses. They smiled together at hard times. He worked in Woolwich Arsenal as an inventor.

One day as the young husband, whose health was far from robust, stooped down to pick up his pet dog, he had a seizure of some kind. A doctor was called in. It was necessary to remove him to a nursing home.

His mother, Lady Margaret Campbell, frequently came to see him. To her, his wife was constantly at his side. Devoted to the end, she was first-stricken at his death.

A distant cousin, Captain Charles William Campbell, inherited the title. Relatives of the late earl began making inquiries concerning the antecedents of the widowed "countess."

Then came the revelation that the marriage was illegal, and that Mr. Edwards, the husband, is still alive.

His uncle lives in Cardiff and tells a peculiar story.

Years ago his niece married a William Heath, who hailed, he thought from the Midlands, and she came to Cardiff to "do the birth of her child." The husband died in confinement, and Reeve and his wife adopted the baby girl and brought her up as their own child.

She was given the name of Marie Reeve. When she left school, she went into domestic service with a Cardiff family named Edwards, and eventually went to Bristol with a son of her employers, where they were married at the registry office.

From Bristol the company went to London, but the marriage was not a happy one, and they parted. Mrs. Edwards was of prepossessing appearance, and joined a theatrical touring party for a time.

Soon then returned to the lodgings-house at Cardiff, where she gave birth to a daughter, who was named Gladys Edwards, and who is now about seventeen years of age and is acting as housekeeper for Mr. Reeve, whose wife died a year ago.

For the next ten years Mrs. Edwards wrote regularly, and often visited the Reeves.

She was still on the stage, and her letters told of small successes. Then her husband was dead. Seven years ago they lost all trace of her.

"We brought the mother up from a baby," said Mr. Reeve, "and after she left us, and got married, she returned to us for the birth of her baby. We looked after the child. She is now seventeen years of age."

"The first news I had of her for seven years was when I saw her picture in the newspaper after the death of the Earl of Breadalbane. I have heard nothing from her direct."—Toronto Telegram.

Playing Safe.

The visitor to the village was asking many questions of a group of men. He had come across standing outside the local house of refreshment.

"And where do you get your water from?" he asked after a time. "What do you do you you take to insure that it is quite pure before you drink it?"

"Well, sir," said one of the yokels, "first of all, we boil it."

"Very good, very good," broke in the officious stranger.

"And then we filters it."

"Fine, fine," exclaimed the visitor. "And what do you do then?"

"Then," said the yokel, with a grin, "we drinks beer."

When Coins Wear Out.

It is surprising to know that a finger passing over a coin actually reduces the weight of it. A wonderful electrical instrument known as the induction balance proves this to be a fact. When coins rub against each other in people's pockets and purses, drop on a counter or on the ground, and so on, they really wear. If you "ring" a coin to test its genuineness, you remove some of the metal of which it is composed. The smaller the value of the coin, the greater the wear, as it is in use more frequently. Experiments show that in a hundred years in the British Mint £100 worth of half-crowns less £15 11s. 8d. of their value. The same sum in shillings would decrease in value by £56 14s. 10½; whereas sixpences to the value of £100 would be worth less than half what they were originally, losing actual to the value of £50 18s. 8d. The loss in coinage value in Great Britain is estimated at £11,000 annually. When coins become very much worn, they are withdrawn from circulation.

Farmerettes Journey Across Desert.

A woman farmer in a lonely part ofo South Africa, Mrs. Id. Francis, has just shown that in pluck and endurance British women settlers are not behind the men.

About two months ago a cyclone devastated her farm, which lies beyond the western fringes of the desolate Kalahari Desert, and then came floods which destroyed the food and shelter for her cattle. The only way to save her animals was to drive them 400 miles across the desert to her son's farm, and this she did, unaided.

She found that many of the waterholes in the desert had dried up, and sometimes she had to ward off attacks by lions with her rifle; but she kept steadily on, and in the end brought nearly all her charges through safely.

One Bottle Accomplished Wonders

Dreco Quickly Demonstrates its System-building Properties to Mrs. Ridings. Feels and Looks Better and Recommends Remedy at Every Chance.

Mrs. G. Ridings of 16 Kitchener Avenue, Toronto, noticed beneficial results from her first bottle of Dreco. She tells in the following statement how this sterling remedy is building up her system.

"My entire system has been terribly run down", says Mrs. Ridings, "and try as I might I could get no medicine to build me up. I had an attack of La Grippe and Pleurisy which greatly weakened me. Having been a sufferer from muscular rheumatism the pains seemed even worse than usual and I was told that I had neuralgia of the heart. These sharp pains would cause shortness of breath and on top of it all my stomach became ulcerated which affected my mouth as well.

"To sleep at night was almost impossible. My nerves were all on edge and I felt tired out all the time.

"Dreco seemed to go right to the bottom of my trouble at once. I can now manage my housework easily. I eat anything I wish and feel just fine when I get up in the mornings. The pains through my side and limbs have gone. Everyone tells me I'm looking so much better and I surely do feel fine."

Sufferings such as were wrecking the life of Mrs. Ridings are invariably aided by the use of Dreco. The liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys alike benefit from its use. Dreco is purely herbal and contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs. Dreco is being specially introduced in Napanee by Wallace & Co., and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

So many varnishes darken hardwood floors. Opaline will not, and it gives a hard glossy surface that wears like iron. All sized cans, at Wallace's, Sole Agents in Napanee.

For Burns and Scalds.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will take the fire out of a burn or scald. It should be at hand in every kitchen so that it may be available at any time. For Frost Bites and Chilblains.—Chilblains come from undue exposure to slush and cold and frost-bite from the icy winds of winter. In the treatment of either an excellent preparation is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, as it counteracts the inflammation and relieves the pain. The action of the oil is prompt and its application is extremely simple.

They are non-injurious in their composition, and while in some cases they may cause vomiting, that must not be taken as a sign that they are nauseating, but as an indication of their effective work.

"What do you make of those telegrams referring to apricots, peaches, and other kinds of fruits?"

"They have me puzzled," answered Senator Sorghum. "They have spoiled my evenings at home. When my daughter turns the phonograph loose on "There Are No Bananas", I don't feel sure whether it's a song or a code message."

A distinguished astronomer tells of a visit paid by several young Western women to his observatory.

"I had done my best," said he, "to answer with credit the running fire of questions which my fair callers propounded. I think I had named even the remotest constellations for them, and was congratulating myself upon the outcome, when one of the younger members of the party interjected:

"But, as it has never been proved that stars are inhabited, how do the astronomers ever find out their names?"

An old Irishman was told by his wife to paint the washhouse mangle while she was out shopping. On returning she could not find her husband in the washhouse, so she called on him, to be answered faintly from upstairs:

"What are you doing up there, Pat?" she asked.

"Painting the mangle," was the reply.

"Why did you take the mangle up there?"

"Sure, Biddy, because the paint was up here."

A worthy but not too happily mated Cumberland farmer embracing his daughter, affectionately taking her hand, said:

"What is't aboot, fadder?" replied the daughter.

The Hidden Quality of the Gray-Dort

THE beauty of the Gray-Dort line is apparent to every observer. It has long been the outstanding car of its class for appearance.

But underneath these beautiful bodies is a quality of materials and design and workmanship which is amazing in cars at Gray-Dort prices. Here is tangible evidence of the intention of the new Gray-Dort management to give the greatest automobile value ever offered in Canada.

Every vital part of the Gray-Dort has been checked and tested by engineers under gruelling conditions. Every change they recommended has been made. An entire new rear axle was designed. A new disc clutch was built into the car. New rigid inspection rules were established.

Every Gray-Dort car is now absolutely right in every detail. One drive will convince you that never before have cars of this class given such performance. And the performance is permanently built into the Gray-Dort for years and years of satisfaction to you.

See the new Gray-Dorts; find out what they will do; and learn the low prices.

ARDEN

Spring has surely made its appearance at last. The ice has all disappeared out of the lakes. Nearly every one has brought the sugar-making to a close by taking up the buckets from their sugar bushes. Lamp Burning 600 Years.

Baddesley Clinton is one of the beautiful ancient moated garagcs of England. It possesses a private chapel, where with one or two short periods of interruption, Mass has been said ever since the days of the Reformation. But the Roman Catholic traditions of another country house, the chronicles of which have just been published are even more remarkable than those of Baddesley Clinton. At East Hendred House, near Abingdon, there is a private chapel in the grounds which has stood there from the 12th century. Here the Eyston family, who have a private entrance from the library of the house, have worshipped century after century; and it is accepted as an historical fact that the lamp before the altar has never ceased to burn for 600 years. No Protestant service has ever been held there, and it was left quite intact by Cromwell's soldiery when they visited East Hendred.

Mah-Jong.

Although it has taken 2,000 years to reach London, Eng., this Chinese game is now being taken up with amazing rapidity. It is even publicly demonstrated every evening at the Vaudeville Theatre. Experts are advertising lessons at anything from $2 to $5 each, and the stores are doing a large trade in playing sets. It is a scientific game of gamble—which one will, it can be played for nominal stakes or large sums can be won and lost. The Chinese played it centuries ago; that accounts for the picturesque names given to the players, for they take the names of the winds, east, west, north and south; and it also accounts for the gambling element. The old Mandarins staked fortunes on the game; indeed, in the East it is regarded as such a gamble that for decades Government will not permit it in their country.

U. S. Makes Largest Leases.

The largest leases ever successfully constructed from cellulose fibre manufactured plants have been completed by the bureau of standards at Washington. Declared by expert examiners to be perfect they measured 9 inches in diameter and have a feed length of 12 feet 3 inches.

An unusual feature of the cane plaited work is that it forms what is known as "carbonnette combination." Usual cane work plans in open and flat plans in the other is said to bring light or shade to a contrasting floral point, impossible in loose made of one type of glass. The instrument will be used by the bureau for conducting intricate experiments in the science of optics.

Goats and Weather.

According to the rather peculiar old Yorkshire country, preserved in the east Riding of Yorkshire, Mr. goats and lambs were not allowed on the roads of Spring. One fisherman brought his wife there, at the same time the purring goats began. Lengthy legal battles were waged concerning the matter. Finally it was settled that the goats must go but the wife could stay.

FREE—10 Much Finer Shaves!

Cleaner Shaves—Quicker with no skin irritation!

If you were paid for putting into words the perfect shave, you would probably define it as . . . "the cleanest, quickest, easiest on skin."

Because that's what 1600 men told us a really good shave should be.

Now we ask you to judge how well we've put those three requisites into a shaving cream. At our expense.

We've put it up to millions of men. And, having tried it, they refuse to use any other cream or soap.

There are 5 distinct superiorities, shaving advantages, in Palmolive Shaving Cream. It cost us 18 months' work, 130 laboratory experiments, to perfect them. Now judge our work.

You'll find cream multiplying itself 250 times in luxurious lather.

You'll find that lather softens the most unruly beard in one minute—without any irritating "rubbing in."

You'll find the lather remains rich and creamy for 10 minutes on your face, if necessary.

You'll find cutting easier, cleaner, because bubbles of extra strength hold each hair erect. This is important. Finally, you'll marvel at the cool, soothed "after feel"—a result of the carefully blended palm and olive oils.

We ask your judgment on these points as a favor. Failing, the loss would be all ours. Send along the coupon for your ten free shaves.

Cycling Far Easier than Walking

FRANK Jones used to complain about his feet getting so hot and achey from his long walks to and from work on the hard roads and pavements.

One day when he felt more tired, and his feet hurt him worse than usual, he happened to see a man go gliding by on a bicycle.

"Cycling is far easier than walking," said Frank to himself. And all day long while he was working he thought kept running through his mind.

That night, on the way home, he dropped into a C.C.M. dealer's and looked over the different C.C.M. models, choosing one that suited him in every way.

Since then Frank's feet have had a much easier time and he's quit complaining. In fact, he's boasting now about how fine and fresh he feels since he started Cycling.

He also tells how quickly and easily he Cycles to work and home again—how he saves the shoe leather he used to wear out on the hard cement walks—how he saves valuable time by Cycling instead of walking.

If you gave Frank a chance he would tell you all about the C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger—the wonderful power plant that responds to the slightest pressure on the pedals and makes the C.C.M. run so smoothly, quietly and easily.

He would show you the strong, powerful frames of English Seamless Tubing—the bright silvery nickeling that won't rust because it is done over copper—the sparkling enamel that is baked on over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand rain, snow and all kinds of weather—the new Gibson Pedal with its rust-proof aluminum frame—and the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake that coasts so easily, has such braking power, and is ounces lighter than the old-style sidearm type.

The C.C.M. dealer will, also, be glad to tell you all about the C.C.M. and to show you the new models—the Standard, the Special, the Sport model, the C.C.M. Flyer, the Curved Bar model.

Prices are $15 to $20 lower than the "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

The Meaning of Chevrolet's "Economical Transportation"

IT is more economical to travel by Chevrolet than by any other means. That is what it means to say that Chevrolet is the most economical form of transportation.

This implies, first of all, that Chevrolet costs the least per car-mile—that it is less expensive to operate than any other make of car.

But, more than that, it means that Chevrolet is more economical than any other kind of transportation.

An investigation among Chevrolet owners of all classes, shows that it is not only more convenient—but also more economical—to travel by Chevrolet than by railway-train or trolley car. The information received gives an average of 30 miles per gallon of gasoline and over 1,300 miles per gallon of oil.

Chevrolet is easy to own. The G.M.A.C. plan of deferred payments will enable you to finance the purchase. Investigate the new Superior Chevrolet today.

Boils in 5 minutes — Boils in 8 minutes

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. Save fuel in cooking. Use

MOORISH ARCHITECTURE.

Alhambra Group Excell In Dignity of Conception.

Four centuries have passed away since the Mohammedan power was driven out of Spain by the fall of the Moorish kingdom of Granada, in the famous war conducted with such spirit by Ferdinand and Isabella. In that long and memorable struggle the Christian against Moslem there were some episodes of ternce barbarity. The fanatical Moorish armies perpetrated excesses which aroused all Christendom, and the Christian princes banded together resolved, at whatever cost, to expel the Moors. This was at last accomplished. Malaga and Grenada, the strongholds of the Moorish Empire, were captured, and Boabdil, the last of the alien monarchs of the Crescent to rule in Western Europe, was deprived of his power and possessions and became a vassal of Spain. The story of the Moorish period of occupation is now only recalled by the magnificent architectural remains of that period that still exist in many localities in Grenada. Nowhere in Europe are there any structures excelling in dignity of conception and extreme delicacy of treatment those found in the Alhambra group. Combining many of the features of Saracenic and Arabian architecture, the Moorish workmen wrought in a style which, though replete with ornament, was yet conspicuously graceful and striking, lacking the heaviness of the Gothic and the Roman, and retaining in a multiplied form something of the beauty of the Greek. In the retaining of their mosques, tombs, and palaces, and even in many houses of the wealthier class, this rich elaboration is still visible. Slender, graceful pillars, topped by ornate capitals, support the buildings, rising to delicately-formed arches, heavy with tracery that seems to the observer as fine as the filigree work of a silversmith.

Conscripted Labor.

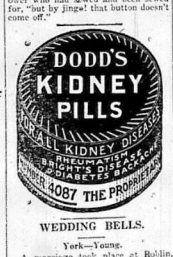
Conscripted labor may be used in times of emergency, through the new "Forcible Assistance Law" just passed in the Protectorate of Iraq. The Bill enacts that the Ministry of the Interior may, in sudden and unexpected circumstances, call upon any administrative officials authority to collect and employ labor at rates of pay to be fixed by the Government in order to stop floods, extension of fires, and the spread of locusts, which may result in great public harm. Every laborer who contravenes the order of the administrative official may be forcibly taken to the place of the work and afterwards may be punished by imprisonment for a period not exceeding one month or a fine of $20. Every Shaikh or ruler who refuses to supply the necessary labor required from him shall be liable to punishment not exceeding six months' imprisonment or a fine not exceeding £500, or both imprisonment and fine.

"Seems to be something peculiar about this spinach."

"Nothing serious. My wife is very particular, and she washed all the sand out of it."

"How slow you men are," jeered the lochicer girl. "It takes you an hour to sew on a button."

"It does," acknewledged the widower who had sewed and been served for, "but by jingo! that button doesn't come off."



WEDDING BELLS.

York—Young.

A marriage took place at Bolbin, on Wednesday, 16th April, 1924, at 10 o'clock a.m., when R. M. Hammond, Pastor of the Holiness Movement Church, united in marriage Miss Florence M. York, daughter of the late Michael York and Mrs. Curtis Hartin, of Westplain, and Harold W. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hazard Young. Miss Annie Hartin acted as bridesmaid, and Harold B. York, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The bride looked charming in a dress of copenhagen blue satin trimmed with grey beads and hat to match. The happy couple will make their home at Westplain.

"The Least Exertion Tired Me," Writes Mr. Benoit

Lack of the proper constituents in the blood is the cause of many illsthat may result from disease or run down condition of the system. The symptoms are, pallor of the skin and mucous membrance, palpitation, weakness, langour, etc. Anemia is sometimes the forerunner of consumption. Everything should be done to build and tone up the system. Carnol relieved Mr. Benoit of anemia. He says:

"I had been feeling weak and depressed. The least exertion tired me. I had no appetite. If I got a few hours sleep at night I was lucky. I wanted to rest all the time. My nerves were on edge. The slightest thing irritated me. In fact, I was suffering from anemia. Finally I decided I would ask my friend, Mr. H. H. Page, the druggist, and see if he could do something for me. He recommended me to take a Course of Carnol (six bottles). After I had taken the fourth bottle I was a different man. I could eat, sleep and do a heavy day's work without feeling tired. I also bought some bottles of Carnol for my mother-in-law and she was greatly benefited."—Rudolph Aristides Benoit, St. Ludger de Kivière du Loup. "

Carnol is sold by all good druggists everywhere.

Evolution of the Clock

A primitive form of sun-dial probably furnished the earliest systematic method of measuring time. Instruments for marking the lapse of time are found in both the Bible and Homer. The Chinese made use of gnomons probably fifteen centuries before Christ. There were many kinds of sun-dials employed by the Greeks and other nations. The Romans used obelisks, to which good gnomons were applied.

Both the Romans and the Greeks employed men and women to announce the hours, as indicated by the public gnomons. There was a ring-dial in the large ship of Hiero. Vitruvius describes the hodometer, in use by Grecian navigators, which was constructed with wheels, and seems to have been the forerunner of the modern clock. But he does it so scantily that it seems probable that it was not long in popular favor. As sun-dials were of no use at night or in cloudy weather, the need of something better gave the ancients the water-clock. It has been proved that Chaldeans and Egyptians made use of these.

The clepsydra is perhaps the earliest form of water-clocks. The principle of this instrument was very simple. The water issued drop by drop through a small orifice, falling into a receiver in which a light floating body marked the height of the water as it rose. Later the time was marked by a dial with a hand governed by a float. Centuries after this, some very ingenious water-clocks were made by the monks of Jerusalem.

The Egyptians, the Persians, and the Aztecs of America reckoned the day to begin from sunrise, and divided it into four intervals, determined by the rising and setting of the sun and its passage over the meridian. Our own uniform hours of sixty minutes each could scarcely have come into use until something like the wheel-clock was invented. The ancient sun-dial represented hours of a length varying with the seasons, and the water-clock was adusted to furnish hours of fifty to seventy minutes each, to suit the changing lengths of day and night.

Hour-glasses, originally called clepsamnia, were modifications of a form of clepydra, sand taking the place of water. Alfred the Great's candle-stick was made in this manner. He procured seventy-two pennyweights of wax, which were made into six candles, each twelve inches long, with the divisions distinctly marked. These lit one after the other, lasted twenty-four hours. They were tended by the King's chaplains. In order to protect the candles from the wind, Alfred finally fashioned the first lantern.

Some say that Archimedes made the first wheel-clock so early as 200 B.C. Others give the credit to Walingford, who lived so late as the beginning of the fourteenth century. But the more perfect water-clocks were, long before the latter period, furnished with wheels, so that the only improvement was the substitution of a solid body to act as a moving weight instead of water. It is not to be wondered at that the application of weights to clocks as a moving power should attract so little attention, as water and sand were undoubtedly thought more convenient by contemporary writers.

The oldest complete clock moved by weights is probably that sent by the Sultan of Turkey to Frederick II. in 1232. In the thirteenth century many of the church steeples in Italy were furnished with clocks moved by weights, which struck the hours. Hefele, of Nurnburg, is supposed to have constructed the first watch in 1509; and to him must also be given the credit of the spring-clock. The fusee was probably invented in England about the end of the sixteenth century. But it was not until the middle of the seventeenth century that the pendulum was first applied to clocks by Huyghens. — Family Journal.

Color and Politics.

Color has played an important part in the politics of many countries over a long period. When Duten William landed in England, orange was naturally the color which greeted him everywhere in his progress to Whitehall, and orange remained the symbol, so much so that the squeezing of an orange was a method of intimating detestation of the "Protestant." White has served more than one political party. The "White Rose of Navarre" was a rallying point in France at one period, the white cockade was the symbol of the royalists at another. The "tri-color" was still more important and more durable than the violet of Napoleon.

Nor was any great difficulty made in changing colors on necessity. An English traveller in France at the beginning of the Hundred Days noticed that the sentries had altered their cockades to the needs of the moment by painting over the tri-color with a coat of white through which, however, the original colors could be seen quite plainly.

Deserts Not Without Water.

The vast stretches lying between the Sierra Nevada and California and the eastern Cordilleran ranges (Rocky mountains) in the United States, and between the Pacific ocean and the eastern Sierra Madre of Mexico constitute the great American desert, is superficially waterless. Its plains are usually barren of surface water save for an exceptional saline lagoon. Notwithstanding the apparent scarcity of water, one of the most remarkably features of the great American desert is that water has been secured often in apparently impossible places and in quantities that have made possible the existence of cities and industries, says the Detroit News.

Successful Play at Sillsville.

"My Irish Rose" was given very successfully at Sillsville Hall on Monday night before a large and appreciative audience. In spite of the pouring rain the hall was filled to capacity long before 8 o'clock. The play was pronounced one of the best seen in a long while. The characters were well chosen and each one did creditably to the delight of all. The play showed careful preparation. Anyone wishing to have the play may apply to Mrs. P. R. Young, Sillsville, Ont. 17a

Eddy Dispute With Hull.

The report is current that the E. B. Eddy Company, of Hull, Quebec, intends to move its entire match factory to Deseronto, Ontario. The Eddy Plant is the largest match manufactory in the world. The company, it is understood, already has an affiliated plant there in the Diamond Match Company. The Eddy Company has a portion of its Hull plant closed at the present time, it is said on account of a dispute with the Town of Hull regarding a proposed increase in assessment, and it is said that the present plan to move down to Deseronto is in the nature of an ultimatum to the Hull authorities.

Lent and Easter at St. Mary Magdalene

The daily services during Lent were well attended throughout, especially those held each morning. Good Friday, the three-hour service was conducted by Dean Starr, of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, who gave a series of devotional meditations on the seven words spoken by our Lord from the Cross. In the evening a Lenten service was held, the slides illustrating "His Last Day". The Easter Day services were largely attended, with a fine number of communicants at both the morning Celebrations. The Choir had been trained by Prof. Baird, and the attractive special music was beautifully rendered. The annual Vestry meeting was held on April 15th, when very gratifying reports as to the finances, were submitted by the Church Wardens and by the various organizations. W. J. Dafler and W. S. Herrington, K.C., were re-appointed Wardens, and T. B. Wallace, F. F. Miller and W. J. Dafler were chosen as Lay Representatives to Synod.

RIVERSIDE CEMETERY

It is sometimes said that the living soon forget the dead. That is a superficial observation made out of lack of real experience of the facts. A survey of the time and money that is spent on the upkeep of the cemeteries in the country would show a very substantial sum each year spent on the cities of the dead. Napanee is fortunate in its cemeteries. For over forty years Riverside Cemetery has been cared for and tended by the owners, who do so solely for the interest they have in the burial grounds. It may not be known to the general public that the Cemetery Company consists of the lot owners. No dividends are ever paid; all moneys are spent on the grounds themselves.

In the last eight years Riverside has made vast improvements. Hydro power runs a water pump, which is capable of keeping seven sprays going all day. Roads have consistently been rebuilt and opened up, shrubs have been set out and drainage taken care of by the most up-to-date methods.

The one drawback to the present situation is the difficulty which pedestrians have in getting to the cemetery. Particularly at this time of the year, when the roads are so muddy, it is almost impossible to pass there on foot. As it appears to an outside observer this is a matter which ought to be remedied at once. We pay a great deal of money each year on the roads of the town. These roads are used for the most part by the motor lists. We have, as well, a splendid system of sidewalks within the town. But the approach to the cemetery seems to have been neglected. It would be money well spent for the Council this year to make the approach to Riverside as complete as the other walks in the town limits.

BOY SCOUT BALL.

Under the very able management of Scout-Master H. LeRoy Babcock, a very successful dance was given at the Armouries, on Easter Monday evening. The large auditorium was never more tastefully decorated, a profusion of bunting, flags, colored balloons and lights making a bright colorful background for the dancers, of which there were about three hundred. The Christmas Orchestra from Kingston played delightfully during the evening, and a very jolly time was afforded the holiday crowd.

A feature of great interest was the Scout parade led by their own bugle band, and later the drill which was given during the supper period. Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Babcock, who so patiently and efficiently has trained the Napanee Troop of Boy Scouts. The proceeds for the evening are to go into the Scout fund for the summer holiday trip.

NAPANEE BOWLING CLUB

The annual meeting of the Napanee Bowling Club was held at the Curling House on Friday evening last, with a good attendance of members.

The following officers were elected for 1924:

Hon. President—P. Gleeson.
President—W. A. Steacy.
Vice President—W. P. Deroche.
2nd Vice President—W. G. Cowle.
Secretary—R. C. Root.
Treasurer—W. G. Wiggins.
Management Committee — C. I. Maybee, Frank Bell, H. Lapum.
Green's Committee—J. E. Madden, Wellington Loyst.
Membership Committee — W. C. Smith, W. J. Dafler, R. C. Root, H. Lapum, E. J. Pollard.

The Membership Committee will be pleased to receive the names of any new members who wish to join the Club.

The Green is in excellent condition and will be opened for play as soon as possible, or not later than May 24th.

BABY CLINIC

The Victorian Order is instituting a new departure in its activities. Beginning on May 1st, and from then on every Thursday, from 2 o'clock until 4 in the afternoon, the clinic will be conducted.

What that means is this. In the Council Chamber on every Thursday from 2 until 4 p.m., the Nurse will be in attendance to examine any children that are brought there. They must be under school age. Their weight will be taken, an examination made, and advice and instruction tendered on the basis of the facts gained from the examination. This record will be kept and advice will be given weekly, or as frequently as necessary, in order to keep the child up to standard in respect to health.

A great many people do not know whether their children are perfectly healthy or not. So long as they seem healthy all is well. But all may not be well, and a scientific examination should be made systematically. For this purpose the clinic is to be operated. It is hoped the town will make full use of its service. It is free.

In the Council Chamber every Thursday from 2 until 4 p.m.

Incubation, Brooding and Rearing of Baby Chicks

By Mrs. E. E. Hogeboone, Bath, Ont.

First in-importance, regarding Incubation, is the selection of eggs from a good breeding stock. The large, smooth egg is the one preferred for hatching. By large, I do not mean too large, but of uniform size.

We use Cyphers and Buckeye Incubators and find them equally satisfactory. During the incubation period we follow closely the manufacturer's instructions.

When hatch is over, we leave chicks in machines for a few hours, and lower temperature a little, to accustom them to outside temperature. It is of utmost importance not to chill the chicks after taking them from incubators.

The colony house is now ready to receive the chicks by being thoroughly warmed by a Buckeye Coal Brooder, and having about two or three inches of alfalfa chaff on the floor. We keep this fire going in the brooder-stove until all danger of chilling is over.

We do not feed the chicks until they are between 36 and 48 hours old. In the meantime, they have plenty of clean water with the chill taken off, and also access to grit, either fine sand or fine oyster shell. For the next four or five days we feed bread crumbs and fine corn meal, made into a crumbly (not wet) mash, by mixing alternately with canned tomatoes, raw eggs, and sour milk, allowing about one and one-half ounces to fifty chickens. Great care should be taken the first few days about over feeding, as many more chicks die from over-feeding than from underfeeding.

By this time we give them a vessel of sour milk to drink, besides the water, also some scratch feed consisting of cracked corn and wheat, adding a small portion of fine oyster shell, or finely ground egg shell to the feed daily.

At the end of the first week, we put a hopper of Blatchford's Milk Mash before chicks, so they may have access to it at any time, and at end of second week, add some green feed to the ration, such as finely chopped cabbage, etc.

Some feed six times daily, but we just feed four times, about 8, 11, 2 and between 5 and 6 o'clock, until chicks are several weeks old.

As chicks grow, we gradually increase the amount of each feed and give as much mash as they will clean up in a few minutes. For scratch feed, we use cracked corn and wheat, which we get cracked at the grist mill, until chicks are old enough to eat whole grain. Sometimes we add a little rolled oats to the corn and wheat.

As soon as weather permits, we get chicks outside if only for a few minutes, and if closely confined for a long period, we throw in oats to prevent leg weakness.

No pleasure exceeds that of making pictures, and a Z & B Brownie costs only $3.50. A child can operate it. Ask to see them at Wallace's, Sole Agents in Napanee for Kodaks.

MILKERS.

Testimonial for Macartney Hand Milkers, sold by Spencer & Son, Napanee :—

Napanee, Ontario,
June 15th, 1923.

Gentlemen,—It did not take me long after Mr. Spencer delivered my Macartney Junior to look upon it as the best investment I have ever made.

The cows took to it right from the start and have held up wonderfully in production without any teat or udder trouble.

No more milking drudgery with your hand under a cow two hours twice daily during the hot weather. My thirteen year old daughter is milking our sixteen cows in fifty minutes, and the best part is that she considers it play.

Its low coat and marvelous efficiency leads me to prophesy that within two years the Macartney Junior will be in every cow-stable.

PROFESSOR CAMPBELL AT THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The final meeting of the season was held in the Historical Rooms, on Friday evening last. As this was the annual meeting of the Society, the President, W. S. Herrington, gave his annual review of the season's work, and the Secretary-Treasurer presented his annual report. The Society has just published No. 11 of its papers and records, which is a collection of editorials taken from the "North American", a paper printed in Napanee during 1862-1864. This publication, which is of great interest, can be obtained from the officers of the Society for 50c.; subscribing members are entitled to one free.

After all expenses for the year were paid, the Treasurer reported a balance of $38.05, with which to begin the new year.

The officers of the Society were re-elected and the President, speaking for the Executive, thanked the organization for their confidence.

Professor P. G. C. Campbell then delivered a lecture on "A Modern University". The title which is rather a forbidding one, quite misleads, for the lecture was a humorous, instructive insight into the life of the student of the 18th and 14th centuries, with all his foroibles and ambitions.

There was not a dull moment throughout the meeting. The lecturer interjected so many side lights into it that the whole was brightened continually.

The lantern slides showed the manner, the dress, and the mode of life of those days, and as well gave a vivid portrait of the buildings and style of architecture of the old colleges and universities of England and France.

After the lecture Miss Lozier, the courier en route from Belleville to Washington, who was present, was introduced by the chairman. In a few words she explained the nature and purpose of her mission.

The meeting was then dismissed by the National Anthem.

LETTER FROM MRS. L. H. STOVER

Mr. Templeton, will you kindly print these few lines in your paper. So many friends in whose homes I have visited have asked me to write or send a line to the Napanee Beaver. For you know The Beaver travels some distance. So like little George Washington I must cut the cherry down and get this letter on its way. You know, friends, I cannot tell a lie. These are the three special requests to tell them where I am, how I am and what I am doing.

Well, I arrived in Glendale, California, on the 29th of December last, at the home of my cousins, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Els. On January 1st we attended the great Pasadena Flower Tournament. It certainly was wonderful. After spending three weeks with them and taking in all the sights for miles around, I then went to Los Angeles to visit Dr. and Mrs. Connoly. The Dr. and wife had heard I was travelling down the coast line and were waiting to welcome the stranger within their gates. The Dr. retired from business six years ago owing to a general break down. They live in their beautiful home on Leighton Ave., Los Angeles. He owns his fruit ranch of forty acres, twenty-seven miles out, but still inside of the city limits. The Dr. has two beautiful Buick cars, one a seven-passenger Limosine, and a four-passenger Sedan, which he placed at my disposal, and he an expert driver, that is what you need in old Los Angeles, with its huge thoroughfare. Yes, I am having a jolly good time. The motor out to the ranch, which I am beginning to know pretty well. Dr. has the largest span of mules I ever saw. He hitches them on to a large fruit truck. Mrs. Connoly and myself on two chairs, he on the lines at the head board, then off for a merry drive. Sometimes we nearly lose our balance. We gather all the oranges, grape fruit and orange blossoms, Loquat or Cina plums we need for home consumption, which is no small amount while I am here.

Last Wednesday morning we all motored down to San Diego, a hundred and thirty miles. Such a beautiful drive along the great Pacific Ocean, watching the huge billows roll, stopping at the U. S. Grant Hotel until next day, then taking some friends with us, we continued our journey on through Old Mexico to Tiajuana town where liquor and horse racing is the great drawing card. It sure was a sight to watch the horse racing. All are racing under bridal and saddle. Such betting and cheering. Those races have been running since Thanksgiving, but was to end last Sunday. On our return to San Deigo we attended a fine dinner party at the home of our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Thornhyke. On Friday we returned home. On Sunday morning Mrs. Connoly and myself attended the sunrise service at Coliseum Exposition Park. An audience of forty thousand. Just think starting out before daylight for service it certainly was great. Los Angeles is called a wicked city, but they are very much alive on religion.

I spent a day over at Catalino Island. This island is twenty-seven miles out in mid ocean. After we arrived we took a trip on the boat with a glass bottom. On that island is the home of J. W. Wriggley, the great gum manufacturer. It sure took a lot of chewing to build that home. Coming back, the wind came up, and the boat pulled. Sick? I should say I was, but fortunately I had a little dark maid to care for me.

I spent nearly a week with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilson and family, at Inglewood, formerly from Camden East; also visited Mrs. H. Wendover, are Anna Lewis, also a Camden East girl. Called on Mrs. E. Sharp, of Odessa, who is spending the winter here at Orange.

This morning Mrs. Connoly and I went shopping. Had our dinner at that great restaurant on Broadway, called Pig and Whistle. It sure has some class, as well as good eats. Now I am donning my hat for another auto drive to bid some friends good-bye, as I leave Los Angeles to-morrow morning at 11:15 for Dodge City, Kansas. I will arrive there Friday morning.

I certainly have enjoyed the winter here very much, and will always feel I will never be able to thank my many friends here for their great kindness and the good time they have given me.

I don't want the North West friends to think I have forgotten them. Especially Sam Hamilton, of Saskatoon, weighing over two hundred pounds, when he sat on my new spring bed, by my head was not in it.

Well, Vancouver, I hope to see you all again, and enjoy a dip in Horseshoe Bay. No more boating for me.

The hoof and mouth disease is very bad in California, and everything is being done to stamp it out. Last week I passed a dairy where eleven cattle in and shot them down, so as not to handle them. Along the road they take up the paved roads, dig trenches; all autos have to drive through a couple of feet of solution, a disinfective. They are using every precaution to stamp it out. People who have autos here are hustling to get out for fear they will be quarantined. A number of packing houses are closed.

Yes, friends, I like California very much. There are so many beautiful drives everywhere. I found the people very sociable, and certainly know how to entertain.

I did not get this letter finished last night, so I am writing on the train. It is just pouring rain. California is shy of rain this year. I wish you could see those lovely orange groves we are passing, right at the foot of the mountains. Yes, I would love to own a fruit ranch here. I would take a walnut grove also. There is a fine field of wheat. Grain and hay is very high here.

Well, I have just tipped the porter and he sure gives you all of attention. It makes me laugh to myself, and say who am I? Oh, only Mrs. L. H. Stover, Camden East, on her way to Kansas.

WEDDING BELLS

Balfour—Milling.

One of the prettiest Easter house weddings of the season, was solemnized on Wednesday, April 23rd, 1924, at the home of Mrs. David Balfour, Bond St., when Mary Adeline, only daughter of the late Rev. David and Mrs. Balfour, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Elmer Eugene Milling, son of Mr. Edward Milling, of Napanee.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Barraclough in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride was beautifully gowned in ivory flat crepe, with orange blossoms and veil of tulle and old Spanish lace, and wore the groom's gift, a rope of pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and pink sweet peas.

The Misses Miss Balfour and Marjorie Connell, cousins of the bride, acted as flower girls and were gowned in old gold and shell pink grege. The bride's mother was gowned in black canton crepe with corsage bouquet of Mauve sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Miss Marion Adams, of Peterboro', played the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Herbert Irvine sang "All Joy Be Thine".

After congratulations, a dainty buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Milling left on the evening train for Toronto, for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in navy canton crepe, small grey silk hat and wrap of poiret twill opening over a handsome grey and rose scarf. They will reside on the old Milling homestead in the Napanee district.

Guests from a distance were: Miss Milling, Napanee; Miss Newton, Orillia; and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Irvine, Saskatoon.—Lindsay Post.

Cheap Paint? Here is the Answer!

No. 1
(From an actual photograph)
A measure of 10' [illegible] "cheap" paint at $4.00 per gal., brushed out on wood. It covered 412 sq. feet.

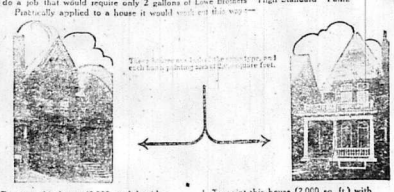
No. 2
(From an actual photograph)
An equal measure of Lowe Brothers' "High Standard" paint at $5.75 per gal., brushed out on a similar surface, covered 1,000 sq. feet.

USING an equal measure of each paint, and brushing them out on the same surface, we obtained the results pictured above

Observe that Lowe Brothers' "High-Standard" Paint covered approximately 50% more surface and covered it better than the so called "cheap" paint.

From this actual test it will be seen that it would take approximately 3 gallons of "Cheap" paint to do a job that would require only 2 gallons of Lowe Brothers' "High Standard" Paint.

Practically applied to a house it would work out this way:—



To paint this house (2,000 sq. ft.) with "cheap" paint Mr. A. required 6½ gals. at $4.00 per gal - $26.00

It takes a painter 1 day to apply 1 gal. of paint, therefore to apply 6½ gals. of "cheap" paint it took 6½ days at $5.00 per day - - - - $32.50

Total cost - - - - $58.50

To paint this house (2,000 sq. ft.) with Lowe Brothers High Standard Paint, Mr. B. required 4 gals. at $5.75 - - $23.00

A painter can usually apply in a day more Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint than any other, but figuring on an equal basis of 1 gal. per day, it took 4 days at $5.00 per day - - $20.00

Total cost - - - - $43.00

By using Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint Mr. B. saved $3.00 on the cost of paint and $12.50 on the cost of labor—a total saving of $15.50 on the complete job.

Never Figure the Cost of Paint by what it costs "per gallon." So-called "cheap" paint is the dearest you can buy measured by "job" cost, which is the only true measure of paint performance.

Before you paint consult us. We will be glad to show you how to paint most economically, and to give you color cards and other information for your guidance.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Her : "Before you married me you told me you were 'well off'."

"So that is the dowager duchess?"
"The same."
"I think she patronizes an upholsterer."

Soft corns are difficult to eradicate, but Holloway's Corn Remover will draw them out painlessly.

Garage Man : "Wot's the idea—weaning it?"

Unless worms be expelled from the system, no child can be healthy. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is an excellent medicine to destroy worms.

"Are you the defendant?" asked a man in a court of justice when he encountered a negro.
"No, boss," said the negro, "I've got a lawyer who does the defensing. I'se the gentleman what stole the chickens!"

Time Has Tested It.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has been on the market upwards of fifty years and in that time it has proved a blessing to thousands. It is in high favor throughout Canada and its excellence has carried its fame beyond the seas. If it were double the price it would be a cheap liniment.

A negro went fishing. He hooked a big catfish, which pulled him overboard. As he crawled back into the boat, he said, philosophically: "What I wanna know is dis: Is dis niggah fishin' or is dis fish niggern?"

For Catarrh.—It is one of the chief recommendations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it can be used internally with as much success as it can outwardly. Sufferers from catarrh will find that the Oil when used according to directions will give prompt relief. Many sufferers from this ailment have found relief in the Oil and have sent testimonials.

The boss was dictating to the new, pretty and sophisticated stenographer. Suddenly he stopped.
"Am I too fast for you?" he asked, anxiously.
She considered him and then replied: "Oh, no, indeed, but you're a trifle old."

Worms, however generated, are found in the digestive tracts, where they set up disturbances detrimental to the health of the child. There can be no comfort for the little ones until the hurtful intruders have been expelled. An excellent preparation for this purpose can be had in Miller's Worm Powders. They will immediately destroy the worms and correct the conditions that were favourable to their existence.

A young woman whose pulchritude procured for her a big prize in a beauty contest will be compelled, we understand, to pay a considerable tax on her winnings. We are reminded by this of Swift's proposal to tax female beauty and leave every lady to rate her own charms. The tax, he declared, would be cheerfully paid.

Dragged Down by Asthma. The man or woman who is continually subject to asthma is unfitted for his or her life's work. Strength departs and energy is taken away until life becomes a dreary existence. And yet this is needless. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought a great change to an army of sufferers. It relieves the restricted air tubes and guards against future trouble. Try it.

Little Willie (laying a quarter on the counter) : "Ma wants a pound of butter."
Grocer : "Not for a quarter, sonny. Perhaps she wants oleo."
Willie : "I dunno."
Grocer : "Go home and ask her if she sent you here for butter or for worse."

A tourist in Scotland was boastfully told by a resident of Tain that the place was a most noteworthy one, being one of the old Royal burghs of the country. "Why," his informant went on, "its charter was granted by King David himself."
"Dear, dear me!" exclaimed the tourist. "You don't tell me so. Was that the—er—gentleman who wrote the Psalms?"

The tourist had stopped in a small rural village. He was preparing to resume his journey when he noticed the town constable watching him narrowly.
"What's the speed limit here?" he asked, thinking it was wise to be prepared.
"Never ye mind, young feller," replied the rustic cop. "Jest yew try t' git out o' this town without bein' arrested."

THE IRISHMAN AND THE SCOTSMAN.

An Irishman and a Scotsman decided that each would ask a question and the one who asked the question he could not answer himself would buy the drinks.
The Irishman asked this question: "Why is it that a rabbit's hole has no earth on the surface of the ground, the earth being just as smooth around the entrance to the hole as the rest of the ground?"
The Scotsman replied: "Ah, I have you now! This is your own question. Answer it."
The Irishman replied: "Sure, the reason is because the rabbit starts to dig the hole from the other end."
"Yes," spoke up the Scotsman, "but how does he get to the other end?"
To which the Irishman replied: "That's your question. Answer it."

OBITUARY

Mr. Irving Glass.

On Tuesday, April 15th, 1924, occurred the death of one of Morven's most highly respected citizens, in the person of Mr. Irving Glass. Born in Tyendinaga, July, 1851, to Mr. Alexander and Mary Glass. His mother, formerly Miss Mary Ann Morrow, came from Ireland at the age of seven years, and lived to the age of 89. Although her son, Mr. Irving Glass, did not attain to same age, yet his days were prolonged unto the 73rd year, when he peacefully passed away to his Eternal Rest, following almost a year of intense suffering. But his affliction did not come upon him and find him unprepared, for over twenty-five years ago, following an operation which greatly impressed him of the need of being prepared to meet God, he earnestly sought in prayer, and found by faith, peace through his Lord and Saviour, and he never lost the assurance of his acceptance with God for Christ's sake. This experience of peace with God he found exceedingly precious during his prolonged suffering, enabling him to bear it with exemplary patience and good cheer without a word of complaint even to the end. His death is a loss to the community, and the Methodist Church, of which he has been an earnest supporter by his personal services and liberal givings ever since he became a member about twenty-five years ago. In all his success and christian endeavour he found in his wife, formerly Miss Alma C. Morven's daughter of Zechariah and Margaret Stover, a true helpmeet, a God given friend who ministered to his needs in life and comfort in suffering and death.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, Mrs. Irving Glass; one brother, William, and three sisters, Mrs. English, of Lonsdale, Ont.; Mrs. Fitchett and Martha Glass, both in Vancouver.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. L. B. Switzer.

There passed peacefully away to her long home, at the residence of Mr. H. F. Bell, Desmond, Mrs. L. B. Switzer, relick of the late Luke Bell Switzer, who predeceased her twenty-five years ago. She had been exceptionally well all winter, although of a frail physique, but pneumonia claimed her for a victim. Sunday afternoon, her Pastor, Rev. R. J. Merrian, came to minister at her bedside, and in the presence of a few loving friends, her spirit took its flight. Her's was a life of service in the neighborhood, where she spent eighty-six long years. Always ready to lend a helping hand wherever an opportunity afforded, she will be greatly missed by both young and old.

Her funeral service was conducted by her Pastor at the Desmond church, where so often she had wended her way to the House of God, and the remains were laid to rest in the graveyard beside her loved ones, whom she longed to meet in that Blest City.

PURCHASED HIS SILENCE

The cheeky young suitor was compelled to play his last card. "Then, since you drive me to it," he said, "I demand the hand of your daughter as the price of my silence."

The old gentleman, furious at this apparent blackmail, leaped to his feet and started to ring up the police.

"One moment, sir!" said the young fellow calmly. "I know nothing of your affairs, and I do not for a moment imagine you guilty of a misdeed. The silence I refer to is of another sort. I am the man who plays the saxophone next door."

"Oh!" exclaimed the old gentleman, greatly relieved. "That's different. Take her, my boy—take her."

PUT DISCREETLY.

An employer, who was noted for his strict economy in business, walked into his office and effusively congratulated the head bookkeeper, who that day completed the twenty-fifth year of his employment by the firm. At the same time, with a significant gesture, he slipped a stiff little parcel into the faithful servitor's hand.

The bookkeeper expressed his gratitude, and with a feeling of expectancy opened the parcel. It contained a signed photograph. The recipient was dumb with surprise.

"Well, well," said the benevolent donor, "have you nothing to say?"

"Sir," was the bookkeeper's reply, "this is so like you!"

Mandy: "Huccum dat?"

Eliza: "Ah went to one of dem meetin's to find out what is at mah earrings what disappear, an' all Ah finds out is dat mah necklace disappears."

ADMISSION 35c.

A Sudden Death.

Citizens of Napanee were shocked on Monday morning to hear of the sudden death of Mr. Frank C. Bogart, a worthy citizen and one who in his quiet way, made many warm friends. Mr. Bogart arose early in the morning as usual and shortly afterward complained of a pain in the back of his head. He laid down on a sofa and in a short time stated that he felt much better. His wife went upstairs to attend to her mother and when she returned in a few moments she found her husband lying on the floor. Medical aid was summoned, but Mr. Bogart was beyond human aid and passed away in a few minutes. Mr. Bogart was about sixty years of age and had been a resident of Napanee for years. During the past few years he had been in the real estate business. A private funeral was held from his late residence, Robinson St., on Wednesday afternoon. Besides his widow he leaves one sister, Mrs. S. L. Daly, and two brothers, Messrs. Mortimer and F. L. Bogart.

A MAN AND A MUZZLE.

For nearly an hour the talkative idiot had bored his fellow-passengers in the railway carriage with accounts of his dog, Caesar. Caesar could stand up on his hind legs—you should just see h'm; Caesar ate hot chestnuts—hot chestnuts, just think of it! Caesar was a champion ratter, too. And oh, Caesar was fond of cats.

"Sir," said an old gentleman in the corner, who had been vainly trying to snatch forty winks, "suppose you took Caesar into a shop and bought him a muzzle and then asked the assistant to put it on for you and he refused to do so, what would you do?"

"Well," said the talkative idiot, "I'd put it on myself."

"Quite so," said the old gent, "and I think all here will agree with me that you would look jolly well with it on."

UNDER THE ROMANS.

Life in Britain During the Roman Occupation.

Sir Bertram Windle has collected much curious information as to life in Britain during the Roman occupation in his new work, "The Romans in Britain."

It is almost startling to discover that Cornish tin, in the remote ages before British history began, was cast into ingots shaped like the knuckle-bones of sheep, and that "ingots of bronze were cast in exactly the same form in Knossus, in Crete, some 3,000 years B.C." Here is a point of contact between the mysterious Minoans, who were the greatest seafarers in those far-off days, and Great Britain.

Britain under the Romans was Britain of the present:

"If we could sail all over Britain of those days in an airship . . . the things which would really catch the attention would be the absence of large towns and the prevalence of immense woodlands, covering, indeed, almost the whole face of the country. . . . There were great swamps all along the course of the Thames in its lower portions. Sedgemoor recalls the time when the waters of the Bristol Channel came up to Glastonbury."

Radiating through the land would be seen the Roman roads, which, as the author says, were built to last centuries. A Roman causeway near Rochester, which was examined in 1897, was found to be thus made:

"First of all, and deepest, came a series of piles, each 4 feet in length, and on these was laid a kind of sill of balks of timber. Then came in order from below upwards 3 feet 6 inches of flints and broken tiles, 5 inches of rammed chalk and 7 inches of flint broken up fine, 9 inches of small gravel and earth and last of all a polygonal pavement, 6 inches to 8 inches thick."

The Romans liked comfort, and insisted on central heating. They "knew all about lead piping and had rising mains even with expansion boxes, to supply their houses with water. Their scheme was to make a furnace below the level of the ground floor and outside the house. The heat from this passed into a series of low chambers under the floors of the rooms."

Preacher Defends Suicide.

Preaching on Sunday at St. Judeon-the-Hill, Hampstead Garden Suburb, London, Eng., the Rev. Basil Bouchier said there were times when suicide was justifiable. He spoke of the deliberate choice of the lesser wrong becoming the actual right.

"Better surely," he said, "that a man should die, even by his own hand, in honor than that he should live in disgrace, and that disgrace not confined to himself, but attaching to his innocent wife and children. Better ten thousand times that he should disappear rather than remain after having forfeited the one essential thing that makes life worth living—honor."

Mr. Bouchier said that he personally thought it sometimes lawful to curtail life. There was far too much sentimentalism about. With respect to the coroner at Durham, capital punishment had proved itself to be a great deterrent. A life demanded a life. The specious plea that a man should be given years of time to make peace with his Creator carried no weight, since it was perfectly obvious that, death being merely translation from one consciousness to another, the hanging of a man did not really take his life.

Home In a Rusty Boiler.

Diogenes made his home in a tub; but Captain John McKenzie, of San Francisco has almost equalled the cynical philosopher's record by living seventeen years in a big rusty boiler.

When the captain's home was destroyed in the great earthquake at San Francisco in 1906, he crawled one night into a big boiler, and found it so cosy that he decided to take up his abode in it. He painted the interior white, and fitted it up like a ship's cabin.

At least he was safe from earthquakes. His iron house might roll about a bit, but it would not tumble about his ears. Yet even a boiler may meet with accidents and one day the captain was found in the street with his clothes ablaze. His fittings had caught fire, and the boiler had become too hot for him.

Still, he had only to wait till the boiler was cool and then go home again. The fire will at least save him the trouble of house cleaning; for him the housing problem has no terror.

Bachelor Judge on Women's Hair.

Witticisms by Mr. Justice McCardie, who is a bachelor, enlivened a case in the King's Bench Division in which Mrs. Akerman, of Canford-terrace, Enfield, sued a hair dresser, Mr. Muldoon, of Church street, Enfield, for damages caused by a hair dye.

Her counsel said that Mrs. Akerman bought the dye to rectify a little greyness over the temples.

His Lordship—I like to see a little grey hair on women. It gives a charm which is appreciated by many men. But human nature varies. We must not ask the opinions of junior counsel.

Mr. Sandlands (for the defendant) —As long as we have hair at all some of us are happy.

Mrs. Akerman said that after using the hair dye her head and face swelled up and she had to be treated by a doctor.

She was awarded $250 damages, with High Court costs.

Two, to, Too Much.

The school teacher had just been trying to explain the difference between the three words having the sound of "to," and called for a sentence containing all of them. A little Jewish boy in the class quickly held up his hand.

"Well, Isaac?" she questioned.

"Two dollars is too much to spend," was the glib answer.—Topeka Capital.

FALLACIES ABOUT HAIR DISCUSSED BY SCIENTIST

It would seem that the present generation, especially that part of it that is humorously referred to as the weaker sex, is paying more attention to hair than to almost any other matter with perhaps the exception of manjong and golf. People are bobbing their hair right and left, especially women who have some idea that to cut their hair will relieve them of a great deal of responsibility, and perhaps enhance their appearance. An expert said the other day that bobbed hair was always a great responsibility, as hair unbobbed, but this dictum is not likely to have any effect upon the craze. Another common delusion is that cutting the hair stimulates its growth; but according to Dr. Herman Goodman, who is quoted in the Kansas City Star, cutting has no effect whatever upon the growth of hair whether masculine or feminine. Dr. Goodman says there are many superstitions concerning hair, most of them no doubt fostered by barbers for base ends. It would appear from the observations of this scientist that of all people barbers are most misinformed upon the subject of hair. They should, he thinks, stick to their natural duties of politics and meteorology and leave hirsute questions to experts.

Falling Hair.

Dr. Goodman has followed an illustrious precedent and counted the hairs on the human scalp. He says that if they are all present there should be about 100,000 of them on the head of a man or a woman, the difference being "that the woman's hair used to be longer. But few scalps produce a full crop. Hair decreases. Baldness rears its ugly head. For this there are reasons divided into two classes. The first is idiopathic, which means that nobody knows why, and the second explains the dearth of hair by some disease. In the first case the hair may fall out all at once, or in patches of various sizes. When this occurs some obscure derangement is supposed to be responsible. The denudation is not often permanent. The hair returns as mysteriously, if not as suddenly, as it departed. After a severe fever there is a tendency for the hair to fall out. Barbers intelligently explain this as due to the heating qualities of a fever. About three months after the fever was at its highest the hair disappears, and in another three months or so may be expected to straighten back, growing at the rate of about an inch in six weeks.

Singeing a Delusion.

Much to the surprise and consternation of barbers, Dr. Goodman announces that there is no hollow tube running the length of the hair. A popular superstition is that there is such a tube, and that it contains precious unguents which, when the ends of the hair are broken, pour out on the surrounding terrain with the result that the hair is weakened. The popular cure for this condition is singeing, which is supposed to cauterize the wound and prevent the escape of the vital essences. But the scientist says that singeing is no good. It does not promote the growth of anything but the barber's savings account. Hair itself has no more sensation than a bungy whip, nor is it nourished by any fluid in the roots. The long hair of a woman which has the tendency to split at the ends, the singeing substitutes a barrel-like growth of fused horn—for that's what hair just is, horn—for one that is cut clean. Better than singeing such cases it is recommended that the ends should be slightly pressed, thus supplying the fat which is lacking and whose lack causes the split.

Look After the Scalp.

The hair is oiled from within, not from within. The hair is nourished by the blood which comes to its roots. If its growth is to be stimulated it is idle to do anything to the hair itself. The place where treatment should be concentrated is the scalp. Keep the scalp clean, is the slogan of the scientist. If it tends be become dry a small amount of olive oil may be rubbed in. Try to stimulate the flow of blood to the undernourished roots by massaging the scalp with the fingers after the head has been washed. He suggests that once a fortnight is often enough to wash the hair if one lives in the city, and if one lives in the country then either oftener or not so often. The scientist is not explicit on this point, but apparently there is some connection between the population of the neighborhood and the frequency with which the scalp should be washed. Dr. Goodman says that the brushes should be washed as often as the head. The bristles should be only moderately stiff. Not only comb to use is a wide-toothed one, the space between the teeth being oval so that the hair cannot be dragged out.

Baldness.

On the subject of baldness, Dr. Goodman says that more than one-third of the cases are hereditary. Dandruff is the cause of most baldness, and dandruff is the symptom of an oily inflammation of the scalp. Scientists doubt whether the oiling of hats produce baldness. They point out that there is a tendency for structures to disappear when they have ceased to function. Men no longer need hair to serve the purposes of their shaggy ancestors. Therefore the tendency of the hair is not to grow as a mat to protect the wearer against extremes of heat and cold. Baldness then is not precisely due to hat wearing so much as to certain forms of hat-wearing ancestors. There is no cure for baldness, as anyone can tell by looking at a photograph of John D. Rockefeller, for it money could buy it or all effect it, Mr. Rockefeller would have hair like the Seven Sutherland Sisters.

MYSTERY PATIENT IS IDENTIFIED.

Unknown Woman Became Unconscious on Brock St. on Way to Doctor.—Later Identified as Mrs. William Pringle, of Wilton.

A very unusual medical case, which attracted considerable interest in the city on the week-end, was that of the one reported on Saturday morning of a woman being found unconscious on Brock street and taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. The woman in question, who later turned out to be Mrs. William Pringle, of Wilton, had not been feeling well and on Friday had come to the city for the purpose of seeing a doctor, to diagnose her case. Mrs. Pringle, who is seventy-four years of age, was on her way downtown to a doctor's office on Saturday morning about 9.30 o'clock and when in front of the fire hall, she reeled and would have fallen to the pavement had she not been caught by a fireman, who was standing close by at the time. The lady, who was unknown at that time to the hospital authorities or to the physician, Dr. MacCallum, who was called to take charge of the case, was removed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital where she is still in a semi-conscious state.

Naturally, when she was taken to the hospital, her name was asked and no one seemed to know what it was. When it developed into late in the afternoon and no one had called at the hospital to inquire for her, the Hotel Dieu authorities thought it advisable to notify the papers to see if they could locate the relatives or friends of the woman. The notice concerning the woman found on the street brought the friends of the lady, at whose home she had been staying to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, and she was then identified as Mrs. William Pringle, of Wilton.

The reason that she had not been identified before that time was that Mrs. Pringle had told the friends with whom she was staying that she would not be back until after dinner, hence they did not become alarmed until her absence continued to late in the afternoon.

It was stated at the Hospital that Mrs. Pringle was suffering from a stroke and upon inquiry this morning, it was further learned that little hope was held out for her recovery. She was unable to speak or move any part of her body. Her son is with her at the Hotel Dieu.—The Kingston Standard.

Suffered for Ten Years with Kidney Trouble

Nova Scotia Man Took Dodd's Kidney Pills and Got Relief.

Mr. A. McMullin is Now Able to Work Again

Upper Grand Mira, N.S., April 28th., (Special).—"I have suffered for ten years with kidney trouble," says Mr. A. McMullin, who lives in this place. "I tried all kinds of medicine, but they did me no good. I was laid up for three months. I could not move only with crutches when I got up from my bed.

I used seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am now able to do a considerable bit of work. I think the time I have taken a dozen boxes I shall be in good health again."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys and enable them to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood. Healthy kidneys make a healthy body.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys.

WHAT IT WAS WORTH.

He stood, apparently deep in thought, under the three golden balls, which hung above the doorway of the shop.

Presently resolution came to him, he crossed the threshold, and inquired of the proprietor: "How much will you give me for this coat?"

"A shilling," retorted the pawnbroker, eyeing the shabby garment with undisguised contempt.

"Oh, make it two shillings," exclaimed the seedy one. "Hang it all, this coat's worth five bob if it's worth a penny!"

"My friend," said the pawnbroker, "I wouldn't give five shillings for two overgoats like that—no, certainly I wouldn't."

"Come, come!" replied the needy one, persuasively. "Would you take a shilling if the coat were yours?"

"Yes, and think I'd done well!"

"Ah, then, that's all right! Here's your bob. I found the coat outside and brought it in to see how much it was really worth."

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Thomas Jefferson Jackson, a large colored gentleman, was being tried for assault and battery upon his wife Irene. The Judge asked him to state his case.

"Jedge, Ah's a hard-workin' man, Ah is. T'other day Ah come home all tired from mah work. Ah looks round fo' mah wife and does see her, so Ah goes upstairs an' dere she is prinking herse'f befo' a mirror. 'Irene,' Ah says, 'where is mah meals?' 'Go on, man, she says, 'Ah ain't got no time for you. Ah's a member ob a lodge now. Jedge, dis made me sore and Ah asked her again fo' my victuals and she said, 'Ah done tel' you once Ah ain't got no time to bodder wid you. Ah belongs to de Ladies' Artillery eh de Cultud Eagles'. Jedge, Ah got so mad dat Ah picked her right up and threw her out de window and said, 'If you's a eagle, den fly.'"

"Sweetheart, if you do not promise to be mine I will kill myself!" the youth cried theatrically as he knelt before his lady love.

"Oh, surely you will not do that." "I will. I'll go out on your own front lawn and hang myself on a limb of a tree. Then perhaps you will regret your heartlessness."

"George, George, you mustn't! Promise me you won't do that!"

"Ah I do. Then you do love me?"

"No. But dad told me that if I let you hang around here and he found it out he would cut my allowance in half."

A secret so simple many overlook it

Yet millions of women keep youthful loveliness this way

To realize the dream that is in every woman's heart, to keep the youth that every woman wants . . . Turn for a while from the elaborate treatments and methods. Try this simple but correct way by which millions of women are keeping youthful radiance and charm.

Authorities advise this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive.

Just be sure to get Palmolive —which is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. Then for one week try this simple treatment. To your delight, results will be noticeable even in that short time!

The cost is so little that you can well use Palmolive for the bath, too.

It's the "Hidden" Quality that Counts

WE could build another bicycle that would be almost a Twin to the C.C.M. in appearance, and yet be far inferior.

Without your knowing it, we could use cheaper tubing for the frames instead of our high-grade, English Seamless Tubing, reinforced at the joints.

We could use a cheaper hanger instead of the three-piece Triplex that makes the C.C.M. turn so smoothly and easily.

We could use cheaper bearings instead of our Flint-hard Steel bearings that a file cannot cut.

We needn't clean our frames so thoroughly, nor treat them with a coat of anti-rust before enameling. We needn't put on so many coats of our rich, lustrous special C.C.M. enamel, nor leave the frames in the enameling ovens so long

We needn't take so much care in cleaning our handle bars, crank hanger, hubs and other parts before they're nickeled. We take of every speck of dirt and grease, so as to have a thoroughly clean surface.

Next we coat the parts with copper to prevent rust.

Then, the C.C.M. parts are left in the nickel baths for about two hours, instead of the twenty-minute or so dip given cheaply nickeled parts.

Wouldn't you rather pay a little extra for C.C.M. rust-proof nickeling, than to get a bicycle that, before long, shows little marks of red rust peeping through the nickeling?

We could save expense by not making all of the 1,761 parts of C.C.M. Bicycles with such care and precision.

"A shilling," retorted the pawnbroker, eyeing the shabby garment with undisguised contempt.

"Oh, make it two shillings," exclaimed the seedy one. "Hang it all, this coat's worth five bob if it's worth a penny!"

We could omit many inspections and tests, instead of testing every part for quality, size and finish, and inspecting and "truing up" the bicycle at each stage of assembling, also before shipping the complete bicyc

By saving here and skimping there, we could give you a cheaper bicycle that would look like a C.C.M., but wouldn't be one.

All the extra hidden quality you cannot see with your naked eye would be missing. The bicycle wouldn't give you all the Extra Years of Easy Riding that the C.C.M. gives.

So, when you go to choose your bicycle, remember that it is the hidden quality that counts most. If you have to pay a small amount more for a C.C.M. than for something that looks like a Twin to the C.C.M., just remember that under the surface it isn't a C.C.M.

The Most Profitable part of any investment is the small extra amount you pay for Quality. C.C.M. quality is worth all it costs and is obtainable only in bicycles bearing the C.C.M. trade mark. Look for it when you buy.

C·C·M·s are selling today at $15 to $20 less than the after-war "peak" prices. They are nearer pre-war prices and better value than almost any other high-quality article you can buy. A Big Dollar's Value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

Testimonial for Macartney Hand Milkers, sold by Spencer & Son, Napanee :—

Napanee, Ontario,
June 15th, 1923.

Gentlemen.—It did not take me long after Mr. Spencer delivered my Macartney Junior to look upon it as the best investment I have ever made.

The cows took to it right from the start and have held up wonderfully in production without any test or udder trouble.

No more milking drudgery with your head under a cow two hours twice daily during the hot weather. My thirteen year old daughter is milking our sixteen cows in fifty minutes, and the best part is that she considers it play.

Its low cost and marvelous efficiency leads me to prophesy that within two years the Macartney Junior will be in every cow-stable. 11-8t

To Sell Farmer's Wives

If the roads are bad, many a prosperous farmer's wife postpones buying something she actually wants for herself or family, until she can get to town.

Later, the teams will be busy. She won't be able to get to town.

Experience shows she will buy now, if you give her the chance. Call her by Long Distance. She will feel complimented. Know your stock, so you can answer her questions readily.

A little experience will soon show you how it works.

Don't judge by one or two attempts. Try a dozen, intelligently. Others do it successfully. Why not you?

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female trouble. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and down my stomach, bearing-down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In most every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back"

The Young People's Union of Trinity Methodist Church are presenting Jerome K. Jeromes' great moral drama, entitled "The Passing of the Third Floor Back", on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, in Trinity School Hall. The play is a moral drama in three acts, and has a cast of twelve characters. In the first act is portrayed the meanness and selfishness of the characters in London boarding-house. In the second act, under the influence of a passer-by, there is a struggle between selfishness and unselfishness, and in the third act, the better self in each character gains the supremacy. This play had a wonderful run in London and New York, and also in the Provinces, and Trinity Young People have undertaken a real task in endeavoring to present so great a drama.

WHAT IS THE TROUBLE WITH THE FARMER?

We are not going to complain of the weather, the farmer always has to gamble on that and raise crops for the other fellows to gamble with.

There has been much comment going the rounds of the press recently regarding the reduction of protective tariff on agricultural implements, and loud wails from our friends, the manufacturers, who consider themselves badly treated, but the farmer is justly entitled to some consideration and possibly information or investigation, which is popular just now, of a few points.

We might mention plow points or cultivator points, which the writer ran against recently, and was obliged to pay 60c. per lb. for, crudely made pressed steel, the raw material costing our dear friends possibly 5c. per lb. They will tell us of the high cost of labor, but it would require an expert cost accountant to figure the fractional part of labor entering into this product of mammoth presses and cheap labor in some of the largest sweat shops in Ontario.

They report deficits each year, but there must be larger leaks than there was in the "Home Bank" or our late Provincial treasury, if true.

Canadian manufacturers of automobiles have proven by doubling their exports that they can compete successfully in the world markets, yet they enjoy a protection of 35 per cent. an additional profit which the Canadian purchaser has to pay. This protection is evidently not for the benefit of the consumer. They tell us our infant industries must be fostered, but some of them are no baby infants with a strangle hold on the farmer, climched by their friends the Banks, holding the notes obtained from farmers by an army of agents maintained in the field by these Companies to push sales of their over-priced implements which expense doubtless is a big part of the overhead charges.

We may mention also that the egg grading law enacted by the Government primarily for the benefit of the honest producer and the consumer, is only working out that way in this district, but that the producer is getting less for his eggs, as the buyers play safety first on the lower price and get an extra profit on those grading extras and specials in the wholesale market.

All of these manufacturers and dealers will loudly when opportunity offers and the cry goes forth that we must reduce the cost of living which hits the farmer hard enough as matter, and we are receiving the short and paying the long price, and yet know the inevitable result of that kind of business.

We have made mistakes and may make more, but organization and cooperation is our only salvation. All other big interests are organized excepting the farmers, and you know what we are getting.

Thanking you, for space, Mr. Beaver, on behalf of what we believe is the biggest interest in this country.

Sincerely,
FARMER.

Mr. Chas. Cooke, Canada's Indian Basso and Elocutionist, will be at Selby Methodist Church, Thursday, May 8th, and Empey Hall, Friday, May 9th, at 8 p.m. Admission at either church, 25c. 18a

PATTY MAKES THINGS HUM

Fine Dramatic Performance at St. Patrick's Parish Hall, on Monday Evening.

A large and appreciative audience was present at St. Patrick's Parish Hall, on Monday evening, when the St. Patrick's Literary Society presented the cheerful and amusing play, entitled "Patty Makes Things Hum", and everyone seemed to enjoy it thoroughly from start to finish.

The play was well staged, all the characters well sustained, the costumes appropriate, and in many cases beautiful and charming. The stage furnishings, appointments and decorations were extremely artistic and effective.

Cast of Characters.

Patty (who made things hum)—Miss Lillian Birchall.

Capt. Braithwaite (not so slow after all)—Jos. Marshall.

Capt. Little (who had a little misunderstanding)—Gerald Gleeson.

Mrs. Greene (who entertained under difficulties)—Miss Mary McGrath.

Hyacinth (a colored maid with a flow of language)—Miss Margaret Nolan.

Mr. Greene (who played the host) —Ambrose Killorin.

Mr. Smith (a neighbor worth while)—T. McGraw.

Mrs. Smith (who was a true friend) —Miss Mary Cavanagh.

Miss Braithwaite (engaged to Capt. Little)—Miss C. O'Hay.

Hope Dunbar (who is still hoping) —Miss H. Marsh.

Synopsis.

Act I.—Mrs. Greene's living-room. Late afternoon.

Act II.—Same as Act I., next morning.

Act III.—Garden near the house. Same evening.

Time—The present.

It is to be regretted that space will not permit of an exhaustive description of each character as each and every one well deserves it. There are, however, one or two outstanding parts that should have special mention. To begin with, Miss Lillian Birchall as "Patty" showed fine histrionic ability and well portrayed the actions of a high-strung school girl. She had great facility for getting into scrapes and a wonderful way of avoiding the consequences.

Gerald Gleeson, as "Captain Little" was particularly realistic in his interpretation of a love-sick swain after a tiff with his sweetheart. His acting was so life-like that one could almost imagine he has had some such experience in real life.

Miss Mary McGrath, as "Mrs. Greene, carried off her difficult part with great aplomb! As elder sister to "Patty" and as a hostess (under extreme difficulties) at a dinner-party, she displayed fine talent, which was much admired.

Miss Margaret Nolan, as "Hyacinth", a colored maid, was just splendid, she was never at a loss for a word, even if it happened to be the wrong one—it made no difference like Tennyson's babbling "Brook", the flow seemed destined to go on forever. Her sayings were very amusing and enjoyed by everybody.

Joseph Marshall, as "Captain Braithwaite" looked and acted his part admirably, and he was decidedly "not so slow after all".

Here a report would not be complete without passing on to the talented musicians composing the orchestra, Miss Hughes' enormous on the event. lent and charming music rendered throughout the evening.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT ON COBOURG CROSSING

Train Hits Auto and Napanee Man Is Seriously Injured

Cobourg, Ont., May 5th.—William Street Canadian National Railway level crossing was once more the scene of a serious accident yesterday afternoon at about 5.30 o'clock. Two Napanee men had just arrived in town by motor, and were about to cross the railway tracks when struck by a freight train which was travelling east. The car was badly smashed. Hammel Benn, who was occupying the rear seat of the car, was rendered unconscious, and is now in the Cobourg General Hospital, where it was found that his left thigh was broken, that he had received several injuries to his back, and was otherwise more or less cut up. His companion, Mr. R. Anglin, miraculously escaped.

This crossing has for many years been known far and wide as one of the most dangerous in the Dominion, and in recent years several people have lost their lives there, and although many signals were installed last year this method is apparently not sufficient warning.

OBITUARY

Mr. Edward Vine.

After a lingering illness of over eight years, Mr. Edward Vine, aged 81 years and 8 months, a life long resident of Napanee, passed away on Tuesday night, May 6th, 1924. The funeral was held from his late residence, Newburgh Road, on Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. R. Tanton, Pastor of Trinity Church, of which church deceased had been a member for a number of years, and interment took place in Riverside cemetery. Besides her heart-broken husband she leaves to mourn her loss, aged four years, and a baby three weeks old. A private funeral was held from his late residence on Woods, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Mr. James V. McKeown.

He was born in County Antrim, Ireland, and in 1866 came to Canada with his parents and settled in Camden, where he spent the remainder of his life. His thriving disposition won for him numerous friends, as was shown by the many spiritual offerings received. He is survived by his wife, one son, Bernard, three daughters, Sister Mary Paulina Chesterville, Sister Mary Louise, Kingston, and Mrs. A. Way; also one brother, Benjamin Hick. Mass was sung by Rev. Father O'Reilly, Kirkfield, after which the remains were taken to Centreville for interment, where the burial services were conducted by Rev. Father McCarthy.

"THE FIRST THREE" AND "THE THIRD"

"To succeed most in action we must prepare to succeed either better than, or differently from, those we they are opposing." Was the point from which Aristotle began his analysis of the dramatic art. Thomas K. Jerome seems to have advanced on that and shown what men are and what they are capable of becoming. Lord Byron commemorated his thirty-third birthday by writing:

"Through life's dull road, so dim and dirty,
I have dragged to three and thirty.
What have these years left to me?
Nothing except thirty-three."

Byron's life resulted in tragedy because this feeling never became more than a regret. To stimulate this regret in men and women find out if it to work a moral renewal is the problem of the Third Floor Back.

The Young People's Union of Trinity Church attempted a difficult task when they sought to stage this play. But the result was a delightful surprise to the most severe critic in the audience. The stage was artistically constructed, the lighting and scene effects well arranged, and the acting beyond the expectation of the most sanguine.

It would be unfair to pick out any for special mention, for the caste was well chosen and finely balanced, and each player took the part assigned with real merit. Of course the slavey had the part which was popular with the audience, and she maintained throughout an unrestrained naturalness that was quite unusual. The whole of the leading role was particularly apt. The evenly modulated voice and pleasing manner of Mrs. Graham, were the primary qualifications, and combined with a sympathetic understanding of the part, produced an excellent "passer-by". The boarding house mistress possessed the necessary strength of character in the first part, and when this was rightly directed it gave dignity and loveliness to the second part. The "Stranger" brought to the Holy Act of Miss Kite, might easily have been overdone, but the right balance was maintained by her throughout.

The desire for action and imitation is fundamental in all people, but the citizens of the smaller towns in Canada have little opportunity to have it satisfied except by the farce of a ridiculously fictitious character or a play with a puritanic moral splashed all over it. Both of which lack anything like real art.

The Play on Tuesday and Wednesday shows what can be done by amateurs in Napanee when properly trained and directed. And in addition, whom we understand coached the players, has shown a real dramatic instinct, and the ability to put into execution. The future of the stage lies not in the hands of professional producers, who are largely directed by men from New York, with Old Testament names", but rather in the Little Theater movement, which is rapidly gaining ground; by such bodies as the Guild in Manchester, England, and the Arts and Crafts in Delhi. Which are largely in the hands of amateurs but already great work has been done by the Orchard Players of the Humber Valley, by the work of Vincent Massey in Hart House Theatre, by the Faculty players of Queen's, and others. There is no reason why Napanee should not benefit to itself and others have a part in the new movement. "The Passing of the Third Floor Back", by a group of young people, and the leadership displayed shows that this could be done.

Trinity has rendered a real service to the community in the venture of the last week.

NEWBURGH

This is a time in our history in which our difficulties are all called problems. In fact, it occurs to one that the word problem is rather too universally applied. We have the rural problem, the railway problem, the young people problem and numerous others. Problem means a question for solution, and it is one that is supposed to admit of solution, provided we have brains and common sense enough to solve it. Most all problems that effect society and business come about through natural causes, and we can usually solve them by finding out the cause. Now that has caused the so called rural problem which includes the depopulation of the rural districts which effects the church, the schools, farm help, and so on. This situation has come about from making invidious and unnecessary comparisons. People, especially in the rural districts, are inclined to make comparisons between their lot and that of others, particularly professional and business men. They seem to think that a man who wears a white collar must be having all the time, and if he once get fixed to wear it all the time he must be making lots of money. Therefore, the great rush with farmers' sons to make their sons professional or business men. The ambition to educate their sons is a perfectly laudable one, but the ambition to make them professional or business men has been overdone, hence the rural problem. What is the solution of this problem? Just this, let us do our work whatever it is with an eye to work and can continue to do it commonwealth and drop comparisons. Let us go on the principle that "There's a dignity in labor if we'er p.mp arogeed".

Perhaps some one will take the platform and say that the Newburgh correspondent does not know what he is talking about that we, necessary ass class, have to work hard from morning till night, with little or no recreation. Now the writer of this correspondent does not set up as a partizon of wisdom, but he knows this, that no class is exempt from the effects of the depression that exists at present, and that many business men are going under, and those who are hopping about are doing so by hard work both of hand and brain. As to making comparisons as to the kind of clothes we wear and our work, I've heard a considerd amount farmer who would clothe himself in a white collar and clear his farm, go to mill, and deal out the stuff, and to wear overalls and smoke himself a cumber er in a few days would be enough of place. Let us always remember that "It is not the work but the work".

The Dominion Exhibition Company will offer the ability to put in the hands of graded prizes for the best story on Canada, between dated the following as follows: F. H. Patton, Head of Advertising Co., Montreal; D. E. Sandler, New York Life Insurance Co., Montreal; J. C. T. Harris, Territories, Montreal; and Mr. Smoke Talbot, a farmer in a few miles of Napanee, offers a graded study of the Canadian Northwest, prize to John Cook, adopted son of Mr. T. B. Cook, Delhi. Wiley neighborhood, and who is at present a student in Napanee High School here. The prize is $100, $50 in cash, the latter goes to the school and $50. The story will appear in an early issue of The Rod and Gun. We heartily congratulate the boy on his success.

The Quarterly Board of the Newburgh Circuit met in the basement of the church on Monday. A number of members of the Board were present, but their absence that they are quite satisfied that everything is prospering throughout the Circuit.

The local Orangemen are taking time by the forelock by preparing to plan for a town social on the 12th of July. All who can possibly are expected to come; all others are expected to come and fear them.

ALBERT COLLEGE GLEE CLUB RENDERED SPLENDID PROGRAMME

A high-class concert of unusual merit was given in the auditorium of Grace Church Friday night last, under the auspices of the Young People's League, the program being given in its entirety by the Albert College Glee Club of Belleville. This Club of thirty voices is composed of the very best talent in the college and under the masterly training of Prof. S. M. Anglin, fully lived up to advance notices.

The program was a varied one, consisting of solos, duetts, male quartettes, choruses, readings and so forth, and there was not a dull moment from beginning to end. Tickets had been in the hands of the Leaguers for the past ten days and as a result of their consistent work the auditorium of the church was well filled. Prof. F. R. Bamforth, pianist, ably performed the duties of accompanist. The financial side was exceedingly gratifying and a tidy sum was realized for the League as well as the club.

The program as given was as follows :

Part 1—God Save the King; chorus, Glee Club; vocal solo, Mr. Harold Gooding; reading, Mr. Leslie W. Bell; vocal solo, Mr. Harold Howard; choruses, (a) Mammy's Lullaby, (b) Honey Town, Glee Club; solo, Mr. Jack Deacon; reading, Mr. Ralph Spencer; quartette, College Quartette; song and chorus, Mr. Reg. Wiseman and the Club.

Part 2—Chorus, Glee Club; reading, Mr. Arthur Carrington; song; Mr. A. Snelgrove; quartette, College Quartette; reading, (a) Some Day Folks, (b) Play the Game, Mr. Arthur Barfett; song, Mr. Reg. Wiseman; duett, Messrs. Deacon and Howard; chorus, The Glee Club.

At the conclusion of the concert the members adjourned to the school room of the church where light refreshments were served, after which the members left for home.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Orange, California.
April 29th, 1924.

Editor Napanee Beaver.
Napanee, Ont., Can.

Dear Mr. Editor,—For some time I have been intending to write a few lines from California.

Orange is located approximately thirty-five miles south of Los Angeles and about one hundred miles north of San Diego. It is one of the most beautiful inland cities of its size you would wish to visit, —rightly called 'Orange the Beautiful'. Population of nine thousand seven hundred and fifty with more people desirous of locating here all the time.

The Chamber of Commerce is doing its best for the city improvements, and also much credit is to be given the Rotary Club for getting four large industries located here. We have a city hall that would be a credit to any city much larger, club house, packing houses, artificial ice plants, and so forth, with many beautiful churches, the pews being well filled each Sunday.

In this country people seem to be manifesting that unity that we have longed to see and the fruits of true brotherhood are being manifested in more ways than one.

Last is our wonderful schools conducted on the highest of principles. Our High School has an enrollment of over eight hundred and second to the most easily. It has the best pipe organ in the southland, for which the high school faculty feel very proud.

No doubt you have heard of California good roads, and I want to say that there is nothing to beat them. The highways are all paved and it seems mighty nice too after riding over some of our roads in the east, especially across Wolfe Island, the worst road I have ever travelled.

The winter here has been exceptionally warm and unusually dry. The ranchers would like to have more rain.

When we left our home on December 19th, 1923, we thought the weather very nice and warm for Canada, but as we journeyed on from day to day, we soon were in the climate where we could discard our winter togs for summer apparel.

Of course we have been lonely for our friends and family, especially the little ones, but to help to forget some of this, have been sightseeing a little, and hope to see more of California in the future.

I have bought a nice bungalo, with garden and fruit trees around it, and have a good position, much better than I ever expected to get. However, if we decide California is not the place for us, there is always an opportunity to sell to the next Eastern fellow, for California's population is mostly made up of the Eastern people, and I thought a rest from farm life for a time is what I needed for my health.

Now, Mr. Editor, I thank you for your valuable space in your paper for this long letter, which at first was only to be a few lines or so.

Come out here and visit me and I will help you to have a good time, and any one else that can come this way.

Very sincerely yours, and always a reader of your valuable paper, I remain,

E. R. SHARPE.

287 N. Grand St.,
Orange, California.

The fence in front of the farm was badly damaged, and it seemed to sensitive Mrs. Dairybutter, the farmer's wife, that all the passers-by were remarking about it as they passed by. "When are you going to get that fence in the front mended?" she asked her husband one day.

"Oh, next week," was the reply. "I'm just waiting for George to come home from college."

"But whatever will the boy know about mending a fence?" she asked in astonishment.

"Well," replied the farmer, "he ought to know a lot. He wrote and told me the other day that he had been taking a lot of fencing lessons this term."

He Never Scored

He was a smart boy—the newspaper lad. One of those youngsters who will one day make his mark in the world—become perhaps a Cabinet Minister, or at least an M.P.

He was crying his wares in the main street of the town one evening, when he came up to one of the big shopkeepers standing in the door of his shop.

"Buy a paper, sir?" he asked, his voice hoarse from shouting.

"No!" replied the man abruptly. "Clear off!"

"Local footballer shot!" went on the boy.

In a moment the other was all excitement.

"Give me a paper—quick!" he said, holding out a penny. "Local footballer shot, did you say?"

"Yes," replied the boy, moving away. "But he never scored!"

MRS. ANDERSON TELLS WOMEN

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leslie, Sask.—"For about a year I was troubled with a distressing downbearing pain before and during the periods, and from terrible headaches and backache. I hated to go to a doctor and as I knew several women who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results, I finally bought some and took four bottles of it. I certainly do recommend it to every woman with troubles like mine. I feel fine now and hope to be able to keep your medicine on hand at all times, as no woman ought to be without it in the home."—Mrs. OSCAR A. ANDERSON, Box 15, Leslie, Sask.

Mrs. Kelsey Adds Her Testimony

Copenhagen, N. Y.—"I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband out doors, too. I am willing for you to publish this letter if you think it will help others."—Mrs. HERBERT KELSEY, R.F.D., Copenhagen, N. Y.

Sick and ailing women everywhere in the Dominion should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before they give up hope of recovery. C

STRANGE POISON CASE EXCITES NEW YORK

An extraordinary case of attempted murder is now exciting New Yorkers to a greater degree than many a case of actual murder. This is partly because of the social standing of the alleged poisoner and his victim and because the other circumstances are unusual. The prisoner is Clarence O. Baring, the victim is his wife, a woman several years his senior and wealthy in her own right. The motive is alleged to be Baring's infatuation for another woman. One of the most amazing features of the case is that the wife suspected that she was being fed with various poisonous cultures and informed the police. They trailed her husband for weeks, and all the time the wife had to pretend that she was on affectionate terms with him, and guard herself against eating something that would result in her death. At last the man was arrested with a vial of some deadly poison in his hand, the supposition being that he was on his way to administer it to his wife. Baring is said to have made a confession. He admits administering the poison, but says he did not wish to murder his wife. His object was to make her so ill that he would have to take her to California. Then he would be free from the pestterings of the woman whom he had the fatal gift of captivating.

Poison Cases

Poisoning cases, as a rule, horrify the public to a greater extent than murders committed by other means. The Hammond case, one of the most terrible in the annals of this Province, was one of them, and the late R. B. Osler remarked that the prosecution in his career that gave him the greatest satisfaction in retrospect was that of Hammond. The Buchanan case in Toronto was another shocking affair. In one respect it was strongly reminiscent of the Molyneaux in New York which was, with the exception of the Thaw case, the most sensational in the history of that city. With the exception of the Thaw defence, more money was spent to clear Roland Molyneaux than any other accused murderer. The point of resemblance between the Molyneaux and the Buchanan cases was that in both the actual victim was not the intended victim. In one case it was the wife who was plotted against. In the other it was a young man who had quarreled with Molyneaux.

The Molyneux Case

Molyneaux, whose father, General Molyneaux, was a distinguished veteran of the American civil war, was one of the few accused persons ever involved in a sensational affair who might be described as "a well-known clubman" for his membership of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club was one of the chief features of his career. He resigned after a furious quarrel with Harry S. Cornish, the athletic director. Previous to this he had met and fallen in love with Miss Blanche Chesebrough, and had introduced to her his friend, Henry Crosman Barnett. In October, 1898, Barnett received by mail what purported to be a bottle of a proprietary remedy. He took some of it, and shortly afterward died, his death being ascribed to diphtheria. Among his effects was a bundle of letters from Miss Chesebrough, couched in most affectionate terms. A few days later Molyneaux and Miss Chesebrough were married. A month later Harry Cornish received through the mail a small bottle, containing some effervescing salts. He threw the wrapper away and took the bottle home.

Murdered by Accident

Two or three days later Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, a distant cousin with whom he lodged, complained of a headache, and it was suggested that she might take some of the effervescing salts. She did so and died within ten minutes. The facts that Molyneaux had been a rival of one of the men who died so suddenly and had quarreled with Cornish; that both had received packages through the mail containing poison, and that Molyneaux himself was a professional chemist employed in a color factory directed suspicion to him, and he surrendered before being arrested. It was proved that Mrs. Adams had died of a dose of mercuric cyanide, a rare and deadly drug. There followed a terrific legal battle, mostly fought out by hand-writing experts. The judge admitted evidence concerning the death of Barnett, and Molyneaux was found guilty. An appeal was lodged on the ground that the Barnett evidence ought not to have been admitted. A new trial resulted in Molyneaux's acquittal. His wife divorced him and he remarried. He sought to support himself by writing plays and stories founded on his experiences in prison and eventually became violently insane. He died in 1917.

The Waite Murders

Another case that created a tremendous sensation in New York and elsewhere was that of Dr. Warren Waite, a young dentist who with his wife lived in a fashionable part of the city and spent a good deal of money. He was the son-in-law of John E. Peck, a wealthy retired druggist of Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Peck were visiting their daughter in 1916, when Mrs. Peck became ill and died from Bright's disease. A couple of months later Mr. Peck also became suddenly ill and he too died. Waite accompanied the body to Grand Rapids and suggested that it be cremated. The family opposed this and the body was buried. They had been alarmed by the receipt of a telegram from an unknown sender urging an autopsy. This was performed and revealed the presence of ground glass. The newspapers then took up the case, made their own investigations and revealed the existence of a woman who was waiting for Waite's wife to die in order to succeed her. Waite made a confession in which he admitted that he had married Miss Peck to put himself in line for the Peck fortune and then had proceeded to murder the members of the family who blocked his way to it. He died in the electric chair.

GRAY-DORT

Inspectors with a Conscience

TWO things make inspection valuable or valueless in an automobile factory.

First—the management's instructions to its inspectors.

Second—the desire of the inspectors to carry out those instructions.

The new management of Gray-Dort Motors says to Gray-Dort inspectors: "You must not pass a single thing in any Gray-Dort car which is not better than you would want in your own car".

And every inspector knows that those instructions must be carried out to the letter if he is to stay with this organization.

Today the inspection in the Gray-Dort plant is the most rigid ever established by an automobile manufacturer.

Go to the Gray-Dort showroom and examine the cars.

Drive the cars. Find out for yourself how smooth and powerful and quiet the Gray-Dort is.

HATCHING AND REARING

The Best Way of Handling the Young Chick.

Great Variation in Mortality—Hopper Mash — Feeding Chicks With Hens—Weight of Chick—Value of Manure—When to Prune.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The use of the incubator and brooder has forced the poultry keeper to study the methods of growing chicks. A mother hen and her brood, when allowed to range, can be fed many feeds and the chicks do well simply because the hen and the chicks balance the ration by catching insects and selecting tender green feed, and, it may be several other things that we have never observed.

Great Variation in Mortality.

There is a great variation in different broods of chicks reared by the artificial method, and may broods have a high mortality and a very unthrifty appearance. The chicks can be reared easily with reasonable care and attention. The use of a little common sense is essential.

One should remember that, given a brooder, a colony house, and say three hundred baby chicks, it is the duty of the operator to keep the chicks comfortable, and that every need of the body must be taken to those chicks. There is no cracking hen to pick up bits of gravel or to catch insects. The feed must be taken to the chicks.

At present the department of Poultry Husbandry at the O.A.C., is conducting a series of experiments, the object being to find a simple, inexpensive method of growing a normal chicken. It may take years to get the answer, but each season we add a little to our knowledge.

Hopper Mash for Chicks.

The mash used at the Poultry Department, O.A.C., in the hoppers, or feed moist, where the chicks are ranging consists of:

160 pounds of Corn Meal.
160 pounds of Crushed Oats.
100 pounds of Bhatta.
100 pounds of Bran.
67 pounds of Meat Scrap.
20 pounds of Bone Meal.

The whole grain hopper feed usually consists of fifty per cent. each of wheat and cracked corn. If milk is given to drink, one-half, if not more, of the meat scraps may be taken from the mash.

The pullets stay on range until ready to lay, which period is when they are about six months of age. If they prefer roosting in trees to the house we allow them to do so; in fact we rather prefer that they would roost in trees.

Shade, tender green feed, plenty of clean drink, and enough to eat, are essential.

Feeding Chicks With Hens.

Where chicks are being reared with hens, and have access to tender grass or other green feed, a very good feed is raw or cooked johnny-cake made with an egg in it. Give milk to drink, and have a quart or so of gravel near the coop to supply grit. Move the coop every few days. When the chicks are a few weeks old gradually change to ordinary feeds.

Raise the chicks on clean land. Keep off the old ground that has had chicks running upon it year after year. Keep the hen free of lice, and with sodium fluoride or use a small amount of lice ointment. A piece one-half the size of a kernel of corn, placed on the skin below the vent, will usually kill many of the lice.

Weight of Chicks.

One hundred baby chicks when hatched will taunity weigh between seven and eight pounds. When the chicks have reached an age of twelve weeks they should weigh between one hundred and seventy-five and two hundred pounds. For sake of comparison we will take a calf at birth with a weight of eighty pounds. Should the calf make the same rate of gain as the chick, it would at twelve weeks of age weigh a ton. This will help one to understand why broods of chicks vary so much, and will also assist the reader to appreciate the opportunity at hand to display his skill.—W. R. Graham, O.A. College, Guelph.

When to Prune.

The dormant season is the logical time for pruning, although when the wood is frozen the work may not be very agreeable to the pruner. When young trees or stone fruits are concerned it is probably advisable to delay the pruning until late winter or early spring, but bearing apple trees can be pruned in any season when the most apparent injury. Pruning is for one major orchard operation which can be performed to advantage during the winter months. At that time there are no leaves to interfere with the vision of the pruner, and consequently one is better able to judge what branches should be removed. Furthermore, it is only during the winter that the grower has the time to give to this work.

Value of Manure.

Manure is worth exactly what it will give in net return from the increased crops produced. This amount varies widely depending upon the quanity of the soil, the season, and the crop. The value of the manure per ton is increased by uniform spreading, by using a light to medium application of ten to fifteen loads per acre rather than a heavy application, and by applying the manure to root crops, corn, potatoes, and hay rather than to grain crops. Where bad weeds are not present, unrotted manure will prove more economical than rotted.

Paths and roads about the farmstead not only should be as few as possible but should be kept out of sight so far as feasible.

LOOKING FOR A KING.

European Principalities Which Have Been "In the Market."

The newly-constituted State of Albania is looking for a king. "An English gentleman preferred." The salary is not stated, but the civil list of the new monarch, whoever he maybe, is unlikely to be a very extravagant one, seeing that the entire revenue of the country amounts to no more than about £800,000.

This, by the way, is not the only occasion on which a European principality has been "in the market," so to speak. The late Duke of Edinburgh, afterwards Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and Gotha, Queen Victoria's second son, was once offered the throne of Greece, and so certain were the Greeks that he would accept that they actually had him proclaimed King at Athens.

Not only this, but anumber of coins were struck bearing the new "monarch's" effigy. These are now greatly prized by collectors. It is perhaps unnecessary to add that, on news of these events reaching Windsor, the proffered honor was promptly declined.

Some time previously the Greek throne had been offered to the grandfather of the present Earl of Derby, who also declined it. Following the refusal, the vacant throne was hawked round amongsthalf the princelings in Europe, to be eventually accepted by the Grand Duke Otha of Bavaria, whom his ungrateful subjects later deposed.

In 1878, following on the Russo-Turkish war, Sir Henry Drummond Wolff might, had he so minded, have been king of the then newly-formed principality of Rumelia.

He was acting at the time as British High Commissioner there, when one morning a delegation of leading notables came to offer him the throne, assuring him of the support of Russia, and suggesting that he should be crowned forthwith at Philippopolis.

Sir Henry pretended to treat the matter as a huge joke; whereat the delegates retired in high dudgeon.

This same crown was afterwards declined by Prince Alexander Vogoridas, probably for a similar reason to that which had previously induced the Count of Flanders to decline the honor of ruling over the turbulent populace of the sister principality of Rumania.

Said this astute individual, when offered the crown by the President of the Council of Ministers: "If you can guarantee that I shall not be assaminated, as was M. Catargi, or interned for life in a dungeon, like M. Petrowski, my answer is 'Yes.' Otherwise it is 'No.'" The ministers looked askance at each other, then silently withdrew.

Not always, however, have offers of this description been declined. Many years ago Sir James Brooke, an ex-officer in the old East India Company's service was offered, an accepted, the crown of Sarawak, in Borneo, over which country his descendant the present Rajah Brooke still reigns, it having been constituted as independent State under British protection in 1888.—Montreal Herald and Weekly Star.

Cave Woman Was Boss.

Old-fashioned ideas as to man's supremacy in the days when the earth was young have had a rude jolt according to an eminent statement of ancient manners and customs. It is now declared that woman, in the days of the cave-dwellers, undoubtedly was regarded as of the more important sex. Men held a secondary position, fetched and carried, and the food and skins provided. Women ruled, and were the leaders in the earliest arts and sciences. It was the woman's ingenuity which devised many of the primitive tools and plans for storing food against times of scarcity. Women taught ways of making clothing from skins of animals, and by the efforts of their physical strength, which equal to a human race. Woman's cunning and wit were the outcome of her lack of physical strength, which obliged her to resort to strategy rather than force. On the whole, the primitive woman apparently held the same position and ruled man in the same manner that she does now, and possibly thought he was boss, but so long as he didn't know any better, what difference did it make.

Ancient Maya City.

The Maya Indians played an important part in the early history of Mexico. The City of Uxmal was formerly the capital of that branch of the Maya who called the Uxmal Xiu. It is believed that this place was the original city of Toltec. The ruins appear to have been built in many more. The most notable sanctuary of Uxmal is known as the House of the Dwarf. It is over 59 feet high, and on the top of a pyramid 100 feet high. Two stairways on opposite sides of the pyramid lead to this building. It is so named because the natives say it was built in one night by a savage dwarf. Long after the city was abandoned this temple was held in special reverence. The Spanish priests used to find offerings of cocoa and copal on it, and this they attributed to devil worship.

Bones Betray Age.

X-ray of Tut-Ankh-Amen's mummy will settle the dispute as to his age when he died, says Prof. Flinders Petrie. A few years ago X-ray photographs which were taken of an Indian few court as evidence of age. The same process and a transfer of property by a certain Behari Lal, who was alleged to be under twenty one years of age, and therefore debarred from executing the transfer. Eight X-ray plates were produced showing the condition of Behari Lal's bones with regard to the joining of the carti-lage to the shafts of the bones, and expert witnesses agreed that these plates showed that the age of the youth was between eighteen years and nineteen and one-half years. So there need be no uncertainty about a lady's age in future.

RUINS OF CITY LOCATED ON TOP OF MOUNTAIN

A group of ruins has been discovered near Tenango del Valle, State of Mexico, which antedates the ruins found in the Valley of Mexico. In spite of the intense explorations carried out in Mexico, these ruins, located on the top of the mountains at Tenango del Valle, remained unknown for centuries. A priest, Canon Fierro, while studying archaeology, made a trip to the top of the mountains, where he found a walled city with well-preserved ruins.

The ruins show the remains of great temples of a walled city, believed to be the famous City of Teotenango, home of the Nahua or Toltecan. Archaeologists state that records found in the sixteenth century made no mention of these ruins, and an examination shows the Aztec codices are also silent about them.

A stone which shows that the science of ancient Mexicans was used in the study of eclipses has been located in these ruins. This stone shows a tiger devouring the sun, and also a figure of the moon. A third figure shows two rabbits, a symbol of the ancients for a new day.

The ruins include homes of priests and warriors and what is believed to have been the headquarters of the King of the Nahuas.

Ontario Lady Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills

She Says They Are An Excellent Remedy For Lame Back.

Bunbar, Ont., May 5th, (Special)—"I have been a user of Dodd's Kidney Pills for twenty years and find them good for lame back." Such is the tribute Mrs. A. Bartley, a well-known and respected resident here, pays to the old Canadian kidney remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I recommend them to everyone, and am never without them in the house."

All that is claimed for Dodd's Kidney Pills is that they are a kidney remedy. They heal and strengthen the kidneys. They are used to treat rheumatism, lumbago, backache, urinary troubles, diabetes, and heart disease, because all these ills are either of the kidneys or caused by diseased kidneys.

Woman's troubles, or nearly all of them, come from sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will relieve kidney trouble, no matter where or in what form it is.

Father, mother and little Tommy were in a tramway car. Mother and Tommy had secured seats, but poor father had to stand.

Mother—Tommy, doesn't it pain you to see your father reaching for a strap?

Tommy—Only at home, Ma.

Carefully the burglar effected an entrance into the bank. He found the way to the strong room. When the light from his lantern fell on the door he saw the sign:

"Save your dynamite. This safe is not locked. Turn the knob and open."

For a moment he ruminated.

"Anyhow, there's no harm in trying it, if it is really unlocked."

He grasped the knob and turned.

Instantly the office was flooded with light, an alarm bell rang loudly, an electric shock rendered him helpless, while a door in the wall opened and a building rushed out and seized him.

"I know what's wrong with me," he sighed an hour later, when the cell door closed upon him, "I've too much faith in human nature—I'm too trusting."

Hubbie—What's the trouble with it, I found it all right?

Wife—Well, there's something wrong. Willie refused a second piece.

"I've danced with the hostess. Have you gone through with it yet?"

"No, I don't have to. I'm the host."

For Rheumatic Pains.—The pains and aches of Sciatica and Rheumatism should be treated with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The soothing and healing properties of this famous remedy have been demonstrated for fifty years. Use it also for inflammatory pains, cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains, either in human beings or the lower animals.

Ile—What did you learn at cooking school?

She—How to wave my own hair, the best cold creams and the nicest place to go for lunches.

Ile—Heavens! Is that what they teach there?

She—No, but it is what I learned there.

For Both House and Stable.—There is a good deal of similarity, physically speaking, between human beings and the lower animals. Both are subject to many ailments arising from inflammation and to all manner of cuts and bruises. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is an entirely reliable remedy for such ailments and mishaps in both human beings and the lower orders of animals.

It was the morning of the first day of April, and the small girl came running excitedly down the stairs. "Mummie, mummie," she called out, "there's a man upstairs kissing nurse." Her mother came rushing out of the dining-room and started to go upstairs. The child danced with delight. "April Fool, mummie," she cried. "It's only daddie."

He was an earnest medical student, and he called at the house of his future father-in-law.

"I just came," he said, "to ask simply as a formality, whether there is any insanity in your family."

"There must be," was the cold and deliberate answer.

The Proven Asthma Remedy.—Since asthma existed there has been no lack of much heralded remedies, but they have proved short lived and worthless. The ever-growing reputation of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has given it a place in the field of medicine which no other can approach. It has never been pushed by sensational methods, but has simply gone on effecting relief and making new converts.

The well-known film star, Mr. King Barrot, is very proud of his young son Junior, but the other day the little fellow gave him a shock. "Daddy," he asked, "how do you spell hell?"

"Wait a minute," cried Barrot, sternly. "Hell is a bad word and you should never use it. Why do you want to know how to spell it?"

"I want to spell Helen," was the innocent reply, "and I thought I'd write it down once legible at a time."

Miller's Worm Powders will drive worms from the system without injury to the child. The powders are so easy to take that the most delicate stomach can assimilate them and welcome them as speedy easers of pain, because they promptly remove the worms that cause the pains and thus the suffering of the child is relieved. With so sterling a remedy at hand no child should suffer an hour from worms.

There is an excellent story going the rounds just now reputed to have been started by Frederic Rainbow, of Beggar's Opera Fame. It is about an old lady who had come up to London for the first time from Mudcome-in-the-Slush, at the pressing invitation of a son who had made good in the city.

The old lady was safely installed in a suite of rooms in a big London hotel —bathroom and all complete—and the morning after her arrival her dutiful son called round to ask if she had had a good night's rest.

"Well, no, I didn't" was the reply, "the bedroom was all right and so was the bed, but I couldn't sleep very much as I was frightened lest someone should want a bath—for the only way to it was through my bedroom."

Blenkins once joined a bear hunting expedition. During the hunt, as he was resting by the side of a rock and talking with another hunter, he began boasting heavily.

"If there's anything I dote on, it's bear. A slice of bear steak nicely done is just perfect!" he said.

"Well," said his companion, looking up, "I'm hanged if there isn't a bear now!"

The man who "doted on bear" looked up, saw an immense grizzly standing on the top of the rock, gave a yell and leaped into the woods and disappeared. His companion soon overtook him and said to the fugitive as he came up:

"I thought you liked bear?"

"Well, I do," said the runaway, "but that one wasn't done enough."

CHEVROLET
—Compare Its Cost With Its Comfort and Convenience

SO pronounced is the comfort, convenience and beauty of the Superior Chevrolet, that it is difficult to reconcile such quality with Chevrolet low price and economy. Yet the low cost of Chevrolet is an established fact.

Luxurious in its appointments is the new Chevrolet Superior Sedan—an avowed favorite with the lady-driver. So handsome in upholstering—so exquisitely finished—its Fisher-built body seems designed for a much higher-priced car.

As for convenience, there is such ease of control in this new Chevrolet that driving is a genuine pleasure. Little space is required for parking, and the sureness of Chevrolet in starting, stopping and getting in and out of traffic, is still another point in its favor. For family use, the Chevrolet Superior Sedan has ample accommodation for five adults.

The mechanical excellence of Chevrolet requires no elaboration here. An investigation will convince you that Chevrolet is a car you can no longer afford to be without.

COURTEOUS DRIVING WOULD SOLVE MANY PROBLEMS

Manners of Many Motorists Badly in Need of Mending.—Arrogant Driving Cause of many Accidents and Not a Few Traffic Problems.—Ontario Motor League Campaigns for Safe Driving.

Why is it necessary for an automobile club to plant its road signs, bearing the phrase, "Courtesy Makes Safety", throughout a locality in which we know traffic to be very heavy?

Why do we see articles in magazines and newspapers with titles like this, "A Little More Courtesy, or a Lot More Trouble"?

What happens to a man when he gets behind his steering wheel? In many cases, some psychological change seems to take place in him for he displays a woeful lack of courtesy toward his fellow-motorist. He does things as a motorist that he would never dare to do as a pedestrian.

For instance, it is not our custom to ram people as we pass them on the side-walk; we do not cut a man off as he crosses the street; we do not deliberately try to steal another man's seat in the trolley car; yet we see analogous actions on the part of the motorist every day.

The other day, we saw a motorist making a parking, and this is what happened—he had pulled up along side the car immediately in front of the space in which he wished to park, preparatory to backing into this space. Another, but smaller car, pulled up and tried to "sneak" into the same space before the first car could back in. An accident might have occurred, and naturally the first driver was incensed at this act of discourtesy, and he did not hesitate to tell the other man just what he thought of him.

The exceedingly human desire of wanting to "get even" exists in all of us, and we do not doubt but that this act of discourtesy caused this man to vow that he would "get even" with the next man who tried such tricks on him. If both men would apply the Golden Rule, many unfortunate developments might be prevented. It is noteworthy that the Ontario Motor League has campaigned for courteous driving since its inception.

The desire to make time in many cases leads to acts of discourtesy and sometimes disaster. This was brought home to us recently when we were driving with a friend.

The east and west-bound traffic had the right of way and no one slowed up to give the drivers going north and south an opportunity to go through, —which made a big situation worse—but, then, it was our "turn". We were the third car on the left of the north bound traffic; we wished to swing across the avenue and go left to the west, but it was necessary for us to wait until we could edge our way through the east and west-bound traffic.

Finally an opening occurred,—the two cars in front of us did not seize the opportunity to go through, so my friend swung around beside the car in front of him, and started across the avenue, thereby cutting off a car which was crossing the avenue from the north. This south-bound car hit the rear right fender of our car—he could do nothing else, for we had cut him off.

The man with whom we were driving not only violated a traffic rule in passing the two cars abreast, but he acted discourteously to the other motorist by cutting him off, and actually endangered lives—not to speak of the traffic tie-up which resulted from his discourteous act, prompted by his desire to make time. As it happened, he lost more time than if he had observed traffic rules and the courtesy of the road. We have all seen such acts of discourtesy on the part of our fellow-motorists, as cutting corners without signalling; speeding up when another motorist attempts to pass; cutting in so sharply after passing a car, and, last, but not least, the indiscriminate use of the horn.

Human nature is just stubborn enough not to stand for being brushed aside by such acts, and stubbornness and irritation resulting from discourtesy make the right combination for trouble, and motoring in general suffers as a consequence.

"We have reached a point in motoring where, unless courtesy in driving receives renewed and serious attention", says Frederick C. Russell, in Motor Life, "the piloting of an automobile will become a free-for-all, in which everyone will aim to make it just as inconvenient as possible, for everyone else.

"The whole question apparently resolves itself into this; every act of discourtesy encourages a more serious act retaliation with its resulting train of annoyances and accidents. Why not, therefore, infer that every act of courtesy will bring forth a better act of reciprocation? Furthermore, why not try it? Automatically, others will follow suit."

Mr. Russell is right. With the great increase in the number of cars on our roads, and the corresponding increase in the complexities of driving, old-fashioned motor courtesy, it seems, has pretty well gone by the board. Many of our traffic tie-ups and accidents are laid to the score of too many automobiles on the streets. The capacity of our streets has not been reached, they will accommodate many more automobiles without any trouble if we are more considerate of the other fellow and the other fellow is more considerate of us.

Let us stop talking about horrible traffic conditions, congestion and accidents, and act on the supposition that courtesy makes safety. We feel sure that the daily application of this rule will do away with many of our traffic problems.

A candidate, rushing to address a meeting at a by-election, was accosted by a friend.

"What do you think of the political situation now?" he was asked.

"Don't bother me!" responded the politician. "I've not to talk. This is no time to think."

The doctor was examining a naval hospital orderly for advancement in rating. "What would you do if the captain fainted on the bridge?"

"Bring him to," warbled the aspiring orderly.

"Then what?" asked the doctor.

"Bring him two more," returned the man, promptly.

24 MILLIONS IN GOLD TAKEN FROM THE LAURENTIC

Less Than Million Now Remains on Submarined Vessels.

London, May 8.—With the return to Londonderry Saturday of the Admiralty ship Racer, engaged in salvaging the bar gold on the submarined Laurentic off Lough Swilly, it was learned that less than $1,000,000 of the $25,000,000 that was on board the liner when she was torpedoed in January, 1917, remains to be recovered.

The Racer has now put in for supplies before resuming her quest for the rest of the treasure in Davy Jones' locker. Up to now this is the most successful salvaging operation carried out since the war. The gold was destined for the United States when the liner sank with a loss of 200 lives.

The salvage work on the slowly disintegrating hull of the sunken Laurentic began shortly after the vessel was sunk in 1917. Unwavyingly it has been carried on in the face of apparently almost insurmountable obstacles until now, with treacherous currents baffled and hitherto unfaced problems solved, it is nearing completion.

Blocked by Coal Boats

When the first men dropped at the ends of cables from the ancient wooden training ship, so hopefully called the Racer, German submarines were still blockading. Cruising U-boats for many months successfully frustrated the salvaging work, and it was not until after the armistice that it could be resumed unhindered.

The first gold was easily reached. The task became progressively hardier as the currents, sweeping through the wreckage, shifted it and permitted strong boxes to drop through the hulk to the silt beneath. At one time it was necessary to cut through the vessel with acetylene torches. Currents tossed about the divers dangling on the ends of chains.

The Sinn Feiners last August gathered along the cliffs overlooking the salvaging operations in such large numbers that work was again delayed until protecting destroyers could be summoned.

Attacked by Huge Dog Fish

The instability of the wreck and the constant possibility of sudden shifts in its position was another source of hazard to the divers, who had also frequently to face huge dog fish, which attacked them ravenously and had to be slashed at with long knives.

The fact that something over half an hour had to be expended in bringing every man to the surface to prevent too sudden changes in pressure added to the danger. On several occasions when this precaution had to be disregarded the divers were placed in pressure tanks, and the force of the water upon them gradually reduced.

Various new tools and instruments were used to lighten the work of the divers who were sometimes equipped with electric lights, and were always in touch with the surface by telephone.

One of the most interesting of these was the gold "divinire rod" which connected with a galvanometer on the Racer's deck, indicated the presence of the gold when it was forced into the covering silt.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Winnipeg, Man.,
237 Lanadowne Ave.,
April 30th, 1924.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Please find enclosed $1.50, for renewal of my subscription to The Beaver.

Well, Mr. Editor, we have had the finest winter in Manitoba, with very little snow, that I have seen since coming to Canada.

With regards to last year's crop, which promised to be one of the best crops we ever harvested, until the middle of July, when the rust and so much real hot weather came and cooked it, standing, with the result that it no more than paid for the cutting and threshing of it, let alone the seed and other expenses. And if the Government and Council men don't call a halt, the taxes shall be so high that we shall not be able to pay them. There are too many Government men in the legislature and also at Ottawa. We have the "Good Road" system in the Boissevain municipality. I have land in this municipality and also where the "good road" system is not, and there is twenty dollars of a difference in the taxes on each 160 acres of my land. This country is too poor to have these Government highways; they would do well to fix the bridges and leave the roads as they are.

Then another unnecessary expense is a weed inspector, who gets $600.00 for a few months, going to the farmers to tell them to cut the weeds. A farmer knows if he does not keep the weeds down he will not get much of a crop. Then there is the Assessor, who takes all the dimensions of your buildings. He gets between $800.00 and $900.00, whereas he used to do it for $140.00. We have the Farmers' Government in the legislature, and I have attended many of the sessions this past winter. There are eight ministers (lawyers and professors) in the front seat, and the farmers at the back look to me like a voting machine, because they sit there and say nothing.

Seeding has started in our district, but on account of rain during the past month seeding has been delayed.

Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Yours truly,
GEORGE TOWNS.

"Say, Bill," said Oklahoma Joe, "I've noticed that when one of these Injuns gets him an automobile, he wants to take it apart and fix it first thing. Why because?"

"Oh," replied Bill carelessly, "I suppose it's natural. He just wants to show his injunuity."

LACROSSE
A meeting will be held at the Queen's Hotel, Belleville, this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of drafting the schedule for the Juvenile and Midget series in District No. 1 of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association. The above district is composed of Trenton, Belleville, Deseronto and Napanee. The locals have been greatly strengthened since last season, and some good games are looked forward to this summer.

Invitations have been mailed for the second annual "At Home" of the Napanee Lacrosse Club, to be held in the Armouries on Wednesday evening, May 21st. Those who attended last year's function will remember the splendid time they enjoyed and will no doubt avail themselves of a repeat order. If any friends have been overlooked, the committee would welcome an intimation of the same.

Practice is being held each evening that the weather is favorable and the players are shaping up well. The juvenile team has been strengthened by the addition of Clarence Barley, who last year played with Deseronto, and the Midgets are coming along fine. All players who desire to catch a place in the line-up of either team must turn out regularly to practice. No favors will be shown and the player who shows the most ability to play the game will be placed on the team.

An exhibition game of lacrosse was played on the N. C. I. grounds on Friday night last, the contending teams being the N.C.I. vs. Napanee Public School. In the last game between these teams the boys of the Public School put it all over their opponents, but the tables were turned in the above game. The N. C.I. boys have been practising faithfully and they won out by the decisive score of 8-0. Mr. J. McCaffe refereed the game to the satisfaction of all.

MASONIC BANQUET

On Thursday evening, May 8th, the rooms of Union Lodge, No. 9, were the scene of unusual gaiety, when the Brothers were "At Home" to three hundred of their friends. The Napanee Masons are famous for their wonderful annual Ladies' Night, but this year they more than lived up to their reputation. The ladies and gentlemen were received in the spacious Lodge Room, and at eight o'clock dinner was served at daintily appointed tables in the Ball Room. Pink roses and lighted candles made rather a charming combination, and nothing had been forgotten that could help to make the arrangements perfect.

After the appetizing meal had been served repeatedly by a committee of Brother Masons, a very hearty welcome was accorded Mr. Jules Brazil, the well known entertainer from Toronto, who kept his audience in a state of hilarity for "one hour and a quarter" by his watch,—although we all doubted the watch! Besides his musical talent and ability as a song leader, Mr. Brazil possessed a marvellous memory for names and faces, which made one sure that he must be the original gentleman who met "Mr. Sims in Seattle" on a memorable date!

The soloists for the evening were greatly appreciated and deserve extravagant praise for the quickness of their response to the requests for their assistance. A number of Jolly courses were a part of Mr. Brazil's inimitable performance.

Later in the evening, a dance, for which Mr. Charles Walters' Orchestra supplied entrancing music, took place, and a number of special dances created much merriment, that the hours flew until, amidst a shower of gaily colored balloons, the dancing came to an end with a happy "Boa Sois".

Youmans motored on Saturday last to Collins Bay to spend the week end with their daughter, Mrs. Saundercock, returning home on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Boulter have moved from the paper mills back on the farm with his father, at Lamb's Eddy.—Mrs. Macdonald spent several days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Mac Embleby, and family, at Bicknell's Corners, and with her son, Max Macdonald, at Lapum's Bridge.—Mrs. Ira Wagar is in charge of the Mother's service in the Methodist Church on Sunday last. Farnim spent Tuesday last in Yarker, on business.—Mrs. Ira Wagar has had 300 of Mr. Kim's eggs out of his crates in the barn. He thinks he will set a hear to work and hatch them. The Vital Things in a Car

WHEN you go to look at a Gray-Dort there will be no attempt to side-track you from the vital things in a car. There will be no side-stepping when motor, chassis, axle, clutch, transmission come up for discussion. There are no trick selling points in the Gray-Dort.

And any Gray-Dort salesman can prove it by the car itself. He'll prove it by the smooth, quiet, never-failing flow of power from the motor; by the gentle, positive, new Gray-Dort disc clutch; by the over-strength new Gray-Dort rear axle. He'll prove it by the wonderfully careful workmanship in every part of the car.

The new management of Gray-Dort Motors stands or falls on the quality of the Gray-Dort and on that alone. Not one car will be permitted to leave the factory until it is absolutely right in every detail. You can see this kind of car at the Gray-Dort showroom now.

SOME STAGGERING STATISTICS

In a total of two billion six hundred million feet of lumber exported from the State of Washington last year, all but one and eight-tenths per cent represented some degree of manufacture and yielded a mill profit. On the other hand, twenty per cent of the five hundred and twenty million feet exported from British Columbia went out as logs and left no manufacturing profit.

Forest service reports show that 1923 sales of North Pacific timber were four times the 1922 total, an increase of four hundred per cent in one year. Washington cut about seven billion feet in 850 saw mills, and the product was valued at $200,000,000. The lumber payroll for 125,000 men was 65 per cent of the total paid in wages by all the industries of the State.

Japanese imports of pine, fir and cedar rose from thirty-five million feet one hundred thousand feet in 1919 to nine hundred and eighty-two million feet in 1922, or an increase of more than nine hundred per cent annually.

The Bella Coola Logging Co. (Ltd.) of Victoria, B.C., has purchased from a large number of individual owners a total of one billion feet of Canadian timber lying 30 miles from the coast, 200 miles from Vancouver. The logs will be shipped to mills in the State of Washington for manufacture.

Exports of pulpwood from Canada to the United States for the month of March amounted to 195,324 cords or at the rate of more than two million three hundred thousand cords annually, which would mean an increase of more than 100 per cent in one year.

How much longer will the Canadian people allow this perfectly appalling forest depletion to continue?

OBITUARY.

Mrs. I. M. Terris.

The death occurred at her late residence, near Barnsley, after a month's illness, of Mabel Gertrude, beloved wife of Ira M. Terris, on April 29th, 1924, at 6.30 a.m., at the age of 24 years, 8 months and 9 days. Mrs. Terris was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Russell, of Carman, Man. She was born near Napanee, Ont. The funeral was held in St. John's Anglican Church, Carman, on Thursday, May 1st, at 3 p.m. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her loss, her mother and father, four sisters and four brothers. Beautiful floral tributes were received from her many friends and relatives. The sympathy of the town and district go out to the bereaved husband and relatives.

Drives Asthma Before It. The sudden set-back from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy gives asthma no chance to linger. It eradicates the cause. Our experience with the relief-giving remedy shows how natural and positive is the success it gives. It is the result of long study and experiment and was not submitted to the public until its makers knew it would do its work well.

PEOPLE LOVE THE SMILING BOOSTER

Tell us not in mournful numbers that this town's on the bum; up and get your merchful slumbers out and make things hum. If we go to work in earnest we can make it relieve hit on high; "dust thou art, to dust returnest," is a song of by and by. All the past is gone forever, you can't call one moment back—put the future may some never, this is true, so nets no slack. Now's the time to do your boosting, do not wait to-morrow's dawn, in the grave you may be roosting, all your boosting chances gone. Lay aside your little hammer, grab a horn and toot a few; upset the kicker's dadblasted hammer with a joyful blast or two. This old town is sure a pippin', and we ought to boost it big, when we hear some growler yippin', we should smite him on the wig. Mighty oaks that grow and flourish came from acorns plain and small; with your boosting you may nourish something that may help to all; something that may prove a blessing to the toiling sons of men—that's the point that I am stressing—Meet and boost them best again. People love the smiling booster, and for him they loudly cheer, but the knocking roaster, long to pelt him in the ear. Breat your country and your business, boost the people in your town, they will dub you wise and witty and you'll gain a wide renown. .

Every careful and observant mother knows when her child suffers from worms. She also knows that if some remedy be not speedily applied much harm will result to the infant. An excellent preparation for this purpose is Miller's Worm Powders. They drive worms from the system and set up stimulating and soothing effects, so that the child's progress thereafter is painless and satisfying.

Hemford, N. S.—"I am the mother of four children and I was so weak after my last baby came that I could not do my work and suffered for months until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Since taking the Vegetable Compound my weakness has left me and the pain in my back has gone. I tell all my friends who are troubled with female weakness to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I think it is the best medicine ever sold. You may advertise my letter."—Mrs. GEORGE L. CROSBY, Hemford, N. S.

My First Child

Glen Allen, Alabama.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. IDA RYE, Glen Allen, Alabama.

But she the one who left from here,
A year ago to-day.

OBITUARY

Bert Moon.

A sad death occurred at the Kingston General Hospital, on Friday, May 2nd, 1924, when Wilbert (Bert) Moon, aged 23 years, 1 month and 6 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Moon, Deseronto, passed away, after an illness of only two weeks, caused from Gangrous Appendicitis. His remains were taken home on the 5.15 train. The funeral services were conducted under the Order of the Orange Lodge, No. 1575, of which Bert was a good member, and Rev. Mr. Richardson. He leaves to mourn his loss, his mother, father, four brothers and two sisters. Respects were shown by the flowers sent by friends and relatives. Wreath from the family; spray, Mildred and Percy; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Percy, Belleville; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee, Belleville; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Lee, Belleville; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peters, Belleville; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chisholm, Toronto; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Neals Lodge, Tyendinaga; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mason, Kingston; pillow from the L. O. L. No. 1575, of which Bert was a regular member; wreath from Mag Elona, Deseronto; wreath from Margaret Whitton, Deseronto.

Bert was a highly esteemed young man and had in his time made many warm friends. Deceased was only 22 years of age, and his loss is keenly felt by all who knew him. The funeral was held at his home, on Monday, at 2 o'clock, and the remains were interred in the family plot in the Deseronto cemetery. The pall bearers were, Clare Malley, Lanfear McCullough, Hubert Howard, Percy Vanblack, Harold McCaul and Claude Thompson.

It costs a little more than some other maker, but B. & H. English Paint spreads over a greater surface, covers better and wears longer. For best protection use B. & H. Paints. For sale at Wallace's.

TAMWORTH

Fred McKnight is building a new house on the old Thornton lot, where the house was burned down.—D. R. Fletcher and D. B. Floyd motored to the Township of Rodden on Saturday last and returned on Sunday. — Mrs. Fletcher has returned from the hospital, much improved in health. The rains of late have made it bad for seeding.—Monday, May 26th, will be celebrated here instead of May 24th. There will be baseball and other amusements.—Rev. Mr. Clark will preach to the I. O. O. F. Order on Sunday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock, in the Methodist Church.—The sixtieth anniversary of Christ Church was held here on May 7th. There was a large turnout of ministers from other places. Preaching was held in the evening.—On Wednesday night, May 7th, a drama of unusual merit was staged in the Town Hall, under the auspices of the G. F. C. The setting of this play, "Her Friend the Enemy," is the time of the war between the Northern and Southern States. From the time the curtain arose, introducing Mr. Fletcher as "Zoodlah Jenks", soliloquizing on the possibilities of war, until the close of Act IV., the audience was held in rapt attention. Each character played his or her part very feelingly. Mr. MacCallum, as "Capt. Jack Fernbrook" showed what the call of duty means to a real man. Two characters that won the hearts of everyone were Mrs. Dale Duncan as "Aunt Chloe" and Mr. Allan Carscallen as "Liege". They portrayed the devotion characteristic of so many slaves of that time, even though freedom was flung at their feet, they refused to leave the old plantation, and "Little Missa". The musical part of the programme, furnished by the local Stringed Orchestra, was much enjoyed by all. See this drama and hear the orchestra in Arden, May 20th and Centreville, on May 23rd.—Suits made and trimmed, $15.00, at Floyd & Co.'s, by their own help.

ANOTHER PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Hugh R. Jolly Died Good Friday, April 18th, — A Resident of Portage 58 Years

The death took place about 9 o'clock Good Friday, of Hugh R. Jolly, one of the pioneer and most highly respected residents of Portage. The late Mr. Jolly was truly an old timer of Portage, he having resided there for thirty-eight years. Early he engaged in the grain trade, and later acted as Sheriff of the Central Judicial District. He has also held offices under the city council. While retired from active duties for some years Mr. Jolly has always been willing and ready to weild a ready hand to any movements for the betterment of the city.

The late Mr. Jolly was born at Amherst Island, Ont., and was 77 years of age, and came to Portage thirty-eight years ago. He married Miss Amey, daughter of Col. Amey, of Napanee, Ont. The deceased was a Mason and identified himself with the Presbyterian Church. He was a most genial man, and had a wide circle of friends.

Deceased is survived by a widow and one daughter, Emma, who was with him at the last. One brother also survives, residing in Hazel Ridge, Man.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, April 22nd, 1924, at 3 o'clock, from the family residence, 48 8th St. N. W., and was largely attended, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held. He was a Presbyterian, and in the absence of his Pastor, Rev. P. E. Scott, D.D., the services were conducted by Rev. Canon Parker, Rector of St. Mary's Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Ford, and was very impressive. The words of the text, John 11:25, were surely the expression of the inmost heart of deceased. The pall bearers were Major F. G. Taylor, M.P.P., W. R. Bowman, W. R. Grieve, C. Sharp, F. Conner and Major Kitson. Interment was in the family plot at Hillside cemetery.

The late Mr. Jolly, who died about nine in the evening of Good Friday, April 18th, was born at Amherst Island, Ont., and came to this country in the early days, but returned to his native home, Napanee, Ont., for several years. However, he was so much impressed with the West that he came back to this city, where he has resided ever since.

Mr. Jolly was a loving husband and father and was known and respected as a good neighbor of manly worth, and always ready to lend a helping hand to every good cause for the betterment of the country. He was a man of strong and pronounced temperance principles. The deceased enjoyed good health until he was stricken down with a stroke and paralysis. He bore all his sufferings with fortitude. He became a member of the Masonic Lodge at Napanee, Ont., forty-eight years ago. He was also a member of the Orange Lodge since 1867. Besides a sorrowing widow and only child, Emma L. M., at home, he leaves to mourn his loss an aged brother, at Hazelbridge, Man., and one sister, Mrs. Hugh Henderson, Mount Pleasant, Ont. He was beloved by young and old, and many are the expressions of sympathy and love for deceased.

NOT "GAY KING ALFONSO" YOU HAVE READ ABOUT

Business-Like Ruler, Who Could Be Elected President Any Day By An Overwhelming Popular Vote.

They say that even a cat can look at a king.

But on the authority of a first-hand witness, Alexander P. Moore, United States ambassador to the Spanish court at Madrid, the palace pussy gets no more kick out of her proverbial prerogative than the felines of any other well regulated households.

The sensational stories you may have been reading about the capers of King Alfonso at Deauville and Biarritz are quite untrue, says the ambassador, who was the husband of the late Lillian Russell.

"They can't be," Mr. Moore tells Robert C. Washburn in an interview for the New York World Magazine. "The king wouldn't have time for that sort of thing, even if he wanted to. He works too hard. He works in his office just like anybody else. And he puts in a good day, too.

"One time he was late in coming out to play polo. He plays polo as a relief from his work. After the game I was chatting with him. 'I am sorry I was late,' he said. 'I always hate to be late, but I was kept by my work at the office until after five.' He very seldom is late.

"If Alfonso were not king of Spain he would be the best young business man of Europe. He is a very, real power in Spain.

"After I had been in Spain some time the Queen mother asked me one day, 'How do you like my boy?' It was just exactly like any other mother asking the question. I told her I liked him very much. 'I am glad,' she said, 'I am glad when people like him. I had such a responsibility. He was born a king, six months after his father died. I knew that at eighteen he would take over the actual responsibilities of government, that he would have to have the maturity and wisdom of twice his age. I had to educate him for this, but I didn't want to injure his health. I don't think it has.'

"He is over six feet tall and very athletic. He loves sports. He is a crack motor car driver, the best horseman I have ever seen, and a fine polo player. He doesn't let them treat him easy when he plays either. He wouldn't play with anyone who wouldn't try to run him down if he could. And he does the same himself. When he plays, he plays hard.

"When King Alfonso goes about he never has a bodyguard. There are no motorcycle policemen to run ahead and clear a path, or keep the small boys from running alongside to catch a glimpse of him. There is nothing special on his car except a small crest, just as everyone has over there. The crowds salute you nevertheless. He has no secret service men to follow and protect him, as we always have for functionaries in this country. One day when I was with him I remarked to him on the subject.

"'What can you mean?' he asked. 'Why should I have anyone to protect me? I have two hands and two eyes and two legs.' He has tremendous physical courage.

"You see, as I know him he is perfectly simple and human. Alfonso was born to rule Spain, and he thinks of the whole country just as his family. He has an affection for his people and he works for them. His connection with the people is a much closer one than the connection of our people with officialdom in this country. He is king, but he goes about with less ostentation than one of our mayors. You take off your hat when you see the king, but he takes off his hat to you, too. It is the custom in Spain for men to take off their hats to each other. There is no great bowing and scraping, no carpets put down on the road for the carriages to drive over, and that sort of thing.

"It is quite unfair to Spain to talk of a change in government such as they had there last fall as a revolution. It is more comparable to an election over here. It is simply a change of ministers. The power of the king remains. He is immensely popular. No party would stand a chance for a minute if it were against the king. It is certain that if he should run for president, no one would have a chance against him.

"We associate violence with revolutions. We call Primo de Rivera a dictator. He is really a premier. There was no violence in Spain last fall. I asked Primo de Rivera one day what was the significance of this martial law that didn't seem to have changed the life of Madrid any. He said, 'Well, we just let the people know that we could enforce it if we wanted to.'"

"So your daughter's married, I hear. I expect you found it very hard to part with her?"

"Hard—I should think so. Between you and me, my boy, I began to think it was impossible!"

ONE PLACE IN THE WORLD BRITONS PAY NO POSTAGE

Free Letters Go Through British Postoffice, But It Is Not on British Territory

There is one place in the world — strangely enough not within the realms of the British Empire—where Britons pay no postage on certain correspondence.

Members of the British army of occupation and British civilians employed by the Rhine army or any of the various inter-allied commissions in Cologne do not require to pay postage on letters, official or private, addressed to other Britons holding official positions in Germany.

Thus a British soldier at Cologne can communicate post free with his chum at Solingen, with a polo friend at Mayence, or a Belgian acquaintance at Aix-la-Chapelle. The privilege, however, is strictly confined to the military and officials, and Tommy must pay full postage—three-halfpence—on letters home.

The "free" letters are not handled by the Germans. There is a British army field postoffice in Cologne — housed in a section of the German post building—but the soldier, if he wishes, may avail himself of the German system, which, if some militards of marks cheaper, is nowadays not always reliable.

The army postoffice, however, does not handle telegrams, all of which go over the German system in the British area. It is rather different in the French zone. There is, of course, wireless communication between the war office and G. H. Q., Cologne, and every day since the armistice a resume of the home news has been flashed across to Riehl, on the Rhine bank.

"This bootlegging must be a good business. You're probably making a fortune."

"Aw, it ain't de coin what counts so much wit' me, lady. It's de people you meet."

How Does Your Porch Floor Look?

There are two outstanding features about this Porch Floor Paint. One is that it is SPECIALLY made for Porch Floors—and combines a hard durable finish with a clean lustrous appearance. The other is that two pints will go as far as three pints of ordinary or so called cheap paint—assuring the consumer of Best Results and a considerable saving on the cost of material. The reason is to be found in the quality of the ingredients used and the fineness to which they are ground by powerful machinery. It is easily applied, dries quickly, and can be had in six harmonious shades.

Is next door to each customer

A clever manufacturer in a small town found he often lost repeat orders from distant customers because he had no one on the ground to get them. So he supplied each of these good customers with a card reading:—

The H. W. Marks Co. of Deepdale is authorized to telephone orders to The Blank Mfg. Co., Springville, and deduct the cost of the message from our next invoice. Call Springville 156. Our telephone service is organized to give you as good service as if we were next door to your office.
(Signed) John L. Black.

He says it works fine. Try it.

Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station.

Make Your Youngster the Happiest in Town

EVERY real boy or girl who hasn't a bicycle wants one.

If your boy hasn't one he must feel pretty blue to be left behind when his chums ride gayly off to a picnic, or to play ball on the commons a mile or so away, or for a jaunt in the country with the Boy Scouts.

Far better for him to be out riding than loitering on a street corner.

Cycling is one of the cleanest of sports and healthiest of exercises. The pleasure and benefits your boy will receive from riding with the Scouts, or with any of the other organizations active in promoting a standard of clean, manly boyhood in Canada, will repay, many times over, the small cost of a C.C.M. Bicycle.

Just think of the whoop of joy your boy would let out tonight if you told him you were going to get him a bicycle. When you take him down to the C.C.M. dealer's to pick it out he will be the happiest boy in town.

Every C.C.M. Bicycle is a bear for punishment. It will stand up under the hardest usage a healthy boy will give it. The frames of reinforced English Seamless Tubing are marvels of strength. The bearings are of flint-hard steel of extreme accuracy. The rims of second growth hard maple are exceptionally durable. The lustrous enameling and bright nickeling are weatherproof.

The boys' and girls' models, as well as adults, are equipped with the famous Triplex Crank Hanger, that makes pedalling so easy, and with the C.C.M. Hercules Brake that coasts so freely and stops so quickly

There's a model for your boy whatever his age—including the Curved Bar model, the bicycle the boy won't outgrow, and a dashing Sport Model for the older boys and adults. Also neat, trim models for girls. C.C.M.s are $15 to $20 less than the "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's Value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

Take your boy or your girl with you to the C.C.M. dealer's. Get the bicycle now and let him enjoy a whole long season's pleasure. You can pay in instalments if desired.

FIRST MEDICAL SIGN PAINTED ON SHUTTER

Grand Old Man of Canadian Medicine Tells of Independent Days for Doctors

There were no medical laws sixty years ago, when Dr. J. S. Black, the grand old man of medicine in Nova Scotia, began to practice. Registration, when it was made compulsory at last, in 1875, had to be verbatim, he says in some racy reminiscences in the April bulletin of the Medical Society of Nova Scotia.

"I well remember the first medical sign I ever saw in Nova Scotia," he writes, "I think it was in 1862, at my first visit to the province, riding towards Wolfville, on the old post road. I saw a small unpainted house, on a window of which was a shutter, which I thought was a large box cover, and on this was painted, in good sized black letters, 'T. R. Jones, M.D.' I never saw the man, but he must have been a character, from the stories told of him. He was shrewd and Irish and had the very pleasant wit of his countrymen.

"One story is as follows: Someone told him that he must get a license from the medical board at Halifax, or he would be fined. Straightway he posted to Halifax for his license. He was referred there to Dr. John Slayter. The doctor saw that he had a character before him, and humored him. 'Mr. Jones,' he said, 'I understand you have a large number of cases of diphtheria in your practice.' 'I have that,' said Jones. Then the doctor asked, 'Would you tell me what is your treatment of this disease; I understand you have much success in its treatment?' 'Ah,' said Jones, in proud, rich brogue, and putting his thumb to his nose, 'and wouldn't you like to know?' So ended the examination for license."

No More Pains In His Back

That's Why Manitoba Man Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. Stephen Kozak Found Relief and Tells Other Sufferers to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Otno, Man., May 12th, (Special). —"After I had used six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt no more pain in my back, and no unpleasant taste in my mouth in the mornings. This relief is due to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

This statement is made by Mr. Stephen Kozak, who lives in this place. He sends this as a guidance to other sufferers. There are two things certain in this world: one is that everybody is liable at some time or other to an attack of Kidney Trouble, the other is that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieve all forms of Kidney disease, such as Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Bladder Troubles, Gravel and Urinary Disorders, even when other remedies have failed.

Every sufferer who tries Dodd's Kidney Pills is delighted with the comforting relief that they so quickly create. Thousands are buying and using them solely through the recommendation of their friends who first discovered their relieving and healing properties.

Dodd's Kidney Pills can be obtained from all druggists.

CYRIL RICE, BOY SOLOIST

Gives Fine Vocal Recital at Church of St. Mary Magdalene, on Wednesday Night.

The large assemblage at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, on Wednesday evening, enjoyed a splendid musical treat and every number in the programme rendered by Cyril Rice, boy soloist of the Church of the Transfiguration, (the Little Church Around the Corner), New York, was a masterpiece.

The programme was arranged in five groups and gave ample scope for his wonderful voice. His voice is rich, full and naturally very sweet and has been so finely trained that every note is clear and sound like the tone of a silver bell.

The compass is so great that he can run the whole gamut from the highest to the lowest in the scale, to perfection, and without any effort.

Cyril Rice, whose parents reside at Hamilton, Ont., has been taking a vacation of three months' duration, and has been giving recitals at many places in the Western States and in Canada, as far west as the Pacific Coast. He concludes his tour at Halifax, N.S., on the 21st instant.

Leslie Botts, his accompanist, is a talented musician.

Programme.

1. (a) "Ninety-first Psalm", Mac-Diarmid; (b) "My Task", Ashford.
2. (a) "Ballad of the Trees, The Master", Chadwick; (b) "His Salvation is Nigh Them", Bennett.
3. (a) "He Wipes the Tear", Lee; (b) "Legend", Tschaikowsky.
4. (a) "Christ in Flanders", Ward Stephens; (b) "Lost Chord", Sullivan.
5. (a) "Cry of Rachel", Mary T. Salter; (b) "Abide With Me", Liddle.
Cyril Rice, Soloist.
Leslie Bott, Accompanist.

ANNUAL MEETING.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity Church, the following resolution was passed unanimously:—

Resolved, That we, the members of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Trinity Church, place on record our grateful appreciation of the long and faithful services rendered by our retiring President, Mrs. W. F. Hall. We realize that to her efficient leadership, her sound judgment and her unfailing courtesy, much of the success that has attended the work of this Society, is due. We regret the circumstances that compel her resignation as our presiding officer, but we trust that in the capacity of Honorary President, she may continue to aid us by the counsel which her long years of experience qualify her to give."

Mrs. Hall was presented with Mother's Day, with twenty crimson roses, one for each year of faithful service.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. W. F. Hall.
President—Mrs. M. C. Bogart.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. G. H. Cowan.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. J. R. Dafoe.
Rec. Secty.—Miss Alma Thompson.
Assistant Secty.—Mrs. W. J. Tregoath.
Treasurer—Mrs. H. Creighton.
Committee—Mrs. J. L. Boyes, Mrs. Geo. Thompson, Mrs. Geo. Gibb, Mrs. A. W. Grange, Mrs. Geo. Baughan, Mrs. Frank Allison.

CONWAY WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The May meeting of the Conway Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. P. Young, on Tuesday, May 13th, at the usual hour. About twenty members were present. After singing the opening hymn followed by the Lord's Prayer, the Secretary read the financial report. Miss Eleanor Hamm gave two fine piano selections. A vote was given of $15 to purchase linen for the room in Kingston General Hospital, for which the Conway Institute provides. Plans were arranged for the entertainment of the delegate, Miss Eva Langton, who will speak in Conway Methodist Church at the June meeting on June 17th. Lunch will be served in the church basement. Then followed the election of officers. Mrs. John Spearing for the new President; Mrs. A. P. Young, Vice President; Mrs. Norman Galt, Secretary; Mrs. J. C. Pickard, Press Reporter; Mrs. John Young to read current events. After this, our retiring President, Mrs. A. P. Young, presented Mrs. Spearing with a basket of bedding, which the Institute had bought and made up for her. Mrs. Spearing, in a few well chosen words, thanked the Institute for the honors it has conferred on her, and spoke of the inspiration she had received during the time she has been a member. Mrs. Alex. Sills and Mrs. W. Craven were appointed to audit the books for the year. These were found to be correct, with a balance on hand of over ninety dollars. After more music by Miss Hamm, the meeting closed with the National Anthem. The hostess served a dainty lunch, and all departed well satisfied with the record for the year.

This screen event marks a vital epoch in photoplay history inasmuch as it is the first instance in which a great star has resurrected from the past the picture which won her a permanent place in the photoplay hall of fame and prodded it for a second time on an elaborated scale, taking advantage of all the progress the film-making industry has made in the intervening years. Also a special Comedy.

BOWLING.

The 1924 Bowling Season Opens With Games Monday Afternoon and Evening, May 26th.

The Executive and Management Committee of the Napanee Bowling Club met at the Club House on Tuesday evening and arranged suitable games for the opening of the season.

The prospects for a successful season never looked brighter. The green, under the direction of the veteran chairman of the Green's Committee, Mr. W. C. Smith, is exceptionally keen. In fact, the whole property, with its spacious club house, is one of the beauty spots of the town. We do not know of another town in Canada the size of Napanee, that has a club that can be mentioned, much less compared with our present bowling club.

The officers feel that every man in town should take an active interest in the welfare of the club. The membership list is still open. You are cordially invited to be a guest of the Club on opening day. If you like the crowd the Secretary would be glad to add your name to the list.

Promptly at 2.30 Monday afternoon the first game will be started. The President games will be played, when the Vice-President, Mr. W. A. Geary, will proceed to demonstrate to the Vice President, Mr. W. P. Deroche, just how this game should be played.

NEWBURGH

When we note the efforts that are being made by the Progressive group in Ottawa to have legislation go through that they think will be for their advantage, and their apparent disregard for the interests of the older Provinces, one is led to wonder what the reason is for such an attitude, for like most things there is a reason for it, although there may be some doubt as to whether there is any reasoned out plan or purpose by the people of the newer provinces. They are influenced by conditions rather than reason, and we fear they have not stopped to think of what has brought these conditions about.

We have heard a good deal about the hardships of pioneer life in the West, its isolation and so on. If we compare pioneer life in the West with pioneer life in Ontario we will get near the source of their trouble out there. A man could go into one of those western provinces and in ten years or less get returns that would be three life times he ate in Ontario. Therefore the pioneer got the habit of living on the get rich quick principle, and each thing as economy, as we have learned to practice in Ontario, was unknown. Their whole business was based on expectation. They had been successful in the past, way not so far in the future. But there came a time when these expectations were not realized and still they went on spending, if not in cash then on credit. Now they are up against it hard and they do not realize what hit them, and they are willing to better their condition even at the expense of many of them regarded as old slow going Ontario. Some of them are finding a solution if they do not get what they want. When we know the country as pure hogs with outstanding qualities which fitted them to take advantage of opportunities that the country offered, and they too fell into the get rich quick idea, and because that idea has left its mark on expansion for the time being, they are disappointed.

They are not, however, lost the knack of taking advantage of circumstances to turn them to their own account and that is what they are doing now in the House at Ottawa. They are practically dictating to the Government that is too weak to carry on without them. They are using their political position either from a party or a sectional standpoint but from a class standpoint. We cannot close our eyes to the fact that things have come to a pass in this country when it requires a firm hand from a strong government to deal with them and it becomes important that when the electors get a chance that they will make a wise choice in selecting a government that will deal with things rather than party. The opportunity to make a choice may not come very soon, but RICHARD put gear to your thinking cap as the members can make at least, and "a hint to the hand is worth two in the hand".

GIVES UP ALL HOPE OF FINDING YOUTHS

MOTOR BOATS SEARCH LAKE FOR DROWNED CHUMS.

Mr. Luman Sherwood, 4 Regent street, Ottawa, telephoned his wife from Montreal on Tuesday night that, after being out on the Lake of the Two Mountains all day in a motor boat, and after making an exhaustive search, no trace had been found of his son, Howard, aged 21, and Drummond Naftel, aged 23, who left Hudson, Que., in a canoe, paddling in the St. Lawrence river last Saturday, and who have not been seen since.

Mrs. Sherwood, when informed of the search, said that she had given up all hope of finding her son alive. She said that her husband told her that no search was made on Monday, as the lake was too rough, but that on Tuesday several motor boats had gone over the lake in every direction with no results. The red and green canoe in which the boys were last seen was found on Tuesday in the river near Senneville.

Members of the Sherwood family had hoped that the two youths had taken refuge on one of the small islands on the Lake of the Two Mountains after their canoe had overturned. It is now thought that both Howard and his friend were drowned as the water in the lake is icy cold, and both young men were exhausted in the cold waters and sank. Both youths were expert swimmers and skilful canoeists.

Mrs. Sherwood said that the search would continue on Thursday but that she had no hope. She had a letter from Howard a few days ago, but he didn't mention taking any canoe trip. He met Drummond Naftel, chum, who came to Montreal after a winter's cruising for the Wawagamack Pulp and Paper Company, and the chums decided to celebrate their reunion with what developed in a fatal canoe trip. Howard had been home at Easter.

Howard Sherwood was well known and exceptionally popular in Ottawa. He was educated at Ottawa Public Schools, the Ottawa Collegiate Institute, and the Ottawa Technical school. He left Ottawa two years ago to take a student's course in the Canadian National Railways, Montreal. He was a clever draughtsman and won a prize at the Toronto Exhibition last year with a drawing. He also preparing another one for this year's exhibition.

Drummond Naftel, his chum, is a son of Mr. F. J. Naftel, of the staff of the Bank of Montreal, Montreal. Howard Sherwood is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sherwood, Napanee.

$118,500,000 FROM U. S. AUTO TOURISTS

Over 385,000 Motor Vehicles of All Kinds in Canada.

The total registration of all classes of motor vehicles in Canada last year was 385,079, according to circular number 5 of the highway branch of the Department of Railways and Canals. They included 515,077 passenger automobiles, 54,253 commercial trucks, 1,937 busses, 8,211 motor cycles. In the various provinces 5,683 different dealers and manufacturers were licensed. There was an increase of 13 per cent in the registration of passenger vehicles over 1922 and in commercial vehicles of 18 per cent.

The gross total of all revenues collected in the pine provinces and the Yukon Territory, from registration, licences, fees, etc., amounted to $11,402,121.63, an increase of 22 per cent.

A large increase is shown in the number of automobiles from the United States last year for touring. There were registered from one to six months 1,956 motor vehicles; for two to thirty days, 272,444 motor vehicles, and for 24 hours, 1,052,290 motor vehicles.

The report states: "Assuming that each vehicle so registered at the different border ports carried four passengers each, who spent $5 daily per person during their sojourn in Canada and for the shorter periods, all remained the full time of their permits, and for the longer periods one-half of the time, the amount of money expended in the different provinces last year would amount to nearly $118,500,000." The circular contains extensive information regarding motor vehicles and highways.

Making wash day pleasant—

Just use Rinso where you used to use soap—for soaking, boiling, or in your washing machine.

THE hardest part of wash-day, rubbing, rubbing, rubbing, has given way to the new method of soaking the clothes clean with Rinso. This wonderful new soap gently loosens the dirt and a thorough rinsing leaves things white and glistening as you never could get them before.

Only spots where the dirt is ground-in, such as neck bands, cuff edges, and the like need a light rubbing, and a little dry Rinso rubbed on these spots quickly makes the dirt disappear.

Rinso is sold by all grocers and department stores

—a factor in modern business and social activity

IF the automobile were suddenly withdrawn from our modern business and social life, do you realize how speedy and complete would be the disorganization?

Wider in its influence and effect than any other factor of present-day existence—the automobile has become of vital importance to commerce and society.

And Chevrolet can claim a prominent place in automobile progress, because it has brought quality and dependability within the realm of the popular-priced car.

Chevrolet transportation is the most economical per mile. Chevrolet reliability is an established fact among motor-car users. Chevrolet exceeds expectations in the beauty of its appearance and the completeness of its appointments.

The Chevrolet Utility Coupe (with its handsome "body by Fisher") is the choice of the commercial user—the business or professional man, or salesman, whose business or automobile has assisted or materially. The Utility Coupe is a car of which anyone may well feel proud.

LED BRITISH ARMY IN MESOPOTAMIA

Major-General Sir Charles B. F. Townshend Dies in France.—Kut-el-Amara Hero.

Paris, May 18.—Major-General Sir Charles B. F. Townshend, famous as the defender of Kut-el-Amara when he was commander of the British forces in Mesopotamia during the World War, died here to-day after six months' illness. He was on a visit to his mother-in-law, Countess Oskar d'Anvers, at the time of his death.

Major-General Townshend was born in 1861. He entered the Royal Marines in 1881 and saw extensive military service in Egypt, India and South Africa.

At the outbreak of the World War he was given command of the British forces in the attempt to take Bagdad from the Turks. After a few initial successes the Turks, greatly outnumbered the British, drove back Gen. Townshend's forces to Kut-el-Amara, the British suffering heavy losses in their retreat. From December, 1915, to April, 1916, the British gallantly held Kut-el-Amara, but finally were compelled to surrender.

During the siege British aviators several times flew over Kut-el-Amara and dropped food to the starving troops inside. General Townshend declared afterwards that Kut-el-Amara never was captured by the Turks; that the town fell after 148 days of seige from starvation and mental and physical hardships which were indescribable. The Turkish commander permitted Gen. Townshend to retain his sword when the town fell.

The British official report at the time of the capitulation announced that the British force numbered 8,970 men. Gen. Townshend was released by the Turks when Turkey signed the armistice on October 30, 1918.

Tells Just Why She Is So Thankful

Ontario Lady Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

She Had Suffered With Bladder Trouble for Years, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Quickly Relieved Her.

Bright, Ont., May 19th, (Special)—"I received your Dodd's Almanac and have been going to write to you ever since. I am the mother of four children and have had very bad bladder trouble. I took different medicines and all the time it kept getting worse. At last my mother told me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I got two boxes and they have completely relieved me. I have never been so thankful for anything in my life, as I was for those pills." This statement is made by Mrs. Henry D. Christensen, well known resident of this place.

Women's troubles, or nearly all of them, come from sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will relieve kidney trouble, no matter where or in what form it is.

Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

Ask your neighbor if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

The plaintiff was suing a motor-car company for negligence on the part of one of the drivers.

The case was going much against the company, and it was clear to all that the evidence of the plaintiff had very favorably impressed the judge and jury. This did not improve the temper of the counsel for the defendant, and when cross-examining he waxed very sarcastic.

"As a matter of fact," he said sardonically, "you were nearly scared to death, and you don't know whether it was a motor-car, or something resembling a motor-car, that hit you."

"Mayn't you, then," the plaintiff replied calmly, "that I was forcibly struck by the resemblance?"

They were standing at the front gate. "Won't you come into the parlor for a little while, Bobbie dear?"

"No-o-o, I guess not," replied Bobbie hesitatingly.

"I wish you would," the girl went on, all her artless innocence. "Mother has gone out, and father is upstairs with rheumatism in the legs."

"Both legs?" asked Bobbie.

"Yes, both legs."

"Then I'll come in a little while."

SOME FOAL DISEASES

Two Stomach Troubles That Try the Youngsters.

Acute Indigestion And Its Treatment —Cause, Symptoms and Treatment of Gastric Impaction—Sunflower Stalks—It's a Great Feeling.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Acute Indigestion.

This trouble is frequently seen at seeding time, during the rush of spring work when the brood mares that are nursing young foals are required to labor in the field. The mare becomes overheated at work and may be away from the foal for five or six hours. When she comes in at noon or night and the colt is given opportunity to nurse, conditions are not normal in that there is an oversupply of milk, or more milk than is good for a hungry colt at one time, and the milk is also probably altered somewhat due to the overheating of the body during labor in the field. The colt is permitted to nurse and after a few days stomach practice, develops dyspepsia. The disease usually takes the form of a diarrhoea. The colt becomes dull, may have abdominal pain, lies down a great deal of the time, loses appetite, may be noticed grinding its teeth, or with purulent discharge from the eyes.

Prevention is the most desirable course, and this disorder can be kept down by creating normal conditions for the mare and foal. If the mare must work, care should be taken not to overheat her in harness, and not to keep her away from the foal for more than three or four hours. If her udder is distended and painful, milk part of the contents away by hand before permitting the colt to nurse. The sanitary conditions about the stable or box should be the best, and the food that is being given to the mare should be such as to promote a normal, healthy milk flow.

Treatment—If there is a competent, graduate veterinary practitioner available, it is advisable to call him. If there is no veterinary assistance available, the following treatment can be given. Give a small dose of calomel, and follow with an intestinal antiseptic. If diarrhoea continues, it should be checked by giving tincture of opium or chlorodyne and castor oil. Brandy and eggs, or milk and eggs can be given frequently and in small amounts until conditions are normal. Water is very important, but see that it is warm.

Gastric Impaction.

What killed the colt? A number of foals are lost each year in every district through gastric impaction, a disorder occurring during the first week following weaning in foals that are weaned too young. The foal's stomach has been dealing with milk pretty much during the first three months, and it has not developed to a condition that will permit of the successful handling of coarse feeds. The colt that is weaned too early in life is at a disadvantage. It has depended upon its mother for the greater part of its food and also protection. If suddenly deprived of its mother, the colt gets quite a shock. If may not have learned to drink and feed of itself, and may not know the whereabouts of the feed and water supply. Colts that have been with their mother and dams usually know the ways of the stable. But the colt that has run out in the pasture field with its mother all its life has not had an opportunity of such experience, and consequently is at a loss when suddenly taken from the field, transferred to the stable and separated from its mother. The colt after separation is excited and may live for a few days, refusing feed, or eating and not drinking.

Symptoms, which usually occur four or five days after weaning, the colt may lie down a good deal of the time, grunts, becomes restless, showing pain, rises down and gets up, bowels irregular, some distension of flank, pain (evidenced on touching regions of stomach), temperature may be sub-normal at start and increasing later, becomes sleepy and stupid, staggery gait. Post mortem shows the stomach to be full, much enlarged, walls thin and pale in color and the contents a doughy mass.

Treatment—If too case has reached a point of development where the colt is sleepy, stupid and staggery in gait, little can be done. The earliest stages can be reserved by the application of mustard, not blanket, of sufficient ointment to the abdomen of the colt, warm enemas given. Encourage colt to drink by putting salt on back of mouth. Give bay tea, strong coffee, bycarbonate of soda and abundant warm water. Purgatives are of little use. Friction to of kneading the abdomen gives some relief. Water is very important.

"The weaning of colts should be gradual, and not until the colt is well versed in the ways of feeding and the whereabouts of feed. A little attention given to the colt a month ahead of the time that it is decided to separate it from its mother will save considerable trouble later.

The Sunflower Stalks.

The pith of sunflower stalks is said to be the lightest vegetable substance. Dried sunflower pith is in fact ten times lighter than cork.

In central Russia where the plant is extensively cultivated, every part of the plant is put to some use.

The pith in particular is carefully removed from the stalk and used in making life saving appliances.

It's a Great Feeling.

Did you ever look a man in the eye who was talking about something you know all about and he thought he did but you knew he didn't? That is the feeling and the pleasure that comes to one who is keeping books and knows what he is doing.

Smith bought a business through an agent and is going concern. After six months he failed, but took his trouble very lightly. Meeting the agent some time later, he said: "Do you remember selling me a business as a going concern?" "Yes, of course I do," replied the agent. "Well," said Smith, "it's gone."

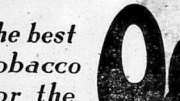
Cheap Paint? Here is the Answer!

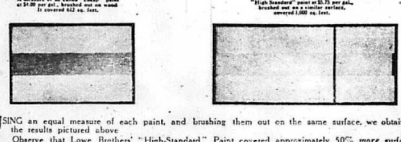


USING an equal measure of each paint, and brushing them out on the same surface, we obtained the results pictured above

Observe that Lowe Brothers' "High-Standard" Paint covered approximately 50% more surface and covered it better than the so called "cheap" paint.

From this actual test it will be seen that it would take approximately 3 gallons of "Cheap" paint to do a job that would require only 2 gallons of Lowe Brothers' "High Standard" Paint.

Practically applied to a house it would work out this way:—



These houses are both of the same type, and each has a painting area of 2,000 square feet.

To paint this house (2,000 sq. ft.) with "cheap" paint Mr. A required 6½ gals. at $4.00 per gal.	$26.00	To paint this house (2,000 sq. ft.) with Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint, Mr. B required 4 gals. at $5.75	$23.00
It takes a painter 1 day to apply 1 gal. of paint, therefore to apply 6½ gals. of "cheap" paint it took 6½ days at $5.00 per day	$32.50	A painter can usually apply in a day more Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint than any other, but figuring on an equal basis of 1 gal. per day, it took 4 days at $5.00 per day	$20.00
Total cost	$58.50	Total cost	$43.00

By using Lowe Brothers' High Standard Paint Mr. B. saved $3.00 on the cost of paint and $12.50 on the cost of labor—a total saving of $15.50 on the complete job.

Never Figure the Cost of Paint by what it costs "per gallon." So-called "cheap" paint is the dearest you can buy measured by "job cost, which is the only true measure of paint performance.

Before you paint consult us. We will be glad to show you how to paint most economically, and to give you color cards and other information for your guidance.

The Chairman of the gas company was making a popular address.

"Think of the good the gas company has done," he cried. "If I were permitted a pun, I would say in the words of the immortal poet, 'Honor the light brigade'."

At this point a consumer jumped up with a shout: "Oh, what a charge they made !"

The kindly old party—there has to be one kind, in every batch of jokes—stopped in the park.

"And what is your name, little girl?" he asked genially.

"You better be careful," replied Sophisticated Sallie. "I'll call a cop!"

Experienced painters are dubious of an overly "thick" paint. Many firms use a chemical substance for this purpose. B. & H. English Paint is only as thick as the proper proportion of white lead, linseed oil and pure turpentine make it. This world famous paint for sale at Wallace's.

GREEN TEA IMPORTS LARGER

Statistics from Ottawa show that in 1923, 553,977 pounds more Green Tea were brought into Canada than in 1921, and 907,728 pounds more than in 1922. The reason given is that the fine quality Green Teas of India and Ceylon have displaced the inferior Japan and China Greens which, due to their low price, were imported heavily some years ago. Salada Tea Company is the largest importer of India and Ceylon Green Teas.

NAPANEE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

During the past year, ten regular meetings of the Napanee branch of the Women's Institute have been held in the Agricultural rooms. One hundred and twenty-one members have been enrolled in that time, with an average attendance of 33.2. Outsiders as well as members of the Institute assisted in making the meetings a success.

Six addresses and four demonstrations have been given during the year, "Getting the Most Out of the Day" and "Making the Institute More Progressive and Helpful", by Mrs. Laura R. Stephen; "Methods of Improving Our Institute", Mesdames Haight and Young; "Travel Talk of Her Trip on the Continent", Mrs. W. S. Herrington; "Delegate's Report of Convention at Ottawa", Mrs. Ella Wager. The demonstrations were also given by members of the Institute. These proved very helpful and instructive. They were: "Demonstration of Dako", Mrs. W. J. Doller; "Tests for Wool, Silk and Linen Materials", Mrs. Ralph Ham; "Candy Making", Mrs. Susie Robinson; "Judging Cake", by the members.

An interesting feature of the meetings was the Talk on Current Events, by Mrs. Ella Wager.

A unique meeting, worthy of mention, was held on Grandmothers' Day, when many old relics were displayed by the members.

A two weeks' night class in "Food Values and Cooking" was given under the able leadership of Miss Hopkins. This course was much appreciated by the younger members of our Institute. The Department has been requested to conduct the regular ten day course to be followed by a shorter course in advanced cookery early next March, with Miss Hopkins again in charge.

We are closing a very successful year with bright prospects for the future.

The following are the officers for the ensuing year:

WEDDING BELLS.

Barker—Pringle.

It is but seldom that South Napanee has witnessed such a pretty wedding as was performed at the Bay Parsonage, by the Rev. W. H. Truscott, on Wednesday, May 7th, when Mr. Hilliard Barker was joined in matrimony to Miss Hazel Pringle.

Although the wedding was kept somewhat secret, it soon leaked out, and a quite interest was soon manifested by the happy couple's friends, for Miss Pringle was a special favourite of a wide circle of well wishers. Hazel was a member of Grace Church, also the Choir, Sunday School and Mission Circle. She certainly looked charming in her dress of blue silk, which was trimmed with gold beads. Her bridesmaid's dress was sand silk crepe-de-chene with silver beads and hat to match.

After the ceremony the happy party went to the bride's home for the wedding feast. The decorations were very pretty and the table decorated with May flowers.

After the repast the bridal party motored to Kingston to the home of Mr. Barker's parents. On going away the bride wore a navy blue gaberdine suit with sand hat and shoes to match. They were showered with rice and confetti. The happy couple intend to live in Kingston, where Mr. Barker holds a responsible position, and the best wishes of a large number of friends go out to them.

Miss Olive Crowse, the bridesmaid, and Mr. James Meek'ewar, the best man, were also united in matrimony at the same time, and their appearance added to the general charm and impressiveness of the whole ceremony.

HAYBURN

The farmers here are gearing a smile since the rain has passed over.

— The beating of carpets can be heard in the distance, proclaiming that housecleaning is in progress for the busy housewife. — Mr. John Magee sports a new buggy. — Mr. Steve Black is still buying hogs and calves. He's a busy man.—Mr. H. Embury spent Tuesday in town. The mumps are prevailing in this neighborhood. — Don't forget the big day at the U. E. L. Church at Hay Bay on Wednesday, June 4th. Dinner will be served on the church grounds.—Mr. H. Galt is sporting around in his new Overland 4. — Mrs. Arthur Thompson and mother, Mrs. Loyst, are spending a couple of weeks at the Willow Lodge.—A wee baby has come to make its home at Will Brooks'.—Miss Doris Rikley, we are glad to say, is improving nicely. — The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Henry Loyst on Tuesday last. — Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Young, Vera and Flossie, also their son, Percy Young, spent Friday in town. — The baseball players met on the ball grounds on Tuesday evening. — Mrs. E. Embury and family spent the week-end at the farm.—Mr. and Mrs. Rhoyden Drummond, of Detroit, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Loyst.

Smith bought a business through an agent as a going concern. After six months he failed, but took his trouble very lightly. Meeting the agent some time later, he said: "Do you remember selling me a business as a going concern?" "Yes, of course I do," replied the agent. "Well," said Smith, "it's gone."

$480,000 INSURANCE FOR DOUG FAIRBANKS

Famous Star Carried This Sum While Producing "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood"

While "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood", which is the weighty title of Douglas Fairbanks' new film-play, a United Artists release coming next Wednesday and Thursday, May 28th and 29th, to the Wonderland Theatre, was in the making, this master of celluloid thrills carried nearly half a million dollars in life insurance, all of which was in addition to the usual amount of protection of this kind that has been written for him.

The exact amount of the insurance carried during the filming of the Robin Hood picture was $480,000, written in two policies by Lloyds. The first policy of $300,000 was for death from any cause, accident, and all sickness from the first day of April to the thirty-first of July. The second policy of $180,000 was for accidental death and covered the same period of time.

The reason for this large amount of insurance, said to be one of the biggest sums ever placed against an individual, was due to the danger and risk attendant to the filming of this extravagant picture. That no portion of it was collected is a tribute to the skill of the magnetic and agile Douglas.

YARKER

We have been having much rain lately and are very glad to see the sun shining once more. — Mrs. D. Smith, of Ottawa, is spending a few days at Mrs. A. E. Holland's. — Mr. and Mrs. Earle Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holland, of Enterprise, spent Saturday and Sunday in town. — The ball team of Yarker played an exhibition game with Sydenham on Sunday and won the game, the score being 23 to 7. Hope they do well all year. — Dr. and Mrs. Oldham have gone to Toronto for a few days. — Mrs. Irish is moving back to her old home in Yarker.—We are omitting the list of Sunday visitors in the Yarker correspondence and are of the same opinion as the Newburgh correspoidents. — Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holland and Mrs. Earle Lee spent Wednesday in Kingston. — Mr. and Mrs. George Curle and Pansy spent Monday night in Napanee.

"How about doing something to put Crimson Gulch on the map?"

"There's a difference of opinion about the advisability of so doing," rejoined Cactus Joe. "Several prominent citizens are apprehensive that if you give a traveller a map showing the Gulch's location it'll only increase his facilities for takin' some other road."

When your friends took a trip abroad they invariably brought back some of Yardley's Old English Lavender Toilet preparations. These are now offered for sale at Wallace's.

Largest Hole In the World

The most interesting diamond mine in the world is not at Kimberley, but near Pretoria—the Premier mine, "the largest hole in the world."

The great open Kimberley mine can still be seen, but the actual working there, as elsewhere in that district, has now to take place underground, as the diamond-bearing "blue" clay nearer the surface has been exhausted.

The Premier is still an open mine. It is an enormous gaping hole in the middle of the veld, half a mile long and a quarter of a mile broad, with its floor 400 feet lower than the surrounding country. St. Paul's Cathedral, London, could be dropped into it, and no one a few hundred yards from the edge would know where it had gone!

Standing on the brink of its precipitous sides and looking at the hundreds of workers far below, I felt as if I were watching a scene from Dante's "Inferno"—this particular hell, I imagine, being reserved by extremist Labor leaders for shareholders! write the Hon. E. C. Knollys.

Down below us, looking like busy ants, tiny black figures were shovelling the blasted "blue ground" and pushing about small trucks, containing the earth ready for crushing, on the network of rails which lead to the tunnel up which the trucks are dragged to the surface workings. A swinging cage takes one down to the floor of the mine. There one has a more realistic view of the work than the impression but somewhat unreal one from the top. I experienced rather a thrill at finding myself walking on the slaty-blue earth which actually contains the diamonds. But then I realised that in every hundred of these truck-loads, each weighing a ton, only about twenty carats of diamonds would be found.

When I was there not much work was being done, on account of the slump in the diamond trade. In prosperous times there are shifts working throughout the twenty-four hours, some of the most powerful searchlights made being placed at night round the top edge of the mine.

The most impressive moment is at blasting time, which takes place every afternoon to loosen the ground for carting away on the following day. A red danger flag is hoisted in a prominent place. All the workers come out of the mine except those required for lighting the fuses, already placed in position. At a given signal black figures rush along the bottom side of the gaping hole, setting light to the fuses. Having done this, they scurry to shelter in the "bomb proofs," in the centre of the mine. The interval while the time-fuses burn seems an age (in reality it is only one and a half-minutes). One feels that the slower lighters will not gain shelter in time. Then an explosion, another, and then a continuous roar. Rock and earth fly high into the air, sometimes almost up to the surface, reminding one of a miner ragged artillery barrage.

The famous Cullinan diamond, named after the chairman of the company, was found in the Premier Mine, and, in spite of its great size, very bright and it was only part of a still larger stone. The other piece, broken off, has never been found.

The mine has had a remarkable history. Seven diamonds of great size and one in this isolated farm in 1902, the property was hawked round for sale at £1,000,000. To-day the assets exceed three-quarters of a million; more than $115,000,000 worth of diamonds have been extracted from the mine, and its life still appears unlimited. The capital remains at $400,000, for all development has been paid for out of profits. Shares on land are taken into the balance at 50 cents, and diamonds on hand at 25 cents. A remarkable record!—Montreal Herald and Weekly Star.

Dutch Coffee Pioneers.

The shrewd and thrifty Dutch were the first in Europe to realise the commercial possibilities of coffee; but before this, about 1615, the Venetian traders had already introduced the beverage into Europe. There is a difference of opinion as to the country where coffee was first cultivated but indications are that the plant is indigenous to Abyssinia and probably Arabia, whence its cultivation spread through the tropics. Definite mention was made of the properties of the plant by an Arabian physician about the end of the ninth century, but its cultivation was slow until the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. An attempt to cultivate coffee on European soil was made at Dijon, France, about 1670, but was unsuccessful. Marseilles was the first French city to take to coffee-drinking. Lyons following suit, then the custom reaching Paris about 1657.

Strange Companions.

A correspondent at Sydney, N.S. W., sends the following strange story:

More than three years ago a tortoise crawled into the grounds of Marengo Chave, Morpeth, New South Wales, the residence of Captain D. H. Marshall. At the same time a bat appeared.

The tortoise and the bat were friends, and their association caused much amusement. After wandering about the grounds for many months the tortoise left, followed by the bat.

Neither the tortoise nor the bat was seen again for three years, but recently Captain Marshall was astonished by the reappearance in his grounds of the tortoise and the bat.

During their absence they had made a new friend—a magpie, and the queer trio now live in amity.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Watson—Did your watch stop when it dropped on the floor?

Joson—Of course it did. Did you think it would go through it?

Corn cannot exist when Holloway's Corn Remover is applied to them, because it goes to the root and kills the growth.

Old Gentleman—Why are you fishing on Sunday? Don't you know you ought to be at school?

Small Boy—There, now! I knew I'd forgotten something.

No child should be allowed to suffer an hour from worms when prompt relief can be had in a simple but strong remedy—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

"What's the matter, little girl?" "Them boys were fightin' and I got hit with a stone."

"That's it; the innocent bystander always gets hurt."

"Yes, I don't know as I was an innocent bystander, I was what they call a fightin' fool."

The Family Physician. — The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor, and when you want him in such a crisis, remind some surgeons the use of Holloway's Corn Cure, Holloway's Ointment and Holloway's Pills. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and chilling aches, sprains, bruises and sprains. The importance of this reminder in the family medicine chest cannot be overrated.

In his announcement on a Sunday morning the vicar regretted that money was not coming in fast enough—but he was not pressing for it now.

"We have tried," he said, "to raise the necessary money in a usual manner, and have failed miserably. Now we are going to see what a miracle can do."

Your Horse Medicine Chest, — Always keep in the household remedies that should always be on hand in case of sudden illness, and there is none more important than Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Its marvellous usefulness in the cure of bodily ailments is known to many thousands on account of which it should be kept in every household. Where there is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil there is relief from colds, coughs, pleurisy, pneumonia, croup, sore throat, quinsy, bronchitis, asthma, burns, scalds, bruises and sprains.

"I never traded any of them second-hand nothin' in livestock," said Offkins. "There's an alley way to the barn, and they'd come back. You get a pinnick, and you run it across a stool. Then you run a big storm. Put the pinnick on one end of the stool, and along in the alley end, and shift the whole outfit in the middle. Then you divide the weight of the stone, and you have the weight in the pinnick."

Don't Submit to Asthma. — If you suffer without cause of breaking the chain which binds you to misery and despair, get a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. A trial will drive away the fear of suffering. Then you can feel that cause will convince you of its merits. When help is so sure, why suffer? This remedy is enjoying a good deal of sale everywhere.

Another Orwell story is going the rounds of the city parks. It is that Mr. Orwell appeared in court on behalf of a client for the modest fee of $5, which upon being paid by the client was demonstrated with him that the amount was $2 less than a solicitor's ordinary unprofessional.

"Unprofessional," exclaimed Birdsall, with mock indignation, "when I fall off the poor fellow's roof?"

Minard's Worm Powders attack worms in the stomach and intestines as sheep, and no worm can come in contact with them and live. They also correct the unhealthy conditions in the system on which worms thrive and eventually destroy, putting up remedies that are most beneficial to the growth of the child. They have attained their power in hundreds of homes and at all times are thoroughly trustworthy.

FLIES AND LIVE STOCK

How to Bring Relief to Farm Animals in Summer.

Description of the Stable Fly—The Treatment Usually Offered—Other Remedies Suggested — Stars Threshing Has Advantages.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture.)

The fly is a destroyer of profits. The annoyance that the various pests of live stock suffer from this cause during the summer period can be estimated with fair accuracy and expressed as loss in pounds of milk, pounds of pork or worn out draught animals per year from morning until night. The worry to greater or lesser degree during the period of greatest light and heat—nature.

Description of the Fly.

The common stable fly, also known as Stomoxys Calcitrans, resembles the common house fly in size and shape. The stable fly bites fierce battles, giving quick, sharp stabs. It is more vicious than most house flies and will follow you when driven away. In such cases, remedies suggested in the case of stable flies are effective, and are harmless to the stock they attack. Cows feed on anything that looks appetizing. At other times they seek rest quietly on the common herds of the fields, while during hot weather they go to large open spaces where there is a breeze to keep them at a distance from the flies.

The Treatment Usually Offered.

To prevent the stable fly from injuring animals, powerful chemicals are used, which are applied to the animal's body and sometimes cause great irritation. Other remedies are used which are free from irritating qualities to the animal, but are not effective to keep them at a distance.

The Treatment Suggested.

Poisons and traps are commonly used and are made very various. Some are made by mixing powdered arsenic with sweetening substances and moistening. A strong solution of the most powerful is put in a shallow receptacle. Mix Two molasses, one pound sugar with 1 to 2 quarts of water, with arsenic equal, and place in a shallow plate the size required and put where stock cannot get at it. Poison traps are made by cutting a hole in the side of a barrel, about the size of a man's head, and placing in it a piece of meat. Then cover the hole with wire netting, leaving a small opening, through which the flies can enter but not get out. Poison the meat with arsenic as above, and a little sugar. Another trap is made by cutting a hole in the side of a barrel, about the size of a man's head, and placing in it a piece of meat. Then cover the hole with wire netting, leaving a small opening, through which the flies can enter but not get out. Poison the meat with arsenic as above, and a little sugar. Then cover the hole with wire netting, leaving a small opening, through which the flies can enter but not get out. Poison the meat with arsenic as above, and a little sugar.

Dissolve one pound sugar in water, and turn into 2 gallons of water. Add one pint vinegar to make the solution more palatable. A strong solution of this preparation will be used in a spray to make it lasting the longer.

HINTS FOR HAYMAKING

When to Cut, Tedd, Rake, Coil and Haul In.

Curing Sweet Clover—Harvesting Alfalfa—Handling Red Clover—Timothy Easiest to Cut—Rheumatic Hogs and Their Treatment.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

There is an old saying, "Make hay while the sun shines," with which most of the Wide Tools of the O. A. College agrees; and fortunate is the farmer who gets sunshine for the job. However, with hay to harvest, one cannot always wait for the weather. One of the essentials in the production of good hay is that it be cut at the proper time. It must have gathered maturity or texture during quality, but over maturity means coarse, woody, low quality feed. Sweet clover should be cut in the late bud stage. Alfalfa is ready just as it begins to blossom, and the new shoots are starting at the base of the plants. Red clover is handled to best advantage when approximately one-tenth of the blossoms have turned brown, and timothy just after the second blossom falls.

Curing Sweet Clover.

In curing sweet clover two methods have been followed. Perhaps cutting with the binder and shocking up like grain with the crop is dry rather loaths better and gives as good results as can be obtained. Or the crop may be cut green and allow it to lie in the swath for about two days' sun, and then raked into small windrows. If the weather is dry, about three days in the windrow gets an occasional teeding, leaves it ready to harvest. If the weather is catchy it is advisable to coil the crop as soon as it is raked up.

Harvesting Alfalfa.

Alfalfa is more easily cured than sweet clover. If the weather is fine it may be cut in the morning and raked the afternoon of the following day. It must not be allowed to remain exposed to the dew too many nights or bleaching results. After raking, if the sun shines, one more day in the swath generally makes good hay. If rain threatens put it up immediately and let it make in the coil. In any event be sure it is dry when harvested, and be careful of the leaves in handling as they contribute the most valuable portion of the feed.

Handling Red Clover Hay.

Red clover is the common clover hay crop. Short cut it was followed by one over-ripe because it then cures more easily. It may be handled in the same manner as alfalfa; but, unless the crop is heavy it does not usually take quite as long to cure. The shocker has changed methods to some extent. It is good practice to cut one day, rake the following afternoon, and leave in the next afternoon. If the crop is very heavy it may have to lay over an extra day. It is surprising how much better hay can make, after it has gone to the barn, compared to coiled into windrows. It is also to be noted that hay should be cured down after raking, and not lay around in the coil for a few days to "sweat" with. However, speed of it to attain out of the windrows and dry makes good feed.

Timothy Is Easiest to Cut.

Timothy is the easiest to cure. If crop and weather are right it may be cut one morning and hauled the next afternoon, and, in fair weather, is always ready by the third day. It is not necessary to coil timothy to cure.

No matter what the hay crop, cut in time, take as soon as possible to barn or drying, and you obtain green or damp and coil in extra weather, so mixed alfalfa and red clover may be made into the best hay by coiling, but in good weather this extra work is not necessary, and the longer it remains the harvest.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Rheumatic Hogs.

Rheumatism or swine may affect either the muscular system or the joints the muscular form being most common. Such conditions appear usually several times at once prevalent to the disease. Especially to weather a change of temperature for more or less, rheumatic pains are apparent. The inflammed muscle the body or injured the joints surrounded by a tender, a concentration of the blood, sometimes bridges and fever.

The first remedies to pain should be the medicine used to prevent. It would be well to remove the hogs from the pen to a dry, clean, well-bedded one, and shelter from the weather. Medicinal treatment may be given, and should accompany as much as possible to remove from that to the exceptional case where there is no other remedy from the attack, it might be best to destroy it.

It Udder Leaks Milk.

Leakage of milk from the udder is due to a irritation of the sphincter muscle at the teats. This is not an infrequent occurrence among heavy milkers. Milking three times a day instead of twice a day relieves the strain on the muscles and will help a great deal. Immerse the teat twice daily in a cold saturated solution of alum. A rubber thimble is often very satisfactory in severe cases. Application of caustic to the tip of the teat when the cow is dry may prevent leakage after subsequent calving.

It is far better for co-operative scientists to be "safe" by seeking and heeding advice and information than to be "sorry" by neglecting to secure it, or ignoring it after it is obtained.

A little girl answered the telephone for the first time, and was surprised to hear her father's voice. She burst into tears.

"What's the matter, dear?" asked her mother.

"Oh, mummy," she sobbed, "how on earth shall we ever get daddy out of that little hole?"

'HURRY', LAST PLEA OF 40 DYING MEN

Story of Agony Heard Over Floating Phone From Submarine.

Seattle, Wash.—An unofficial but remarkable sea story comes from Japan, where at the bottom of Nagasaki harbor the crew of the doomed submarine fought for life and recorded it to humanity by means of a floating telephone picked up by a flotilla of rescue boats. There were, in reality, two stories.

One, official, curt and impassive, made public by the Japanese Government, March 19th, says:

"Submarine No. 43 collided with warship near Nagasaki this morning and sank, with loss of forty officers and men."

The unofficial story, given out by Lieut. Commander W. H. Booth, U. S. N., attached to the 13th Naval District here, and reported by the American naval attache in Japan, overflows with human interest. It relates the story of the thoughts of the dying men hour by hour as brought to the surface by the telephone connection.

The first message came about 4.20 o'clock p.m. and the last word heard was at 8.45, when "Hurry, hurry" was cried three times.

The log of death, according to the story, is as follows:

"4.20—Motor stopped. Those in engine room retreated to the motor room. About 2 o'clock an explosion forward put out lights. Salt water and oil running into motor room. Boat inclined to port 50 degrees. Oh, how agonizing it is. Please do something as quick as possible.

"4.27—Survivors now number eighteen. Lieut. Ogawa talking on phone. Breathing is difficult. It is just like when climbing up a hill running.

"4.45—The six air purifiers are distributed one to every three men and they are sucking them by turns. It is pitch dark. With two pocket flash lamps are writing final letters to the world.

"5.55—If floating dock is here please tow us to the shallow.

"5.56—Lieut. Ogawa talking. 'I report to commanding officer, men are making utmost efforts, obeying orders well, calmly attending to duties.' Water coming in, washing our feet. Carbon gas thick, breathing difficult.

"6.40—Is there any chance of our being raised during the day? Is it daytime or night? We are slowly letting air out of reservoir.

"6.50—One man has just dropped. Now two more. Others are trying to climb to higher places, calling to each other, 'Ci, Ci.'

"7.30—In a strong voice 'Banzai' was heard three times, then voices, 'Hurry, hurry,' faintly through the telephone.

"8.10—Lieut. Ogawa, between breaths, managed to say, 'Please do your best for your country; please, please.'

"8.45—Some one called, 'Hurry, hurry,' three times and all ended."

Round the World Air Journey to be Completed in Seventeen Days.

London, May 18.—The press agent of the Imperial Airways, a new £1,000,000 British company, has issued a time table for a round-the-world air trip which, he says, it is possible to complete in seventeen days.

The date when this service will begin is not given, but it will be made by a combination of airplanes and airships.

Flying via Paris, travellers will reach Constantinople the morning after they leave London. Then a long distance airship liner will take them to Australia, which they will reach on the ninth day. Another such cloud clipper will take them to San Francisco.

Express airliners will make the next stage of the journey to New York, which will be reached on the fifteenth day. Two more days will find the travellers back home in London on board a new airship about to be delivered in the United States by the Zeppelins.

1-8tf Wilson's Hardware.

A stranger journeying to a dale in Yorkshire proceeded at the railway station to engage a cab in the horse-vehicle plying to his destination.

Asked if he required a first, second, or third-class ticket, he took a first-class one, though he was not a little mystified by the request.

However, after a five-mile run on the level, the driver pulled up at the foot of a tremendously long, steep hill.

"First class passengers," he directed, "sit still; second-class, get out and walk; third-class, get out and push."

The funeral was held from his home on Sunday afternoon. The remains were taken to Violet cemetery for interment.—The Newburgh correspondent evidently does not approve of Sunday visiting, or at least in having it advertised. Well, he forgets that there are people who enjoy seeing their names in print. Then again, to omit some items it would mean that the balance of the notes would not be noticeable. The correspondents are not all as gifted as the Newburgh correspondent, who writes up editorials that makes Newburgh famous. It also helps to keep our village alive. I heard a remark once that a party said he would not care to live here, but it would certainly be a nice quiet place to die.

Holy Confirmation at Bath.

The Rt. Rev. The Lord Bishop of Ontario visited St. John's, Bath, on Sunday evening, May 11th, and administered the "Apostolic Rite of Holy Confirmation" to a class of 27 young candidates presented by the Rector, Rev. W. G. Swayne. He also installed Mr. G. W. Cappone, manager of the Bath branch of the Royal Bank, in the office of lay reader. Seldom if ever in its one hundred and thirty-one years of continuous service has this ancient church contained so large a congregation as that which greeted the Lordship, and listened with reverent attention to his eloquent and instructive sermon and his faithful counsel and advice to the candidates.

Change of Property.

Mr. Hugh Fitzpatrick has sold Bay Side Park Inn and farm to Mr. Harry Raynor and A. P. Williams. Mr. Fitzpatrick owns the Paisley House in Napanee, which has been leased for a term of years. It became necessary for Mr. Fitzpatrick to resume charge of the Napanee hotel, consequently he has disposed of the Bayside property which he acquired last year and opened as a summer resort. Mr. Fitzpatrick still owns the Picton skating rink, and hopes some time to return to Prince Edward county to reside. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick are adepts in catering to the public and they will be pleased to welcome their Prince Edward County friends at their Napanee hotel, the Paisley House.—The Picton Times, Thursday, May 15th, 1924.

The Historic Excursion to Old Hay Bay Church.

From the seat of Conference, Picton, where the Centenary Conference of Methodism is being held during the first week of June, an Historic Excursion is planned to leave Picton, per Steamer Brockville, on Wednesday, June 4th, at 9.30 a.m., sailing at the Lake on the Mountain on the way. The ladies of Adolphustown are preparing a dinner to be served on the grounds in a large tent, at 50c. each. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. James Endicott, D.D., General Secretary of our Foreign Missionary work, and others, at the Old Church. Those who know how the ladies of Adolphustown provide, and those who have heard Dr. Endicott, will know what a treat will be in store. The public are heartily invited to be present. Please note that if the weather on Wednesday be not favorable, the excursion will leave Picton on Thursday at such an hour as the Conference may direct.

I.O.O.F. District Meeting.

The annual district meeting of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was held in Napanee on Wednesday evening of last week. The meeting was scheduled to be held in Napanee Lodge on No. 86, but owing to extensive improvements being made in these rooms the gathering took place in the rooms of Argyll Lodge No. 212. Bro. B. M. Sparks, District Deputy Grand Master, of Enterprise, presided. Representatives were present from Yarker, Tamworth, Enterprise, Odessa, Deseronto and Napanee. Considerable business of importance pertaining to the district was transacted, after which election of D.D.G.M. for the ensuing year took place. Bro. F. W. Herrett, P.G., of Napanee Lodge No. 86, was the only name proposed and he was by a unanimous vote elected to the highest office in the gift of the district. The retiring D.D.G.M., after an exhaustive report of his stewardship during the past year, at the conclusion of the business session the members adjourned to the dining hall, where light refreshments were served and a social hour spent in song and story. Tamworth was selected for the place of meeting in 1925.

There is going to be a big time at Picton's Big Victoria Day Celebration, on Monday, May 26th. And to enable the people of Napanee to enjoy it, the Steamer Brockville will run an excursion to Picton on that date, leaving Napanee at 9 a.m., and return at 5.30 p.m. Fare for round trip 75c. Surely this will make a great day's outing for all who attend this big event. 21a

Boys' Camp.

The date for the Boys' Camp proposed for Napanee District, is July 8th to 16th, at Varty Lake, probably at Switzer's Landing. Arrangements are being completed as rapidly as possible, and it is hoped to have the program ready to send out in a short time. The committee who have been requested to take charge of the promotion of the camp are: Rev. H. J. Merriam, Convener; Rev. W. H. Clarke, Secretary; Rev. W. R. Tanton, Rev. A. J. Terrill, Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, Rev. S. F. Dixon, Rev. H. B. Neal; also Messrs. C. A. Wiseman, Geo. W. Gibbard and A. MacGregor.

District Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Napanee District of the Methodist Church was held in the School Room of Trinity Church, on Friday, Rev. A. J. Terrill, Chairman, presided. The following ministers were present: Rev. A. J. Terrill, Grace, Napanee; Rev. W. R. Tanton, Trinity, Napanee; Rev. W. D. Harrison, Deseronto; Rev. W. R. Merrick, Morven; Rev. Geo. Nickle, Newburgh; Rev. A. C. Hoffman, Bath; Rev. S. F. Dixon, Odessa; Rev. A. H. Hoare, Strathcona; Rev. W. H. Clarke, Tamworth; Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, Selby; Rev. W. H. Truscott, Play; Rev. R. J. Merriman, Enterprise; Rev. J. W. Downs, Yarker; Rev. C. J. Wilson, Roblin; Rev. R. Stocker, Cloyne; Rev. O. Flyndon, Mountain Grove, and Rev. Perry Scott, Denbigh. Sessions were held both morning and afternoon, in which the reports of the several churches in the district were given. The district is in a splendid shape, both financially and numerically, and the ministers are looking forward to the general conference, which will convene at Picton in June.

Oddfellows Visit Stirling.

The pretty little town of Stirling, which is located about fourteen miles north of Belleville, was the meeting place for a goodly number of Oddfellows on Wednesday evening last. Stirling Lodge No. 239 had issued invitations to Campbellford Lodge and Argyll Lodge, Napanee, to pay them a visit, the former to confer the Initiatory Degree and the latter to confer the First Degree. Argyll Lodge degree team left town by motor during the afternoon and were accompanied by some twenty-five members from both Napanee lodges and on reaching Stirling were entertained at dinner at the Kerby House. After the dinner hour the members, having a short time at their disposal, took in the town, and at eight o'clock all were in the lodge rooms, where the usual business was transacted. By a special dispensation from the Grand Master, the degrees were conferred at the Opera House, as the lodge room was not large enough to accommodate the large number present. The initiatory degree was conferred on two candidates by the Campbellford degree team, whose work met with generous applause. This was followed by the conferring of the first degree by the Napanee brethren, whose dramatic work and floor work was a revelation to everyone. The team was given an ovation at the close of the degree. The lodge session being concluded, the chairman, Bro. Jetty Thompson, N.G., called upon several of the visiting brethren for addresses. These were followed by light refreshments, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the Stirling brethren for their kind invitation and wonderful hospitality.

NEW OVERLAND COUPE HAS AMAZING ROOMINESS.

Realizing that the objections of most people to a Coupe is its lack of roominess and narrowness of doors, Willys-Overland deliberately set themselves the task of designing a Coupe that would overcome these objections.

In the new Overland Coupe they have most successfully attained their objective. By a clever arrangement and generous width of seats, they have gained a roominess that gives abundance of elbow room for two large people, with room to spare. As for doors—there are two of the widest doors you ever saw on a Coupe. Entrance and exit are made unusually easy. Every traveller or business man who has frequent calls to make, stepping in and out of a car, will appreciate this feature.

The Overland Coupe has long-grain Spanish upholstery that is washable and durable. A roomy rear deck provides ample space for samples and luggage. Its hinged cover is provided with a lock and protected against dust and leaks.

From every standpoint the new Overland Coupe, with its extra wide doors, big rear deck and unusual roominess, meets the most exacting requirements.

STRATHCONA

We are again reminded that Spring is here by the victory of our Orioles at Tamworth, on Monday of this week. A splendid game was played with the Tamworth girls, resulting in a score of 14-6, in favor of "our side". Most of them got home in time for roast, but a few did not feel much like getting up with the hens on Tuesday morning. Another snappy game will be played between the Newburgh and Strathcona girls at Newburgh, on June 3rd. This will be Field Day in Newburgh, and if you don't come for anything else except to see the game, you will be well repaid. Mr. George Dunlap is having his house and premises painted, which adds much to the general appearance of things.—Mr. and Mrs. George Wartman were at A. R. The Sunday School and Bible Class are being united for the occasion, and although we want to see every pupil present, we also would be very much pleased to have the parents present and not always "go" to Sunday School. So every effort is on by the community to invited to come and bring the children. Don't forget then 10.30, Church before and after. Again a good full choir next Sunday, as every choir member is requested to be present on Friday evening, at Mrs. Wilson's, at 8 o'clock. Be on hand then and practice well.

THREE SAILORS HAD VERY THRILLING TRIP FROM TORONTO

Hill Brothers and Prof. Douglas Jemmett Were Bringing Down "Cara Mia", When They Ran Into Heavy Gales.—Waves Piled Over Their Boat, Washing Away Dinghy, Spoiling Their Food and Drenching Them to Skin.

The handsome sailing yacht, "Cara Mia" in "P" class which was built in Toronto last fall by Mr. Sherman Hill and Mr. Henry Hill, of Hill Brothers Silver Fox Farm, is now in Kingston and quartered at the Yacht Club.

But before she arrived here, those on board of her bringing her down from Toronto—the Hill Brothers and Prof. Douglas Jemmett—had a thrilling and perilous experience. Starting out from Toronto at 4 p.m. on Friday afternoon, they ran into a gale Friday night which lasted all through the night and almost all of the next day. The result was that the waves piled over the boat before power while the wind drove the yacht through the sea at a furious rate, as can well be imagined when it is said that despite the shortening of sails, the yacht arrived in Kingston in less than twenty-four hours from the time of her starting from Toronto.

But when she did arrive she was minus her dinghy which had been swept away by the furious seas and the three sailors were famished for want of food, this because the waves had so heavily swept over the boat and into the cabin that all their eatables were waterlogged and spoiled while there was not a dry stitch on board either of clothing or of bedding. It was one of the most strenuous twenty-four hours that those three experienced sailors have ever had on a yacht, although one may seem with icy cold water the entire twenty-four hours and without either food or sleep.—Kingston Standard.

Historic Bay Bay Church. Adolphustown

1792—1924

The year 1792 was made memorable by the coming of William Losee, the first regular Methodist preacher, in the territory around the next year, Upper Canada.

In February, 1793, Rev. Wm. Losee took up his appointments in Kingston, Ernestown, Fredericksburgh, Adolphustown and Prince Edward, in the home of Paul Huff, Adolphustown, on the Bay Bay shore, he formed his first class.

Early in 1792 the congregation at Bay Bay prepared for the building of a church, "thirty by thirty-six feet, two stories high, with a gallery". The present church on Bay Bay, known as the Hay Bay church, is the result of the first loyal and devoted congregation on the shores of Hay Bay, who entered Canada amid untold hardships and dangers, and refused to leave the perils of the wilderness under the flag they loved.

On June 4th many shall turn aside to honour the memory of the pioneers of Methodism in this part of the country, and will make "Pilgrimage to the Historic Church".

The Bay of Quinte Conference will make a pilgrimage to Hay Bay Church, Wednesday, June 4th. The Str. Brockville leaves Picton at 8.30 a.m.—Rev. Dr. S. D. Crown, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church, and Dr. Jas. Endicott, General Secretary Foreign Missions, will speak. Other prominent speakers will be present. No one interested should miss joining in such a celebration.

The ladies of the Adolphustown Church will furnish dinner, commencing at 11.30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

OBITUARY

Nelson Dingman.

Early in the hours of Saturday last there passed away one of the most beloved citizens of the Hay Bay neighborhood, in the person of Nelson Dingman. Mr. Dingman has been in imperfect health for some time, and yet death came with a suddenness that somewhat shocked everybody. The large attendance at the funeral spoke volumns in terms of respect.

The funeral service, which was in charge of the Pastor, Rev. W. H. Truscott, was rendered all the more impressive by the attendance of two ex-Pastors, the Rev. H. T. P. Anderson and the Rev. W. S. Boyce, B.A., B.D., who assisted in all parts of the service. Mr. Boyce preached an able and impressive sermon, re-calling an almost lifelong association with the late Mr. Dingman, whom he honored as one of God's elect.

In the death of Mr. Dingman, the Bay Circuit has lost a loyal and faithful official, the Bethany Church a warm hearted and devoted member, and the community a worthy example, brother and friend.

The sympathy of a host of friends goes out to the sorrowing widow and relatives.

BIGGER THAN CIRCUS DAY INTERESTING AS CHRISTMAS

NAPANEE'S FIRST DOLLAR DAYS—BIG CARNIVAL OF BARGAINS BEING ARRANGED BY LEADING BUSINESS MEN—NIGHT BEFORE, STORE WINDOW PARADE

Dollar Day has become an institution in cities and towns all over the North American continent, and at least once each year this great bargain carnival is held, to the great satisfaction of everyone concerned, the storekeeper because this annual sale gives him needed ready cash and clears out odds and ends of lines, odd sizes, etc., and is really a good housecleaning of the stock. The storekeeper also realizes the value of Dollar Day as an advertisement for his place of business, depending in importance upon the bargains offered and the satisfaction given. Dollar Day is talked about for months after and it is always a needed tonic to jaded business. The Dollar Day customer gets splendid value and for these days is the guest of the various business men taking part and is treated as well as they know how.

WATCH THE WINDOWS

Dollar Days in Napanee are coming soon. Get ready for them; watch for them; then watch the store windows. Dollar Day Stores will be officially designated by Dollar Day Pennants, with which the windows will be framed. Watch the windows for attractions, each Dollar Day merchant trying to make the finest window display possible.

THE NIGHT BEFORE

The night before Dollar Days there will be a Style Parade, in which all the folks turn out to inspect the bargains in the windows and get their shopping lists ready for the next morning. This is one of the headlights of Dollar Day, the night before, when the folks have a merry, social time meeting before the brilliantly lighted and handsomely decorated windows, admiring the bargains offered and comparing notes, besides indulging in the usual social chat of what's what and who's who.

An energetic committee of business men is arranging details of the biggest event ever held in the business district.

NEWBURGH

While there are comparatively few people who would acknowledge that they are socialists, yet the prevailing habit of mind has that tendency. Most people think that they should have an equal place with their neighbors without stopping to think whether they have the capacity or equipment to occupy a different place from the one they now occupy. It is here where that bad habit and poor practice of making comparisons, about we spoke of some weeks ago, comes in to breed dissatisfaction. It is seldom that people compare their lot, or position, or salary with people less favorably situated than themselves, they make comparison with those whom they think are getting a better deal than they. The writer often of to a conversation the other day in which the participants were criticizing the high salaries paid to school teachers and preachers, and comparing their salaries with what they could command in dollars and cents. Shifting to the clergymen when they make comparisons they have in mind a change of pastorate, a minister of eastern parts, or western parts, or maybe they would like to change to a city charge. Now, why should a man of ordinary ambitions and abilities be satisfied to remain in a small village or country charge? Why should he not aspire to a city charge? Why should he not aspire to a position as a professor in one of the Theological Colleges? Why should he not aspire to a position as a professor in one of the universities? Why should he not aspire to be a bishop? Why should he not aspire to be a Moderator of the General Assembly? Why should he not aspire to be a Governor General? Why should he not aspire to be a Prime Minister? Why should he not aspire to be a King? Why should he not aspire to be a God? Why should he not aspire to be a Creator? Why should he not aspire to be a Saviour? Why should he not aspire to be a Redeemer? Why should he not aspire to be a Messiah? Why should he not aspire to be a Christ? Why should he not aspire to be a Jesus? Why should he not aspire to be a Lord

Underthings you prize

ONCE it might have seemed like extravagance to buy them, but now you know that they will give good service if you launder them with Lux.

Lux keeps your underthings as soft and lustrous as when you took them from the box. There is no harmful ingredient in Lux to coarsen and stiffen silk, or to fuzz up cottons and linens; nothing to take the colour out of delicately-hued garments.

How to wash them

Whisk one tablespoonful of Lux into a thick suds in half a washbowl of very hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Dip the garment up and down, pressing suds repeatedly through soiled spots. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze water out—do not wring. Roll in a towel; when dry, press with a warm iron—never a hot one.

Lux is sold only in sealed dustproof packets.

VICTORY !

Calcago has once more proved productive of the astounding. A judge of that great city has ruled that a husband has no more control of his wife's hair than he has of her vote. We have suspected this to be the case for a long time, but it is pleasant to find an eminent jurist endorsing a lay conviction. The decision arose out of an assault case, in which a husband having been moved to irate expression of his feelings at the sight of his thirty-two-year-old wife with a King Tut "bob". The judge told him that if she was capable of casting a vote, she was presumably capable also of choosing a hair-cut.

The judgment, though not essentially Solomonic in character, would seem to be based upon sound common sense. A woman presumed to be capable of voting—no matter how— is to be given credit for an average amount of intelligence, and certainly it is reasonable to assume that a woman knows far better than her spouse what sort of hair-cut suits her best. The husband may not like it, but what right has he to object, seeing it is not his hair that is cut? But for the fact that the days when angry husbands used their wives' hair as a bell-rope with which to enforce argument are past, one might conceive that a "bob" in some instances was taken as a precautionary measure. But to-day its sole object is youth, health and beauty. Surely any woman has the right to take any reasonable steps she thinks fit in search of any or all three objectives ? If not then the fair sex have guessed wrongly for a long time.

It is essential, moreover, to bear in mind that "bobbing" the hair does not necessarily affect either the brain or the bat-bill—as some husbands seem to think. In short, it is for many women a most attractive and becoming style. In any case, it is a feminine style, and if they elect to indulge it, let here man beware before he attempts to say them nay. Not lightly may a woman be crossed — over hair.

THE PLAY IN CHINA

It Is a Curious Mixture of Noise, Costume and Strut.

DIN FROM START TO FINISH.

It Begins When the Curtain Rises and Continues Until the Last Scene Ends the Agony—The Property Man a Mighty Important Personage.

I was all tired and knocked out when I reached China, so I thought to myself, "I'll just go to a Chinese theater and spend a quiet evening. I won't attempt to learn the language, I won't understand anything, so I can doze off when I want to and come out as refreshed as a sprig of celery."

"What time does the play begin?" I asked as the guide led the way to the gallery, for in a Chinese theater the farther away you are the more aristocratic. No Chinese of caste would be caught in orchestra A.

"It have begin," he answered.

"How could that be?" I demanded, for it was still a few minutes of 8.

"It begin yesterday. It run two pieces days. It No. 1 play."

And so I found out. The better the play the longer it lasts. A Chinaman doesn't think he is getting his money's worth unless the play lasts a couple of days. Some of them continue a week. They consider a play that lasts only a night a curtain raiser and tag it on to a real play just to try it out.

The Chinese believe in noise. A theater isn't a theater to them unless it has a ladies' quartet to a boiler factory just off stage. The hammering begins when the curtain goes up and continues until it falls. I soon found out that I erred seriously in coming to a Chinese theater to sleep. A person might drop off for a few minutes in a car shop, but he could never get near the knitting up of the raveled sleave in a Chinese theater.

Chinese acting consists of the actors coming on again in another outfit of clothes. They come on, whirl a baton a couple of times and exeunt. While they are off another delegation of actors arrive with another collection of clothes. They whirl their clubs a few times and file out Indian style as an other lodge arrives. There is no more expression on the face of a Chinese actor than on a punching bag.

When they want to show that the intrepid hero with a handful of men is trying to take a fortification against a vastly overwhelming enemy the property man hurries around in front of the hero with a black cloth stretched over a frame. This is the fortification, even though you can see his fingers gripping the breastworks. The dumb less hero marches across the stage, stops before the impregnable barrier, casts his eagle eye over it, draws his long sword and rips it asunder with one fell blow, the property man behind the swaying corner, while the hero marches through to victory. The intrepid hero stops to explain to his subordinates how he was able to accomplish the feat, while the property man drags the ramparts into the wings and begins pinning them up for the attack in the next act.

In a Chinese play there are no girls, their parts being taken by boys, speaking in a high, quavering voice as if something were too tight. Every time actor wants to show that he is old he lies on a beard that comes to his waist. The beard works off on one corner and hangs grimly by one string, but the audience doesn't worry about that. They know that he is an old man because he has a beard.

I was constantly alert to figure out what kind of show it was. When I first got there and saw the constant change of costume I thought that it must be a musical comedy, but after studying it more closely I saw that it was a farce. When they began to kill people I came to the conclusion that it was an operetta. Later, when the hero found his wife in another man's arms I decided that it was a problem play.

The most important person in the house show is the property man. Alongside him the lead sinks into insignificance. He has charge of the show. The show opens when he says and closes when he wants to go out to tea house. He keeps his properties where they are handy—down stage to the proscenium arch—right out where the audience can lean over and almost touch them. To know what is coming next all the audience has to do is to look over and see what the property man is getting ready.

Hour after hour the play continued without an intermission. Mid-night came, and the actors seemed to be just getting into the spirit of the play. When I remembered that the play had been running for two days I felt sure that the next five minutes would see the last costume, but the show still continued.

I rung desperately on, determined to be in at the finish when the last hot fortrish blow was presented on the tip turned tips, but it didn't end that way. It ended when the leading man came rushing out with a drawn cutter and killed twelve men in breathless succession, the ruined and wounded thoughtfully marching to the wings to die, then giving the leading man the center of the stage until the curtain property man came up and spitefully yanked the curtains to.—Homer Croy

The Work-a-Day Sheep Dog.

In order to see a sheep-dog work at its best, says a writer in an English paper, one should have a day with a hill-shepherd when he is out gathering his hundreds of woolly charges which pasture on the steep mountain slopes. Different types of dogs are used by shepherds, drovers, and butchers. Thus we find rough and smooth-coated collies, old English sheep-dogs and various crosses or curs. The drover and the butcher find employment for their dogs on the roads, or when loading or unloading stock at a railway siding. The shepherd, on the other hand, chiefly works his dogs on the land, though he also may have occasion to use them for roadwork when moving stock from place to place.

A typical hill-shepherd's dog carries his tail straight and low and not curled up or over his back. From an upright stern he looks what he is, a fleet, lithe, racing animal with a sensible expression and any amount of stamina to carry him gaily through the longest afld hardest day's work.

Above everything he should possess brains, for even a well-built fool is not of much use to a shepherd. Show collies nowadays have heads like that of the Borzoi—narrow, and on practically a level plane from the top of the skull to the tip of the nose. In such a head "there is no room for any such matter." The working dog should have a broad cranium, and a very noticeable dip between the eyes.

Charwoman's B.C.

"With the assistance of a well-known firm of solicitors and two of the ablest counsel in this court, Mr. Bayford, K.C., and Mr. T. Bucknill, this poor woman has been given facilities for bringing her suit under the Poor Persons Act."

The above remark was made by Sir Henry Duke in the Divorce Court, London, Eng., in granting a decree nisi to a poor woman who had obtained her living by charing.

"I think facts of this sort deserve to be known, continued his lordship.

"The subject has been one of public discussion on recent occasions, and there is at the present time much doubt as to whether the existing arrangements for facilitating settlement of matters of this kind for poor persons can be carried on.

"I want to point out that if there is good will throughout the legal profession, such as has been shown in this case, there would be no difficulty in maintaining the system, which to my mind is creditable to the profession and very advantageous to the poorer applicant."

NEW OVERLAND COUPE HAS AMAZING ROOMINESS.

Realizing that the objections of most people to a Coupe is its lack of roominess and narrowness of doors, Willys-Overland deliberately set themselves the task of designing a Coupe that would overcome these objections.

In the new Overland Coupe they have most successfully attained their objective. By a clever arrangement and generous width of seats, they have gained a roominess that gives abundance of elbow room for two large people, with room to spare. As before—there are two of the widest doors you ever saw on a Coupe, for ease and exit are made unusually easy. Every traveler or business man who has frequent calls to make, stopping in and out of a car, will appreciate this feature.

The Overland Coupe has long-grain Spanish upholstery that is durable and durable. A roomy rear deck provides ample space for samples and luggage. The hinged cover is protected with a lock and protected against thieves.

From every standpoint the new Overland Coupe, with its extra wide doors, big rear seat and unusual roominess, meets the most exacting requirements.

CHEVROLET

A Canadian Car for Canadian Conditions

FEW cars can boast of being so thoroughly Canadian-made as Chevrolet. With the exception of certain essential motor car accessories not now made in Canada, Chevrolet cars are built, not merely assembled, in Canada.

Motors, axles and other heavy parts are made in the mammoth General Motors plant at Walkerville; while body-building, top-building, small-parts making, assembling and finishing is done at Oshawa.

Hence, every dollar you pay for Chevrolet helps build up a strong Canadian industry that is giving employment to thousands of Canadian workmen.

There are many other reasons, moreover, why you should investigate Chevrolet.

Chevrolet stands up, winter and summer, under Canadian conditions of road and climate—and delivers quality transportation at a lower cost per mile than any other car.

And Chevrolet price, though it is much lower than you would expect to pay for a car so fine, is the full cost of the car and its equipment—there are no extras to buy.

Before you buy a car at any price, have us demonstrate the superior features and equipment of Chevrolet.

Cimus.

Chums is a terrier. He has been rescued after living for 14 days in a 190 foot water shaft in the hills at Portesham, Dorset, Eng. When the dog was lost from a picnic party a search revealed the old shaft hidden by undergrowth, but it was not till two weeks later that a Portland naval engineer, on examining the shaft with the aid of a small searchlight discovered that the dog was moving at the bottom. He and his wife lowered into the shaft some condensed milk, which the dog lapped up. At midnight an old tea chest with food in it, and worked from the top of the shaft, was lowered, and into this the dog crawled and was pulled to the surface. Though terribly emaciated, he was still frisky and wagged his tail in gratitude to his rescuers.

Dry or Wet.

That is the question that will worry New South Wales, where they have local option, every five years. The New South Wales Assembly has just passed a second reading of the Liquor Bill. The measure provides for a referendum on prohibition in 1928 and subsequently every five years.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Andrew Lang Didn't Like Stevenson When They First Met.

Andrew Lang was the unyielding enemy of everything that savored of decadence. He particularly disliked the affected young aesthetics of the 1890's. And although he came, as the world knows, to be the devoted friend of Robert Louis Stevenson, his first impressions of him were most unfavorable, for he mistook him for an aesthete of the aesthetes.

In his book "On the Trail of Stevenson" Clayton Hamilton gives a record of Andrew Lang's account of his first glimpse of Stevenson. Andrew Lang it seems, practiced the conversational economy associated chiefly with the name of the late Alfred Jingle, Esq. Mr. Lang said—and Mr. Hamilton jotted it down immediately after in the London Underground—these things:

"Mentone promenade. Saw him coming. Didn't like him. Long cape. Long hair. Queer hat. — queer Hands—white, bony, beautiful. Didn't like the cape. Didn't like the hair Looked like a — aesthete. Never liked aesthetes. Can't stand them Talked well. Saw that. Still seemed another aesthete Coltrin had discovered. Didn't like him. Didn't like him at all. • • • Later—oh, yes—but I needn't tell you that. Didn't like him at first. Took time."

Origin of Dollar.

The dollar was originally a Joachimsthaler-gulden groschen. But that name was too long for general use, and it was cut down to thaler, which was transliterated into the present form. It could not be either a gulden or a groschen, because the gulden had always been minted of gold. It was not a groschen, because that coin was of small value, so the two were combined. The essential part of the name was Joachimsthal, or Joachimsthal, as it is now spelled, the Joachim valley, in Austria, from which the silver was derived for the minting of this large coin. As that great silver mine is located in Bohemia, the original thaler was the Bohemian dollar. Those silver mines have since attained world-wide fame, because they are the source of radium, but the dollar comes closer home to most of us.

A Classic Monster.

"Write down all you know about centaurs," said a schoolteacher to a new pupil. The boy returned to his seat and presently handed the teacher the following attempt at composition: "A centaur was ancient cavalry and archery all in one piece. He could not be knocked out of his saddle because he hadn't any, being the same person as his horse. If he needed a tent he did not need a stable, or if he needed a stable he did not need a tent—I do not know which—and if he needed forage he did not need rations, or if he needed rations he did not need forage. Although he was mythical and primitive, this made him very convenient for war!"

A Pirate's Model Kingdom.

Pitcairn Island is in latitude 25 degrees 3 minutes south and longitude 130 degrees 6 minutes west, or almost exactly south of Vancouver Island and just a little south of the tropic of Capricorn. It was first settled in 1790 by nine mutineers from the English ship Bounty and eighteen natives of Tahiti. By the year 1808, when the island was discovered by the English, the population had grown to sixty-six persons, who formed a model community under the patriarchal government of John Adams, the only surviving mutineer, who had saved a Bible from the ship and was ruling with wisdom and justice his little kingdom of slightly over two miles in length. The island is under the British flag and has a couple of hundred inhabitants.—Christian Herald.

It Wouldn't Work.

Some time since a learned doctor was giving a friend a bit of good advice with regard to mastication.

"No matter what you eat," said the physician, "you should chew each mouthful thirty times. It"—

"That's all right, doctor," smilingly interjected the friend, "but that would not work in my case."

"It wouldn't work? responded the doctor wonderingly. "Why not?"

"I live in a boarding house," answered the friend, "and my voracious fellow feeders would have the table cleared while I was eating one mouthful."

Getting Around It.

"When I was your age I worked fourteen hours a day," said the worried father.

"Well, what of it?" replied the young man who squanders.

"Nothing much; only when you get to be my age that is probably what you will have to do."

Bathed in Blood.

Not always was a bottle of wine used in christening a ship. In the days of sacrifice to the gods, it is said, it was customary to sacrifice a human being when a boat was being launched and to cut his throat over the prow so that his blood baptized it.

Relief.

"Is your daughter improving in her music?"

"No; but the next best thing is happening. She's getting tired of it and won't practice."

Those who eat most are not always the fattest, so those who read much have not always the most knowledge. —Colton.

What do other eyes see?

Ask and answer this question honestly

Your mirror can tell you what other eyes see—if you will consult it honestly, and honestly accept its judgment.

But you need not fear its verdict. Because unlovely skin need not remain unlovely. The alluring youthful complexion Nature gave you may be yours today.

Millions of women now follow this simple rule to keep the radiance and beauty of schoolgirl complexion. You can, too.

Just this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

There—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, and correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive.

Be sure you get Palmolive — which is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. After even a short period of this treatment you will see a marked improvement in your skin.

Many now use Palmolive for the bath—letting it do for the whole body what it does for the face.

GO to any man who has bought a Gray-Dort since the new management took control of the company and ask him whether you should buy a Gray-Dort.

We're satisfied to have you make your decision on what he tells you.

Because we know he'll tell you that he never believed a car at the Gray-Dort price could perform so well. That he never heard of a car so free from trouble. That not once has his Gray-Dort failed him.

The reason is easy to see here at the factory in Chatham. The instructions to the engineering department, the purchasing department, have been unmistakable—"If there is any way in which the Gray-Dort can be bettered—go ahead and do it." Those betterments are evident in the performance of the car. That's why the Gray-Dort is selling itself everywhere in Canada.

At the Gray-Dort showroom they'll be glad to show you the car—and glad to give you the names of Gray-Dort owners, so you can prove for yourself that Gray-Dort today gives the greatest value in the automobile industry.

"Even with the exchange as it is, Riviera life in the season comes pretty high," remarked Harold Lloyd recently.

"For instance, I know a young man who took a pretty girl to luncheon one day in a certain restaurant there.

"Waiter look here, I have 400 francs to spend. Now what would you recommend?"

"But the waiter politely took the menu from the young man's hand. 'I would recommend for m'sieu,' he said, 'a cheaper restaurant.'"

Chums is a terrier. He has been rescued after living for 14 days in a 190 foot water shaft in the hills at Portesham, Dorset, Eng. When the dog was lost from a picnic party a search was made, and the old shaft hidden by undergrowth, but it was not till two weeks later that a Portland naval engineer, on examining the shaft with the aid of a small acetylene light discovered that the dog was moving at the bottom. He and his wife lowered into the shaft some condensed milk, which the dog lapped up. At midnight an old tea chest with food in it, and worked from the top of the shaft, was lowered, and into this the dog crawled and was pulled to the surface. Though terribly emaciated, he was still frisky and wagged his tail in gratitude to his rescuers.

A Canadian Car for Canadian Conditions

FEW cars can boast of being so thoroughly Canadian-made as Chevrolet. With the exception of certain essential motor car accessories not now made in Canada, Chevrolet cars are built, not merely assembled, in Canada.

Motors, axles and other heavy parts are made in the mammoth General Motors plant at Walkerville; while body-building, top-building, small-parts making, assembling and finishing is done at Oshawa.

Hence, every dollar you pay for Chevrolet helps build up a strong Canadian industry that is giving employment to thousands of Canadian workmen.

There are many other reasons, moreover, why you should investigate Chevrolet.

Chevrolet stands up, winter and summer, under Canadian conditions of road and climate—and delivers quality transportation at a lower cost per mile than any other car.

And Chevrolet price, though it is much lower than you would expect to pay for a car so fine, is the full cost of the car and its equipment—there are no extras to buy.

Before you buy a car at any price, have us demonstrate the superior features and equipment of Chevrolet.

affected young aesthetics of the 1880's. And, although he came, as the world knows, to be the devoted friend of Robert Louis Stevenson, his first impressions of him were most unfavorable, for he mistook him for an aesthete of the aesthetes.

In his book "On the Trail of Stevenson" Clayton Hamilton gives a record of Andrew Lang's account of his first glimpse of Stevenson. Andrew Lang it seems, practiced the conversational economy associated chiefly with the name of the late Alfred Jingle, Esq. Mr. Lang said—and Mr. Hamilton jotted it down immediately after in the London Underground—these things:

"Mentone promenade. Saw him coming. Didn't like him. Long cape. Long hair. Queer hat. — queer Hands—white, bony, beautiful. Didn't like the cape. Didn't like the hair. Looked like a — aesthete. Never liked aesthetes. Can't stand them. Talked well. Saw that. Still another aesthete Colvin had discovered. Didn't like him. Didn't like him at all. * * * Later—oh, yes—but I needn't tell you that. Didn't like him at first. Took time."

Origin of Dollar.

The dollar was originally a Joachimsthaler-gulden-groschen. But that name was too long for general use, and it was cut down to thaler, which was transliterated into the present form. It could not be either a gulden or a groschen, because the gulden had always been minted of gold. It was not a groschen, because that coin was of small value, so the two were combined. The essential part of the name was Joachimsthal, or Joachimsthal, as it is now spelled, the Joachim valley, in Austria, from which the silver was derived for the minting of this large coin. As that great silver mine is located in Bohemia, the original thaler was the Bohemian dollar. Those silver mines have since attained world-wide fame, because they are the source of radium, but the dollar comes closer home to most of us.

A Classic Monster.

"Write down all you know about centaurs," said a schoolteacher to a new pupil. The boy returned to his seat and presently handed the teacher the following attempt at composition: "A centaur was ancient cavalry and archery all in one piece. He could not be knocked out of his saddle because he hadn't any, being the same person as his horse. If he needed a tent he did not need a stable, or if he needed a stable he did not need a tent—I do not know which—and if he needed forage he did not need rations, or if he needed rations he did not need forage. Although he was mythical and primitive, this made him very convenient for war!"

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Elijah J. Williams, who departed this life on May 31st, 1922.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest;
In memory's frame we will keep it,
For she was one of the best.
Our lips cannot speak how we loved her,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say,
God only knows how we miss her,
In a home that is lonely to-day.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Grace Mellow, Colborne, who died May 28th, 1923.

Two bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile;
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew,
No gentle act of love she'd shy,
No thought of self but of the other,
And now she's gone to live with Father.
Sadly missed by Mother and Brother. 22ap

The Mouths of Leaves.

The botanist, the real investigator who has got down to making real experiments for himself, will talk to you about the thousands of minute stomates on the surface of a leaf. These invisible stomates are really the mouths through which the leaves take in carbonic acid. They are most abundant on the upper surface of leaves. Each is an oval opening guarded by a pair of lips which open and close according to requirements. They vary from less than 1,000 to more than 20,000 to the square inch of leaf surface.

Fat and Thin.

The two women encountered each other at a dance. They had not met for several years.

"How thin you have grown!" exclaimed one.

"How fat you've got to be!" the other retorted, and they stood gazing at each other in some dismay.

"Before you come to blows," remarked a mutual friend who stood by, "let's take a vote as to which is worse, to get too fat or to get too thin."—Exchange.

New Summer-Time Frocks Are Here in a Gorgeous Array of Beautiful Colors

Summer in terms of beautiful frocks has descended in her most acceptable manner in our dress department. Importations from famous Paris dressmakers, coupled with the best creations from our most prominent Canadian manufacturers, make our initial assemblage wonderfully complete in colors, styles, materials, sizes and values.

The summer-time Silhouette has little to offer in the way of style variety. The long, slender, tube-like effect is still the vogue.

Paris dressmakers show a distinct preference for fine pleats, for hand-drawn effects, for bead embroideries and for lace decorations. Canadian manufacturers add variety by featuring tunics, side draperies, panels, tiered skirts and oddly shaped neck-lines.

Materials in the summer collection are as interesting and as varied as the styles. The range starts with practical Ginghams, Ratines and Linens for porch wear, through various grades of light and dark colored Voiles for in-between occasions, and finishes with a unique variety of Cotton Crepes, Cotton Georgettes, Printed Marquisettes and Hand Pointed Voiles for important social functions.

Our present showing is the most attractive we have ever offered, individuality is expressed in every dress, workmanship is neatly executed. You simply cannot resist them. We advise you to choose at your earliest opportunity.

Address and Presentation

On Friday, May 23rd, a social evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Penny, Empey Hill, when a number of Earl's friends met and presented him with a pair of gold cuff links and a signet ring, it being the eve of his departure to Syracuse, N.Y. The address was read by Miss Martha Milling, a former S. S. teacher of the Onward Class, of which Earl was a faithful member, and the presentation was made by Mr. Raymond Husband. After the presentation and reply, Rev. Mr. Anderson gave a short address, expressing his regret at Earl's departure, and wishing him God-speed, and hoped sometime he might return again, after which refreshments were served, and the company dispersed, saying good-bye, and wishing him good luck.

Mr. Earl Penny,

Dear Sir,—We have learned with much regret of your intended departure from our midst. We feel that we would be remiss in our duty as friends and neighbors, if we did not, in some tangible manner, express to you our appreciation of your worth.

Your departure will leave a vacancy among the large circle of your friends and acquaintances in the neighborhood in which you have spent your boyhood days.

May happiness and success be yours at all times, and may good luck be yours to the fullest proportions.

Please accept these small tokens of our esteem, and may they many times bring to your mind the old friends you have left behind.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,

ROY McMATH.
RAYMOND HUSBAND.
EARL KIMMERLY.

Earl, although taken by surprise, made a suitable reply, thanking them for their thoughtfulness.

Teacher—Children, can any of you tell me what is the most dangerous part of an automobile?

Tommy—Yes, miss I can! It's the driver!

Malmaison Dewps.

There may be a useful hint for some in the report that sporting farmers at Quarce, Ark., are making a comfortable sum each year out of mallards raised as a sideline.

The mallards they sell do not find their way to the big platter of the family dining table; they put them to sportsmen for decoys. They hatch the eggs with hens, bite the young ducks of their first hatch did not run with the hens after the first day, but took to the river. Shortly after they came off the whole flock started down stream and some boys found them a mile away from home, caught them and divided them up, thinking they were young wild ducks. It was with some difficulty that the owners proved ownership. Now closed-in water is provided.

Local sportsmen take advantage of them during the season. On their way out they go down to where the ducks stay, hire or buy two or three of the hens and take them along to do their callins for them.

Tin and Cold.

In Northern Russia all sorts of utensils are apt to become useless in winter time. When tin vessels catch cold a tiny greyish spot makes its appearance on the surface. It grows in size, and then others appear. In course of time the metal crumbles into a dark-colored powder. Some years ago a whole shipload of blocks of tin, stored in the customs house of Petrograd during the winter, was found the following spring to have crumbled into dust. What really happens is that the cold causes tin to change from one of its forms to another. Tin is often found in mines in the grey powder form which is quite useless. When it is heated it turns into the white known as shiny metal, but under the influence of cold it may return to its other form.

Weasel In Bird's Nest.

A resident in Ayreshire, Scotland, recently found a robin's nest in a bank of a road. Visiting the place a day or two later he found two boys standing near the nest. One was in tears, and said that, when he put his hand in the nest he was bitten by a weasel, which evidently had taken possession. The injured boy was sent home to be medically attended, as a weasel bite is apt to be poisonous.

ANCIENT ANESTHETICS.

Napentha and Other Agents Were Used By Old Time Surgeons.

Those who imagine that surgical knowledge began with later generations and that the discovery of chloroform revolutionized the science should read an article published by Dr. J. de Foxton in the South African Journal of Science.

Various anesthetizing media and methods were well known both in antiquity and during the middle ages. Homer mentions the anesthetic effects of nepenthe; Herodotus states that the Scythians obtained similar effects from the vapors of hemp, produced by throwing hemp seed on hot stones. A Chinese physician of the third century, B. C., gave his patients a preparation of hemp to make them insensible during surgical operations.

The most important anesthetic of ancient and medieval times was, however, wine of mandragora, the use of which is mentioned by a great number of early writers and is referred to by Shakespeare. More recently, in the year 1700, the German surgeon, Weiss, better known as Albinus, amputated the foot of Augustus III., king of Poland, while under the influence of mandragora.

Two other anesthetizing agencies were employed in very early times, arterial compression and hypnotism.

BIG LOAVES OF BREAD.

In France They Are Made From Four to Six Feet in Length.

The biggest loaves of bread baked to be eaten are those made in France and Italy. In the case of the pipe bread of the latter country the loaves are between two feet and three feet in length and occasionally even longer, while the French people make their loaves in the shape of very long rolls of bread, ranging from four feet to five feet and in a few instances even to six feet in length.

Bread in Paris is distributed almost exclusively by women. These go to the various bakehouses at 5:30 a. m. and spend about an hour in brushing the long loaves with special brushes. When their load is cleaned of grit and dust the porteuse de pain goes the round to the customers.

Customers who live in flats have their loaves propped up against the doors of their apartments. Shopkeepers, restaurateurs and other customers who have entrances to their premises in the street find their portions of the staff of life leaning against their front doors when they take down the shutters. The wages of these bread carriers vary from 2 shillings to 2s. 6d. a day, their work being generally over at 10 or 12 o'clock in the morning.—London Tit-Bits.

Weighing Machines.

Weighing machines and scales of some kind were in use 1800 B. C., for it is said that Abraham at that time "weighed out" 400 shekels of silver, current money, with the merchant to Ephron, the Hittite, as payment for a piece of land, including the cave and all the standing timber "in the field and in the fence." This is said to be the earliest transfer of land of which any record survives and in which the payment was made in the presence of witnesses. The original form of the weighing scale was probably a rod suspended from the middle with a board or shell suspended from each end, one to contain the weight, the other to contain the matter to be weighed. The steelyard was probably so called from the materials of which it was made and from its former length. It is also known as the Roman balance and is of great antiquity.

Entertaining Himself.

In Clayton Hamilton's "On the Trail of Stevenson" is this quaint passage between the boy and his nurse, Alison Cunningham:

"When little Louis was about five years old he did something naughty, and 'Cummy' stood him up in a corner and told him he must remain there for ten minutes; then she left the room. At the end of the allotted period she returned and said, 'Time's up. Master Lou; you may come out now.' But the little boy stood motionless in his penitential corner. 'That's enough; time's up,' repeated Cummy. And then the child mystically raised his hand, and, with a strange light in his eyes, 'Hush,' he said, 'I'm telling myself a story.'"

Balanced Rocks.

In Acushnet, Mc., are two rocks peculiarly situated on a ledge and apparently placed there by a glacial action. The larger rock weighs probably several hundred tons, and years ago, it is said, this could be tilted by pushing against it. There are evidences that some time smaller rocks were placed as wedges to keep the great rock motionless.

About Politics.

"Madam," said the tramp, "I was once a member of the legislature."

"And are you sure," she said, inclined to believe him, "that your reformation is complete?"

Unusual.

"They're so old fashioned."

"What makes you think so?"

"Why, she and her mother are the best of friends."

Identified.

"You haven't forgotten us, have you, waiter?"

"Oh, no, sir. You are the two fried smelts."

Choice makes our relations, but choice makes our friends.—Delille.

BRITISH PIGEON POST

HOMING BIRD DECORATED FOR CARRYING WAR MESSAGES.

Tens of Thousands of Pigeons Were Used During the War — Have Made Fortunes for Men by Carrying News of Stock Markets Before Days of Telegraph.

That a bird should be awarded a war medal and become entitled to wear a decoration for services rendered to the state is a striking and pleasing sign of the times. Nor is it so strange a thing as might appear, when one considers the virtues and the value to man of these feathered friends whose chief characteristic is to be true to home. A homing or carrier pigeon was decorated for carrying despatches during the war.

Now that the war is long since over, there can be no harm in stating that the British War Office availed itself of the services of homing pigeons to an enormous extent. It is no secret now (although it was kept a secret then) that there was a special pigeon department of the War Office, commanded by Major A. H. Osman, editor of the Racing Pigeon, and administered by a regiment of trained "flying" men, having at their disposal specially fitted motor "lofts" and every convenience for housing, tending, despatching and receiving the message-carrying birds. Tens of thousand of pigeons were thus used during the war. Nearly fifty years ago Belgium, it was calculated, possessed more than 600,000 homing pigeons.

The use of "homers," as these birds are technically known, is no new thing in the annals of the nations. By 1891 military pigeon post had been adopted by most continental nations, and their organizations had often attained great completeness in France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Portugal and Switzerland. England lagged behind; and it was chiefly due to the efforts of W. H. Tegetmeier, that the state took up the use of carrier-pigeons for national purposes. Though the army would not adopt pigeon post, the navy, or rather the lighthouse authorities, quaintly called the "Brethren of Trinity House," lent an ear to his advice, and, under his direction, in 1876, established a pigeon service between certain lightships and the shore. By 1878 a large stock of birds had been trained, and for a few years they rendered excellent service in bringing in news of shipwrecks. The scheme failed, however, for strangely enough, the birds got on the floating lighthouses could not stand the continual swaying of the ship.

The foundations of the fortunes of two great houses were laid by the use of homing pigeons. Baron Rothschild, before the days of the electric telegraph, had an immense number of these birds, which brought the news of the state of the money markets in Paris to London and frequently the baron cleared in England, almost directly after the news arrived, many thousands of pounds by buying stocks. Paul de Reuter began his career by carrying on a pigeon post between Aachen and Brussels, before 1850. Coming to London in 1851, he established the telegraphic news agency which is now known everywhere.

During the siege of Paris, in 1870-71, letters from England were conveyed to Tours, then the seat of the French Government, and thence carried by trained "homers" to Paris. These birds were at first limited to 2½ words, including both names and addresses. At times the messages were photographed, on a reduced scale, and printed on thin paper, but by French photographer, M. Dagron, invented a system by which all communications, whether public or private, were printed in ordinary type, and then microphotographed on a thin film of collodion. These pellicles measured only 2⅞ by 1⅝ inches, yet contained reproductions of from 12 to 14 folio pages of type, conveying, on an average, 3,000 messages. The lightness of the film allowed the postal authorities to put on a single pigeon no fewer than nineteen films, bearing more than 50,000 messages, yet not weighing half a grain.

The films were rolled up tightly and put in a small quill, attached longitudinally to a tail feather of the bird. On arrival in Paris, they were flattened out, and thrown, by means of a magic lantern, on a screen, vastly magnified, of course; the messages were copied by clerks and sent to their destination.

Homing pigeons were utilized also in the defence of Ladysmith during the South African War, while, for a period, they worked a regular postal system between Auckland, New Zealand, and Great Barrier Island, about 60 miles distant from the main land.

The first big pigeon race in Great Britain took place on June 24, 1871, the flight being from London to Brussels. Seventy-two birds were known at scratch, and Mr. Tegetmeier, who organized the race, wired to the secretary of the Belgian society in Brussels, immediately after the bird's departure. The telegram reached him at 5.30 but the birds arrived at the lofts at 2.28—just two minutes before.

Another early celebrated flight was that from Rome to Brussels, 900 miles, in 1878. The first English flight—from the ground of the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, was postponed by the palace secretary because King Edward, then Prince of Wales, was to visit the palace, and it was thought, by the authorities, to be vulgar a thing as a pigeon race would be derogatory to royalty. Before he came to the throne, King Edward himself had long been a competitor in pigeon races. This year, King Edward's sons, as head of the British army, has conferred a decoration on an army pigeon.—Toronto Telegram.

CHARMED STORM AWAY.

Medicine Man Performs Timely Service for Travellers.

We camped that afternoon on a hill above Tatana and there I saw an impressive spectacle. Two huge waterspouts were visible at sea, and one of them was working toward Tawi-Tawi, an island in the Sulu Archipelago. We all stood on the brow of the hill watching it moving slowly about, when suddenly it took up a straight line for us. It swerved about so that the only thing to do was to stand still and await developments, and in any case we were more than a quarter of a mile from the beach.

When it hit the beach below us, it seemed that the whole mass of millions of tons of water fell, the flood surging far up among the trees. There it paused a few seconds, and then resolved itself into a cyclone that moved directly toward us, twisting like a corkscrew as it advanced. We stood there silent and appalled when one of our pantaren who was a bit of a combined roustabout and medicine man, hastily kicked off what few clothes he had and seized a naked kris and dashed down the hill to meet the storm. He yelled his pagan charms at the top of his lungs and kept slashing at the cyclone as if it were a living enemy. Before he reached it, it suddenly swerved about 45 degrees to the south and passed us by with a fiendish uproar at a distance of a couple of hundred yards.

When we looked for our bantaan he was standing there bowing to us with a smirk like a prima donna after her solo, as if to say: "This is really very easy when one knows how, but still I do it very well." The reason was at an end, and we shouted with laughter. He was quite a hero with us for the remainder of the trip, but later I had to banish him for some diversified rascality.—Lt.-Col. Sidney A. Cloman in the World's Work.

Fear of Premature Burial.

A bill has been introduced in the British House of Commons calling for the appointment of public certifiers of death in order to prevent premature burial. If it is passed, a doctor issuing a death certificate will have to certify that he had inspected the body, that death has taken place, and the stage at which he inspected. Moreover he must also certify that he attended the patient at least twice, one of the occasions being within eight days of death.

"There is a condition of trance," said Dr. Hoober to a newspaper representative, "that in every superficial way simulates death." The beating of the heart cannot be heard, even with a stethescope; the breathing is so slight it cannot be detected, and, seeing such a person, most doctors would certify him dead. Meanwhile the 'dead' person is perfectly conscious. His muscular system is paralyzed. He cannot even blink an eyelid. But he hears the preparations for burying him go on.

"This actually happened to a very dear friend of mine who lay in a cataleptic trance. The doctor had certified her dead. Now all the time she was perfectly conscious. She felt the incisions for her coffin. She was aware that they were putting on her shroud and composing her hands for burial. She heard them making the funeral plans. She listened to her own funeral. But she could make no sound, no gesture, for her entire muscular system was paralyzed. She was about to be buried when, suddenly, her daughter noticed a faint quiver about the muscles of her mouth. She was given stimulants, regained consciousness, or, rather, the use of her muscles, and lived thirty years after.

"The horror of 'coming alive' to find oneself buried deep under the earth can hardly be estimated."

GOLDEN JUBILEE

"Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, Ont., an institution for the education of girls and young women, is celebrating June 8th to 12th, its Golden Jubilee. Preparations are being made to make this fiftieth anniversary a memorable occasion. A large attendance of former students is already assured and one can imagine something of what this great reunion will mean to a large group of Canadian women when regarding the personality of this old college as their Alma Mater.

"The school has a long and satisfactory history and the present Principal and Board of Directors are seeking to launch out on a second half century with the idea of maintaining and still further developing the high ideals and splendid work of their predecessors.

"Any former student who has not yet been notified of the Jubilee should at once send her name and address to the Golden Jubilee Committee, Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, Ont."

The American truth-teller was in [illegible] "Talking of auto[illegible]he said, "you get [illegible]grade out [illegible]ight with long [illegible]s dances. But this was drawing the long bow a little too far.

ON FEEDING CHICKENS

Helpful Counsel From a Widely Known Poultry Expert.

Don't Overfeed at the Start—Feed Sprouted and Cracked Grains—Give Them Plenty of Grit—Feed Less Frequently Later — Millets Soun at Different Dates.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

No feed is given until the chicks are nearly three days old. Water may be given to drink if the chill is taken off. The chicks are given the feed upon clean boards about eight inches wide. There must be plenty of boards so that there is room on the board for every chick. A board three feet long and eight inches wide will give room enough for fifty chicks on the start. So says Prof. W. R. Graham.

The chicks for the first few weeks should be fed about six times daily at regular intervals. Give the first feed in the morning as early as the chicks can see to eat and the last at night as late as possible. If growing chicks in February are fed they may be given at night using artificial light.

Don't Overfeed at the Start.

Many chicks are overfed on the start. We have adopted the plan for the first five or six days in the brooder of weighing the feed. An experienced feeder may not need to weigh the feed, but the beginner generally does better by weighing it. We allow one ounce of the dry mixture for each fifty chicks at each feed; that is, no chicks, for their first five days in the brooder, get more than six ounces of dry feed to fifty chicks in one day. The plan followed is to moisten the first feed with canned tomatoes, the second with eggs, and the third with minced liver, and then begin the series over again. The above amount will not satisfy the chicks' appetite. They will create a great noise at every feeding time, but it gives a chance for the chick to absorb completely the food in the body.

After the first period one pound feed two or three times each day till the chicks will eat.

We begin giving a drinking vessel each of water and sour milk, when the chicks are about a week old. Many give sour milk to drink at the start, but we have obtained slightly better results by not giving the milk for the first three or four days.

Feed Sprouted and Cracked Grains.

When the chicks pass the second week, sprouted grains may be fed, also a little cracked grains. The change should be made gradually from tomatoes, eggs and liver over to sprouted grains, tender green grass, if available, and a little grain. If leg weakness is noted, the tomatoes and sprouted grains should be increased or the chicks put out on doors on clean tender grass.

It is best to rear the chicks on new ground each year, and never to brood two lots of chicks on the same ground in any one year. Many chicks are lost, but we have obtained slightly better results by not giving the milk for the first three or four days.

Feed Sprouted and Cracked Grains.

When the chicks pass the second week, sprouted grains may be fed, also a little cracked grains. The change should be made gradually from tomatoes, eggs and liver over to sprouted grains, tender green grass, if available, and a little grain. If leg weakness is noted, the tomatoes and sprouted grains should be increased or the chicks put out on doors on clean tender grass.

It is also will be found advantageous if feeding chicks from trough or broods out of doors to move the drinking pots or troughs a little every feed. Likewise it must be remembered, that grit and shell are fed indoors, to keep the lived boards clean.

Give Them Plenty of Grit.

Grit is always in easy access of the chicks. It is valuable and necessary to add a little oyster shell dust or other particulars to ration daily. A certain amount of time is necessary.

Mouldy feeds, dirty feed boards, and nasty litter are to be avoided. Moulds kill large numbers of chicks. Be sure your house is clean and the litter not musty. Do not use cut barley or rye straw as litter for baby chicks, because the beards may get into the chicks' eyes. Good clean alfalfa makes the best chick litter we have used. When it gets soiled or dirty remove and replace it with clean litter.

Feed Less Frequently Later.

As the chicks get older the number of feeds per day may be reduced, so that at an age of seven weeks three or four feeds per day are sufficient; in fact, after the second week it supports or stunted rate of any ration may be placed in the pen. The feeds are of much consequence at this time, over amount the chicks will clean up.

Millets Sown at Different Dates.

"The question is frequently asked regarding the best dates for sowing, based on hay production. For several years the succession at vegetment has been conducted at the Ontario Agricultural College by sowing millets on each or his successive dates, starting on May 15th and finishing on August 1st, sowing about two weeks between each two dates of seeding. The average results may shown the highest returns from sowing on June 1st. Naturally, varieties like the Japanese Barnyard and the Japanese Panicle require to be sown earlier than the Hungarian Grass, which requires a shorter season for development.

Keep the brood now in good thrifty and healthily condition. Allow her plenty of exercise. Feed her green food in the winter. She is very fond of alfalfa hay and mangel beets, about 5 lbs. per day of middlings and milk. Give her a dry comfortable straw bed, also plenty of fresh water, and she will winter in prime condition.

Someone has said that the best teacher in a community isn't always the one in charge of the school or superintendent or teacher, but may be some person per day of middlings and milk. Give her a dry comfortable straw bed, also plenty of fresh water, and she will winter in prime condition.

THAT FORTY INCH WAIST.

It Means Overeating, Underexercising and Future Poor Health.

"Beware of a forty inch waist line," says a bulletin from the North Carolina state board of health. "Ten to one the man who is five feet eight inches tall and forty inches about the waist will average no later have to consult a doctor for gallstones and kidney trouble and most likely for Bright's or some other serious disease.

"Forty inches about the waist is an abnormal size and condition and shows that he who carries such a burden around with him has an appetite of an abnormal size and proportion. It further shows that something is wrong with his diet or that his energy is reduced to naught. His appetite is either several sizes too big or he 'eits tight" on exercising. Most likely he eats excessively of meats, pastries and heavy foods, which means overworked kidneys and faulty elimination.

"There is usually one, and only one, diagnosis to be made of this class—'fat and forty.' Their bulkiness, flabbiness and shortness of breath are symptoms having for their cause 'overfed and underworked'."

The bulletin concludes with "Overfeeding contributes more to disease and premature deaths than underfeeding."

Confucius on Kingcraft.

"What is kingcraft?" demanded a disciple.

Confucius replied, "Food enough, troops enough and a trusting people."

"Were there no help for it which could be best spared of the three?"

"Troops," said the master.

"And were there no help for it which could be better spared of the other two?"

"Food," said the master. "From of old all men die, but without trust a people cannot stand."

The Turnip.

The turnip is supposed to be a native of Asia and Europe. It has been cultivated for centuries. The wild East Indian turnip is said to be remotely kin to the edible turnip. It is the size of a walnut and first tasted is sweetish, but in a moment the taster's tongue feels as though it were pricked by a hundred hot needles, and he feels like expectorating for hours after. It is the country boy's favorite medium for a joke on the visiting town boy.—London Tatler.

That's Why Nova Scotia Man Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. J. J. Comeau Who Suffered From Kidney Trouble, Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lower Saulnierville, N.S., (Special)—Mr. Comeau, a well known and respected resident here is a staunch friend of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He has tried them and found them good. This is what he says:—

"I am over 60 years of age, and have suffered so much from Kidney trouble, I took several boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and now I am exactly a new man. I shall always remain a friend of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is wonderful how some people will go on suffering day after day, with aches and pains, backaches and rheumatism. They suffer because they are not aware of the fact that they can get relief. Strengthen the kidneys, which are the source of the trouble, and these pains vanish.

Dodd's Kidney Pills stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys. They are used and recommended all over the world.

To add new accounts

Don't overlook the village stores off the line of railways.

A salesman we know began by calling on some of them in a car to make the necessary arrangements. He hasn't seen his new customers since. At an appointed day and hour he regularly calls up each by Long Distance from a list he prepared, and gets their orders.

If he is away, someone else carries out the schedule for him.

His customers like to deal with headquarters.

He added over 100 new accounts in a few months—says the business bulks large at the end of the year.

Cycling Far Easier than Walking

FRANK Jones used to complain about his feet getting so hot and achey from his long walks to and from work on the hard roads and pavements.

One day when he felt more tired, and his feet hurt him worse than usual, he happened to see a man go gliding by on a bicycle.

"Cycling is far easier than walking," said Frank to himself. And all day long while he was working that thought kept running through his mind.

That night, on the way home, he dropped into a C.C.M. dealer's and looked over the different C.C.M. models, choosing one that suited him in every way.

Since then Frank's feet have had a much easier time and he's quit complaining. In fact, he's boasting now about how fine and fresh he feels since he started Cycling.

He also tells how quickly and easily he Cycles to work and home again—how he saves the shoe leather he used to wear out on the hard cement walks—how he saves valuable time by Cycling instead of walking.

If you gave Frank a chance he would tell you all about the C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger—the wonderful power plant that responds to the slightest pressure on the pedals and makes the C.C.M. run so smoothly, quietly and easily.

He would show you the strong, powerful frames of English Seamless Tubing—the bright silvery nickeling that won't rust because it is done over copper —the sparkling enamel that is baked on over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand rain, snow and all kinds of weather—the new Gibson Pedal with its rust-proof aluminum frame—and the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake that coasts so easily, has such braking power, and is 2 ounces lighter than the old-style sidearm type.

The C.C.M. dealer will, also, be glad to tell you all about the C.C.M. and to show you the new models—the Standard, the Special, the Sport model, the C.C.M. Flyer, the Curved Bar model.

Prices are $15 to $20 lower than the "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

Experienced painters are dubious of an overly "thick" paint. Many firms use a chemical substance for this purpose. B. & H. English Paint is only as thick as the proper proportion of white lead, linseed oil and pure turpentine make it. This world famous paint for sale at Wallace's.

PORTUGAL'S HOMER.

Camoens, Who Wrote "The Lusiad," Died in Abject Poverty.

"The Lusiad" is one of the noblest records ever written of national glory and success.

Camoens, its gifted author, determined to do for Portugal what Homer had done for Greece. The great poem was written in the sixteenth century, which has been called the heroic age of Portugal, and its main feature is the rounding of the Cape of Good Hope by Vasco da Gama, while a most interesting episode is the crowning after death of Inez de Castro as queen of Portugal.

"The Lusiad" took its name from Lusius, who was said to have founded Lisbon. Its author was born about 1520, and his career, which began brilliantly, was blighted by the death of a broken heart of the lady of his love, for whose sake he was banished from the land.

Camoens wrote "The Lusiad" in his banishment and was recalled in 1551, losing on the way all his property except his poem. Pensioned at first by the king, this great epic poet of Portugal died in great poverty and misery in 1570, when his patron was also dead.

Knowledge and Culture.

A great memory does not make a philosopher any more than a dictionary can be called a grammar. There are men who embrace in their minds a vast multitude of ideas, but with little sensibility about their real relations toward each other. These may be antiquarians, annalists, naturalists; they may be learned in the law; they may be versed in statistics; they are most useful in their own place. I should shrink from speaking disrespectfully of them. Still, there is nothing in such attainments to guarantee the absence of narrowness of mind. If they are nothing more than well read men or men of information they have not what specially deserves the name of culture of mind or fulfills the type of liberal education.—Newman.

England's First Almanac.

The first almanac printed in England was the "Kalendar of Shepherdes," which appeared in 1497, just forty years after Gutenberg printed his first almanac at Mentz. From that time onward almanacs were numerous, "omens and prognostications" being added in most cases to the calendar information. One of the earliest specimens preserved enjoys the title of "The Prognostycyon of Master John Tylesall, of the influence of the moon, of pens and warre and of sykenesses of the yere, with the constellations that be under the planets and the revolucions of kynges and princes."—London Mirror.

Church Steeples.

The church steeple was originally designed as a means of advertising the situation of the church. Among the poor buildings which originally prevailed the steeple was an impressive beacon, but under modern conditions it is a failure, as even the most towering steeple is lost among the higher industrial structures reared around it. The steeple is partly being replaced by the electricity, which answers the purpose much more satisfactorily. Electrically illuminated signs are being introduced quite extensively for this purpose.

Napoleon's Power.

General Foy, the French military critic of the time of Napoleon, speaking of Napoleon's strength and his weakness, said: "Only the founders of religion have exercised upon their followers an authority comparable to that which made him the absolute master of his armies. This moral power became to him a fatal gift. He came to believe that he could prevail even against the most powerful material force, and this led him to scorn certain rules, the long continued violation of which could not remain unpunished."

Off Guard.

"Your honor," cried the police man, "I heard an awful yellin' back in the wagon yard, and when I got there this man was beating his wife. They had just shove Indiana Grant in jail."

Judge Broyles turned sharply on the prisoner, a tall, gaunt man, with clay colored complexion.

"Is this true? Were you beating your wife, sir?" the judge demanded.

"Yes, yer honor."

"How did you come to it?"

"I don't know, jedge. For twenty years she allus was th' one what did th' beatin', but I jes' happened ter catch her when she wasn't feelin' right."—Case and Comment.

China's Porcelains.

The famous King Teh Cheung porcelain factory, which from the year 1261 furnished all the fine porcelain for the royal palaces of China, is to be reopened. This factory was partly destroyed during the revolution in which the republic was established and the various samples and patterns kept there were divided among the leading revolutionists. However, many patterns have been recovered, together with samples, and the next step is awaited with interest.

A Handy Leg.

Iva Line—My dog is a regular blacksmith. Ivan Other—How's that? Iva Line—Why, I kicked him the other day and he made a bolt for the door.

Safety First.

"Isn't it distressing to think of all the poverty in the world?"

"I never do. I confine myself exclusively to thinking of my own."

ANTIQUITY OF THE HARP.

The Instrument Was in Use in Egypt 3,000 Years Ago.

The very first authentic record of the harp, predating even the Greek myth of Orpheus, although it is very hard indeed to assign dates to myths, is obtained from the discovery of Egyptian harps, not unlike the modern in general design, bearing dates of 3,000 years ago, or 500 years before Crafting made his harp of willow. Old Irish chronicles are full of interesting references to the harp and its functions. Let us select the comparatively modern date of 718 A. D.—modern indeed when we consider Crafting, who was a contemporary of Sapphowhich contains these lines from a poem describing the tragic death of Curio MacDaire, king of West Munster at the period of the Incarnation. They are addressed to Fercertne, the king's chief minstrel:

Make amusement for us, O'Donnsbo,
Because thou art the best minstrel in Erinn
At piper or tubes, and at harps, and at poems,
And at traditions, and at the royal stories of Erinn.

This extract will serve to show the versatility of the harper of the MacDaire. He seems to have taken the place which a whole opera company fills at the present day, including the orchestra and the composer of the music and the writer of the libretto.

The Spinning Mule.

Samuel Crompton, a boy of sixteen, copied the best features of the spinning machine invented by Hargreaves and Arkwright, added to them some of his own and, after three months of anxious and secret experimenting, produced the first spinning mule, so called because it was a kind of hybrid between Hargreaves' Jenny and Arkwright's water frame. The raw apprentice lad was, however, no match in cunning for the cotton lords, who soon found out the secret of his new machine and shamelessly robbed him of the fruits of his ingenuity. Many years afterward, it is true, they used their influence to secure for him a parliament grant of £5,000, but he was then a broken hearted and disappointed man, to whom the money came too late to be of any real service.

Alaric the Goth.

Alaric, the first of the barbarian kings who entered and sacked the Eternal City and the first enemy who had appeared before its walls since the time of Hannibal, is said to have received as the price of his departure from the city during the first siege, in A. D. 408, 5,000 pounds weight of gold, 30,000 pounds weight of silver, 3,000 silken robes, 3,000 pieces of scarlet cloth and 4,000 pounds of pepper. In order to furnish a portion of the ransom demanded by the invader it became necessary to melt down some of the statues of the ancient gods.

Paid For the Advice.

Old Hunks (meeting a physician at the club)—Doc, what ought a man to do when he has an all overish feeling as if he were going to have an attack of the grips? Great M. D.—He ought to consult a good physician about it. Old Hunks—Well, that advice ought to be worth a dollar anyhow. Here it is. I'll go and hunt him up.

Conscience.

"On what grounds do you desire to withdraw the plea of 'not guilty'?"

"On the simple ground that we are guilty. However, we must call the attention of your honor to the regrettable fact that the statute of limitations has us out. Too bad we were not asked about this matter earlier."

Meteors.

Split meteors become visible at an average height of eighty-four miles and disappear at fifty-six miles, while very slow meteors come in sight at about sixty-five miles and fade away at thirty-eight miles. Of the very slow meteors those that become visible at the greatest heights come twenty miles nearer the earth than those of very low radiant.

Cruel.

Old Aunt (on her deathbed)—I am just waiting my will and dear Heinrich. I know, alas, too well that you are not religiously disposed and have no desire to promote the cause of—

Nephew (hastily)—Beg your pardon, aunt; quite the contrary.

Aunt—Heaven be praised! Then you will be glad to hear that I have left all my property to the church!

Animals and Flesh Eating.

Arguing against the eating of meat, an English writer remarks: "Almost any animal can be made to eat flesh. The kangaroo has canine teeth. Horses, oxen and sheep may be taught to eat flesh. Norwegian rats have been known to eat flesh. Goldsmith saw a sheep eat flesh. Spallanzani has shown that a pigeon may be made to live on flesh and an eagle on bread."

Realistic.

"Why is Rosalie weeping so?"

"She and Bessie and I were playing at keeping house. Rosalie was the wife, and I was the husband."

"I hope you were not cross to her. Husbands and wives should never quarrel, you know."

"Oh, we didn't fight. Bessie was our maid, and she quit without giving us notice."

It needs more courage to suffer than to die.—Napoleon.

The inspector was paying his monthly visit to the village school. He examined the children in reading and general knowledge, as was his custom and was very pleased with the answers he received.

After the last question had been asked and answered satisfactorily he rose to his feet and, looking slowly round on the upturned faces, he remarked solemnly:—

"I wish I was a little boy at school again."

He allowed a few moments for this to sink in, and then added:—

"Do you know why I wish that?"

For a moment or two there was silence and then a childish voice from the back of the room was heard to say:—

"Cos you've forgot all you ever knowed."

of the series dealing with the establishment of the BANK OF MONTREAL at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere.

WEST OF THE GREAT LAKES

THE growth of the Bank of Montreal has closely coincided with the gradual development of Canada from a small colony to a great Dominion.

In the Bank's westward advance to the Pacific Coast, one of the important links in its transcontinental chain of Branches was formed in 1878 at Winnipeg, when the Bank opened its first Branch west of the Great Lakes.

This forward step, taken seven years before railway communication was opened up between Montreal and Winnipeg, made available to the incoming population on the prairies the stabilizing co-operation of a strong, conservative and at the same time energetic financial institution.

Of the Bank's 567 Branches, 12 are situated in Winnipeg and 180 in the Prairie Provinces, including Winnipeg.

Barn Badly Damaged by Fire.

During the noon hour on Saturday, the firemen had a call to the home of Mrs. W. F. Hall, to extinguish a fire in the barn. The firemen responded promptly and by their splendid work soon had the fire under control. A very heavy south wind was blowing at the time and the blaze looked rather nasty for a while. A metal roof on the barn helped the firemen to keep the blaze inside the structure. The upper part of the barn was badly gutted. The fire originated from some burning rubbish near the building.

GREEN TEA IN GREAT DEMAND

Twenty-five years ago, Green Tea was more popular than Black, but due to the heavy importation of poor quality Japan and China Green Teas, the demand fell off. Ceylon and India started producing Green Tea on a large scale only in recent years. They were of such fine quality and delicious flavor that Green Tea drinkers immediately recognized their superiority and demanded them in ever increasing quantities. Salada Tea Company is practically the sole importer of Ceylon and India Green Teas in Canada.

MAJ. PETER VANALSTINE

Leader of Soldier Settlers at Adolphustown in 1792.

When the Loyalists celebrate in a few weeks the coming of their ancestors to the Bay of Quinte region 140 years ago it is to be hoped that they pay heed to the memory of such a man as Major Peter Vanalstine, leader of the soldier settlers who came to Adolphustown. It was Vanalstine who took the seat in the first Legislature of Upper Canada at Newark, in 1792, which Philip Dorland, the Quaker leader, could not accept when he failed to take the prescribed oath as a member. Col. Macdonnell, the Speaker, (kinsman of former Senator Sir Claude Macdonnell, who died the other day), after consideration of a statement presented by Dorland, declared the seat vacant, and a new election resulted in the choice of Vanalstine, who took his seat at the second session.

Dr. Caniff's "Settlement of Upper Canada" states that Peter Vanalstine was Major only by courtesy, and that he came as a non-combatant at the head of non-combatant former Loyalists. "This statement has been repeated again and again, but it is incorrect", says C. C. James, in his paper on "The First Parliament of Upper Canada". "Through the courtesy of Rev. W. O. Raymond, of St. John, (who recently died in Toronto), I have been permitted to examine a muster roll of batteau men organized and directed by Captain Peter Vanalstine, and in his evidence before the Claims Commission, Vanalstine refers to his military services. Major Vanalstine was of Dutch ancestry. He came from near Albany, N.Y., and spoke English with a foreign accent. After living for some years in Adolphustown he moved across the bay to Prince Edward, where he had large holdings of land, and started the mill at the most picturesque spot of the bay district, the Lake on the Mountain. He returned to Adolphustown and died at his old home in 1811".

The Lake on the Mountain, four miles along the Prince Edward shore from Picton, is one of the attractions of the Bay of Quinte district. The buildings of the mill were used partly for war purposes a few years ago, and still reveal their original solid construction. The lake is about half a mile in diameter and 200 feet above the level of the Bay of Quinte, thus affording excellent water power. The source of the water has ever remained a mystery. Some believe it comes by a subterranean channel from a lake on the mainland to the north, but more probably it is fed by nearby springs.—Bystander in Toronto Globe.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Can you look mean? Can you so arrange your facial expressions so that people will say to themselves: "Gosh all fishhooks, will you look at that mean face". That is the predicament that confronted the stars when they first started production on the screen adaptation of "THE MEANEST MAN IN THE WORLD". Also a good Comedy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

A Special Selected Feature, "HER TEMPORARY HUSBAND", in seven parts. Also a good Comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Shirley Mason has another good performance to her credit in the Fox production, "LOVE LETTERS". Girls in love don't unfailingly roll their eyes and heave billowy sighs. Every stenographer does not use her employer's lap for a resting place. Nor are all manicurists dazzling, bewitching sirens. Also a Special Comedy.

Address and Presentation

A large crowd of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Lapum gathered in the Town Hall, Centreville, on Friday evening last, to bid them farewell before they left for their new home in Belleville. The following address was read by Mr. Jas. Weese and Mr. T. E. McGill presented them with a well filled purse.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Lapum and Family.—We, your friends and neighbors, have gathered here this evening to express our regret at your departure from our midst, and to assure you of our heartfelt good wishes for your health and happiness in your new home.

There are a few present, Mr. Lapum, who remember the important part that your honoured father played in the upbuilding of our village and in township affairs, but all here can testify to the active interest you have always taken in everything that pertained to the welfare of the community and your neighbourly kindness in many ways.

You, Mrs. Lapum, will always be remembered for your sympathetic ministrations by our sick beds and your cheerful help in every good work in church and neighborhood. We hope that in your new home you may never want for friends as kind and true as you have ever been, and we ask you to accept this slight token of our affection and esteem.

TOWN COUNCIL

Council Chamber,
June 2nd, 1924.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor A. MacGregor presiding.

Present: Reeve Graham, and Councillors Sills, Farrell, Huffman and Paul.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

On motion the 1923 tax roll was handed to the small amount of uncollected taxes.

Reeve Graham and Councillor Huffman were appointed a committee to look after the streets and report what work should be done. It was decided that oiling the streets would be commenced about the end of this week, or the first of next week.

Coun. [illegible] presented a petiant, at an annual fee of $5.00 per annum, for the privilege of selling fruit and fish from his seat at the Council Board.

Moved by Coun. Dunbar, and seconded by Coun. Paul, that the assessment clerk be notified that in future all small pigs brought to the market for sale be placed near the centre of the market. Carried.

The nuisance of smokers scratching matches on the buildings on Dundas and other streets came before the Council. This practice is evidently thoughtless one, and this little bit of publicity will no doubt appeal to the offenders and the practice should be discontinued.

The 12th of July celebration will be held at Napanee this year. The Council will request all merchants and private citizens to provide suitable decorations for this occasion.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

NEWBURGH

There is considerable suppressed thought on the Temperance situation in the Province at the present time. Occasionally some organization adopts a resolution calling for the retention of the O. T. A. or asking the government to [illegible] a vote on the question. On the other hand there are [illegible] prohibitionists and church people who are giving [illegible] act a wipe from what they [illegible] sign ground. As [illegible] the situation from [illegible] a standpoint [illegible] likely vote according to the [illegible] convictions, if allowed [illegible] the time comes. The [illegible] prohibition has produced [illegible] thinking on both sides, [illegible] prohibitionists are decidedly [illegible] uplifters, and the antis [illegible] Keyites, when truth to tell neither the so-called uplifters or whiskeyites cut a decisive figure when it comes to voting, but rather the people who vote to bring in a law the primary object of which is neither to uplift or degrade but to protect. Consciously or unconsciously the majority of those who vote for prohibition do so to bring in a law to protect society from the economic waste and social degradation also follows in the wake of the consumption of alcohol as a beverage. To protect society is, or should be, the object of all law, and when we get away from this idea, with regard to prohibition, we are wasting time and giving place to a lot of arguments that are beside the mark, such as whether the wine that Christ made was fermented or unfermented, and the time comes that Christ never made "moonshine", nor is prohibition responsible for its introduction, nor are prohibition necessarily make Christians, but it does give some people, in fact a great many people, a chance to suspend a bad habit and think sanely, whereby they become better husbands and fathers and better citizens, and to bring this about is quite within the scope of law.

A disastrous fire occurred in Newburgh on Sunday forenoon, the stock & building owned by the Hydro Electric, and occupied by Mr. Frank Breese, as a cracking mill, as well and machine shop, was burned. The fire which started in the roof from some undetermined cause, and which was beyond control when discovered, made a complete wreck of the building and contents, which included valuable machinery, tools, lumber and saw logs. The loss on the stock of lumber and logs was Mr. Geo. B. Paul. We understand that everything was a complete loss as no insurance was carried by any of the parties. Rest and quietness [illegible] of the affair was a fractured limb and other injuries sustained by Mr. Wm. Ballantyne, of Strathcona, when part of the wall fell on him. Mr. Ballance was taken to his home, where Dr. Mounce temporarily set the limb and afterwards took him to the Kingston Hospital for further treatment.

The Field Day on the 3rd was a success in every particular. The day was fine and the crowd immense. The contests were keenly fought, the spirit and contested with vigour. Good nature prevailed and everybody seemed to have an enjoyable time. In baseball and basketball Tamworth carried off the honors, Strathcona rather outclassed Newburgh in soft ball. The day was wound up with a successful concert in the hall at night. The receipts of the day were such as to render the Athletic Club happy and thankful to all who patronized their show, and they now feel that they have prompted first of June as Newburgh's day. It would not be possible to give a list of all the winners in the sports, but we cannot fail to mention that Geo. Scott, of the Newburgh Road, Captured the greased pig.

Time was when we had to send to the West for cows and, but Mr. W. W. Sutton butchered a steer the other day which he bought from Mr. Thomas Gay, Grazed 1100 lbs. As the hays say, it was a beaut.

Da-Ko is convenient to use.

ISLAND OF SWEET CONTENT.

Happy State of Affairs Exist in Island of Guernsey.

There are no unemployed in Guernsey. Everybody is a producer, and the inhabitants assert that it is through their own industry and thrift that this happy state of affairs has been reached. Guernsey cannot be entirely self-supporting, but it comes as near to it as possible in such a tiny little island.

Here people utilize everything energetically and completely. They grow willows and weave them into baskets for fish trapping; they carve stone out of their rocky isle and ship it overseas; they grind cement and export ready-made building blocks; and they manufacture their own tobacco.

If a Guernsey couple set up housekeeping they can buy furniture made on their own island, and there are also confectionery, slipper, perfume and artificial flower industries.

The island's great mainstay, however, are the horticultural and agricultural products. It sends to England each year a million and a half pounds' worth of tomatoes grown continuously from March to January, and when the land gets poor it is sterilized with steam. The Guernsey potato sails from the isle by the ton; growers get as much as 30s. for 122 succulent figs in the off season, and the local flower growers send more daffodils and tulips to England than are sent from the Scilly Isles.

Then there are Guernsey cattle, knitted goods, jams, essence, chrysanthemums, and a Russian who was once employed by the Grand Duke Michael has settled in the island and has started an industry in the manufacture in wax of queer perchistered animals.

By their own industry 40,000 old people live well and happily without labor troubles and without the horrors of unemployment.

A grass widow is the wife of a dead vegetarian.

Tertiana quid is a legal term meaning 6s. 8d.

Etiquette is the notice you make when you sneeze.

Psyche was a black boxer who fought Carpentier.

Ambiguity is telling the truth when you don't mean to.

"No plus ultra"—There's nothing beyond Ulster.

The Real Sherlock Holmes.

"Well, my man, you've served in the army?" "Aye, sir." "Not discharged?" "No, sir." "A Highland regiment?" "Aye, sir." "A non-commissioned officer?" "Aye, sir." Stationed at Barbadoes?" "Aye, sir."

Out of this cross-examination of an old soldier by Dr. Bell, an Edinburgh medical man, grew the world-famous stories woven round the world-famous detective of fiction, Sherlock Holmes.

"You see, gentlemen," Dr. Bell would explain, "this man was a perspicuous man, but did not remove his hat. They do not in the army, but he would have learned civilian ways had he been long discharged. He has an air of authority, and he is obviously Scottish. As to Barbadoes, his complaint is elephantiasis, which is West Indian and not British."

The story is told by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in his reminiscences, now being published. The famous author states that he used and amplified the methods of Dr. Bell, one of whose favorite apples he was when in later years he set down to create the great detective.

Bedraggled London.

Londoners, soaked and bedraggled, were not greatly worried by the official records that something like an inch of rain had fallen during twelve hours of recent date.

It seemed but a poor show for such a long period of discomfort, as a more adequate idea may be gained from statistics compiled by Messrs. Negretti and Zambra, Limited.

They calculate that no fewer than 48,000 tons of rain fell over an area of one square mile from Holborn viaduct.

The total area of London, taking a radius of fifteen miles, is, roughly, 700 square miles, so that something like 34,560,000 tons fell on the metropolis during one of the wettest October days on record.

Sucking Up Water.

A giant pumping station, costing £250,000 is to be erected by the London Metropolitan Water Board for pumping water into the new storage reservoir at Littleton, near Staines, where 6,500 million gallons can be held.

The buildings, dominated by an octagonal chimney 150 feet high, will cover 20,000 square feet.

Four giant centrifugal pumps with engine house will suck up water through pipes 5 feet in diameter, delivering it through similar pipes over an embankment 40 feet high into the reservoir. The boilers supplying steam to the pumping engines will be of unique design, with about 120 tons of coal a day.

"I once knew a man who went hungry in order to buy feed for his horse," said Jones.

"I can understand his sentiments," said Smith. "Many's the time I have cut down on meat and potatoes in order to buy gasoline."

SCHOOLBOY HUMOR

At a meeting recently of the Child's Study Society of London some good stories were told by Dr. P. B. Ballard, the educational expert.

One concerned a school teacher who asked her class to write an essay on the income tax. Whereupon one boy handed in the following:

"I had a dog called Tax, and when I opened the door, in come Tax."

Another teacher at a primary L. C. school set as a subject for a short essay "The Jews". One of her pupils submitted the following:

"A Jew had two sons named Ikey and Mikey. One day he went out without his key, and he shouted to Ikey, 'Throw our my key.' He then waited a minute, open came a window, and Ikey threw out Mikey."

HIS CHOICE OF EVILS

Mr. F. S. Boyce, a well-known Australian barrister, tells the story of a man who was charged in a country town with stealing. His solicitor decided to put him in the box to give evidence on his own behalf. The Magistrate, being doubtful if he understood the nature of an oath, undertook to examine him on the point.

"Jacky," he said, "you know what will happen if you tell a lie?"

"My oath, boss," replied Jacky, "me go down below—burn long time."

"Quite right," replied the Magistrate. "And now, you know what will happen if you tell the truth?"

"Yes, boss, too right! We lose 'em case."

The result of the trial is not chronicled.

A burly Irishman was brought into a base hospital pretty well "shot up". After giving his name, the doctor asked him: "You're an Irishman?"

"Half o' me, sir," he replied.

"Half of you?" asked the doctor in surprise. "And what's the other half?"

"German, sir," was the reply, "German shrapnel, bits of iron, and holes."

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMahon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, not fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. I feel much better now and am not ashamed to tell what it has done for me. I recommend it to every woman I think feels as I do."—Mrs. J. R. McMahon, 152 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring sick, ailing women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. Don't be worn out and aggrieved any longer. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." "C

Soaking takes the place of rubbing—

JUST by soaking the clothes in the suds of this new soap, dirt is gently loosened and dissolved.

Even the dirt that is ground in at neck-bands and cuff-edges yields to a light rubbing with dry Rinso. Not a thread is weakened. The mild Rinso suds work thoroughly through and through the clothes without injury to a single fabric.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. For the family wash it is as wonderful as Lux is for fine things.

All grocers and department stores sell Rinso.

Chevrolet Brings Town and Country Close

IT is no longer necessary for the farmer to remain a recluse—for his children to forego the youthful companionship which they all crave. Neither is it necessary for the town or city dweller to think of the countryside as a delightful place to be visited only at vacation time. The automobile has made communication swift and easy. It has brought friends near each other, though they live miles apart.

And Chevrolet has made it possible for almost every Canadian to enjoy the benefits of an automobile. For Chevrolet is not only an exceedingly low-priced car, but it is also the most economical car in the world to maintain.

Even though you have not the ready cash with which to purchase at present, the General Motors Acceptance Corporation makes it possible for you to pay for your Chevrolet while you are using and enjoying it.

Investigate Chevrolet and learn how easy it is to own and operate.

INDUSTRIES DIE OUT.

New Inventions Crushing Out Once Flourishing Trades.

In discussing the decadence of many industries that were at one time flourishing, an English writer says that in London at least there are no more pattern-makers. The window of the last survivor of this once flourishing industry was placed some years ago upon the pension list of one of the old Livery Guilds.

New methods, new inventions are always crushing out old industries and especially handicrafts. The motor has done a deal to destroy the many industries connected with riding and driving. Not long ago, a man in trouble for not paying a debt told the magistrate that he was a maker of whip lashes, but that his trade was practically dead.

The forging by hand of hard steel stirrups which used to be a flourishing industry is nearly dead. It was work which required great skill, a trade which took a lifetime to learn properly. It is doubtful if there are a dozen men left in England who are capable of forging a steel stirrup out of a rough bar of steel.

The old-time cooper, the man who made barrels by hand, is well-nigh extinct. So, too, is the hand-loom weaver. In both these handicrafts machinery has superceded the older methods.

Instead of thatching their stacks, farmers usually throw a tarpaulin over them or build them under a roof of galvanized iron.

The thatcher was once one of the most important and best paid of rural artificers. To-day you may search many villages before you find one man capable of doing thatching. Indeed, in Lincolnshire, where not so long ago all cottages were reed-thatched, it was estimated recently that there are only four expert reed-thatchers left.

Perth, Stirling and Dundee were formerly centres of the Scottish pistol-making industry. Scottish pistols were famous as far back as 1515, and were exported to France and elsewhere. There were at one time no fewer than seventy-eight well-known and famous Scottish pistol-makers.

This trade is absolutely dead. The United States revolver killed the Scottish pistol, and the only examples of this interesting art are now to be seen in museums.

Plenty of Melted Snow to Drink.

The city of Antofogasta is the novel municipality of Cuile, according to W. M. Stokes, a resident of the place.

"Our section of the country is arid and sometimes we see no rain for five or six years—in fact, there are many grown people there who have never seen a real rain storm," said Mr. Stokes. They have good water there, nevertheless, but it has to be piped for great distances, as it is melted snow from the mountain tops.

There is no such thing as trees growing wild there. They have to bring suitable soil into the country in order to plant trees and blast out the rock. Then they must be sprinkled. The several parks we have there have been built in that way. The city is well kept and very clean. There are no street cars, as all the street traffic is by motor busses. They have a line market run by the city.

The seasons are just the opposite of those in Canada. It is winter there now and the coldest months are June, July and August. Practically all the wealth is concentrated in Santiago, the capital, which is a beautiful city, some 2,000 feet above sea level, where they have rainy and dry seasons, with a climate not unlike Southern California. Still another part of Chile is in the lake region and is known as the Switzerland of South America. The scenery is said to be the most beautiful in the world—yet few people go there as it is still rather inaccessible.

Salvation Army Pioneer.

Commandant Elanna Westbrook, of Albany, N.Y., is the only surviving member of the original contingent of "Hallelujah lassies" who planted the flag of the Salvation Army in the United States in 1880. Although nearly 80 years old, she is as alert mentally and physically as the average person of fifty.

When the original party of one man and seven lassies came from England as pioneers at the behest of General William Booth, Commandant Westbrook was the oldest member. The other seven have lived their span, but the commandant goes vigorously on. Commandant Westbrook has been an active "warrior" in the Salvation Army for 45 years. Of this service 42 years have been spent in the United States. She knows Commander Evangeline Booth as a brighthaired, seven-year-old child in the home of her father, Gen. Booth.

Fatal Fear.

The other day a three-months-old baby, rejoicing in the name of Marilin Joan Anderson, chanced to be pushed off a railroad bridge into a river at Chippewa Falls, Wis. The water was warm, and baby, accustomed to a morning and evening bath, enjoyed herself in her big tub. She kicked out gaily, and in so doing kept herself afloat until rescuers reached her. A grown-up, untaught to swim, would have drowned. Why? Because fear would counteract the animal ability to swim that is born in all of us. Frightened, the grown-up would yell and empty his lungs of the air necessary to keep him afloat. Fear drowns more people than water.

Far For Patient.

Dr. Edward Osgood Otis, president of the United States Academy of Medicine, arrived at Liverpool by the Cunard liner Franconia from New York specially to obtain a supply of the new tuberculosis vaccine, "Antiphthisin," at the request of a patient. He immediately started for Oxford to obtain the vaccine, and returned by the first available passage to the States. According to Dr. Otis, this vaccine has been recommended in United States medical journals, and he is very hopeful of a cure.

NO RACE SUICIDE.

Wives Presented Husbands With Families In Wholesale Lots.

The comedian who walked into a London dairy which exhibited the legend in its window, "Families Supplied," and said he would take "a boy and a girl," please," might have been more successful in America, whence comes the news that a wife has presented her husband with eight babies in one day!

In the very same week the information was forthcoming that a young waitress at Durban has given birth to four children, and the announcement was accompanied by the assurance that "all were doing well."

Some years ago a Palermo woman, Rosa Salemi, presented her husband with five boys, all well formed, and, according to the doctor, "eating well and crying well." But she was a long way from wresting the record from the peasant girl, Gravata, of Tuscany, says London Tit-Bits.

Gravata was the twin daughter of a woman who was one of triplets. The daughter married a man of her own class. She set the seal on the family reputation when she made her husband a present of six sons, and followed the next year with five more!

After this she had triplets twice, which were followed by a quartette. Then ensued a procession of ones and twos, and, finally, came four boys all together. This brought the aggregate number of her living children up to 62, and assured her fame in obstetrical annals as the "Gravata case."

Brand's "History of Newcastle" credits a similar feat to the wife of a poor weaver in Scotland, but does not state how many children arrived at one and the same time. Her family, however, numbered 62. Of these, 46 boys and four girls survived to manhood and womanhood.

Creatures That Cannot Be Caught.

It was recently reported that photographs have been obtained of a monstrous, an almost unknown flightless bird, of which only four specimens have ever been secured.

There are many other birds and beasts at large in various parts of the world of which not even photographs can be obtained, and the zoological societies would pay substantial sums for specimens of them.

There is a nameless creature living in the region of the Andes, for instance, that has so far escaped capture. It has been seen by various travellers, and bones and other remains that have been discovered bear out the belief that the animal is a true member of the rat family—but a rather terrifying member, since it is the size of the fully-grown mastiff.

Then there is the okapi, an animal known to exist in certain parts of the Congo forest. It was discovered just over twenty years ago, by Sir Harry Johnston, who believed it to be of the same species as certain fossilized remains which were found in Greece. The subsequent discovery of some skulls and a complete hide however, proved the okapi to be an unknown animal, apparently a cross between the giraffe and zebra.

Another creature still at large is the nylesou, a species of the ground sloth. Some few years ago Hesketh Prichard, the author and big game hunter, led an expedition into Patagonia in search of this beast, although no nylodon was captured, it is firmly believed that specimens of the creature are still at large there.

Among the birds that zoologists would welcome may be mentioned the bell bird, which has often been heard singing in a clear, bell-like tone, but never yet caught.

Why a Shoe Is Thrown.

Throwing a shoe after the bride is the survival of a custom based upon ancient superstitious rites in connection with sandals or shoes. Delivery of a shoe was used as a testimony in transferring a possession. A man plucked off his shoe and gave it to his neighbor, and this was a testimony in Israel.

Throwing a shoe on property was a symbol of new ownership.

From these ancient practices came the old English and Scottish customs of throwing an old shoe after a bride on her departure for a new home, symbolizing that the parents gave up all right for dominion over their daughter.

In Anglo-Saxon times the father delivered the bride's shoe to the bridegroom, who touched her on the head with it to show his authority. In Turkey the bridegroom is chased after marriage by the wedding guests and pelted with slippers.

Most Beautiful Verse.

If I were asked to quote the most beautiful short saying in Holy Scripture, I should hesitate between two—one in the New Testament and one in the Old," writes Dr. John A. Hutton in the Christian World. "In the Old Testament, my choice would be: 'The Eternal God is thy Refuge, and underneath are the Everlasting Arms.'

"In the New Testament I should offer I. John iv. 16, not as translated in the authorized version indeed, but as it is translated in Weymouth, and as it always should have been translated: 'As for us, we know the love which God has for us, and we confide in it.' There you have the substance of all Christian theology, and the sustenance in the same breath of all Christian ethics."

Eve Ate Banana.

The banana, about which so many are singing just now, is supposed to have originated in India near the base of the Himalaya mountains; but a legend among Eastern Christians assert that it had a prominent place in the Garden of Eden, and that it was a banana, not an apple, that Eve ate in her search for knowledge. No one knows how this popular fruit came to the New World, but it seems not to have been here when Cabot arrived. One explanation is that it was taken from Spain to Santo Domingo early in the sixteenth century and from there spread rapidly to the other West Indian Islands and to the mainland.

I can't stand dining with music in those hotels," said Jones. "Doesn't it get you?"

"No," answered Smith. "I like it as a matter of precaution—sometimes the music helps me to forget the food and at other times the food helps me to forget the music."

THE ALTERNATIVE

A negro named Sam had worked for his master for five years. His friend, Ben, said to him one day:

"Now, Sam, you have worked up there and made your employer rich. You ought to ask for more money. You just tell him: 'Look here, guv'nor, you pay me more money, or else——'"

Sam tried his friend's advice next morning. He began: "Say, boss, you hab to gib me mo' money fo' dis job."

"Well, Sam, I'll see about it," was the reply.

"See about nothin'. You pay mo', or else——"

"Pay more or else, else what?" The employer's eyes flashed and his tone was sharp.

Sam's eyes blinked as he detected his master's anger, and in a sulky voice he replied: "Else I wuzk for de same money."

WHERE THE WORST WAS BEST.

A young magazine editor of New York took a trip to California, and happened in upon Hollywood. He was invited to a motion-picture party and decided to put off his usual reserve and diffidence and enter fully into the spirit of the occasion. He devoted his attention throughout the evening to a young film actress.

"I will be wild," he determined. "I will be rowdy. I will behave with all the abandon for which Hollywood is famous."

He did his best, but suddenly, as he was playing the role to the limit of his capacity, the young woman broke down and wept.

The Editor asked the cause of her distress, and with tears in her eyes she looked up and said: "I've been here almost a year now, and you're the first fellow that's acted to me like a gentleman."

So Says Madame Blanchette of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec Lady Suffered From Bad Kidneys for Three Years and Was Restored to Good Health by Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Raphael, Que., June 2nd, (Special).—From all parts of Canada come the same glad tidings, telling the same glad story of sufferers that suffer no longer, of the weak being made strong and healthy, and of the good work that is being done by Dodd's Kidney Pills. People are now learning the importance of keeping the kidneys in shape, of watching for the least symptom of Kidney Trouble, and they turn at once to Dodd's Kidney Pills, because they know they have a remedy that they can rely on, a remedy that never fails. Right here in St. Raphael, Madame A. Blanchette, a much respected resident, comes forward with a statement that adds to the long list of grateful letters. She says:

"For three years I suffered with bad kidneys and no other remedy did me any good. After taking six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am in perfect health again."

PENALTY 56674

Penalty No. 1570, is a handsome bay stallion. Stands 15.2 hands high and weight 1,150 pounds; foaled 1912. Bred by Graham Bros. & Brown, Carbinge, Ill.

Individually he is a horse of grand finish and plenty of substance, with a fine disposition, with deep, strong shoulders, stout back, very strong loins and stifles, strong bone, with good feet and legs.

His blood lines are of the best, as will be seen by his tabulated legal pedigree, the most popular and prolific speed producing combination in trotting blood lines, the kind that get the money on the race course and the prizes in the show rings.

That he will beget speed and grand road qualities there is no doubt, as he not only inherits but possesses these qualities in a marked degree.

Even common mares bred to a horse of this class cannot fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as carriage horses or roadsters, as well as general all-purpose horses.

He will make the season of 1924 at home, Napanee Driving Park.

BELL—On Monday, June 2nd, 1924, Edith Gwendolyn, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bell, Empey Hill.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear husband, William McIntyre, who died May 26th, 1919.
Days of sadness still come o'er me,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near me
Although you died five years ago.

Inserted by his wife, Mrs. W. McIntyre, Oakville, Man.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, C. Edward Ellis, who died 6th of June, 1919.

In a cold and silent graveyard,
Where the trees and branches wave,
Is found Sunny's loving husband,
Who died five years ago to-day.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought his death so near;
God took him home, it was His will,
The pain of not saying a last farewell.

A Spelling Test.

Here are twenty-one common words frequently misspelled, according to the American Boy. Get some one to dictate the following paragraph to you and see how many of them you can spell correctly:

"The privilege of separating ninety nine-elements accidents, arranged in two parallel lines, was against the principles of the superintendent, so his views, not to disappoint the government or cause it to lose business, removed the principal calendars and thus relieved her uncle of a strain which might have brought on a disease. Then she believed it had become truly necessary for her to receive her instruction in grammar."

Force of Habit.

"It is 11 o'clock. You must go now."
"But I still have much to say to you," pleaded the young congressman.
"Really, my parents won't permit me to entertain company any later."
"Then I ask for leave to extend my remarks in the Record—er—that is, good night, Miss Vanessa."

Happy Family.

"I shall never marry," announced the sixteen-year-old daughter.
"I said the very same thing at your age," sighed her mother, "and goodness knows I've often wished I'd kept my promise."
"And you're not the only one who's wished it, either," barked dad, who had entered the room unobserved by the other two.

When Man Proposes.

"Have women a sense of humor?" asked the matter of fact man.
"Oh, yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "But they have to curb it. If women laughed at everything they saw that's funny they would spoil efforts to propose by some really nice men."

The Papers!

Villain—Where are those papers! First Assistant Villain—In the blacksmith shop. Villain—Ha, ha—I suppose they forged. First Assistant—No, being filed!—Harpoon.

Things that do not profit us in changing it is best not to change at all.—Ruskin.

When your friends took a trip abroad they invariably brought back some of Yardley's Old English Lavender Toilet preparations. These are now offered for sale at Wallace's.

Travelling through the South a few years ago in search of an unreconstructed "rebel", a clergyman from the North got in conversation with a distinguished appearing planter from Louisiana. After discussing crops, politics and the weather, the clergyman put this question:

"Do you believe the Civil War could have been averted?"

"Yes, sir."

"How?"

"Well," he said, "I'll tell you; if instead of those Pilgrims landing on Plymouth Rock, Plymouth Rock had landed on them, there never would have been any war."

Peace Angel of Balkans Spreads Her White Wings To Promote Peace and Amity

Before he was forced to abdicate, when ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria quitted his dominions, as he was in the habit of doing, frequently and with secrecy, news was flashed from one European court to another that "the devil is once more on the prowl!"

There is nothing Mephistophelian, however, about Queen Marie of Rumania. Her face is beautiful as that of the exiled ruler of Bulgaria is illfavored. The Bulgars drove Ferdinand from his throne and from their country amid a such a storm of execration that he narrowly escaped with his life.

But the Rumanians, remembering the heroism displayed by Queen Marie in nursing their wounded through three terrible wars, and their sick and dying through epidemics of cholera and typhus, look upon her as akin to a saint and as very much of an angel.

Still, when the Rumanian angel spreads her white wings for a flight abroad there is always something of a stir at foreign courts and capitals. As in the case of the Mephistophelea of the Balkans, people know that something is doing, that she has some object in view in quitting her dominions, and they are on the alert.

The difference between her visitations and those of Ferdinand of Bulgaria is that, whereas his aims were to stir up trouble, those of Marie of Rumania are to promote peace and international good-will — usually through matrimony.

When it was learned the other day that Queen Marie had unexpectedly arrived in the French capital and had received long visits from President Millerand and Premier Poincare, all sorts of rumors became current as to the object of her trip abroad. This much has already been gathered since her meetings with President Millerand and Premier Poincare, namely, that France has decided to adopt a friendlier attitude towards Greece, with whom her relations have been strained since the time when a detachment of French sailors from the men-of-war in the port of Piraeus were ambushed and shot down on the streets of Athens in the great war.

Ever since then France's representatives in Greece have been directed to confine their official relations to the Athens Government and to hold aloof from the court and the reigning house of Greece. This attitude of the French Government, which has been followed by most of the other Entente nations and by the United States, has made the position of young King George II. and his consort, Queen Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Queen Marie, very difficult.

It is believed that the matrimonial intentions of Queen Marie with regard to her youngest daughter are taking shape. The childlessness of the young King and Queen of Greece seems certain. The next in the line of succession to the throne of Greece is King George's only brother, Paul, a good-looking lad about 21 years of age, the only member of his family who has been allowed by the Greek Government to remain at Athens.

Princess Ileana has been there as the guest and companion of her sister, the Queen, and she could have been thrown much into the company of Prince Paul, whose taste for all kinds of outdoor sports, including, is to her English bringing-up.

A match between Prince Paul and Princess Ileana has been born and brought up in the Orthodox Greek faith, would be eminently suitable, and, now that the cause of the monarchy in Greece seems assured, would go far to cement the friendship of the nations known as the Balkan League.

Queen Marie is the acknowledged Balkan League, as she is of the Little Entente. The league, first conceived by the late Take Jonescu and by Eleutherios Venizelos some fourteen years ago, drove the Turks from Europe to the very walls of Constantinople. Then it suddenly crumbled in the hour of victory through the treachery of one of its members, ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria.

Efforts on the part of Venizelos and of the late Take Jongesu to reconstitute the league, after the restoration of peace in 1919, were of no avail. Distrust had given way to hatred among the Balkan nations as the result of the great war. It was then that Queen Marie, alive to the importance of the re-establishment of the league as a defense against Bolshevism, the Turks and against European intrigues, took a hand in the matter.

Far-sighted enough to see that Crown Prince George of Greece, who had accompanied his parents on their first exile to Switzerland, would eventually occupy the throne at Athens, she set to work to negotiate a match for her eldest daughter Elizabeth with him, at a time when his entire family were in straightened circumstances and his prospects seemed most sombre.

Next Queen Marie went to work to win over Serbia's grand old man and radical Premier, Nicholas Pachitch, to the political advantage of a marriage between his sovereign and her second daughter Princess Marie.

After various difficulties had been overcome by the feminine intuition, the delicate tact and the political sagacity of the Queen, the soul of an alliance between her country and Serbia was set by the marriage at Belgrade last year of her second daughter and namesake to Alexander Karageorgevitch. Alexander had won fame in the war as a brave and successful commander and also as an able Regent of his war-racked kingdom.

It is said that Queen Marie of Rumania is pulling wires at Avlona and in various capitals of Europe with a view to the election of her second son, Prince Nicholas, to the Albanian throne.—Montreal Herald and Weekly Star.

SAVED HER FAMILY.

Climax to the Fearless Fight of a Plucky Spider.

Crossing a field one day, I came upon a large female spider of the hunter family carrying a round white sack of eggs half the size of a cherry attached to her spinnerets.

Plucking a long stem of herd's grass, I detached the sack of eggs without bruising it. Instantly the spider turned and sprang at the grass stem, fetched and biting until the got to the sack, which she seized in her strong jaws and made off with it as fast as her rapid legs would carry her.

I laid the stem across her back and again took the sack away. She came on for it again, fighting more fiercely than before. Once more she seized it, once more I forced it from her jaws, while she sprang and bit at the grass stem to annihilate it.

The fight must have been on for ten minutes when by a regrettable move on my part one of her legs was injured. She did not falter in her fight. On she rushed for the sack as fast as I pulled it away. The mother in her was rampant.

She would have fought for that sack I believe, until she had not one of her eight legs to stand on had I been cruel enough to compel her. It did not come to this, for suddenly the sack burst, and out poured a myriad of tiny brown spiderlings.

Before I could think that mother had rushed among them and caused them to swarm upon her, covering her many deep, even to the outer joints of her long legs—so deep that I could not now have touched her with a needle except at the risk of crushing the young. I stood by and watched her shortly move off with her incrusting family to a place of safety.—Dallas Lore Sharp in Atlantic Monthly.

Ancient Delphi.

Ancient Delphi was a small town in Greece on the southern slope of Mount Parnassus, where poets were supposed to draw their inspiration. The ancient town got its name from its founder, Delphus, son of Apollo, and there was a temple of Apollo there, where prophecies were made; hence the phrase Delphian or Delphine oracles. A fountain called the Castalian spring, supposed to be frequented and patronized by poets, was situated on the mountain side above Delphi. A portion of the site of the ancient town is now occupied by a village called Kastri, and interesting excavations have been made there in recent years.

Eyes in a Portrait.

If a person's picture is taken with the eyes of the person looking directly into the lens or opening of the camera then the eyes of the picture will appear to be directly on and appear to follow whoever is looking at it. This is also true of paintings. If a subject being painted is placed so as to look directly at the painter and the artist paints the picture with the eyes so pointed then the eyes of the picture will follow you. When you are looking at a picture of a person and the eyes do not follow you you will know at once that he was not looking at the camera or artist when the picture was being taken or painted.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Nervous Woman (to persistent beggar): "If I give you a piece of pudding you will never return, will you?" Beggar: "Well, lady, by now your puddin' better than I do."

Paring a corn is both risky and ineffective. It is much better to use Holloway's Corn Remover and eradicate them entirely.

Sultor: "Alice, I've had something hesitating on my lips for some time now, and—"

Alice: "I know, George. But why not shave it off? It'll never grow."

Complete in itself, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator does not require the assistance of any other medicine to make it effective. It does not fail to do its work.

"My, but you will be glad when your time is up, won't you?" said a newly nineteen-year-old miss to a prisoner in jail.

"I can't say I'm very keen about it, miss," was the answer. "I'm in for life."

It Testifies For Itself. — Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil needs no testimonial of its merits other than itself. Whoever tries it for coughs or colds, for cuts or contusions, for sprains or burns, for pains in the limbs or body, will know that the medicine proves itself and needs no recommendation. This shows why this Oil is in general use.

It was in a street car. The woman wore a long wisp of artificial grain, which, protruding horizontally, tickled the ear of the roundly dressed man who occupied the seat beside her. At last he could stand it no longer. He took out his jackknife and opened it.

"Lady," he said, "if them oats ever go into my ear again that's goin' to be a harvest."

Mothers Value This Oil.—Mothers who know how suddenly croup may seize their children and how necessary prompt action is in applying relief, always keep Zam-Buk, a supply of this home-made Eclectric Oil, because experience has taught them that this is an excellent preparation for the treatment of this ailment. And they are wise, for its various uses render it a valuable medicine.

An officer on board a warship was drilling his men. "I want every man to lie on his back, put his legs in the air and move them as if he were riding a bicycle," he explained.

"Now commence."

After a short effort one of the men stopped.

"Why have you stopped, Murphy?" asked the officer.

"If be plaze, sir," was the answer, "I'm coasting."

Help for Asthma. Neglect gives asthma a great advantage. Don't neglect it. Don't use the smoking or powder, but rather the liquid. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is daily benefiting cases of asthma of long standing. Years of suffering, however, might have been prevented had the remedy been used when the trouble was in its first stages. Do not neglect asthma, but use this preparation at once.

A man slipped on a banana peel and received a very heavy fall, not being hurt, as it turned out, but having his dignity somewhat ruffled. When he recovered a moment later a friend was holding his hat and a number of people had formed a circle.

"What do these idiots want?" he snarled.

"They are not idiots," explained his friend, soothingly. "Here's a doctor who wants to look you over, a lawyer ready to bring suit for you, and a mesmerizer, of course fellas who would like to sign you up."

In all infantile complaints that are the result of the derangement of the digestive organs and intestines Miller's Worm Powders will be found an effective remedy. They attack the cause of these troubles, and by expelling the worms from the organs insure the orderly working of the system, without which the child cannot maintain its strength or thrive. These powders mean health and improvement.

Tommy Atkins was coming home from Palestine. He hoped to arrive in time for the christening of his youngest, for he had in his pocket a flask of water from the River Jordan, which was a little dusky, however, and when he stepped from the train at the home station he learned that the christening perhaps had already begun. He arrived breathless at the church, drew the flask from his pocket and offered it to the officiating clergyman. The latter held up a warning hand.

"Not now, my man," he said softly. "Perhaps after church is out."

Secret Hiding Places

Many of the ancient family seats of England have secret cupboards and hiding places. Persecutions of various kinds were common. Some were political, some were religious and all equally unpleasant.

Precautionary measures were taken by public men and people who felt that they might be "wanted" and unctuaries were provided. Some of these places were fair-sized rooms, others little more than cupboards, but large enough for a man to stand upright. Some unfortunates even lied in the hiding-holes, for skeletons have been found in many of them.

In the old mansion at Stonyhurst, in Lancashire, now a famous college, there are several of these secret chambers. One of these was situated in a wall behind a large bookcase. The entrance to it was through a sliding panel, the opening and closing of which was cunningly concealed in the wall.

When this place was discovered some years ago, an old bed and mattress were found in it, also a strait waistcoat, a pulpit and the relics of James II. The chamber itself was fairly roomy, and about five feet in height.

Tradition has it that the oldest part of Stonyhurst is riddled with secret passages and chambers. Some years ago, when alterations were being made in the chapel, a hollow beam with hidden hinges was found. It has evidently been used in bygone days for the purpose of keeping vessels and dairy utensils.

Yet another secret chamber in this old mansion is over the main entrance, in the central tower. From this, through a small hole, cunningly hidden in the carving of the coat-of-arms of the Shuttleton family (their former home) and the mimery on a large shield of marble over the gateway, a good view could be obtained of the approach to the house. In this chamber a number of loaded muskets were discovered, many of them ornamented with silver. They had evidently been used in bygone days in times of emergency. The fact that they were still loaded seems to show that the emergency never did arise. And, to conclude this, a full flask of rum was also found.

At Ingham Hall, in Lincolnshire, is another secret chamber. This hiding-place is very cunningly devised. A solid oak beam, forming one of the steps leading down into the bedroom, was so arranged that it could be lifted up, disclosing a trapdoor that led down into the lodging-place below. A lantern hung on the inside kept this door securely in place, thus rendering any discovery impossible.

The room, which was about eight feet by five, and five and a half feet high, was ventilated by means of a chimney. Its unusual shape and the fact that it stood, of all the other rooms in the house, undisturbed by smoke, gave the secret away.

Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was discovered to get straight down into the secret chamber. A subterranean passage was discovered some years ago, but the fouliness of the air made it impossible to explore it very far. It is believed to lead to Corby, a few miles distant, and to come out into an old quarry.

A similar passage was discovered a few years ago at Arundel, running for a long distance in the direction of Amberley, but the entrance to it was blocked up when a man lost his life through the foulness of the air.

At an old house at Deal a subterranean passage leading to the ancient chamber behind a fireplace, to the beach, was discovered some time ago. It was the smoking cause of the wind blowing up the passage that led to the investigations which resulted in the discovery of the secret chamber and its outlet.—Montreal Herald and Weekly Star.

Hail Many Trades.

A "Jack of all Trades" is David E. Duckett, of Wimbledon. A London, Eng., newspaper held a "Jack of all trades" contest, after Duckett not only claimed that he could work at 7 different occupations but that he had been employed at them and he sent in the name of the employer and the length of time he was engaged. Mr. Duckett's tasks have been: Timekeeper's assistant, porter, engine-man, barman, hotel-lift packer, bottle operator, engine cleaner, fitman at Brooklands motor exhibition stand fitter, chief petty officer, scenery hand, climber, building contractor, apprentice, plumber, plasterer, painter, bricklayer, carpenter, bricklayer's mate, ordinary seaman, able seaman, quartermaster, bandsman, trainer and florist, district visitor, canvasser (for various bureaus), tiller, spiker (wire and rope), milk roundsman, barman, parcel-van driver, assistant, and then proprietor. At no time, he says, has he been dismissed for being incompetent.

Witness Mesmerized.

A man who gave evidence at Enfield Police Court complained to the bench that he felt too nervous to tell his story coherently.

The magistrate—Why are you nervous?

The man—That policeman keeps looking at me, and I do not like his face. It gives me a "creepy" feeling.

The policeman turned his back, and the man said that he was satisfied.

Gold Among Nails.

Sir Clement Cullin, an ironmonger, of Great Prince Street, Stockport, Eng., had no faith in banks, and nobody knew where to find him.

He died recently, and the secret came out when his stock was examined.

More than £1,000 in gold pieces was hidden in bags of nails, and more than £1,000 in bank and Treasury notes was collected from tea caddies and canisters.

Brown's doctor was a land speculator. When not making out prescriptions he was making out mortgages. It was when in a dual state of mind that he gave Brown the following instructions along with the prescription:

"One-half down and the balance every six months for four years."

INTERESTING FIND.

Remains of Bronze-Age Man Found In Tomb in Wales.

Excavations reminiscent of Luxor have attracted a big gathering of archaeologists and sightseers to a remote upland in the Montgomeryshire parish of Garthbeibio, Wales.

Workmen, in removing a megalithal mound to build a bridge, came across human remains in a cistface, or tomb. They were left undisturbed until an exploration could be carried out on behalf of the National Museum of Wales by Mr. Mortimer Wheeler, Professor of Archaeology at Cardiff University.

Meanwhile, the inhabitants of the tomb has been regarded locally as a Welsh King Tut."

The parallel with Luxor is not without its appositeness, for Prof. Wheeler says that it was approximately of the period of Tut-Ankh-Amen, or possibly a little earlier. It was of the Bronze Age in the second millenium before Christ. Earl Power, who was present and arranged for the excavation, is a cousin of the late Lord Carnarvon.

The district coroner, Dr. Humphrey's was also in attendance, but not to solve the problem of how the Bronze Age man came to his death. He could not resist a professional touch, however.

As Professor Wheeler took from the tomb handful after handful of human dust and fragmentary bones and placed them in a bag, the coroner remarked that an open verdict of "Found dead" was obviously the right one.

The remains had clearly been cremated, probably on a funeral pyre of wood. The tomb was made of smooth river stones, covered with rough slabs, and with the remains were found a pierced stone axe-hammer, a flint arrow-head, and a flint scraper, the last-named evidently an instrument for dressing skins. There were apparently for use in the next world.

The axe was of an unusual type to be found in Wales, possibly derived from Scandinavia, and suggesting, says Professor Wheeler, Scandinavian influence in Wales at an earlier period than is suggested by previous discoveries.

Tower of London.

Possibly no building in England is so rich in historic memories as the famous Tower of London. It is bathed in blood and tragedy; it is the haunting place of innumerable ghosts and filled with legendary lore. It has housed the world's greatest patriots and has also been the custodian of the world's most notorious. The Tower of London, the ancient citadel and state prison of London, is on the north bank of the Thames, about one mile east of London Bridge. Tradition ascribes its foundation to Claudius Caesar; but for this statement, there is no evidence, although the structure may occupy the site of the old Roman fortification. The White Tower—the first part erected—was commenced in 1078 by William the Conqueror, and completed by his son, William Rufus, who, in 1098, surrounded it with walls and a moat, and built, in addition, St. Thomas' Tower and Traitor's Gate. The Tower of London has been added to by several of the sovereigns of England, and covered at the present time an area of 12 acres. It is used at the present day simply as an armory, and a jewelhouse for the crown regalia.

Fountain Abbey.

Fountain Abbey, picturesque ruins are in the grounds of Studley Royal, have been left to the nation by the late Lord Ripon. The ruins are most beautifully situated and are the most extensive of the kind in the country. The Queen visited them when she was on her recent stay with Princess Mary and Lord Lascelles at Goldsborough Hall. The abbey was founded in 1132 and the building was covered between 1204 and 1247, the tower, which is a prominent feature, being built about 1500. The building consists of nave, transepts, choir, and eastern transept, the great cloister, a magnificent vaulted chamber being 300 feet in length. For many years now the abbey ruins have been carefully protected, and at first sight they appear to be perfect except for the lore of the roof.

Color Line Illegal in South Africa.

An important decision on the question of drawing the color line in South Africa has been given by the Supreme Court, which declares that the color bar is opposed to the general law of the land.

The case arose on the application of the Attorney-General for a rule, in an action against a miner attorney who had been charged with contravening the mining regulations by permitting a native to take charge of a locomotive.

Justice Kisanc, the presiding judge, at the trial, asserted that there was no justification for differentiation among classes or colors, and in the absence of an express statutory provision it would be dangerous to hold that the Government had power to make such a regulation.

"Vimm Theologicum."

The best wine formerly made in England was named "Vimm Theologicum," according to Hollinshead, "it was had from clergy and religious men, and whose house nearly of the laity would often send for bottles filled with the same, being sure that they would neither drink nor be served of the worst, or such as was any ways mingled or vinified by the vinery; nale, the merchant, would have thought that his soule would grow straightwaie to the devil, if he should have served them with other than the best."

Countess of Warwick

Disapproves of Existing Conditions In England

Lady Warwick, celebrated in her younger days as Frances Evelyn Maynard, and still a commanding and picturesque figure when a sexagenarian grandmother, has sometimes been described, in recent years, as a Philippe Egalite in petticoats, says Frederick Cunliffe Owen in The New York Times.

But she has never concealed as to the actual sympathies of the British throne or the members of that old aristocracy to which she belongs by birth and marriage. Neither has she advocated the substitution of a republic for the present monarchial form of government to which the British Empire is subject. If she has been likened to the Revolutionary Duke of Orleans, who lost his head under the guillotine in 1795, it is because she disapproves of existing economic and social conditions in England, and has done something forward as the champion of that universal levy on capital which is the nightmare of the multi-millionaires and even of the moderately affluent, of land owners, merchants and those engaged in industrial enterprises. They dread it as the most revolutionary measure ever submitted to the Parliament of Great Britain.

The masses of the United Kingdom and the Empire as well as even the modern Laborites, have come to regard the levy as the new system of all their ills. They would transfer the burden of taxation from the shoulders of the poor to where they think it really belong, that is, to the shoulders of the rich. They look upon this as a more suitable means of balancing the national budget than Premier Baldwin's proposed policy of protection, which for a time will heighten the cost of living throughout the inevitable increase of the price of necessaries. The classes around the capital see as a mere prelude to the abolishment of all time property, public utilities, and, finally, private enterprise, in keeping with the doctrines of Soviet Russia, for which Lady Warwick seeks full recognition from her Great Britain. She is too clever a woman not to have realized long ago that the conditions of the masses in the United Kingdom are such as to demand strong remedies for the popular cure against the wealthy and against the Government, which seems to the poor to exist only for the protection of the rich. Many of her own class have held similar views, but when they speak her notes regardless of convention and consequences. Most of the letters which, during a series, she has originated in Mayfair, where, although getting on somewhat in her closing decades of the last century, she has never been popular, has a horror of bores, affectation and sham, and possesses a mind of extraordinary and originality and originality. Brought up in the knowledge that she was one of the leading beauties of the day, conscious of her beauty and her social position, gifted with abundant wealth and gold, she was once an acknowledged leader of London society, and still, to-day, is a conspicuous figure in the public life of Great Britain. As a painter, a musician, an author, she has passed through a fount-in-hand while she has achieved distinction. The poverty career of Lady Warwick was fraught with temptations. She numbered Edward VII. among her warmest friends, and out of their friendship grew bitter jealousies and calumnies which are remembered to this day, though they had little effect in injuring Lady Warwick. The late Princess Mary of Cambridge, Duchess of Teck, who had the most accurate sense of the fitness of things and the proprieties of life, remained good friends with Lady Warwick though that attracted around her house party week-ends at Easton Lodge, in Essex, as Lady Warwick's guests.

In late years unfortunate investments have compelled Lord and Lady Warwick to sell their princely country rent from London society. Brooklyn, their beautiful home in Park Lane, was sold. It still keeps its name she gave it at the time she took it. Warwick House, opposite St. James's Palace, has long since passed out of the family's influence.

In the case of the financial embarrassments of Lady Warwick, and of her husband, she has answered from her fine Easton Lodge estate, at least three occasions, been the scene of a sale under the hammer of creditors. The mansion itself and its gardens were beyond the reach of the law, but the furniture, pictures, and other appointments of the house, and the jewels of the Lady Warwick, were seized from their duties in Parliament. She declares that it is only a "few years ago" that Conneller and Smith, and this is a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other, "I am not responsible for emphasis—No; it is nothing of the sort. It is exactly the contrary."

Newk—Do yez set the table? Bridget—No; shure O'ye got thim so tame they ate out av me hand.

Save the young turkeys and chickens. If they are sick, get the remedy at Hooper's Drug Store.

Sunlight—for your Washing Machine

A WASHING machine is made to wash your clothes without rubbing or boiling and it succeeds just in proportion to the value of the soap you use.

Sunlight Soap dissolves quickly and completely in hot water and works up into an abundant suds. This is very necessary so that its rich cleansing ingredients may search through and through the meshes of the clothes and dissolve the dirt and soil spots. Then, when rinsing comes, all dirt and soapy matter runs entirely away, leaving your clothes sweet, fresh and snowy clean.

Pare half a cake of Sunlight into hot water in your machine and stir into generous suds. Put in the clothes and operate the machine—your clothes will be clean.

The pure luther of Sunlight Soap cleanses the clothes naturally, not chemically. The $5,000 Guarantee of Purity is stamped on every tablet of Sunlight Soap.

Experienced painters are dubious of an overly "thick" paint. Many firms use a chemical substance for this purpose. B. & H. English Paint is only as thick as the proper proportion of white lead, linseed oil and pure turpentine make it. This world famous paint for sale at Wallace's.

FEEDING COWS ON FISH.

They Live and Thrive on It During the Winter Months.

It seems somewhat startling to learn that cows are fed on fish.

Since, however, this information is contained in a consular report, it seems to be dependable, says an English writer. The cows which have become fish-eaters are owned by the Faroe Island folk, and the fish on which they are fed is coalfish, a sort of pollack.

The fish is not cooked in any way. It is merely dried, and before being given to the cows is pounded between two stones. It seems to agree with them, for they live on it during most of the winter and yield excellent milk.

Some cattle have queer tastes, for the writer has seen them down on a beach by the sea grazing on some sort of seaweed which they seemed to appreciate. And while most animals know well enough what is good for them, cows sometimes fail in this respect.

Not long ago a wild dog, which came from South America, was given to the Zoo. It is not a true dog, but a sort of missing link between the dog and the fox. This creature in its wild state roams the beaches, and its principal food consists of crabs, the shells of which it cracks with its strong teeth.

This reminds the writer of the ponies which were introduced a good many years ago from South America to the Cook Islands in the Southern Pacific. These animals originally came from Chili, where presumably they lived, like other horses, on grass. But grass is not too common in the Cook Islands, and these ponies have got into the queer habit of eating coconuts, which are very plentiful.

You might imagine that the shell of a coconut would defy any horse to crack, but these ponies are quite equal to the task. Working the nut into a suitable position, they stamp on it until they break the shell. Then they quickly bite away the succulent kernel.

GIRDLES FAMOUS IN HISTORY.

Garment Made Vital Distinction of Caste In Olden Times.

The history of the girdle, says the Westminster Gazette, is the history of civilization, and though, more than most of the little matters of mode, it has known very happily how to combine utility and the decorative, yet its third and most interesting phase of all has lain in its symbolism. It has even formed a bond between woman and goddess, and if Helen of Troy would have been, metaphorically speaking, in sore plight if she had had no girdle under which to tuck her skirts when she fled with Paris, how many devotees would Venus have lacked if she had had no magic girdle to inspire love and charm hearts, so that even great Juno herself, when she wanted very specially to please her husband, had to kneel very humbly to borrow it.

In Rome a man without a girdle stamped himself thereby as a lazy, good-for-nothing fellow, while it was the girdle which made a vital distinction between matron and maid. Roman girls wore girdles of white wool, curiously knotted, as emblems of their girlhood, and the unknotting of the bride's girdle by the bridegroom was an important part of the marriage ceremony.

Bernhardt, who did nothing by halves, wore no fewer than eight girdles when she played the part of Theodora. "I have just saddened myself thinking how eight girdles could be worn," wrote Dorso-Jones. "It wouldn't be fair to call a necklace a girdle, or a garter. Eight girdles—however do they count? But I have the greatest confidence in her. I dream of those eight girdles around that wisp of the Oriental willow."

Even Dog Has Rights.

An interesting case was tried in police court in the United States recently: Having a bone in his possession, a dog bit a five-year-old child who was interfering with him. The death penalty was demanded for the dog's act. The dumb defendant was represented by an attorney. It was merely shown that the dog had borne an unimpeachable reputation for a number of years. He was guilty of the charge. His teeth marks in the child's arm were in evidence.

The judge sitting on the case, rendered a remarkable decision, as follows:

"This dog has done nothing to deserve death. The evidence has shown that he was chawing upon a bone. That bone was his own property—and what more valuable property could a dog have than a large, juicy bone.

"Anyone trying to deprive a dog of such property has violated the latter's most sacred property rights, and it is an invasion which the dog has a right to prevent with force.

"No one would condemn the man who shot a burglar. Yet, if we can get the viewpoint of the dog, his provocation was as great as would be the man's.

"Judges should always try to comprehend the emotions which actuated the animal on trial.

"Had I or any other man been in that dog's place, undoubtedly we would have done as did the dog—try at all hazards to protect our property.

"Though their actions may sometimes appear incomprehensible, perhaps some superior being looking down on us may find our so-called ethical actions just as puzzling. The case is dismissed.

Motor in Palestine.

Making a Sunday school trip in a motor car in Palestine is a decided contrast to some of the pilgrimages of the Master Teacher in an early decade on the first century. Rev. George H. Scherer of Suk-el-Gharb, Syria, is the representative of the World's Sunday School Association in that country. A friend was found in America who was ready to increase Mr. Scherer's usefulness by the gift of a Ford car which was specially equipped for work in Syria and Palestine. Here is a partial description of the journey: "Going south the first day we drove to Nazareth and slept out in the car on the hills overlooking the plains of Esdraelon. The socks of the three seats in our car come down land fit in between the seats, so we had a comfortable bed. Sunday and Monday than a Pullman berth. We had our meals thanks with us, and had our own meals the first day, and two the second day. We reached Jerusalem at 2 p.m. the second day, after travelling leisurely and comfortably."

First Millionaire.

The first United States millionaire was Stephen Girard, a French sailor who settled in Philadelphia in 1772 as a wine merchant on a small scale, and henceforth was bound up with the destiny of the Quaker City. He built fleets of merchant vessels erected whole residential districts, and when the Bank of the United States threatened to stop payment set up his own bank and became the leading banker of the country. On Girard's death in 1832 his estate amounted to ten million dollars—the largest known until then in the United States. He was a bachelor, and left the whole of his fortune, with the exception of a few trifling legacies, for charitable purposes.

To Hold a Husband.

Lean on him, coos the clingy one. Dress for him, says the stylish spouse.

Feed him well, hints the homebody. Flirt with him, chirps the coquette. Love him, says the tender helpmeet. Boss him, orders the hefty woman. Flatter, whispers the dear deceiver. Understand him, says the soulful one.

But the wise, wary woman knows that you have to do about all of those things to really hold a husband, and even then it is sometimes a gamble whether it is worth while.

A Grape-Perch.

Seventeen new fruits have been produced at the New York Agricultural Experimental Station during 1923. They include grapes with the flavor of peaches.

CHECKS ON CHEQUES.

Expert Bank Clerks Can Identify Thousands of Signatures at Sight.

It will probably be a surprise to many to learn that there are hundreds of men in London alone whose sole duty is to examine cheques with the object of detecting forgeries. In my own bank, in the city, there are half a dozen clerks who do nothing else, and who often examine as many as ten thousand cheques in a single day.

They not only scrutinize the signatures both of drawer and drawee, but also examine the "filling in," the latter being just as important—perhaps more important from a monetary point of view—than the signatures. As a matter of fact, the common forgery with which we have to deal is the "raising" of cheques bearing a genuine signature.

For instance, it is not difficult for a forger to raise a cheque from £5 to £5,000, for all he has to do is to erase the words "pounds," insert the word "thousand," and then add the erased word again.

It is marvellous what a vast number of signatures some clerks will carry in their mind's eye, enabling them to pass cheques by the thousand without once having to refer to the signature books. One clerk, who was on this duty a few years ago, knew perfectly the signatures of at least five thousand customers, and could detect the alteration of a stroke in any one of them in an instant.

Many remarkable skill is recognized with equal facility the signatures of customers whose cheques only came in once or twice a year. But he made no art of his work, and most of his evenings were spent in studying signatures.

He was a wonderful hand at copying writing, and whenever a signature with which he was not acquainted came in, he would at once facsimile it in his pocket-book, and by the next morning would be able to recognize it among ten thousand.

Each cheque received passes through the hands of each signature clerk in turn, and if one should pass a forgery or a "raised" draft, it is very unlikely that the matter staff would do so. "All these cheques come through the clearing-house, and if we should pass a forged draft and not find out our mistake before three o'clock in the afternoon our bank would be held responsible.

Another part of a signature clerk's duties is to see that no cheques are post-dated, as, of course, no drafts must be paid until they fall due.

Then, again, we are often notified that payment on certain cheques has been stopped, and the clerks have to be on the look-out for these—and it must be a very careless staff indeed which lets them slip by. Anything of this sort that goes through unchallenged means a bad mark against them in the future, and they feel its effects next time promotions or increases are being handed out.

Altogether, though the work is interesting, and very fascinating in a way, the responsibilities are so great that the effect on the nerves is often very trying.—Answers.

Less Pot-washing

SMP Enameled Ware has the smooth surface and polish of fine crockery—without the breakage. And it is so very easy to clean—just like china, and therefore makes light work of pot washing.

Try this test. Take an SMP Enameled Ware sauce pan and an all-metal sauce pan of equal size. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Put on the fire at the same time. The SMP sauce pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer.

India Introduced Diamonds.

India's ancient diamond workings were surveyed over quite a wide area, but the distributing centre or mart was the town of Golconda, a name which has always been richly suggestive of opulence.

As far back as that ancient epic, the Mahabharata, diamonds have figured largely in the life and history of the Hindu, and it was from India that they were introduced into Europe. With the development of diamond cutting in Antwerp and Amsterdam in the fifteenth century, diamonds began to be more widely used by the western nations. Such travellers as Jean Baptiste Tavernier brought back from the East stories of the magnificence of the diamonds owned by Oriental potentates.

Girl as Stamp Designer.

The new Irish Free State stamps have roused the enthusiasm of philatelists by their beauty of design.

They owe their origin to Miss Millicent Girling, a Waterford girl of 22. Who while she has been an art student has found time to qualify as a technical instructor in the Department of Agriculture. She pursued her studies with such success that she obtained a scholar's scholarship to the Dublin School of Art. Then she utilized to such advantage that the commissioners granted her an "extension." Miss Girling's design has the merit of effective simplicity. On a background of shamrock is impaled a shield containing the arms of all the provinces, with "Erelang" in Gaelic above and the value below.

Tull's Horse Hoe.

An Englishman, Jethro Tull, in 1892, invented the "Horse Hoe," as he called it. Tull's machine was designed to assist the various plants by loosening the earth, destroying the grass and weeds, and at the same time throwing about the plant the fresh soil. With a pair of horses and a single drive one seated behind his team, was able to do the work of a dozen men with the ordinary hoe. About the time that Tull gave the world his "Horse Hoe," a simultaneous, Leseelles, invented the first machine for sowing grain.

The Rainbow Touch.

"After language is all the colors of the rainbow," said a landlady of her lodger.

George A. Babcock, Odessa, has been appointed by the Department of Public Highways, as foreman of the public highway from Westbrooke to Marysville. He has employed three men and others will be engaged as needed. "The Colonel's Maid"

The three-act comedy, "The Colonel's Maid", given in the Parish Hall, Camden East, last week, by the Bath Dramatic Club, under the auspices of St. Luke's Y. P. A., was an unqualified success. It is a very clever piece well written and really funny, without the least touch of vulgarity. The parts are all good and the cast was equally so, the characters being exceptionally well taken, with the result that the audience was kept in ripples of laughter throughout. The Charlie Walters' Orchestra supplied music during the evening in their usual first class style.

Vespers at Wilton.

Great throngs attended Vespers at Wilton Methodist Church, Sunday afternoon, when Kingston Rotary Club took charge. Radcliffe excelled in vocal and instrumental numbers. Rotarian (Rev.) J. S. LaFlair gave a forceful address on "Who's Who". Rev. Soford Dixon gave the invocation, and President A. C. Lyster read the lesson. The next Vespers will be Sept. 15th, at 2.30 p.m., Standard time, when W. S. Herrington, K.C., speaks at the 700th Anniversary of the signing of the Magna Charta.

A very interesting and instructive discussion took place and all were highly pleased over the interchange of views and our County Council will now know the stand taken by the Government. It is understood that some time in July the Advisory Committee on Highways appointed by the Government will travel over the County Roads of Lennox and Addington, and report thereon to the Minister.

FUNERAL OF HOWARD SHERWOOD

The remains of Howard Butler Sherwood, of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lunan Sherwood, of Ottawa, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sherwood, of Napanee, who was drowned near Hudson, near Ottawa River, May 14th last, were recovered on June 3rd, and were brought to Napanee on the 5th inst. and placed in the family plot in the Eastern cemetery.

A special coach from Ottawa was placed at the service of the family by the Canadian National Railway Co. in recognition of his services with that Company, and a number of his acquaintances and associates accompanied his family from that city to pay a last tribute of affectionate respect to his memory. The special coach returned on the morning train with the family and friends of Ottawa.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman at the cemetery after the arrival of the train with the remains from Montreal about 5 o'clock p.m., and was attended by the relatives and friends of the family. The kindly offices of many friends of the family in Napanee in placing their cars at the service of the family was most sincerely appreciated.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Richardson Brown.

There passed away at her home, near Centreville, Mrs. Richardson Brown, in her 81st year. Her husband predeceased her twenty years ago.

Mrs. Brown was in her usual health but met with an accident which proved fatal. All that loving hands could do was done, but death claimed her as its victim on May 7th. Her end was peace. The funeral services were conducted by her Pastor, the Rev. Mr. Clarke, Tamworth, assisted by Rev. Mr. Merriam, Enterprise. He took as his text, "She hath done what she could", Mark 14:8.

She was the mother of ten children. John died in infancy, Matilda at the age of 25, and Thomas at the age of 50. To mourn the loss of a kind, loving mother, is James, of Croydon; Mrs. Sam Doupe, Croydon; Mrs. McGee, Winnipeg; Mrs. Jones, Edmonton; Mrs. E. Hanna, Newburgh; Fred, of Centreville, and Robert, at home. Two brothers and two sisters survive her, Mr. John Reid, of Parkhill; Mr. Thomas Reid, Sunderland; Mrs. Shields, Almonte, and Mrs. Wilson Hyland, Redville. Services were conducted at the grave by the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, and body interred in the family plot at Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Pringle is survived by one child, Grace A. E. Pringle, New York City; four brothers and two sisters, Arthur McLeod, of Richmond; Andrew, of Toronto; Daniel, of Watertown; Rev. J. H. of London, and Helen and Jessie McLeod, of St. Paul, Minn.

GRACE SUNDAY SCHOOL DIPLOMAS

The annual presentation of diplomas to scholars for unbroken attendance during the past year took place at Grace Church Sunday School on Sunday last.

The attendance was very large, no doubt, being due to the beautiful weather conditions. The Pastor, Rev. A. J. Terrill, made the presentation in his own inimitable manner. The following were the recipients of the diplomas: Misses Frances Coakwell, Sadie Channon, Evelyn Mills, Ila Chapman, Marjorie Pringle, and Masters Reg. Chapman, Will Spencer, Roy Pennell and Mr. Geo. Dupree.

Diplomas were also given to the following for eight years' faithful and unbroken attendance: Mrs. Byron Rose, and Messrs. Stewart Paul, Gerald Smith and Escott Rose.

Grace Sunday School has established an enviable reputation for the large number of diplomas and seals granted yearly. After the presentation, Rev. J. R. Pennock, of Africa, addressed the Sunday School in a few well chosen remarks.

BETTER GREEN TEA IMPORTED

Many think that those who drink Green Tea are more critical judges of quality than those who drink black. Such would seem to be the case, because some years ago great quantities of poor quality Japan and China Green Teas were brought into Canada. The demand for this type of tea soon fell off. Now, however, the much finer quality of India and Ceylon Greens, imported mostly by the Salada Tea Company, has sharply revived the demand by those who enjoy the distinctive flavor of Green Tea.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Much of the romance of the picturesque Rio Grande country in the great southwest is woven into the Universal photodrama, "DON QUICKSHOT OF THE RIO GRANDE", a western feature starring Jack Hoxie. The story was written by Stephen Chalmers and produced under the direction of George E. Marshall. Also a good Comedy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

One escape scene has put the punch in many a picture. "THE NIGHT HAWK", Hunt Stromberg's first production starring Harry Carey, has three! Two of them occur when Carey, as the Panther, is fleeing from the police. The third is his rescue of the girl he loves from a gang of bandits. Incidentally, this symbolizes his moral regeneration—when the crook becomes a hero through disregard of his personal danger for the sake of another. Also a Special Comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

One Show Only, at 8 O'clock. A Special in 12 Reels.

D. W. Griffith's newest screen production, "THE WHITE ROSE", deals almost entirely with the South. The story concerns an orphan waif who wins the heart and hand of a modern of wealth and position. There figure also in the romance an opposite in the case of a haughty and socially proud girl of means who has much difficulty in discouraging the attentions of a youth who has been less fortunate and happens to be the son of a village grocer. The boy makes good and eventually wins the girl. A negro "mammy" and her arduous dusky admirer pair off in contrast and afford the principal comedy for the whole. Also a good 2-reel Comedy. Admission, 15c. and 25c. Special Matinee, Wednesday, at 2.30 o'clock. Black's Orchestra Wednesday night.

NEWBURGH

It is held to be true that after a storm there comes a calm. Perhaps it is the contrast that makes this appear true. Anyway, Newburgh seems to be experiencing a period of quiet. The housekeepers have passed the strenuous time of housecleaning and changing the furniture and hubby's time is taken up by getting used to new conditions. Boys and girls are finishing school are facing examination time and are, perhaps, in some cases, feeling a little sober because they did not buckle down to work earlier. Then, again, there is the reaction following the fire and the blow-out on June 3rd. Luck seems to have been against us to some extent and no doubt each one of the baseball players is engaged in a mental calculation as to which one of the other fellows lost the game. Then the weather, which has been so cool up to recently, has turned warm and we are feeling the enervating effects. All these things ought to be enough to give as reasons why we are quiet. But, although quiet, we have not really passed away and are still showing symptoms of life.

Reeve McNeely has gangs of men repairing the streets and he is no doubt lying awake some nights wondering when the oil is going to be sprinkled on our main thoroughfare. But give us time. "All things come to those who wait".

While we are in a ruminating frame of mind it might be well for us to think of our little fire engine, as to the best way to keep it in condition, fit for use. If the Council has lost its power of action in this regard why not call a meeting of the citizens and find out if they would be willing to pay a reasonable sum to a man to look after it and be responsible for its readiness for use at any time. The Council of a municipality, or any public body, is losing its usefulness when it does not have the co-operation of the citizens and finds itself up a tree performing their duty when they lose interest in public affairs and keep themselves with simply finding fault.

Complaint is made that flowers are being taken from plots in the cemetery. This is surely the act of some young children or some thoughtless persons, as people generally ought to know that a rather severe penalty attaches to an act of this kind; even playing in a cemetery is liable to bring punishment. If it is children that are doing this, their parents are responsible; and if not children, well, what need we say.

Miss Thomson, of New York, is spending a holiday with Miss Cameron last summer, is back again this summer to enjoy the invigorating air at Canada.

The boys over on the Public School baseball club are beginning to think that they have achieved a sufficient number of victories to be worthy of note, which is quite true, and we cheerfully recall that they have had contests with clubs out of town and have come back victorious at least three times, and they have succeeded in trimming the High School club at times. We hope that those of them who try the entrance exam. will not pass down an first base, but will make a home run.

Newburgh would not feel the least nervous about entering against the corners as to the numbers of bachelor halls within its bounds. In this connection we are reminded of the Irishman's idea of bachelor's hall:

"Bachelor's hall, what a spare looking place it is,
Ashes and prairie skins cover the flure;
More than all that, what a burthining dissolation reigns,
Never at all to be getting a wife".

NAFTEL'S BODY FOUND

Lost Life When Bringing Canoe From Hudson

The body of Drummond Naftel, 22 years of age, of 27 Rosemount Avenue Westmount, who disappeared on May 17th last, while bringing a canoe down the Ottawa River from Hudson to Lachine, in company with Howard Sherwood, of Ottawa, was recovered at 7 o'clock last evening on the shore at Strathmore.

Chief Boyer, of the Dorval police, was notified that there was a body on the shore opposite 269 St. Joseph street, Strathmore, and he went to investigate. He found the body on the rocks on the shore. It showed signs of having been torn on the rocks. Chief Boyer notified the coroner who sent the morgue wagon to bring the body to Montreal.

Last night, Mr. F. J. Naftel, father of the missing man, went to the morgue and identified the body as that of his son. An inquest will be held to-day. The body of Naftel's companion, Howard Sherwood, was found at Belle Plage, Ile Codieux, on Tuesday.

When your friends took a trip abroad they invariably brought back some of Yardley's Old English Lavender Toilet preparations. These are now offered for sale at Wallace's.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET

SPEAKER OF THE EVENING, HON. W. R. MOTHERWELL, MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

Members of the Municipal Councils of the County of Lennox and Addington Were Guests of Honor

A SURPRISE, AND A PLEASANT ONE, WAS THE SINGING OF KNIGHT MacGREGOR

About three hundred men sat down at the tables in the Masonic banqueting hall on Wednesday evening, 11th instant, and partook of excellent viands provided for the banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the tables looked dainty and charming, and the candelabra, placed at intervals, with lighted candles, added to the effect. Strings of colored electric lights produced a charming glow.

After the inner-man had been well satisfied, songs were indulged in by all present and that jolly feeling was produced in which a man is prepared to enjoy speeches or anything else that may come along, as he watches the smoke of the incense to My Lady Nicotine.

J. W. Robinson, President of the Board, acted as chairman in his usual happy manner, and explained the work being done for the advantage of the community. Committees had been appointed to look after each branch, and they were doing excellent work. He wanted everybody to do their best to make the Old Boys' Re-Union a success and to feel that it was a County affair and that Napanee was the natural and logical place in which to hold it.

J. M. Simpson gave a good report of the work by the Re-Union Committee. He said already several hundreds of letters of invitation had been sent out to old boys and girls of this County, and he hoped that throughout the town and the county everybody would make a point of writing to absent friends to come and renew old associations. Any names sent in to him would insure these persons of receiving an official invitation and a welcome to their old home. This was the first attempt to have an Old Boys' Re-Union here and if everybody took an interest in it and worked hard enough with that end in view it was sure to result in success.

Warden W. H. Milling gave an interesting report on behalf of the Agricultural Committee.

Dr. G. W. Merden, Chairman of the Social and Entertainment Committee, spoke briefly of the work of that committee. It was hardly necessary for him to say anything along that line, as the splendid banquet they were that night enjoying was sufficient testimonial to the doctor and his confreres in regard to their ability.

The chairman then expressed his pleasure in giving a welcome to Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, and asked E. J. Sexsmith, M.P., to introduce the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Sexsmith, in doing so, made a graceful reference to the ability and worth of the talented Minister of the Crown, and said we were much indebted to him for his generosity and many improvements in matters pertaining to the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Sexsmith said he was known as the minister you could not ruffle, and who was always willing and ready to serve the people of Canada.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell said: When I received your kind invitation to this important function I thought that perhaps if we talked less we might accomplish more. In this gathering from my home in the west to re-visit my boyhood home, after an absence of abbut forty years, I came to the conclusion that there were many more places than Old Ontario, with its pasture lands and dairy herds, its woods, rivers, lakes, pleasant homes and thriving industries.

Said the speaker, I am going to take my cue from your Agricultural Chairman for my remarks tonight. "The Relation Between the Urban and Rural Population; What Should It Be?" Since the war nothing has been the same as before, and many fear we are not going to make the grade, as if the city had been there first. None can say, "I have no need of thee". Some say we have too many middlemen; some, too many farmers; but there is room for us all. The success of the whole people is dependant upon a proper division of labor.

In regard to the question of marketing, you must sympathize with each activity that goes to make up marketing. The purchasing is less than it was before and during the war, and there is a lack of money to pay for purchases. What we now find is that dairy and other products, if they be first grade, will find plenty of demand, but second quality or lower grade will just have to take what is offered. Let us encourage quality.

The question is frequently asked: "Why do we require grading?" and "Why should the government thrust this upon us?" In the old days we did not need to bother about an export market. Fifty years ago we could dicker with the miller, and so forth. Now we must sell on the grading system and will only get what the produce is worth according to grade.

Hogs for the British market must be graded, and also for our own packing houses.

The grading of cheese and butter must more be marked on the boxes. On account of many small factories there is a fluctation in quality, which gives these products not as good a place in the markets as they should have, and no doubt will have, in a year or two.

Grading eggs is a subject that has troubled many lately, but it is very necessary. The speaker reminded his hearers about the time, some years ago, when Chinese eggs came to Canada and people were afraid to eat eggs. The United States are following our system of grading. Extra and first quality are the only grades that are fit for storage. We will soon overcome all these difficulties and take our proper place at the head of the egg market.

There is always more or less trouble in regard to changes of methods, so take a whack at us in authority, it may do you good and won't hurt us. Does you good to blow off, anyway.

He said the attitude of the farmer to the town should be one of friendly, as their interests were identical, and the prosperity of the one was dependant on the other.

He spoke of the tendency to get away from real hard work. All classes seem to think that the world owes them a living. We have a magnificent system of education, but we seem to have lost sight of the necessity of physical work, to work with our hands. Always, said he, make your children learn to work during the years they are receiving their education. Some of the good old things of the past we are departing from. We should enjoy life at every stage of it and have no desire to live our lives over again.

Referring to the differences between the east and the west, he said that adversity was driving the east and the west closer together better than prosperity ever would.

In conclusion he said he would look back in after years to this visit to Napanee as one of the red letter days in his career.

On motion of C. W. Hambly, M. P. P., seconded by W. S. Herrington, K.C., a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the distinguished orator.

The chairman had a pleasant surprise as a climax to a most enjoyable and profitable evening when he announced that the well known and talented singer, Knight MacGregor, brother of the Mayor, would favor them with some songs, which he did, very much to the enjoyment of all, as was testified by prolonged and continuous applause. Mrs. Meyers played his accompaniments perfectly.

Finch Woman Doctored Fourteen Years for Stomach Trouble; PHOSPHO-COD Gave Complete Relief in Fourteen Days, She Says

Mrs. Andrew Ross living near Finch, says: "I have suffered and doctored for over fourteen years with stomach trouble and have taken medicines of all kinds but without results only while I was taking them. While I was visiting at Ottawa in April, three of the family where I visited were taking PHOSPHO-COD and as they claimed to be receiving such good results from it I got a bottle and started on it. In two days I was surprised to find that I was eating and sleeping better."

"The Tenth Day I Ate Sourcrout"

"Ten days after I started to use PHOSPHO-COD we had sourcrout and it looked so good I ate quite a mess and expected to pay the penalty with a bad case of indigestion but I went to bed and slept all night and never had a pain. From that day to this I have eaten what I wanted at my meals and don't even have any gas or bloating."

"Before Had to Live on Liquid Foods"

"Before I started to use PHOSPHO-COD I could not eat any solid food without having severe burning, smarting pains in the pit of my stomach, I was bloated all the time with gas. I couldn't get a good night's rest at no time because the belching, smothering and heartburn would wake me up from the soundest sleep and I was weak, run down and nervous and in fact life was most unpleasant."

PHOSPHO-COD is for sale by HOOPER'S DRUG STORE, PHONE 61 NAPANEE, who will be pleased to send a bottle by mail to those unable to call at the store, on receipt of 25 cents additional to pay postage. Regular price $1.25 per pint bottle; $1.50 mailed to any address in Canada.

"Changed From One Of The Most Miserable to One of the Most Happy Women."

"Since using PHOSPHO-COD I have changed from one of the most miserable to one of the most happy of women. After doctoring and trying everything that I heard of for nearly fourteen years, your PHOSPHO-COD is the only thing that has ever helped me. Think of it. Do I recommend it? Let people ask me personally if they have any doubt about it."

A New Marvel Medicine

No achievement in the history of all the proprietary medicines parallels the record of PHOSPHO-COD the New Marvel Medicine. Never before has the success been so rapid, so definite, so sweeping.

CASQUES OF THE PYRENEES.

Those on the Spanish Slopes Are the Pure Aborigines of Europe.

You are in the habit of thinking of the inhabitants of France as "French" and the inhabitants of Spain as "Spanish." Did you happen to read a learned disquisition on the shape of the skulls of people living on the two slopes of the Pyrenees, together with the announcement that, contrary to the belief of scientists, the Basques are not all of the same origin? And then did you ask, "Who are the Basques?" Primarily they are the people who gave to the rest of the world a curious kind of garment for women, but they are far more interesting to the student of anthropology and the historical development of language than they are to the designers of women's clothes.

There was a time before the present generation of sovereigns got to work on the problem when the Basques, both in Spain and in France, were recognized as the last remnant of the original occupants of Europe, the people who were driven into this backwater of civilization by the onrush of the Celts. The Celts were in their turn driven westward and into such out of the way corners as they could hold, so that they are now represented by certain strains in Spain, by the Bretons in France, the Irish, Scotch, Welsh, Cornish and Manx in the British isles and by a substratum of the Bohemians and the Gallicians. Those who preceded them and who managed to cling to the mountain strongholds of the Pyrenees are reportedly related to the Finns in another remote backwater. The ones on the Spanish slopes are the pure aborigines of Europe.

Anaesthetic For the Teeth Wanted.

There is no local anaesthetic that will penetrate dentine, which forms the principal part of a tooth. That is why dentists hurt teeth so much when drilling holes in them for fillings or when grinding them down for gold crowns. Any one who will invent something that can be put on a tooth to render it insensitive for ten minutes without injuring it has a fortune awaiting him.

Cocaine and novocaine, which are used as local anaesthetics in other parts of the body, have no effect upon the teeth, as they cannot penetrate the hard tissue of which these are composed.

A Carlyle Snub.

Carlyle had an inveterate hatred for Darwinism, which he described as the "gorilla damnification of humanity." Leonard Huxley in his life of his father recalls an incident that happened shortly before Carlyle's death. "My father," he writes, "saw him walking slowly and alone down the opposite side of the street and, touched by his solitary appearance, crossed over and spoke to him. The old man looked at him and, merely remarking, 'You're Huxley, aren't you, the man that says we are all descended from the monkeys?' went on his way."

Lowell on His Own Writings.

James Russell Lowell was not the kind of writer to take his own productions seriously. He was not like Tennyson, who could be made wretched by a disparaging remark about his poetry by a young girl. That is perhaps the way a poet ought to feel, however skillful he may be in concealing it. Lowell told me that a young Englishman, on being introduced to him in Madrid, said, "I never read your works," to which he had replied, "Well, I never regarded them as necessary to a liberal education."

Sensitive.

A polite young man called upon another young man, unfortunately not at that time at home. So the first young man left a note for the second young man saying that he was "sorry to have found him out." The second young man in reply wrote the first young man a long and very pained letter, in which he declared that he had always tried to do the best he could and had always meant to be fair to everybody.

The Appian Way.

The famous Appian way, mentioned by almost every Roman writer, connected the Eternal City with all parts of south Italy. For many miles from Rome the space on each side was filled with sepulchres, many of them of persons distinguished in history. To have a sepulcher on the Appian way was equivalent to being buried in Greenwood, in New York, or Pere Lachaise, in Paris.

How It Works.

"I don't see why mothers can't see the faults in their children," said Mrs. Smith to Mrs. Jones.

"Do you think you can?" asked Mrs. Jones.

"Why, I would in a minute if my children had any." — Ladies' Home Journal.

Very Particular.

Mistress (engaging servant)—I hope you have nice petit dresses, and I expect you always to wear caps. Maggie—Yes, mum; I'm very particular to wear caps. I should not like to be taken for one of the family.

The Essentials.

"Is he a typical American?"

"Yes; he likes baseball, has a motor-car, owes a mortgage, pays alimony and thinks the moving pictures have grand opera beaten a mile."

Will Never Know.

Seymour—It is better to be right than (re)sident. Asley—How do you know? You've never been either and never will be.

WEDDING BELLS

Jeffrey—Ford.

A very pretty house wedding took place at the home of the bride, when Laura Isabelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffrey, Glenvale, was united in marriage to J. E. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ford, Elginburg.

At 11 o'clock the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of "Lohengrin", played by little Miss Reta, dressed in white silk and pink rose buds, while little Laura Alkenbrack, Camden East, looked charming in white serge trimmed with pink, carrying a basket of flowers, while she led the way, strewing apple blossoms in the path of the bride. Miss Rilla Jeffrey, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and was dressed in rose crepe, while Mr. Ernest Ford, only brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was dressed very becomingly in sand Canton crepe, with shoes and hose to match, and wore a veil with wreath of orange blossoms, (an heirloom), and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair ferns. The Rev. John Puttenham officiated, in the presence of the intimate friends of bride and groom.

The house was tastefully decorated with hundreds of spring flowers, yellow and white tulips, white carnations and jonquils, apple blossoms and ferns. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold bar pin set with pearls and ruby, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links. During the signing of the register Miss Reta played a few selections on the piano, then they returned to the dining room, and the bride cut the cake, and Rev. Mr. Puttenham gave a toast to the bride and groom. A dainty buffet luncheon was served to the guests. Mrs. P. Rose and Mrs. J. B. Alkenbrack cut the ices.

The happy couple left for Toronto, amid showers of good wishes and confetta. The bride travelled in navy blue trieotine suit with grey hat and veil, with gloves, blouse and purse to match and black satin slipper and Red Fox choker. After their return they will reside in Watertown, N.Y. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and envelopes of money.

He Suffered For Three Years

Then Mr. John Jensen Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Saskatchewan Farmer Suffered From Backache and Stiffness in the Joints and Was Restored to Good Health by Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Eddyside, Sask., June 9th, (Special).—"For about three years I have suffered from backache and stiffness in my joints. I did not sleep well and had very little appetite in the mornings. I took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and have found that they did me a lot of good."

This statement is made by Mr. J. Jensen, well known in this place.

Mr. Jensen's troubles were caused by the kidneys. That's why he got such prompt relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they act only on the kidneys.

When the kidneys are not right, they fail to do their full work of straining all the impurities, all the seeds of disease, and of the blood. There can be no pure blood if the kidneys are wrong. There can be no good health unless the blood is pure.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the sovereign remedy for sick kidneys.

Little Muriel had been told that it was not polite to take the last bun cuit on the plate, but the other morning at breakfast she said as she reached for it : "Oh, mamma, I'm almost starved ! I dess I won't be polite to-day; I'll wait till some day I'se not hungry."

Recognized as a leading specific for the destruction of worms, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has proved a boon to suffering children everywhere. It seldom fails.

This is why you see prettier complexions, today

Women have learned this simple way to keep youthful loveliness

The prettier complexions you see everywhere, today, are due to one thing:

Women have learned that it is unnecessary to sacrifice youthful loveliness to the passing years. This simple treatment has made it possible for millions of women to keep youth, charm. The secret is yours, too, if you will.

Just try this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive. Use it for the bath, too.

Take no chances. Palmolive is never sold unwrapped. Get it from any dealer. Then for one week try this easy method. You will have cause for delight even in that short time.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving memory of our dear son, Signaller Frederick Arthur Laughlin, of the 12th Royal Highlanders, who fell in Sanctuary Wood, the 13th day of June, 1916.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."
—Father and Mother.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear husband, L. E. Wilson, who departed this life, June 19th, 1922.

There is no death,
Thank God for that,
He is safe within His care,
And with this thought to comfort me,
I can all sorrows bear. —Wife.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of John N. Storr, who departed this life on June 16th, 1921.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one we loved
From memory pass away.
The rolling stream of time rolls on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of one who once sat there.

OBITUARY

James Albert Milligan.

The Village of Enterprise suffered a great loss on May 29th, 1924, when an honoured resident, James Albert Milligan, passed to his eternal reward. The late Mr. Milligan was born in Morrow, on February 3rd, 1847, the son of the late Horace and Eliza Milligan. For many years he lived in Enterprise. He was married in 1890 to Miss Alice Johnston, of Bath. He was a faithful member of the Methodist Church and a most regular attendant upon all its services. He was a great sufferer during the last few months of his life, but bore his suffering with great patience and Christian fortitude. He was greatly liked by all who came in contact with him in business and social life, and his influence always on the side of that which was good, did much to raise the moral and spiritual life of his community. He was a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, under whose auspices the funeral was conducted, and was also a member of the Chosen Friends.

He leaves to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father, his widow, and one daughter, Mrs. Eric Wide of Bath; also three brothers, Reuben, of Enterprise; Alfred, of Centreville, and Phenies, of Gladwin, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Miles Keech, of Vassar, Mich., to whom the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community goes out in their sad bereavement.

LONDON'S OLDEST MART.

The Metropolis.

A Visit to the Great Fish Mart of the

Every morning at five o'clock sharp the ringing of a bell awakens the oldest market in London, where for over a thousand years buying and selling have taken place.

Since three o'clock railway goods vans have been gathering outside Billingsgate Market, till by the time five o'clock comes there is scarcely a part of the road which is not occupied. They have journeyed from and will wait to take fish away.

Different porters with their distinctive caps and their Battle Cry boldly hang about by the dozens. They are not allowed inside the market—that is reserved for its own porters—but wait outside for odd jobs.

A steady stream of men begins to surge into the market. A few of the first-comers are the buyers for the only the best fish, and do not mind paying for it. Soon the building fills rapidly, and before long every inch of the floor is doing service, and still there are more buyers to come.

The small fish are sold by the bushel, the shoulders with well-to-do shop keepers and buyers for hotels, restaurants, and other large concerns. Porters, balancing on a cushion on the ground on their heads, carry away your second.

Here and there a man may be seen quite apart from the turmoil, and yet hardly out of it, quietly opening fish between his knife and his thumb, for the inside inspection of every connoisseur, and with a flick of his knife he lays the fish open for the buyer to see.

The piled-up stacks of fish attract the buyers from all parts of the countryside. There are bake, cod, plaice, flounders, whiting, mackerel, and a number of crustys and bins of shrimps. In fact, nearly every fish known in its season, and a few that are not. Quite large boxes of Danish fish. Owing to the fact that the Danes supplies the British, do not get that also the foreign produce reaches the market in very big quantities at reduced prices, and consequently has a rapid sale. No fish, however, that is not not fresh, finds a place to be sold. Every fish is immediately condemned by the food inspector.

On the river side of the market there is a continuous row of porters ready to take the buyers' purchases to the carriers, bring supplies across, or do the fatiguing work in the Serpentine to the doors of the market.

At this corner—five o'clock sharp—a bell is rung, and from the head of each lane in a sidestreet, around which gathered a crowd of buyers. As the porters bring in the boxes of fish they are placed on the floor, in a long, and slid down to a "heaver-up," who stands next to a clerk in a box near by the centre of the floor. He heaves up the boxes, sees it, and the price obtained. Every box that is sold is taken to the clerk as "checker," who stands at the side of the form.

All this business is accompanied by a continuous uproar of voices. The salesman, the buyers, and the heaver-up all vie with one another — the heaver-up being especially vocal. But what he says might be Greek, for all the visitor can understand of it.

A fluctuating market is Billingsgate, and it is a clever head that can gauge its ever-fickle balance.—Answers.

WHAT PURE SEED MEANS

To the Agricultural College and the Farmer

Seed Selection Helps in Even One Year—Large Plump Seed Best—Soil Fertility Experiments Give Interesting Result—Feeding Calves.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

During the year 1922 the Field Husbandry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College supplied to nearly 2,000 farmers pure seed and other materials with instructions and full information for conducting tests on their own farms.

One hundred and twenty-one distinct experiments were conducted during the season on the Field Husbandry area.

Selection of Seed Important.

Different selections of seed of various classes of grain have been carefully tested at the Ontario Agricultural College for from six to nine years. The average results show that even one year's selection of seed grain has a marked influence on the resulting crop. In every instance, the large plump seed gave a greater yield of grain per acre than medium sized, small plump, shrunken or broken seed. In the average of the six classes of grain the large plump surpassed the small plump by 19.6 of grain per acre by 19 per cent., and in the average of the three classes of grain the large seed gave a yield over the shrunken seed of 26 per cent. It should be understood that equal numbers of seed were used in this experiment. The results throughout show that a large plump seed will produce a larger, more vigorous and more productive plant than is produced from a small plump or from a shrunken seed.—Department of Extension, O.A.College, Guelph.

SOIL FERTILITY EXPERIMENTS.

Following Up the Soil Survey—Lime Phosphate With Wheat—Experiments With Potatoes.

The three demonstration plots that have been started as follow up work in connection with the soil survey are now giving interesting results. The outstanding feature so far is the marked beneficial effect of lime and phosphoric acid. On the light sandy soil of the Norfolk County plot the enormous amount of decaying organic matter is beginning to make itself felt in the improved texture of the soil and increased crop yields. On all three of these experimental plots certain mixtures of fertilizers are giving positive results, while other mixtures are not.

Lime Phosphate Experiments With Wheat.

The lime phosphate experiments planned to discover the effect of lime alone and gild phosphate and mixed fertilizer on wheat and the succeeding crop of clover, have given interesting results. Each experiment consisted of four half-acre plots, and these were laid down on three different farms in eight different counties, twenty-four experiments in all. As these experiments were started in the fall of 1922, only the wheat crop has been harvested. The clover, however, shows marked difference in development in the various plots and considerable results may be expected next season. The outstanding results so far obtained is that acid phosphate increased the yield of wheat in every experiment. The average for the four plots was 22.2 bushels per acre and the acid phosphate plot 24.51 bushels per acre, an increase of a little over 50 per cent. Assuming that the addition of the acid phosphate at the rate applied on these experiments would have given the same results on the 212,205 acres of fall wheat harvested in Ontario in 1922, the value of the crop would have been increased by nearly eight million dollars, at a profit over the entire cost of the acid phosphate of over four million dollars.

Experiments With Potatoes.

The Triangle experiments with potatoes have demonstrated in every county where held that legumes may be used to rather all or nearly all the nitrogen required by the potato crop, and that phosphoric acid and potash in proper proportion may be used to produce both the quantity and quality of the crop with profit.

This work is being extended to eight additional counties, and is being carried on by the Chemistry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College in co-operation with the Agricultural Representatives and the Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Feeding Calves.

It is considered a good practice, in teaching calves to eat grain, to begin by feeding a little grain on the ground or in self-feeding troughs. This kind of feed may be given for a few days, and then they may be given either whole oats or whole corn, or a mixture of equal parts by weight of both. This whole grain may be fed to the calves until they are six to eight months of age, and then they should be fed ground feed. When a calf reaches eight months of age it does not chew its grain so well; consequently a high percentage of the grain will be lost if fed whole. The theory of feeding calves whole grain when a mouth of eight months of age is that they chew the grain better, which stimulates the flow of saliva.

If raw wheat, which is frequently damp, is thoroughly mixed with dry old wheat from the previous year and put two bulk storage for a few days, experiments show the dry wheat absorbs a sufficient amount of moisture from the damp wheat to improve both kinds for milling purposes.

Keeping the animals attentive with good feed is not a kindness. Hard work all the time, with good care, is much more so.

CHINESE PORCELAINS.

Wine Cups Like "Tilted Lotus Leaves Floating Down a Stream."

To look long upon Chinese porcelains is likely for sumptuary laws to result in falling under their persuasive spell. If you are interested in the subject you will find it rich and interesting, if dignified simplicity. In color the eye is appealed to in a seductive manner. In range of decorative motives the Celestial potter's mind is fertile with an imagery found only in fairy land, and there must not be left out of account the interest and satisfaction awaiting the technical student of structure that is found in a substance so quickly responsive to the deft touch of the artisan.

"The fine white bowls surpass hoarfrost and snow" is a Chinese description of one of the ancient fictile fabrics. As the aroma of a delicate wine is enriched and refined by being served in a fragile glass, so the tea drinkers as far back as the days of the T'ang, in the seventh and eighth centuries, appreciated their bowls, according as they "softened the light of the infusion." And here comes in another element in the charm of Chinese porcelains. As the aroma of wine to the middle ages and the renaissance, they were so intimately related to life that they contribute to a human and better understanding of a strange and distant people. No sooner is one interested in this truly national art of the Chinese than he finds a certain even if meager knowledge of them a matter of concomitant interest, even though not essential to an appreciation of their creations.

Wine cups of the T'ang were likened by their poets to "tilted lotus leaves floating down a stream." There come into porcelain the hue of "rosy dawn." Does one not find here a sympathetic communion with nature in far Cathay? Those so called "ginger jars" of the capriciously named "hawthorn pattern"—the most commonly known of all Chinese porcelains in the occident—were used for sending presents of fine tea at the Chinese New Year anniversary. Their decoration, which has nothing to do with the hawthorn, was made in representation of the blossoms of the winter blooming wild prunus tree lying on stream whose course in ice was disintegrating under the warming influences of the approaching vernal season.—Dana H. Carroll

Art a Trustworthy History.

Great symbolic writing their autobiographies in three manuscripts—the book of their deeds, the book of their words and the book of their art. Not one of these books can be understood unless we read the two others, but of the three the only quite trustworthy one is the last. The acts of a nation may be triumphantly false to the fortune, and its words mighty by the genius of a few of its children, but its art only by the general gifts and common sympathies of the race.—John Ruskin.

Camel Carriages.

Camel carriages are not common except in the east, but one of these, in India, but on the great trunk road leading to Delhi they are frequently to be seen. They are large, double story wagons, drawn by two camels, one camel being to their size. Iron bars which give them a cegalike appearance were originally intended as a defense against robbers, and the carts were probably also used for the conveyance of prisoners.

The Chipmunk Is a Hermit.

Evidently the chipmunk has no partner, and will spend the winter in his subterranean retreat alone. I think this is an established chipmunk custom, rendered necessary, it may be, by the scant supply of air in such close quarters, three feet underground, and maybe under three or more feet of snow in addition. At any rate, the chipmunk, male and female, is a hermit, and there is no co-operation or true sociability among them. They live their lives each one independent of ours, beginning to store up their winter food in midsummer or as early as the farmer does his.—John Burroughs.

Overheard Under the Sea.

"Ill-porcite?" cried the swordfish to the clam.

"Why, hy-porcite?" retorted the clam. "You consider yourself the emblem of romance, and yet all the time you and your tribe are engaged in the making of shells!" sneered the swordfish.

Consoling.

"What did you say your age was?" he remarked, rather tactlessly.

"Well, I didn't say," smartly returned the girl, "but I've just reached twenty-one."

"Is that so?" he returned consolingly. "What detained you?"

His Merits.

"We object to the young man who is escorting our daughter because he is a shoemaker."

"Why, a shoemaker is the best sort of a man because he is usually wholesoled and well heeled."

He Prepossess.

"But I don't love you, Ingomar."

"In these days that is no reason for not being engaged to a man."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DEALING WITH HORSES

What to Do When Your Horses Are Broken-winded

Heaves and Its Symptoms—Treatment Recommended—There Are Two Species of Tapeworms—Preventive Measures Suggested.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The term Heaves, or Broken-Wind, is applied to a condition affecting horses which is manifested by shortness of breath due to the air cells of the lungs becoming overdistended. It is caused in many cases by feeding horses dusty hay, particularly timothy and clover hay. Allowing horses to drink an excessive amount of water after feeding, and just before going to work, and also overloading the stomach with bulky food, always predisposes to the development of heaves, hence the condition is met with most frequently in horses which are greedy feeders. Over exertion when the stomach is full is always liable to produce heaves.

Symptoms.

Horses which are affected with heaves usually keep the nostrils dilated or wide open, and have a hurried, wheezing breathing, accompanied by a double lifting or pumping of the flanks when exercise is intensified and more noticeable by exertion. The peculiar heaving of the flanks causes a ridge to appear along the lower end of the ribs, which is known as the "heave" line. Another symptom is the presence of a chronic cough, which is more pronounced after feeding, or drinking. Broken-winded horses keep the nose outstretched and pass much flatus, or wind, at times.

Treatment.

The essential feature in the treatment of heaves is to alleviate the condition by careful dieting. By reducing the amount of hay or roughage and feeding chiefly on grain and mashes and regulating the supply of water to the minimum, many badly broken-winded horses may be enabled to do ordinary work. Dusty hay of any kind should not be fed to broken-winded horses, as it will aggravate the symptoms, and to obviate such tendencies the hay should be dampened. The bowels should be kept regulated by feeding the proper foods to which may be added a handful of glauber salts, or flax seed meal. Heaves is usually benefited also by giving from one to two tablespoons of Fowler's Solution of Arsenic in the food, or drinking water each morning and evening for a period of two weeks from time to time. In many cases broken-winded horses become more serviceable when moved from a damp, muggy climate to a dry one.—Department of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

TAPE WORMS.

How to Deal With These Pests When Attacking Horses.

Horses are frequently seen that give little response to liberal feeding and care, continuing unthrifty due to the presence of intestinal parasites, a point often overlooked in the care of animals.

Two Species of Tape Worms.

Variable appetite, unthrifty and poor condition, indigestion with irritable attacks of colic, are the common indications of the presence of cestodes, or tape worms. Two species of tape worm infest the intestines of the horse; one, the Tenia Plicata, ranges from six inches to a foot and a half in length; the other, Tenia Perfoliata, is from one to two inches in length. Their bodies consist of a number of overlapping segments. The tape worm's sexament, or head, is a complete reproductive organization. When ripe, detached and expelled with the contents of the bowels it can be described as a small rectangular body containing eggs. After breaking away the eggs may be drifted or carried from place to place by various agents. Many perish, but a few are able to continue the species by being taken up in food or water by other animals, in the herbivorous. Birds, they go through their life cycle and provide for the carrying on of the next generation.

Preventive Measures Suggested.

Preventive measures consist in providing clean fodder and water, the avoidance of low, damp pastures, land and ponds contaminated by the droppings of horses. If tape worm is suspected and no qualified veterinary is available to administer treatment the following directions can be given: creolin, one-half ounce; oil of turpentine, one and a half ounces; and linseed oil, one pint; to be given at one dose as a drench, on an empty stomach. The treatment may be repeated at intervals of several days, if necessary. Clean fodder and clean drinking water are highly important in keeping the stock healthy and free from intestinal parasites. Drinking from filthy, shallow pools or ponds in which hogs wallow and cattle and horses wade is responsible for considerable trouble, and from which no qualified veterinary is available to administer treatment. Have a Good Ram.

None of the domestic animals respond to skillful breeding and good care more readily than sheep. It is seldom that a man pays too much for a ram. If not a good judge of sheep, take a good sheepman with you. Should it trust to his judgment, and don't be afraid to pay a good price. When through with the ram he can usually readily sold than a scrub, besides the increased value of two or three crops of lambs.

MANGLING A WORD.

Why "Comptroller" Is Used Instead of the Correct "Controller."

It is an old story, many times told, that the scrivenery outranks any lexicographer of Latin, but having heard that in French "compter" means to count and assuming that as the controller has to do with money he must of course, count money, wedged the false and perverting letter "p" into the "con" before it into a perfectly good and correctly formed word.

In late Latin the word is "contrarotulator." The keeper of the king's rolls, the payroll and other accounts, was the "rotulator." To guard against the possible dishonesty of that official the king appointed an auditor to check up his accounts and called him the "contrarotulator"—that is, the counter roll keeper. From "contrarotulator" the word has come into modern languages, always without the offending "p."

In French, Spanish, Italian, German and Russian we have the word "controller," meaning keeping or auditing of accounts, and the title of the officer in those languages is spelled always without the "p." Before a late date our commissioners to the Paris peace conference in 1898 used the word "comptroller," assuming from the control of the Philippines, the Spanish commissioners were puzzled; they thought our representatives were speaking of matters of finance.

But the word "comptroller," with its vicious spelling and implication of a false etymology, has established in the federal statutes and in the constitution of the state of New York. All the king's men could not pull it out against the Bœotian indifference and inertia of those who, if they would, might correct the blunder.

An Old Alarm Clock.

At Schramberg, in the Black forest, there is a respectable alarm clock that warned conquers it was time to get up when Charles I. was king of England. This was made in 1680, and it is deemed a remarkable piece of workmanship. In front and above a lantern wherein is a lighted candle, the wick of which is automatically clipped every minute by a pair of scissors. The candle is slowly pushed upward by a spring, which also controls the mechanism of the clock, and at the required hour of waking an alarm is sounded, and at the same time the movable sides of the lantern fall, and the room is flooded with light.

Boxing the Compass.

To box the compass means to name all the points of the compass just as fast as you can speak. This is the way an old down east skipper will rattle it off: North, nor' by east, nor'-nor'-east, nor'-east by north, nor'-east, nor'-east by east, east-nor'-east, east by north, east, east by south, east-sou'-east, sou'-east by east, sou'-east, sou'-east by south, sou'-sou'-east, sou'-sou'-west, sou'-west by east, sou'-west, sou'-west by south, sou'-west, sou'-west by west, west-sou'-west by west, west by north, west-nor'-west, nor'-west by west, nor'-nor'-west, nor'-west by north, nor'-nor'-west, nor' by west, north. Can you do it?—Exchange.

Wheat Is Very Ancient.

The growing of wheat has so long been a principal occupation with man that its geographical origin is unknown. The Egyptians claim it originated with the gods, while the Chinese claim to have received the seed direct as a gift from heaven. The belief that it originated in the valleys of the Euphrates and the Tigris is more generally accepted than any other. The most ancient languages mention wheat, and it has been found by the archaeologists in the kitchens of the prehistoric inhabitants of the Swiss lake region. It is generally agreed that it is the seed containing wheat has been a faithful servant of mankind for 6,000 years.

Spades Gets the Bid.

"They had an interesting game of auction at the Jinks home the other evening."

"How was that?"

"Why, Cholly Literbrane was calling on Clara Jinks, and he waited to make it one heart."

"Yes?"

"But Clara stood out for two diamonds."

"Of course."

"And then Jinks got into the game with a handful of clubs."

"Including all the honors, I suppose."

"Whereupon Cholly passed—through the window—and made such a hole in the terrace they had to call it spades."

To Sell Summer Residents

City people in the country for the Summer can be sold groceries and meats by Long Distance. Some grocers (and butchers) call up out-of-town customers once a week and get their orders. Deliveries are made by truck or express.

Some grocers arrange with their customers before they leave town, to give this service. They say they can well afford to pay for Long Distance calls on weekly orders.

SHEEP IMPROVEMENT

Present Trend of Progress In Sheep Breeding

Fewer Breeds and Better Breeding — The Down Breeds Becoming More Popular — Relative Standing for Profitacy.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The world ever clamors for something new. It matters not in what sphere our lot is cast, the call for the production of new materials is always upon us and the man who does not progress loses the race. Perhaps many people still believe that there is room for new breeds of live stock and that Canadian breeders and investigators should be bending every effort to produce them. Perhaps new breeds could be produced to meet certain special conditions better than they are now met, but the writer believes that greater progress for the good of the live stock industry would surely follow a policy of fewer breeds with better breeding. For concentrated effort, for uniformity in output, for competition in world markets, for most profit to the farmer and greatest satisfaction to the consumer we already have too many breeds in some classes of stock. True, there is room for all the breeds, but because we have wide acreage and somewhat diversified conditions is no reason why those acres should be grazed over by, and be growing feed for, anything but the most suitable breeds from the viewpoint of both producer and market man. The day of keeping a breed because our "likes" so dictate should be gone forever, and the breed, whatever it is, should win its place only through its ability to produce, at a profit to the breeder, the highest grade product in demand by the consumer. In short, markets are exerting a greater influence than ever before in breeding work and there is no doubt that such influence must continue.

Fewer Breeds and Better Breeding.

Keeping this in mind the progress being made in animal breeding is not so much toward the production of more breeds but rather toward early maturity and improved type in the breeds already in existence. If we had fewer breeds we could make more rapid progress. Indications are that certain breeds must gain the ascendancy and these will be those which are bred to supply what the consumer can and at the same time may the feeder highest returns for his efforts. New breeds may come as did the Corriedale sheep in New Zealand, to fill a special want, but better individuals and stronger strains in the best breeds we have is the cost of the present day breeder in Canada. New Zealand wanted a sheep that flocked easily. They wanted a bigger sheep than the Merino with a better grade of wool than the Lincoln, so they made a dual-purpose breed by crossing Lincoln rams on Merino ewes and practicing careful selection. The production of Perendale lamb in Canada is another case where certain methods are followed to produce a "special article." The writer has heard that a certain well-known professor in one of the leading United States Colleges is at present busy in the making of a tail-less breed of sheep to get around the trouble of docking; and by selection, it is said, progress is being made.

The Down Breeds Becoming More Popular.

So far as sheep are concerned breeding work is pretty largely confined to selection in our recognized breeds with the idea of meeting the market. Now, that market demands the finer and medium grades of wool and the eighty-four pound lamb, and it would appear that so far as markets for mutton sheep are concerned the Down breeds may get the inside track. Fifty-six per cent. of a lamb carcass is leg and back. Thirty-six per cent is fronts, and 7 per cent is flank. We are after the biggest possible percentage of leg and back, which sell for just twice as much per pound as front quarter and eight times as much as flank. Progress is only made by keeping weight and type in mind.

So far as fleece is concerned the finer the quality the better.

Experimental work in flushing ewes has proved very profitable in increasing prolificacy.

Relative Standing for Prolificacy.

From a study of 500 yearlings in each breed mentioned, the following conclusions are warranted:

1. The relative standing of the breeds of mutton sheep in Canada with regard to prolificacy is: Dorset Horn, 161.6% increase; Leicester 154%; Hampshire, 149%; Suffolk, 148.2%; Lincoln, 144.8%; Shropshire, 143.6%; Southdown, 142.2%; Cheviot, 139.8%; Cotswold, 138.9%; Rounney Marsh, 112.9%.

2. The average increase for all breeds of mutton sheep in Canada is 144.6%.

3. The average increase for all long wool breeds of mutton sheep in Canada is 138.5%.

4. The average increase for all Medium Wool breeds of mutton sheep in Canada is 148%.—Wade Toole, O. A. College, Guelph, Ont.

THE WEATHER

The weather we are having now Is surely fine and dry,
The crops need a rain again I trow
Or everything may die.

It isn't very long ago
Since we had loads of rain;
Storm clouds darted to and fro
It poured, and poured again.

The water then was everywhere,
One farmer said, "Oh, my!
There's lots of pasture for the mare
But when'll I plant my rye?"

Another farmer said, "I see
Here I am surely stuck.
If I were just a honey-bee
I would avoid this muck.

"The grain will never grow at all,
I can't get on the land;
My horse stands idle in the stall,
And I'm in a bad hand."

But after awhile the clouds rolled by,
The wind it blew and blew,
Till everything was nice and dry,
And then the sun appeared through.

Then everybody smiled, you bet,
To see the sun once more;
They soon forgot it had been wet,
The wet spell now was over.

The grain was sowed, and very soon
Grew up above the ground.
Before the changing of the moon
The June bugs were around.

The cellars, which had long been wet
With water from the eaves,
Soon became dry as they yet
Some are "damp", I believe.

Potatoes sprouting in the dark,
In barrels damp and cold,
Were taken out of "Noah's ark"
And marketed and sold.

But now its quite a while ago
Since we have had a shower;
But we expect one now you know,
To come most any hour.

No matter where you go, you hear
Remarks about the weather;
The ground's too dry and now we fear
Twill be dry altogether.

One farmer doesn't want it wet,
He has some spuds to drop,
And wants to put them in at once
To get a bumper crop.

You go up to another one,
He stands with scowl brow,
And hear him say, "I tell you, son,
We need a rain right now."

And so we find on every side
Folks who are ne'er contented,
You'd think that all their friends had died,
And left them to lament.

We'll have to take things as they come,
No matter what we're doing;
So let us face it with a hum,
And not be always rueing.

RASEBALL

Tamworth 9, Napanee 3.

The local baseball team were defeated at the Driving Park here, on Wednesday afternoon, by the Tamworth boys, in a League and Addington Baseball League fixture.

Adolphustown 8, Newburgh 5.

A very close and interesting game was played in Newburgh on Wednesday afternoon, ending in a victory for Adolphustown. Newburgh took the lead at the start gaining a 2-0 standing in the first and increasing it to 3-0 in the second. In the third, however, Adolphustown's four hard and well placed hits, combined with two walks and wrong field play, gave them seven runs, turning the score 5-7, Newburgh failing to get but one hit. In the fourth, after P. Bryon had hit the first man up, Newburgh rallied behind him getting two men by snappy fielding, while Bryon threw Adolphustown's short-stop out at second base. Feeling visibly better, they landed two tallies on Adolphustown's wild throwing. A nice double play by H. Loyst, however, redeemed the field, and ended the innings. Score 5-7.

The remainder of the game was big league ball for sure. Good pitching and good fielding though Alex. Allen's three-bagger, followed by Raymond Pollard's single and "Hen" Loyst's double, tallied another for Adolphustown. One man cleverly caught on the line saved another run, and the score remained 5-8 till the end.

Newburgh played splendid ball in all but the third stanza, their battery, P. Bryon and G. Milligan, retiring six by strike outs, walked three, and hit one. Adolphustown's able assistant good game, G. Prout and H. Smith retiring ten, walked none, and hit one.

This is two straight wins for Adolphustown behind Prout. Watch them.

POOL COMPETITION

The second round of the Pool championship competition which was inaugurated by Mr. Jamie Poulton, of the King George Pool Rooms, was held Thursday night of last week and was attended by a gathering of sports that filled the pool room to the limit. The contending teams were Deseronto and Napanee, and the local boys put it all over the visitors.

Pool is one of the cleanest games and requires great skill and judgment. We are sure everyone by witnessing these games would become enthusiastic.

The scores were as follows:

Napanee		Deseronto
Vanalstine	100	Masters	36
Parks	100	Smith	49
Maracle	100	Thompson	72
Loucks	100	Barely	85
	400		242

The local team thus won by the big margin of 159 points. Earl Loucks made two good runs, one of 24 and the other 23. This competition is causing great interest, and standing room will be at a premium for the next game. The local team played in Deseronto last night.

The game in Kingston on Tuesday evening resulted in a win for Belleville. Score, Belleville 388, Kingston 385. Following is the standing:

Napanee	600
Belleville	388
Kingston	785
Deseronto	242

GREEN TEA IMPORTS LARGER

Statistics from Ottawa show that in 1923, 563,977 pounds more Green Tea were brought into Canada than in 1921, and 906,728 pounds more than in 1922. The reason given is that the fine quality Green Teas of India and Ceylon have displaced the inferior Japan and China Greens which, due to their low price, were imported heavily some years ago. Salada Tea Company is the largest importer of India and Ceylon Green Teas.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Grimsby, Ont.,
June 10th, 1924.

Dear Editor,—You will be surprised to get a letter from me, but I was at a birthday party the 5th of June, at J. F. Beamer's, gotten up by Mr. Beamer's daughters, in honor of Mrs. Jane Gardener, where her home has been for the last three and half years. The lovely maples which shaded the long table, were trimmed with large Chinese lanterns hanging from the low limbs, and flags flying here and there around the lawn. The men played howl and the ladies watched them. Mr. Beamer's daughters and other friends brought well filled baskets, which made the table fairly groan under its burden. I notiged on a table in the living room a number of very pretty gifts, which shows the high esteem in which Mrs. Gardener is held among her many new friends. After the game was finished, about thirty-five sat down to supper, when "Bo present at our table, Lord" was sung. All enjoyed a hearty meal. In the centre of the table was a three-storey fruit cake, baked by Mrs. Gardener to treat her friends, which every one said was simply grand. In the spring Earl Beamer had raved all the limbs when the fruit trees were trimmed for this day, and the pile was high and wide, and at dark was the prettiest bon fire I ever saw, and lighted the whole place. The friends were from Hamilton, Toronto and Grimsby.

Hope you will pardon me for taking so much space, but seeing the Napanee Beaver in her home, feel sure she will have many friends among its readers who will read this with interest. Thanking you for space, I remain,

Yours truly,
M. J. M.

BIG DOUBLE SHOW

TOM MIX in his latest out, "SOFT BOILED," and DOROTHY PHILLIPS in "THE WORLD'S A STAGE." The screen needed new faces. When she played the one-night stands in a cheap theatrical troupe she never dreamed that she would one day act before the camera. But at her greatest triumph she suffered disillusionment. What happened! See Elinor Glyn's "The World's a Stage," with Dorothy Phillips. Also a good 2-reel comedy.

Don't miss this Big Double Show. Black's Orchestra Wed. night.

Rev. Father Benedict Farrell Celebrates First Solemn High Mass

The Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, Ont., was filled to the doors on Sunday, June 15th, 1924, the occasion being the First Solemn High Mass celebrated by Rev. Father Benedict Farrell, who was ordained in Montreal, P.Q., on Saturday, June 14th. He was assisted by Rev. Father Nicholson as Deacon, and Rev. Father O'Reilly, as sub-Deacon. Rev. Father Nicholson preached a very impressive sermon, taking for his text "The Lord has sworn and He will not repent, thou art a Priest forever."

Father Farrell's mother, sister, two brothers, uncle and two cousins were present at the Ordination in Montreal.

The choir, Miss R. Killorin, organist, Miss Frances Dwyer, of Napanee, and Mr. John Killorin, ably rendered Leonard's Mass in "F." Miss Dwyer sang "Veni Jesu" at Communion.

Father Farrell gave his individual blessing to about six hundred people after the Mass.

After Mass about fifty relatives and friends partook of a sumptuous dinner at the home. Guests from a distance were: Mrs. Mary Smith and Miss F. McBride, Danbury, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Hayes and Miss Florence Hayes, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. James Mooney, Watertown, N.Y.; Mrs. Jas. McAvoy, Saskatoon, Sask., and Mr. M. J. Farrell, Port Colborne, Ont.

At 7.30 p.m., Rev. Father Farrell celebrated Benediction.

The service at which the Rev. Father Farrell sang will be proud, as Father Farrell is the first Priest to be ordained from that Parish.

WEDDING BELLS

Snider—White.

One of the interesting events of the season was the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Wilson Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, to Mr. Stanley D. Snider, of Odessa, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Snider. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. W. H. Hartley, Rector of St. Paul's Church, at the home of the bride's parents, "Buena Vista", corner of Queen Street and Second Avenue, Consecon, on Tuesday, June 3rd, 1924, in the presence of about thirty-five guests, friends of the bride and groom. At three o'clock, Miss Ruth Fertuson, of Toronto, a close personal friend of the bride, who was to play the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, as the bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The bride looked charming in a gown of pale grey georgette over blue. Her only ornament was a beautiful lavaliere with diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and valley lilies tied with white satin streamers. After the ceremony the bridal party passed out to Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Velma White, sister of the bride, and Mr. Leslie Caldwell as "Best Dowding". Miss Ruth Ferguson playing the accompaniment. To the fortunate guests was presented a beautiful gold bar pin, with onyx and pearl settings, and to the latter a similar gift. Mr. and Mrs. Snider received congratulations of these present and been showered upon the happy young couple, all partook of the very dainty buffet luncheon. Those who assisted in the dining room were Miss Mary (Dr.) S. T. White, Miss Edith White, Miss Velma White, and Miss Grace Bell. Two toasts were proposed to the bride and groom, their parents, and the guests. These were responded to by the groom, the H. White, and Dr. S. T. White, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Snider left on a honeymoon trip by motor, the bride's going away dress being of navy blue, with grey hat and shoes to match. They will take up housekeeping on the groom's farm, on Maple Lane, Odessa. The bride was the recipient of many useful and pretty gifts from her host of friends.

Guests in attendance from a distance were: Mrs. Snider, mother of the groom, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. McGowan, Kingston; Mrs. McCoy, Belleville; Mrs. Northcott, Mrs. Spencer, Miss Victoria Jelly, Toronto; Miss Beatrice Jelly, Priceville; Miss Kitty Adamson, Paris.

FIFTH LAKE

Sadness and gloom was cast over this village on Tuesday morning, April 8th, 1921, when God claimed for his own Melville Snider, aged 62 years. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snider. He was well liked by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn their loss, his father and mother, two brothers and two sisters, Margaret, Dorothy and Bertie, at home, and Cortland, of Flint, Mich. In religion, he was a Free Methodist. The funeral was held at the Methodist Church by the Rev. C. A. Babcock, of Verona, after which the remains were laid in the Fifth Lake cemetery, where he awaits the power that will re-animate the body sleeping dust on the morning of the resurrection.

MAPLE LEAF INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the Maple Leaf Institute held last Friday, June 13th, at the Latham Hall, was well attended indeed. The hall was filled with enthusiastic listeners, who endeavored to make the occasion of real value to all those present.

Too much praise cannot be given Miss Langton, of Waterdown, Ont., for the splendid address she gave, entitled "Keeping Fit". Among other items on the program, were short addresses given by the new President, Mrs. Wesley Cummings, the retiring President, Mrs. Brisco, the Honorary President, Mrs. James Miller, and a reading by Mrs. Fraser Lumpkins, which took the form of a presentation and read as follows:—

To Mrs. W. G. Fretts.

We, as members of the Maple Leaf Women's Institute, have met this afternoon at the annual meeting to designate the beginning of another year and the closing of the tenth anniversary of Institute work. In that time we have had many pleasant and profitable afternoons together, working in the interests of our motto, "For Home and Country", and where you have faithfully for ten years, filled the office of secretary-treasurer we cannot let this opportunity pass without showing our appreciation of your valuable services. We wish to testify to the active interest you have taken in every meeting, trying to make cheerful and helpful each meeting a success. Our hope is that our Heavenly Father may grant you to fulfill the office for so many years as you have so nobly filled in the past.

We ask you to accept this cut glass water pitcher and glasses, as a token of our affection and esteem, and when using them may you drink from the fountain of happiness and joy and just as many for the future.

Signed on behalf of the Institute,

Mrs. Wesley Cummings,
Mrs. Alfred Scrimshaw,
Mrs. Fraser Lumpkins.

Mrs. Fretts, for the moment taken by surprise, expressed her gratitude to the many kind friends who contributed to the beautiful gift, and for the many kind words spoken.

The meeting closed by singing "But it be the tie that binds."

Address and Presentation.

On Friday evening, May 13th, the friends and neighbors met at the home of Mrs. Myles Drew, Violet, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drew with a polished oak arm chair and rocking chair, they left Violet for their new home in Napanee. The following address was read by Mrs. Myles Drew:

Dear Friends,—We, your friends and neighbours, have heard with regret of your intended departure from our midst, and we feel we would be remiss in our duty to you if we did not in some tangible manner express to you our appreciation of your worth.

We feel your departure will leave a vacancy among your large circle of friends in the neighborhood, which will be hard to fill. We have always found you ready and willing to help with your voices in any church gathering or social events, and you, Mrs. Drew, will be missed very much in the W. M. S. in which you have so ably fulfilled the secretary's office ever since the society was organized, but we feel our loss will be others gain, and we trust you will find kind friends in your new home that will appreciate your worth, and we all wish you happiness and prosperity in the fullest proportion, and hope to see you often in our midst, and when earthly things have passed away, to meet you both in that better land where partings are no more. We now present you with these chairs, as a small token of our esteem, and you, Mrs. Drew, will be asked to kindly accept this gift as a remembrance of your many friends and neighbours of Violet.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours of Violet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hoxie,
Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew replied in a few appropriate words, thanking their friends for their kind remembrance of the beautiful gifts, and assuring them that they would all be welcome at any time in their new home.

NEWBURGH

At the Chamber of Commerce Banquet held in Napanee on the 11th, one thing stressed by some of the speakers was co-operation between the town and various communities. This is a matter that should be emphasized for there is really less in common between these two sections of people than most people realize. Of course they meet and do business together, and understand each other pretty well when it comes to a matter of dollars and cents, and figuring in social exchanges they are on common ground, but where it effects the details of every day life and work, they are miles apart. This is not to be wondered at as their efforts to gain a livelyhood and carry on are in the main and of necessity focused on a different kind of activity and thought. The farmer, to be successful, has to be a close student of nature and nature's laws; and in most cases he is this, more sometimes than he himself realizes or gets credit for.

The urban resident, usually, has to do with the up to the minute things, and works and judges more according to standards, and is not so directly dependent on natural conditions.

It is in these points of difference that they should get together and understand each other, and the first move towards this end is to realize that these differences must of necessity exist.

There is something that might help in this matter of mutual help and understanding. Now that the schools are about to close, and the busy time for the farmers is on when the help of a good boy would save steps to both the farmer and his wife. Why not employ one of these boys? To bring this about, there are some things necessary. In the first place, the boy and his parents must not think that he is out for a daily pittance for which he is to get pay, but rather that he is out to learn how to work, to acquire habits of industry and perseverance and take on trouble, and it becomes a matter of whether after he has acquired the things and gets good food, which he is sure to get in any farmer's home nowadays, whether much he is worth over and above these things. This is something that a little quiet reasoning on both sides ought to settle. On the other hand, the farmer must realize that he is taking on a raw recruit and must not expect him to know as much as he does himself at first, but we can work without ceasing; nor has he acquired the habit of getting up at four or five o'clock in the morning and going to bed quietly with the hens at night. He has been used to more freedom and family life. It might be worth while to get the boy to play a game of ball, which he very likely has in his pocket, and play catch with him for a minute or so until the cows are milked. It might help some, too, if the boy is young, to call him to you before he goes to bed, tuck your hand over his head, ask him if so is tired, and hope he will have a good rest. Above all things don't shout at him. The secret of mutual understanding is mutual sympathy and respect.

Fred Jeffrey, who has been employed on the C. N. R., helping to relay the track, suffered a severe electric shock during the storm on Saturday last, when a bolt of steel crowbar in his hand, which no doubt had something to do in drawing the lightning. He received injury to his leg and arm and blinded one eye. Dr. Mosier was soon on the scene and the injured man was taken to the home of Mrs. Keller, in the village, where he is at the time of writing. The Doctor has hope that he will entirely recover. Mr. Jeffrey's home is in Yarker. He has a wife and one child.

Things Were Not Right for Jack When Blood Flowed Like Tar

It Was Not on the Battlefields of Europe But From the Veins of a Lumber Jack in North Woods of Northern Ontario

Many of the lumbermen know Jack Ledoux of the lodging camps of the North Woods. And they know Jack for a splendid square husky always ready to hold up his end to show how hard the breaks. Well Jack has to lay off work during the fall of the season this year and came down to Ottawa to get straightened out. He says: "I had been feeling dopey all winter, I didn't have any strength and my old grit seemed gone but I had never doctored much and thought I could wear out the disease.

Cut His Hand and Black Blood Oozed Out

One day I cut my hand and instead of it bleeding red, black blood oozed out. It was not on the battlefields of Europe but from the veins of a lumber jack in the North Woods that I realized that things were not right for Jack and the blood was one of them. We met on the Ottawa Journal in the camp and I read about this PHOSPHO-COD and how it had helped another lumberman down in Ottawa by the name of Tom Kelly who lived at 17 Keeles Street, so I came down to Ottawa and I "got four bottles, took them all up and felt better every day.

Well here this spring I hurt my arm and contracted blood poison. I neglected seeing about it until nearly too late and then the doctors had to lance it in order to save it. They held a council of war and one man said my blood was bad and it wouldn't be bad for I had diabetes. But they took a chance and lanced it and I sent to the drug store and got four more bottles of PHOSPHO-COD and took it steady In two weeks my arm was all healed perfect and the doctors were surprised, but they didn't know about the PHOSPHO-COD and I didn't tell them.

Gives Phospho Lots of Credit

The doctors did a good job and used every precaution but I believe and know that if I hadn't taken the second batch of PHOSPHO-COD and got the poison out of my system that no amount of skill would have saved that arm. I give PHOSPHO-COD lots of credit, for I know how much I owe it and I am anxious that others should know about it too."

GIVE EMPLOYMENT BY BUILDING ROADS

Unemployment Problem Is Tackled by Ferguson Cabinet at Toronto. To Spend $1,250,000.

Influenced by conditions of unemployment existing in the Province, the Ferguson Government has decided to increase by $1,250,000 its contemplated expenditure during the summer upon Ontario highways. Announcement to this effect was made by Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways and Public Works. The policy in the first governmental attempt to alleviate the unemployment problem, the Federal and municipal authorities having so far taken no especial steps to cope with the situation.

"Owing to the unemployment situation," Hon. Mr. Henry said in making the announcement, "the government has decided that it is incumbent upon it to speed up the work which it reasonably can during the present season."

Hon. Mr. Henry said that the decision had been made to undertake an additional 30 miles of road prices during the present season. The work, he declared, would be carried out in places which still formed gaps in the Provincial Highway system.

The government's original programme for this season was the paving of some 115 miles of road and the grading of an additional 75 miles. The projected cost of this work was in the neighborhood of $5,500,000. This figure was but 50 per cent. of the highest budget of the period of U. F. O. administration.

Cannot Speak Too Highly of Your Medicine

So Says Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong After Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ontario Lady Who Suffered From Neuralgia, Backache and Headache, Tells of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Spreadale, Ont., June 16th, (Special). "I thought I would write and tell you how much your Dodd's Kidney Pills have helped both my husband and myself. We have used several boxes and they have helped us wonderfully. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine."

This testimonial comes from Mrs. A. Armstrong, of this place — well known and highly respected residents.

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the family medicine chest, is that so many of the ordinary everyday ills come from sick kidneys. Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Urinary troubles, Diabetes and Heart Disease can all be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys. Insist on having Dodd's Kidney Pills your neighbors use.

The summer camp in the "Reach" will have quite a fleet this season, the latest and pride of boasts additions being Dr. Harold Ward's "Swanuba", a George Cup boat.

The motor boat fleet is out in full force and new paint.

SOME POULTRY POINTS

Selection and Mating Are Both of Much Importance

Does "Like Beget Like?"—The Question of Selection—Inbreeding and Line Breeding—Winter Egg Production—Points on Plow Adjustment.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

There are two main points to be considered in poultry breeding. First, the selection of birds that have the characters desired; and secondly, a further selection from these of birds that can produce offspring as good as or better than themselves.

Does "Like Beget Like?"

Many are of the opinion that "Like begets like." In general, that is true, but it is true for general and not for particular qualities. It is true that a male White Leghorn mated to White Leghorn females will breed chickens that are White Leghorns, or that have white plumage, yellow legs and white earlobes. But of the offspring of these there will be no two chicks exactly alike. We find large and small Leghorns; most of them never go broody but some do; some lay large eggs, others small eggs. And we find a great variation in the number of eggs produced by different hens.

The Question of Selection.

Selection is made on the basis that like will produce like, but experience has taught all breeders that to secure uniform superiority they must carry on the selection through generations of poultry. If we select birds that have laid better than 200 eggs in twelve consecutive months and mate these to a male of similar strain, we do not expect to get all daughters that will lay 200 or more eggs a year, but we do expect upon the average a fairly productive standard on selection been made.

Inbreeding and Line Breeding.

Having located a successful pen, the one can perpetuate easily so long as the originals are breeding, but the problem begins after the first mating season. Shall one breed mother and son, or brother and sister, or cousins, or what is the best procedure?

Our experience in breeding birds of very close relationship, such as mother-son, or brother-sister matings, would not warrant us recommending such a procedure. It is true that we have had some successful results, but it is likewise true that most of such matings have been very bad. If one is anxious to breed closely, our experience would suggest a trial of any relationship, so long as the birds are vigorous, but it is not wise to depend entirely upon such a mating. A good inbred bird will likely be a valuable breeder, but such a bird is different to produce.

It is very doubtful if one can say what relationship will give the best results, for the average person is would appear to be good advice not to breed too closely, and to look for new blood from some source where the breeding has been similar.

Winter Egg Production.

Many people appear to believe that the secret of getting eggs, particularly in winter, is to feed meat scraps and the method of feeding others believe the whole problem is in the breed or strain, while others think that the housing is the problem to solve. All these are important, but the main reason for poor results is a lack or careful work months before the eggs are wanted. While you are collecting the high-priced winter eggs you should be making careful plans to secure the crop of pullets for next season.

Where eggs in winter are wanted the early hatched pullet is, without doubt, the one to depend upon. Yearlings hens and clever older are very rarely good producers during November and December. They are uncertain even in January and February and really do not begin to lay well until March. Where the egg production falls below fifteen per cent. during the winter months, one is not making much profit. The pullet which must pullets begin laying at from six to seven months; some lay at four and one-half to five months, and others not until eight or nine months of age. This means that fifty per cent. egg yield is wanted in November the pullets should be hatched during March or April; they hatched pullets will lay a little, but, as a rule, not forty or more per cent. daily.—W. R. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Hints on Plow Adjustment.

1. Adjust the springs till the weight of the plow beams and bottoms are practically balanced.

2. Hitch plow at a point on tractor drawbar midway between horizontal centre of tractor and horizontal centre of plow.

3. Adjust vertical position of hitch so as to be substantially level in working position.

4. Set levers for first pointing and open first furrow.

5. Change levers to working position.

6. When plowing is finished, set the levers in transport position and take plow and tractor to nearest shelter.

THE HANDLING OF MILK

A Column Dealing With Milk and Its Products

Pasteurization — Preservatives — Commercial Buttermilk — Cheese From High and Low Testing Milk. —Milk From Sweet Clover —Gelatin and Bacteria in Ice Cream.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Following are summaries by the Department of Extension of the O.A.C., Guelph, of work done in that institution with milk and some of its products:

Value of Pasteurization.

To test the value of pasteurization as an acid in keeping milk in a usable condition for a long period, a study was made by the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College during July of 1923. Similar samples of raw and pasteurized milk subjected to a temperature of 57° to 58° F., gave results as follows: The raw milk did not keep for twenty-four hours, while the pasteurized milk was sweet at the end of third day. Similar samples of raw and pasteurized milk held at 37° to 42° F., gave the following results: The raw milk kept sweet for less than forty-eight hours, while the pasteurized milk was still sweet and in good condition at the end of two weeks. The trials show the great value of pasteurization in the cold milk trade and the necessity of low temperatures for holding the milk after pasteurizing.

Milk Preservative.

Investigational work carried out by the Department of Bacteriology, O.A.C., that is of special interest to the cheese and butter and ice cream factories, was concluded during the past year. Many factory managers had experienced trouble in keeping the composite samples of milk in good condition for the period required by the Dairy Standards Act. The staff of the O.A.C. Bacteriological Department investigation shows that not less than six grains of corrosive sublimate is required to keep a one pint sample of milk in good condition for forty days. This amount should be used if the latter fat tests are made either once or twice a month.

Commercial Buttermilk.

In the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College during the past season a few lots of commercial buttermilk were made by using either pasteurized skim milk, or the heavy milk from electrolines of pasteurized sweet cream, not ripened before churning.

To the milk was added 20 per cent. starter, 2 per cent. culture and one-half ounce of salt per one hundred pounds of milk. This was allowed to stand until the next morning when it was slowly coagulated. The coagulated milk was then put into the churn and churned for about forty minutes. This made a buttermilk that had in good condition, fairly good flavor, was smooth, and did not appear to churning one bit for fifteen minutes. The small amount of cream was added. The churning was then continued and was relieved of the cream had churned into butter. The granules which are it the appearance of "old-fashioned" buttermilk and was well liked.

Comparative Yields From High and Low Testing Milk in Cheese-making.

Test calculations carried out by the Dairy Department and the Chemistry Department of the O.A.C. from cow and fifth testing milk used in the manufacture of cheese gave results very interesting to cheese factory patrons. The low testing milk contained 4.12 per cent. solids and 3.41 per cent. fat. The high testing milk contained 12.29 per cent. solids and 3.87 per cent. fat. It will be noted that there is not very much difference in the percentage of fat held in cheese per each lot. In making cheese from the low testing lots, and 96.84 lbs. from the high testing lots, or nearly six pounds of cheese per one thousand pounds of milk for every point increase in the percentage of fat and total solids. This is further evidence of the injustice of paying for milk on the basis of a set price and not considering the fat and solids content of milk, a dividing matter among patrons of cheese factories.

Milk From Sweet Clover.

The Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College made quite lots of butter during July when the cows were pasturing on sweet clover. The butter was scored when fresh and again after holding in storage for a month. It had a flavor that could be attributed to sweet clover. These results are similar to those obtained in 1922.

Gelatin and Bacteria in Ice Cream.

With the great increase in the consumption of ice cream and the development of the industry in the manufacturing business various problems have arisen that call to take care of the mind in a way profitable to those manufacturing and selling this food. The making examination of various samples of gelatin sent to the Bacteriology Department of the Ontario Agricultural College some examples were found to have a bacterial content of over 500,000 per cubic. Wholesome ice cream cannot be made if low grade gelatin is used in its preparation.

Cowpeas.

As a rule cowpeas should not be cut for hay before the pods begin to turn yellow. The best quality is produced and the hay when cured readily if the vines are cut when most of the pods are still green and a considerable number of them are mature. At that stage of growth none of the less valuable varieties still have their leaves and the plants will have practically attained their full growth.
